NJCAA runner-up Northland women will be honored at a public reception

A community reception for the National Junior College Athletic Association Division III tournament runner-up Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball team will be held Tuesday, March 26

The program, open free of charge to the public, will be held at 7 p.m. in the Student Commons area of the Northland campus.

Northland won the Minnesota Community College Conference state tournament and an NJCAA Region 13B playoff game en route to the national tournament March 14-16 in Corning, N.Y.

With the school on spring break when the team returned from it's first-ever NJCAA appearance, team and college officials decided to delay the recognition program until classes resumed and students were back in town.

Mike Dowers of Thief River Falls, a first-year member of the America West Hockey League Helena (Mont.) Bighorns was named Goalie of the Year and First-Team All-AWHL when 2001-02 league awards were announced Wednesday.

Although the 27-24-4 Bobcats are sixth in the nine-team league headed by the 39-11-4 Bozeman (Mont.) Icedogs, Dowers' individual efforts were recognized by the voters. He is 17-14 with a 3.15 goals-against average, a .911 save percentage figure and a league-best three shutouts heading into the final week of the regular season.

The recognition is nice, acknowledged Dowers, but the 2000 Lincoln High School graduate said there is still some unfinished business.

"I'm just ready for the playoffs, and right now that's all I want to think about," Dowers told Thomas Mendyke of the Helena Independent Record. "It's a bonus to get something like that. It just makes me want to try all that much harder."

Bighorns coach Nels Eckland told Mendyke earlier that he felt Dowers was the top goalie in the league, despite Helena's record or Dowers' goals-against average. "He was named goalie of the year because of his combination of his save percentage and the number of shots against him," Eckland was quoted by Meudyke. "The other coaches know that goals-against average is a combination of a good defense and some other things and doesn't necessarily reflect who the best goalie is. Mike is the best goalie in this league, and I'm just glad the league acknowledged that."

Eckland said that Dowers has drawn ever-increased attention from NCAA Division I hockey schools, and mentioned that a few of the country's upper echelon programs have indicated they will have scouts on hand to give the former Prowler a look during the upcoming playoffs.

The AWHL is in its ninth year. Bozeman's first place in the standings has resulted in a league-best attendance average of 2,189 fans per game. The Billings (Mont.) Bulls are second on the fan chart with an average of 1,932. The overall league average is 1,072, but Helena draws just 613 per home game.

Playoffs finish TRF city league hockey program

Regular season champion Badget added a playoff title to its list of accomplishments as the 2001-02 Thief River Falls city league hockey program came to an end March 18, at the Hack Olson Memorial Civic Center.

Playoff Results

■ First round Sunday, March 10 - Rude Construction 7, Wennbergs Inc. 6

■ Semifinals Sunday, March 17 - Budget 14, Rude Construction 3; Bud Light def Hardware Hank by forfeit

■ Championship Monday, March 18 - Budget 9, Bud Light 7.

Cobbers' Treavor Peterson named to All-MIAC team

Treavor Peterson, a Concordia College junior from Thief River Falls, was named to the MIAC all-conference men's hockey team for the 2001-02 season.

Peterson led all Concordia defensemen in scoring with 20 points this winter when he collected three goals and a team-high 17 assists. He was the third-highest scoring defenseman in the Minnesota Intercollegiate Hockey Association with 11 points in 15 league games.

Antonio Castaneda, a junior forward from Moorhead, was the Cobbers' only other all-MIAC pick.

Concordia finished fifth in the nine-team MIAC regular season standings with a 9-6-1 record for 19 points. St. Thomas led the way with a 13-3-0 mark for 26 points. The Cobbers, 11-11-1 overall, beat St. John's 3-2 in the first round of the league playoffs, but lost a 5-1 semi-final decision to St. Thomas.

Ron Ueland resigns as MCC head coach

Ron Ueland announced Thursday that he has resigned as head boys high school basketball coach at Marshall County Central – a position he has held since the 1967-68 season.

Bryan Thygeson, athletic director at the Newfolden school, announced that Jason (Jake) Rantanen will succeed Ueland as the Nordics' head coach.

Ueland's 37-year career as a head basketball coach began with a two-year stint at Nevis before he arrived in Newfolden, where he has also coached football, track and volleyball. He retired from his teaching position after the 1998-99 school year, but remained as basketball coach and maintained a presence in the community's education system as a substitute teacher.

During his long tenure as Nordics head basketball coach, Ueland worked with just two varsity assistants – Dave Kragness, and for over 30 years Jim Pederson, who did not express interest in the head coaching position, but has indicated he would remain on the staff.

Ueland reached the 500-win milestone last winter and will leave with a career mark of 532-322. Four of his Marshall County Central teams were district/sub-section champions, the last one in 1993.

"There's been a number of times I've thought very strongly about it," said Ueland of his resignation, "but there was no one available to fill the position. Now there's three young coaches in our program (Rantanen, Craig Peterson, Jason Hanson) who deserve a chance."

Ueland said he has enjoyed the ride, and expressed gratitude to school administration and the community for giving him the opportunity to guide the Nordics' program for over three decades.

"To serve 35 years in a high-profile job like this – even though it's a small school and small community, it's still a high-profile position – speaks well of the administration and the community to have the patience and tolerance when things don't go so well," said Ueland. "I don't think there are too many places where they give you an opportunity to coach that long. I've been very fortunate for the people I've worked for and with over the years."

Under Ueland, Marshall County Central boys basketball has been a model of success for a small school program over the years. The 2001-02 Nordics enjoyed a banner 24-3 season that included 14-straight wins and a title at the Thief River Falls Russ Smith Northwest Holiday Classic to start the year. But dreams of an extended post-season run ended with an 83-55 loss to Warren-Alvarado-Oslo in the Sub-Section 31A championship game at the University of Minnesota-Crookston. Over the past three years the Nordics are 58-18.

"I just want to see what life is like without coaching," said Ueland. "Even after retiring as a teacher, there were things I might have wanted to do or places I wanted to go, but couldn't because of the coaching commitment."

Those opportunities will now present themselves, although Ueland said he plans to continue subbing in the classroom, and he didn't rule out the possibility of some day, somewhere, returning to the court.

"After a year, I'll take a look and see how much I miss basketball and evaluate the situation," offered Ueland. "If I have to get back into it to be happy, then I will. I might return as a freshman coach, or maybe I'll pull a Louis Deere," he said in reference to his long-time rival at Kennedy/Kittson Central, who left a northwestern Minnesota coaching legacy but wound up returning to the sport as head coach at Fargo (N.D.) Shanley High School.

Thygeson praised Ueland's many years of service to the Nordics' basketball program. "Ron has always been a class individual," he said. "He always put the kids as his first priority. It's been a real pleasure working with him."

community college classes. She began her career as a field manager for the Confederated Tribes of Siletz in Salem, Ore. The Siletz tribes received their federal recognition in 1975. As a result, they became eligible for Federal Indian programs. As manager, she helped develop and implement new programs for their fledgling tribe. She is currently writing and researching a historical narrative of the Sahnish (Arikara) people and concurrently writing a fiction based on the legends of the tribe. She is a contributing writer for the American Indian College Journal and National Progressive Media wire. She writes articles for some local tribal newspapers and has written for the American Bar Association Journal, Proud Magazine, and contributed to a Sports Illustrated article.

Yellow Bird holds a bachelor of science degree from Western Oregon College, Monmouth, Ore., and a master's degree in education from Oregon State University, Corvallis, Ore. Yellow Bird is Sahnish (Arikara) and a member of the Three Affiliated Tribes in New Town, N.D.

Yellow Bird's presentation is sponsored by Northland College's Women's History Month Committee. She will speak from the perspective of a Native American woman who straddles two cultures and about the impact culture and gender have had on her career path. The presentation is open to the public at no charge. For more information, contact Kelsy Blowers at 681-0779.

ANWR invites public to event

Roosevelt issued an executive order establishing Pelican Island as the first national wildlife refuge.

Roosevelt went on to create 51 more refuges during his presidency, and today, the National Wildlife Refuge System offers the American people unparalleled outdoor experiences in natural settings.

National wildlife refuges form a series of stepping stones for ducks, geese, caribou, and thousands of other birds, mammals, fish, reptiles, and plant species. Many national wildlife refuges were established along the four migratory bird flyways to provide crucial stopovers for birds to rest, feed, breed, and recharge during their long migrations.

More than 400 national wildlife refuges are open to the public, offering a variety of outdoor activities – including fishing, hunting, environmental education, wildlife observation, and photography – and making them special places for Americans to discover the wonders of nature.

Many refuges offer additional opportunities for nature hikes, bird tours, wildlife drives, and other activities. There are refuges within an hour's drive of most of America's major cities.

"The refuge system's 100th anniversary in 2003 represents an opportunity to make the National Wildlife Refuge System stronger than its ever been," Williams says. "It also provides an opportunity for the sportsmen and women of America to celebrate their contribution to the nation's heritage of wildlife conservation."

Momentum for the Centennial got rolling when the National Wildlife Refuge System Centennial Act of 2000 was signed, paving the way for the service's efforts to increase awareness and understanding of the refuge system and bolster stewardship and visitor programs and facilities.

The act also called for a Centennial Commission, a group of distinguished private-sector individuals, to oversee special Centennial activities. The group will hold its first meeting in March and begin planning an international refuge system conference for 2003.

The Centennial Campaign, an extensive national campaign of special projects, partnerships, and events, is the cornerstone of the centennial outreach effort. Activities already underway include a partnership to make significant habitat and visitor facility improvements at the nation's first refuge, Pelican Island National Wildlife Refuge, a refuge system exhibit at the Smithsonian Institute's National Museum of Natural History in Washington, D.C., and a significant partnership with the American Zoo and Aquarium Association, which includes nearly 200 member organizations and reaches 150 million visitors each year.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is the principal federal agency responsible for conserving, protecting, and enhancing fish, wildlife, and plants in their habitats for the continuing benefit of the American people. The service manages the 94-million-acre National Wildlife System, which encompasses more than 535 national wildlife refuges, thousands of small wetlands, and other special management areas. It also operates 66 national fish hatcheries, 64 fishery resource offices, and 78 ecological services field stations. The agency enforces federal wildlife laws, administers the Endangered Species Act, manages migratory bird populations, restores nationally significant fisheries, conserves and restores wildlife habitat such as wetlands, and helps foreign governments with their conservation efforts. It also oversees the federal aid program that distributes hundreds of millions of dollars in excise taxes on fishing and hunting equipment to state fish and wildlife agencies.

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is located 12 miles north of Thief River Falls on Highway 32 and 11 miles east on Marshall County 7. For more information, stop by the refuge, or call (218) 449-4115.

Plan redraws the lines of power

Sen. Stumpf said he's looking forward to serving a greater part of Polk County, including Crookston, Fisher, Climax and Mentor.

Stumpf's new district includes all of Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Red Lake and the greater part of Pennington and Polk counties. The new District does not include Lake of the Woods.

"I am pleased with the new district," said Sen. Stumpf. "Sen. Moe and I have worked on many issues together, and I look forward to continuing that work for our area."

Representatives Tim Finseth (R-Angus) and Maxine Penas (R-Badger) exchanged some territory. Penas gains Thief River Falls, and Finseth a sizeable portion of Marshall County and Polk County, including the communities of Crookston, Fisher, Climax, and Mentor. In gaining those communities, however, Finseth will now be paired against Rep. Bernie Lieder (DFL-Crookston), who was representing District 2A. Lieder began serving in the legislature in 1984.

Thief River Falls Mayor Mark Borsheim said he was concerned about losing the seniority and expertise Rep. Finseth has accumulated, but having met with Rep. Penas before, he said he felt she was already representing the city's interests. He added that he thought Rep. Penas will do a great job of representing us, and that Rep. Finseth will continue to do a great job of representing northwestern Minnesota.

Rep. Penas said she would wait to make a decision on whether she would run next year or not until after the current session is over (possibly next week), and she had a chance to visit with her family.

Prior to the release of the plan on Tuesday, Penas said she had anticipated that she might be paired up with Finseth. Of the many redistricting plans she looked at, none of them looked like the one that the judicial panel came out with on Tuesday. As a result of the plan, Penas loses Lake of the Woods County and the western half of Marshall County, but gains four townships in Pennington County, including Thief River Falls.

Penas said she is not uncomfortable with representing Thief River Falls because she would be representing people with many of the same interests – especially people in the snowmobile industry, agriculture and education.

Local Redistricting Begins

With the completion of state legislative redistricting, cities and counties will begin focusing on redistricting. The only option to cities and counties now is a deadline based on the state primary. The deadline for cities is April 30, which is 19 weeks before the State Primary. The deadline for counties is May 28 or 15 weeks before the State Primary.

NOTICE TO READERS
While work-at-home advertising is often legitimate, we advise readers to fully investigate the background of any company before paying a fee. If an offer sounds "too good to be true," it probably is. Proceed with caution if you are asked to send money or in calling 900 numbers. All phone numbers prefixed by "900" are charged to the caller on a per minute per call basis. Remember, if you have any doubts, investigate.

Artist donates print to sixth grade

Newfolden - Hallock artist Rock Bakken presented the Newfolden sixth grade class with a unique fund-raising opportunity when he donated one of his wildlife prints to it. The framed and matted print is a pencil drawing of a monster white-tailed buck.

Tickets will be sold by sixth grade students, and the drawing will be held May 3. Proceeds from the fund-raiser will be used for a class trip to Duluth and the Twin Cities May 28-31. New River Record

Alex woman wins big lottery prize

Alexandria - An Alexandria woman has collected a $100,000 prize in the Minnesota Lottery's "Powerball" drawing.

Shirley Enstad's "quick pick" ticket matched five numbers – 4, 20,25, 30, and 49 – In the March 20 drawing. Enstad says she hasn't determined what she will do with her winnings yet, adding she just wants to enjoy the moment for a little while. Echo Press

Sharing/pairing plan progresses

Oklee - A public meeting about the proposed sharing/pairing plan for Oklee and Plummer schools was held Tuesday, March 19.

While concerns arose about Plummer School losing its identity, the meeting went well, and it appears that a definite majority of voices were in favor of the concept. The Oklee Herald

Russian Fashions opens in Erskine

Erskine - April 3 will mark the grand opening of Russian Fashions in Erskine.

Owned by sisters, the store will be geared toward new Russian communities and a handy shop for anyone who sews. Notions, dress materials, and craft supplies will be available for sale, and the sisters will also make clothing and do alterations for their customers. The Erskine Echo

Suspects arrested in elevator burglary

Fosston - Three male youths are in custody at Northwest Regional Correctional Center in Crookston in connection with a March 17 burglary at the Fosston Cooperative Elevator.

Two of the youths were already in custody on unrelated charges and the third was arrested Monday. All are from the Fosston area. The Thirteen Towns

Easter tradition continues

Williams - In keeping with a tradition of over 25 years, the Williams Community Choir will present its annual Easter cantata, "Redeeming Love," on Sunday, March 31, at 6:30 a.m. at Bethany Lutheran Church in Williams.

The cantata, written by Robert I. and Betty C. Hughes, features many familiar songs along with some beautiful new ones. Northern Light

Red Lake Watershed board selects administrator

Harry Farris, Thief River Falls, has been selected to become the next administrator of the Red Lake Watershed board.

Dale Nelson, president of the Red Lake Watershed District board served as its administrator for over a year. Nelson will continue to serve until Farris takes over in April.

Farris has been an advertising sales representative for the Thief River Falls Times/Northern Watch for almost two and one-half years. Prior to working at The Times/Northern Watch he served as an engineer for 25 years with the United States Army. He retired from the military as a Command Sergeant Major in 1999.

Harry Farris

Farris said looks forward to serving the region as the new administrator for the Red Lake Watershed District. Farris and his wife Deb, and two children, reside in rural Goodridge. He also has three grown children, two of whom are in the military, another is employed at Dana Corporation in Elizabethtown, Ky.

Schools consider pairing sports names/mascots

The administration and board of trustees of the Goodridge and Grygla-Gatzke school districts recently sent parents and residents of their respective school districts a letter informing them of a proposal to unify the two districts sports mascots and names.

The teams affected by the proposed pairing would include the football Blue Devils, and the volleyball and girl's basketball Wolverines.

The letter explains several points brought to the attention of the administration and board members, including:

• It would ease advertising for community businesses supporting the teams;

• There would be less confusion for radio announcers and others outside of the districts;

• There would be less conflict between the girls and boys athletic programs;

• It would make room for a more positive mascot depicting the personalities of both communities;

• There would be more unity between the communities supporting these teams;

• Spirit materials (clothing, flags, pins, artwork, etc.) would be representative of more than one team; and

• Officials are not aware of another paired sports program with multiple mascot names.

Officials plan to accept input on the proposed name and mascot change. Suggestions, written or verbal, can be directed to Superintendent Clow at 218-378-4133 prior to April 15, 2002. Officials will also be asking for input from the student bodies of each community.

Sewing up a colorful show

A plathora of beautiful quilts, large and small, in a rainbow of colors and patterns can be viewed at the Thief River Falls Public Library. The quilts are displayed by members of the Thief River Falls Quilters Guild during its annual Quilt Show, which will run during the month of April. More photographs and a feature article about quilting will appear in the April 3 edition of The Times.

Women's History Month

Yellow Bird spoke from the perspective of a Native American woman who straddles two cultures

▲ Dorreen Yellow Bird, columnist and community journalist for the Grand Forks Herald, was the guest speaker during a Women's History Month event at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls last Monday.

Columnist shares unique perspective

by David Hill
Editor

Perspective counts. Monday night at Northland Community and Technical College, Dorreen Yellow Bird's comments about the journal entries of early settlers and explorers to this country demonstrated just how much perspective changes with time and understanding.

Hot water being thrown on a woman as if she were a dog. That was one of the first journal entries Yellow Bird came upon during her research for a book on the Arikara or Sahnish. Yellow Bird said she could feel for the woman who was probably just looking for scraps to feed her starving family.

Yellow Bird, a community journalist and columnist for the Grand Forks Herald, was the guest speaker for a Women's History Month event at the college. During her career, she has been a teacher and administrator at a number of jobs, but said she has found journalism the most rewarding. In addition to her job as a journalist, columnist, and speaker, she has devoted some of her time during the last seven years to writing and research for a book about the Sahnish (Arikara). It was what she found during her research for this book that audience members found the most intriguing. The 70 or so individuals who attended the event, listened intently, and then peppered her with questions for nearly as long as her presentation lasted.

Yellow Bird spoke from the perspective of a Native American woman who straddles two cultures and about the impact culture and gender have had on her career path. She is Sahnish and a member of the Three Affiliated Tribes in New Town, N.D. During her presentation she used examples from this perspective, and her research, that pointed out interesting cultural differences.

At the beginning of her presentation, Yellow Bird pointed out that very little appears in the journals of early settlers about Native American women. Most likely because explorers and settlers wanted to deal with who they assumed were the leaders – men. Yellow Bird said that in her society, there is more balance between men and women. Certainly, at times,

Easter egg hunt today at Bagley

Bagley - Rain, snow or sunshine, the 14th annual Easter Egg Hunt will be hosted by the Sons of the American Legion at 10:30 a.m. today (Saturday, March 30) at Twin Pines Golf Course.

A thousand eggs filled with candy and cash will be hidden throughout the woods along with 10 special eggs which are redeemable for special prizes. A drawing will also determine winners of one boy's and one girl's bike. The hunt is open to all kids, third grade and younger. Farmers Independent

DL a few hares short of honors

Detroit Lakes - While Detroit Lakes unofficially broke a world's record March 23, it fell a few hares short of taking top Bunny Hop honors in a nationwide contest.

When all was said and done, only 14 hoppers separated the 1,495 hoppy, but cold, souls in Detroit Lakes from the 1,509 contest participants in Oak Grove, Mich. in the "Hop Your Way Into the Record Books" contest sponsored by Wal-Mart and the Energizer Bunny. Becker County Record

If you had ham for Easter, don't just make ham sandwiches all week. Give some of these fancy recipes a try - you'll never believe they're made with leftovers.

No one will ever believe this is made from plain, old leftovers:

MACARONI AND HAM CASSEROLE
3/4 cup macaroni
2 cups ground cooked ham
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
1/4 cup milk
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon salt

Cook macaroni until tender. Drain and rinse with hot water. Place in greased 1 quart casserole.

Combine remaining ingredients and form into balls. Brown in hot oil and arrange over macaroni. Pour Ketchup Sauce over all.

Ketchup Sauce:
3/4 cup ketchup
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1/2 cup cold water
2-3 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Combine sauce ingredients. Pour over casserole.

Bake at 350 for 45 minutes.

Make a special main dish with that leftover ham:

HAM-PINEAPPLE BAKE
2 slices ham, 1 inch thick
6 slices pineapple
12 link sausages
1/2 cup brown sugar
3 cooked sweet potatoes, cut in half

Cut ham in 6 servings. Place in greased baking dish. Top each with pineapple slice and arrange 2 sausages alongside pineapple slice.

Fill pineapple centers with brown sugar. Stop pineapple slice with sweet potato half. Bake, uncovered, at 325 degrees for 1 hour. Serves 6.

This sounds like a really interesting dish, probably good with rice or pasta:

SWEDISH HAM BALLS IN BROWN SAUCE
1 pound ground ham
1-1/2 pounds ground pork
2 cups bread crumbs
2 well-beaten eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 cup vinegar
1/2 cup water

Combine meats, crumbs, eggs and milk. Mix thoroughly. Form in balls and place in baking pan.

Combine remaining ingredients and stir until sugar dissolves. Pour over meat balls. Bake at 325 degrees for 1 hour, basting frequently. (Makes 16 meatballs.)

Make something really different with the last of the ham:

THE LAST ROUNDUP
1-1/2 cups cubed cooked ham
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tablespoons minced celery
1 tablespoons flour
1 cup lima bean cooking liquor
1-1/2 cups cooked dried lima beans
Salt and pepper
1 cup soft bread cubes, buttered

Cook beans as directed on package. Brown ham in fat. Add onion and celery. Cook until soft but not brown. Add lima liquor and lima beans and seasonings to taste. Pour into greased baking dish. Cover with bread cubes. Bake at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.

You can get really fancy with that leftover ham too - this dish would be pretty elegant for guests:

HAM CUPS WITH CHERRY SAUCE
1 pound ground smoked ham
1/2 pound ground pork
1-1/2 cups fine bread crumbs
1 well beaten egg
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon prepared mustard

Combine ham, pork, bread crumbs, egg and dry mustard. Mix well.

Fill medium sized muffin pans, rounding tops as when making meat loaf.

Combine brown sugar and prepared mustard. Spread over ham loaves. Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Serve with Hot Cherry Sauce, if desired.

Hot Cherry Sauce:
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup sugar
2-1/2 cups pitted red cherries (canned)

Combine ingredients and cook over low heat until thick and clear, stirring constantly.

There's nothing like a fresh salad after a big Easter meal - and you can use ham or any other leftover meat in this one:

HEARTY SALAD BOWL
1 cup cooked green beans
1 cup cooked carrot sticks
1 cup celery sticks
1/4 cup French dressing
1 head lettuce
1 cup cooked beef or ham, cut in strips
2 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon horseradish

Marinate and chill green beans, carrots and celery in French dressing for 1-2 hours.

Break lettuce into bite-sized pieces in salad bowl. Arrange meat and marinated vegetables over top. Arrange egg slices around circle in center and place mayonnaise mixed with horseradish in center. Serves 6.

If you have a ham bone, use it to make this hearty meal in a pot - it's a different one:

POTAGE MONGOL
2/3 cup yellow split peas
1 quart water
1 ham bone
1 large onion, chopped
1/2 cup chopped celery tops
1 carrot chopped
2-1/2 cups tomatoes
1-1/2 cups carrots, cut lengthwise
1/2 cup broken spaghetti
1-2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons butter, if desired

Wash peas. Cover with water and soak overnight. Add ham bone, onion, celery tops and the chopped carrot. Simmer 1 hour.

Add tomatoes and simmer a few minutes. Strain.

Add cut carrots, celery, spaghetti and seasonings. Cook until vegetables and spaghetti are tender, about 30 minutes. Add butter. Serves 6.

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank all the First Responders and the Thief River Ambulance who came so quickly and worked with our sister, Amy Hjelle, when she became ill. Thanks to the doctors and nurses who worked with her at the hospital! We appreciated all you did for her! Thanks to Green Funeral Home for their kindness and the caring service they provided!

We want to thank Pastor Luther Peterson for being with us at the hospital! We also thank Pastor Peterson and the soloists niece Marlys Olson and nephew Steven Hjelle for their beautiful songs. Thanks to Gloria Ness for the beautiful music. Thanks to all the nephews who were pallbearers. Amy loved all of you!

Thanks to the ladies of Viking Lutheran Church who provided the nice lunch for us.

We wish to thank all the people who brought food to our homes! Thanks for all your telephone calls, visits and for showing you cared. Thanks to all who attended the service.

Thanks for all the beautiful floral arrangements. Also, thanks for all the beautiful cards and monetary gifts. We have appreciated all you have done for us!

We, as a family, all miss Amy very much. She was a very caring person and thought of herself last!

May God Bless her memory!

Children's Defense Fund provides snapshot of MN children

A statistical snapshot of the health and well-being of Minnesota's children released recently by the Children's Defense Fund of Minnesota, highlights a decade of data about children. Some things have improved for children over the decade as the economy grew stronger – fewer children live below the poverty line, fewer births to teens, and fewer arrests for serious crime. However, there continues to be a problem with too many children living in low-income families. While the overall rate of children living in poverty decreased by 10 percent, the number of children living in low income families increased by 11 percent (below 185 percent of poverty, or less than $33,000 annually for a family of four). Wages for many jobs continue to be too low to support a family; 30 percent of workers in Minnesota make $10 or less per hour.

The CDF report is based on public data gathered by state agencies to annually evaluate the well being of children statewide and in every Minnesota region and county.

(The individual report for Pennington County, shows that there are some concerns for residents and officials. A positive aspect of the report, however, noted that Pennington County had lower than average reports of child abuse and neglect. Concerns included higher than average percentage of students not graduating on time, and arrests for serious crime.)

The years of economic prosperity did reduce poverty and did improve some statistics associated with poverty such as crime and teen births, but the ability for families to achieve economic self-sufficiency above the poverty line has not been reached. "In Minnesota, people who are working should be able to support their families with the basics – a fair wage, affordable quality child care, and health care coverage," said Jim Koppel, director of the Children's Defense Fund of Minnesota. "The failure to help families move up the economic ladder will show up later when economic downturns cause families to fail, children to not reach their full potential, and creates higher costs to public services such as the Minnesota Family Investment Program, Medical Assistance and, in some cases, foster care and other child protection services."

Community meetings are being held around the state through the month of April to encourage discussion of the report's findings and solutions to problems. KIOS COUNT coffees will be held in Brooklyn Park, Denson, Duffalo, Detroit Lakes, Elk River, Gaylord, Hibbing, Mankato, Moorhead, Minneapolis, Owatonna, Park Rapids, St. Cloud, St. Paul, Two Harbors, Virginia and Willmar.

Findings from the report include:

• A 10 percent decrease in poverty among children. Still, an estimated 13 percent, or almost one in eight, live below the poverty line.

• An 11 percent increase in children receiving free or reduced price school lunch, meaning their families made less than 185 percent of the poverty line. One in four children live in these families.

• A 23 percent increase in children born at low birth weight. One out of every 16 babies was born at low birth weight in 2000.

• A 14 percent decrease in children born to teen mothers. There were 1,790 births to teens in 2000.

• A 31 percent decrease in arrests of children for serious crimes. In 2000, there were 1,398 arrests.

• One out of every 116 children had a substantiated report of child abuse and neglect in 2000, a rate that has remained steady since 1991.

• The rate of children in foster care and other out of home placements has remained steady through the decade. In 2000, 18,451 children were placed.

• A six percent decrease in children dying from homicide, suicide or injuries.

• Since 1993, 39 percent fewer children received food stamps. In 2000, an estimated 104,262 children received food stamps. (Much of this decline is attributable to under-utilization of the program, rather than an actual drop in need.)

• There was one school transfer for every seven students in 1999-2000. This is a 14 percent increase from 1992-93.

• About one in five students did not graduate on time in 2000. This rate is unchanged from 1997.

Taxpayers League of MN honors Fineseth

The Taxpayers League of Minnesota has honored Rep. Tim Finseth (R-Angus) for his 2001 voting record with its "Friend of the Taxpayer" award, announced Linda Runbeck, Taxpayers League president.

The award goes to legislators who received at least 80 out of a possible 100 points on a series of votes rated by the Taxpayers League as key votes on taxes, the size and scope of government and free enterprise. In all, 31 members of the House of Representatives and 17 members of the Senate received the award.

"We are pleased to be able to reward legislators for their good service to the taxpayers. We're also pleased to be able to inform voters on how their legislators are performing on important tax and spending issues," Runbeck stated. "Informed voters keep our democratic process strong."

Rep. Finseth received the "Friend of the Taxpayers" award because he voted favorably on legislation which would reform property taxes, return the surplus, reject a lawmaker "per diem" increase, reduce frivolous litigation, reduce state health insurance costs, prevent voter fraud, prohibit same-sex benefits for state employees, reject anti-competitive gas pricing and others.

All the results of the Taxpayers League 2001 rating can be found in the "2001 Legislative Scorecard" published by the League and available on the Taxpayers League Web site at www.taxpayersleague.org.

THE LYON'S SHARE

Tim Lyon

Just a Peek Inside?

There exist specific streets and neighborhoods in almost any urban area that get stamped with a, shall we say, somewhat sleazy reputation. From strip clubs to peep shows to bizarre acts, doorways and windows beckon to the sidewalk passersby with small hints of the lurid goings on behind the doorway before them. The outside enticements generally push the edges of legal acceptability, with pictures and language cutting daringly close to local obscenity ordinances. A touch of normally clothed skin here, an ensnaring wink there; the street-side temptations alone are enough to start the average 18-year-old salivating. The industry, though perhaps an occasionally questionable one, has become quite adept at tweaking the imagination and hormones of the American public, making the temptations hard to resist.

At least that's what I've been told.

Two 14-plus pound walleyes have been pulled out of Lake of the Woods in the last thirty days. A 14.7 pound pig came from a spot near the mouth of the Rainy River about a month ago and, more recently a 14.9 pound leviathan was yanked out of an ice hole in the Buffalo Bay area. That's a pair of big fish – perhaps two of the biggest walleyes to be weighed and certified in the state of Minnesota in over a decade! And their sudden appearance spawns some very pertinent questions.

For instance, why two such big fish within such a short span of time (the last official Lake of the Woods 14 pounder was in 1996)? Why were they caught in two so totally different locales (the deep, current-rich river edge vs. the relatively shallow, flat western basin)? Why at such a traditionally non-big fish time of the year (later Spring and late Fall tend to spit out the largest the lake has to offer)? Are there more walleyes out there like them (strong year classes of fish are generally reflected in what actually gets caught regularly)? And most curious, why weren't one of these fish caught by Tim Lyon (you'd think angler ability should enter into the equation somewhere)?

The answers are more elusive than the questions. Of course it's possible that those two fish represent nothing more than a monumental coincidence, the last two members of a now defunct mid-80's hatch ironically caught a mere several weeks apart. Yet, mathematical logic strongly suggests otherwise. A strong showing by 10-11 pound fish in recent years suggests that there are a good number of trophy fish out there now. The late fall and mild winter allowed last year's young of the year fish to grow at an unprecedented pace, why wouldn't the walleyes at the other end of the size spectrum enjoy similar growth spurts? Catch-n-Release fishing over the last decade has become more of a norm than an anamaly, implying that more big fish might actually be back in the basin than ever before. The far-flung nature of the two 14 pound catches also hints that these larger fish are numerous enough that they're now seeking out different lifestyles, perhaps breaking away from textbook preconceptions about aging walleyes.

Whatever. The specifics aside, what these two fish have done, in much the same fashion that the sensual picture or suggestive language outside of an urban strip club does, is to titillate (no pun intended) our interest in the upcoming Lake of the Woods open water fishing season. The fact that an extended sheet of ice on the Rainy this Spring will repress a genuine opportunity to probe the gargantuan potential of this crop of walleyes (the early April, open-water season is historically the best time to tap into heavy, egg-laden females as they congregate along current breaks) makes the whole summer season that much more alluring.

Heck, adding another mild, El Nino year and a good batch of shiner minnows to standard walleye growth rates and it might not be too long before you see the Tim Lyon name etched into the State Record category. It's enough to make a guy salivate! Just like standing outside one of those downtown peep-shows and that rush of adrenaline you get as you reach for the door handle and prepare to step inside.

At least that's what I've been told.

North Valley Home Health schedules clinics for April

North Valley Home Health has scheduled the following immunization clinics during the month of March:

• Tuesday, April 2, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Newfolden Community Center.

• Thursday, April 11, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Grygla Civic building.

• Monday, April 15, from 9 to 11 a.m. at the Evangelical Covenant Church in Warren.

Parents must bring their child's immunization record each time a shot is administered unless the child is receiving his or her first immunization. Immunization services provided to children are not intended as substitutes for well-child visits with their physicians.

Vaccines provided will include HBV/Hib, DTaP/Hib, Td, DT, Hep B infant, Hep B qualifying adult or adolescent, MMR, Hib, IPV, and Prevnar. Varicella (Chicken Pox) is available at the Warren office only.

Vaccines are provided free of charge by the Minnesota Department of Health for use in community-based clinics. While there is a $10 fee for administering the vaccines, no one will be turned away because of an inability to pay.

For more information contact Patti Anderson, PHN, or Nancy Maurstad, RN, at North Valley Home Health, (218) 745-5154 or 1-800-950-6986.

Spring firearm safety class begins April 2

The first session of the Pennington County Sportsmen's Club spring firearm safety class will be held on Tuesday, April 2, at 6:30 p.m. in the Lincoln High School cafeteria.

The next four sessions on April 4, 8, 9 and 11 will also be held at the school, and the final session on Sunday, April 14, will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. at the Sportsmen's Club firing range.

Preregistration is not required. Cost for the course is $5. A parent or guardian must accompany his or her child to the first session to fill out and sign the registration form. For more information call 681-1901 or e-mail jcounter@wiktel.com.

Fourtown/Grygla Sportsman Club picnic April 6

Fourtown/Grygla Sportsman Club will hold its annual spring picnic at Grande Corner near Fourtown at noon on Saturday, April 6.

Food and beverages will be provided. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Kittson County hosts spring events April 5-6

Fun events for people of all ages are planned for Kittson County Friday and Saturday, April 5-6.

The Spring Fling on April 5 in Lake Bronson will feature a performance by the Hewitt Girls Band at 7 p.m. in the gym at Lake Bronson School. Young and old will enjoy the show. Lunch will be served, and there will be drawings for many door prizes, including Jim's Greenhouse gift certificates, a boy's bicycle, a girl's bicycle, and more. Admission to the event, sponsored by the Lake Bronson Improvement Committee, is $5 with children under the age of 11 free.

On Saturday, April 6, an encore presentation of "United We Stand - a Tribute" will be presented at 4 p.m. at Kittson Central Elementary in Kennedy. The performance will be similar to the one presented in December, offering those who missed the earlier performance a chance to see the county-wide musical. Those attending the performance will make a minimum $5 donation which will benefit Kittson County emergency disaster organizations.

On Saturday evening, the VFW in Kennedy will host "The Fuzz Factor" from 8 p.m. to midnight for everyone's musical enjoyment.

Also, the Hallock Curling Club will host a 32-team men's bonspiel April 4-6. There are still openings for teams to sign up. Among the curlers who have already signed up are those who have participated in several state, national, and provincial events in the United States and Canada. Spectators will also be welcome. For more information contact the Hallock Curling Club at (218) 843-2331.

Easter service at Silverton church

Easter services will be held at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow (Sunday, March 31) at Silverton Lutheran Church.

The church is located four miles east of Thief River Falls on Minnesota Highway 1 and one mile north.

Pennington SWCD annual banquet Tuesday, April 9

Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District will hold its annual banquet on Tuesday, April 9, at 6:30 p.m. at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls.

Charlie Maguire, the official "Singing Ranger" for the National Park Service, will provide the entertainment.

Outstanding Cooperators Les and Trudy Wilde will be honored along with the Rural Beautification winners, David and Detty Peterson. The winners of the fifth and sixth grade poster/mural contest will also be recognized.

Tickets are $8 and must be purchased by April 4. For reservations, call the SWCO office at 683-7075.

Easter bunny delivers on new Twins stadium

Boy is it a happy Easter for baseball fans in Minnesota. The new stadium plan has baseball fans feeling as if Peter Cottontail with his basketful of Easter eggs visited the state early.

Indeed, the plan is like a bright, colorful egg, or maybe even a golden egg. What's in the plan? Basically, the plan calls for the state to use a $165 million investment by the Minnesota Twins to pay interest on $330 million in taxable bonds the state would issue for the construction of the stadium. The package adds a little more color and interest with some other items, such as increased taxes on sports memorabilia purchased in the Twin Cities, and cost overruns paid for by the Twins.

Senator LeRoy Stumpf was one of the members of the senate to vote in favor of the bill. Sen. Stumpf said recently that, "I cannot remember any other issue that has generated so much debate in the media at the Capitol and among the people of Minnesota."

Even at The Times/Northern Watch in Thief River Falls, considerable interest was generated in our unscientific polls about the stadium issue. One question asked whether you would be upset if the Twins franchise was dissolved. A total of 333 votes were cast with 64.61 percent saying yes. Another question, asking whether tax dollars should be spent to built pro sports stadiums, was answered in the negative by 70.72 percent of the 526 votes cast. When the question was re-phrased to indicate tax dollars spent for a Twins stadium, the question was answered in the negative by 73.27 percent of the 591 votes cast.

In his commentary on the subject of the recent senate vote, Sen. Stumpf stated, "Over the course of this debate, I've gotten three clear messages from many constituents: 1) sports are a valuable part of life in Minnesota, so we should try to prevent the Minnesota Twins from being contracted or leaving the state; 2) the state should not invest General Fund tax dollars in new sports facilities; and 3) if a stadium is to be built, the people who use it and the people who benefit from it should bear the majority of the cost."

Sen. Stumpf's vote seems to closely follow the interests of taxpayers in northwestern Minnesota.

While many are so happy they are hopping about, others are less enthusiastic, perhaps even so much as to be described as "hopping mad." David Strom of the Taxpayers League of Minnesota, said "There are so many holes in this proposal that it's not a plan, it's a fantasy. At a minimum, this bill invites $300 million in new taxes on Minnesotans. There is a $10 million a year hole in this plan that will be filled with new taxes."

Others have expressed outrage at the state becoming a "banker" for Carl Pohlad, and fears and demands that if the golden egg can be laid for Pohlad, it can certainly be laid for other business interests as well. We can only hope that in this tussle, they don't kill the goose that laid the golden egg.

And, of course others have pointed out that there are still a couple of big unknowns – contraction is still on the agenda for the baseball league, and Carl Pohlad still wants to sell the team.

All these questions and promises, leave many of us hoping that this early Easter present is the colorful Easter egg it promises, and not just another egg.

GF Symphony Orchestra holds family concert

■ Co-concertmaster is Dan Sayler of TRF

The Greater Grand Forks Symphony Orchestra will perform its annual Young Audience Concert, "A Garden of Music," at the Chester Fritz Auditorium on the University of North Dakota Campus in Grand Forks at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, April 12, 2002. Featured artists include pianist Lacey Dar, this year's Young Artist Competition Winner, and the Greater Grand Forks Youth Symphony, conducted by Dr. James Popejoy. Sponsored by the Myra Foundation, the concert will also be performed at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. for educational and group bookings.

A familiar favorite, "Spring" from "The Four Seasons" by Antonio Vivaldi, begins the program. Performed by the Chiara String Quartet and the Symphony, this memorable work for strings celebrates the joys of spring. The first movement suggests the awakening of spring with birds, flowing streams and spring thunderstorms. In the second movement, a goatherd sleeps in the meadow, while nymphs and shepherds dance merrily in the third.

The concert features the Young Artist Competition Winner, Lacey Dar, performing Ludwig van Beethoven's "Piano Concerto, No. 2 in Bb, Op. 19" with the Symphony. An early work of Beethoven's, this concerto is reminiscent of concertos by Haydn and Mozart in instrumentation and musical style. A native of Mayville, N.D., Ms. Dar is a freshman at the University of North Dakota where she majors in aviation management and studies piano with Sergio Gallo.

The annual Young Artist Competition is held in January with applications due in December. Instrumentalists under the age of 22 who live within 150 miles of Grand Forks compete for a performance with the Grand Forks Symphony and other prizes.

The Youth Symphony, conducted by Dr. James Popejoy, is a special guest for this concert. They will perform "American Salute" by Morton Gould. Written as the United States entered World War II, the civil war tune "When Johnny comes Marching Home" serves as the base for this patriotic work. The Youth Symphony will also join the Greater Grand Forks Symphony for a performance of excerpts from the opera "Hansel and Gretel." The music includes many of the charming melodies, including "Evening Prayer" Co-concertmasters for the Youth Symphony are Katie Maden, a 9th grader at Red River High School, and Dan Sayler, a student at Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls. Other local participants will include Anthony Wold and Sarah Willis in the Youth Symphony, and Bonnie Hallet, Derek Drase, and Jan Klopp, all of Thief River Falls, in the Greater Grand Forks Symphony.

The Symphony's youth program is the only regional program in orchestral music education and performance within the 75-mile area around Grand Forks. The Youth Symphony includes high school students and college freshman and sophomores from Alvarado, East Grand Forks, Grafton, Grand Forks, Larimore, Thief River Falls and the University of North Dakota. Auditions are held every year in early September for the Youth Symphony, Junior Symphony (middle school) and Divertimento, a chamber music program. In addition to the programs during the school year, the Symphony Association offers a summer chamber music program, Summer Strings. For information about Summer Strings, contact Naomi Welsh at 701-746-9969.

Additional music performed by the Greater Grand Forks Symphony includes "Pizzicato Polka" by Johann Strauss, Jr. and the last movement of Beethoven's "Symphony No. 5". Known as the "Waltz King," Strauss, Jr. composed hundreds of dance pieces including many polkas with special effects like the plucked stings heard in this work. Popular since its composition in the 19th Century, "Symphony No. 5" is sure to stir the soul of every listener. Critics have said "Beethoven's music inspires in its listeners awe, fear, horror, pain, and . . . nostalgia that is the soul of romanticism."

Tickets for the evening concert may be ordered from the Chester Fritz Auditorium at 701-777-4090. Ticket prices range from $20 to $12 with discounts available for students, children under 12 and seniors. Group bookings for the 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. concerts may be reserved through the Symphony office (701-777-3359).

Family tickets are available for $20 (includes up to six family members). University of North Dakota students may purchase tickets for $5.

Crop Disaster assistance program deadline nears

Marshall County Executive Director JoDell Poolman has announced that the federal regulations governing the Noninsured Crop Disaster Assistance Program (NAP) have been published effective March 19, 2002. As a result of this publication, the deadline to apply for 2002 NAP coverage has been established as April 18, 2002. Poolman said, "All producers in Minnesota who raise NAP crops need to have filed an application for coverage in their county Farm Service Agency (FSA) office and have paid the applicable fees by the close of business April 18, 2002, in order to have coverage effective for year 2002. In addition, all crop year 2001 NAP crop yields must be reported to the producer's FSA county office by close of business April 18, 2002, in order to count toward the NAP Actual Production History (APH) for 2002. All 2002 APH yields must be reported by the application closing dates for 2003 coverage which may vary by crop."

Any person who wishes to obtain a copy of the proposed regulations may do so by accessing the Government Printing Office (GPO) Web site: www.access.gpo.gov/ and clicking on GPD Access, Federal Register, 2002, Tuesday, March 19, 2002, Commodity Credit Corporation; TEXT. All comments should be submitted as directed in the proposed rules and must be received by April 18, 2002 to be considered.

Producers with questions concerning NAP should contact the Marshall County FSA office.

Darwin and Darlis Anderson of International Messengers use English language camps in many foreign countries to introduce people to the Word of God. They will be among the missionaries participating in the Missions Festival at the Evangelical Free Church of Thief River Falls, April 5, 6 and 7.

Missions Festival 2002 at TRF Free Church

"What in the world are you doing" is the challenging theme of the Missions Festival at the Evangelical Free Church of Thief River Falls, April 5, 6 and 7. Everyone is welcome to hear these outstanding missionaries:

Reverend Daniel and Gloria Grell. The Grells have served in Germany, Austria and England.

Daniel Grell

Rev. Grell will be the keynote speaker for the festival. He is presently serving as associate executive director of Evangelical Free Church missions, developing working relations between 1,300 Free Churches in America and 500 missionaries in 43 countries.

Darwin and Darlis Anderson. The Andersons of International Messengers use English language camps in many foreign countries to introduce people to the Word of God. Besides sharing their interesting experiences, Darwin has a rich bass/baritone voice and will present a mini concert Saturday evening.

Lori Ranum. Lori is from Viking. She is an EFCM missionary and has been serving in Japan since 1988 as a teacher of missionary children. She teaches English classes, works with women's groups and assists in church planting ventures.

Lori Ranum

Keith Anderson. This EFCM missionary is on a new venture called LATN, Latin American Training Network, an innovative program using modern electronic media and technology to provide master's level training to Spanish-speaking pastors throughout Latin America and around the world. Keith has served as an Old Testament professor at a Spanish-speaking seminary, country leader in Venezuela, and as area director for Latin America.

Keith Anderson

This Missions Festival schedule is as follows:

Friday, April 5 – 6 p.m. Soup and sandwich at the Evangelical Free Church "Come as You Are". Three missionaries introduced - Daniel Grell, Keith Anderson and Lori Ranum.

Saturday, April 6 – 12 p.m. luncheon at the Best Western. Gloria Grell and Lori Ranum will speak to the ladies. Dan Grell and Keith Anderson will speak to the men

6:30 p.m. Missionary Darwin Anderson will perform a concert. Missionary Keith Anderson will present the greeting. Lori Ranum will display pictures. Note: Separate children's meeting will take place during the service.

Sunday, April 7 – 9:29 a.m. Rain or Shine Sunday School will be held. The children's classes will be with missionaries. Combined adult classes will be with Keith Anderson.

10:44 a.m. "All through the Door." The Missions Festival will climax the service with Missionary Daniel Grell.

The Evangelical Free Church of Thief River Falls is located at 211 Arnold Avenue North. Pastors Jim Howard and Mel Sich and friends of the church cordially invite the general public to attend this missions festival and to be challenged by these outstanding missionaries.

DNR-Forestry announces road closings

Due to normal spring breakup, forest roads will be closed to unrestricted travel and posted in conjunction with state and county highway weight restrictions.

In the Baudette area, all forest roads are closed to vehicle GVW's over 9,000 pounds as of March 27. In the Warroad and Wannaska areas, the Thompson, Dick's Parkway, Roosevelt, Butterfield and Winner Forest roads will be closed to vehicles over 7,000 pounds GVW on April 1. All other forest roads in the Warroad and Wannaska areas will be closed to vehicles over 1,000 pounds GVW. If road conditions warrant, it may be possible to obtain authorization from a local DNR-Forestry office.

The 7,000-pound restriction allows cars and empty pickup trucks to use roads such as Dick's Parkway. The 1,000-pound restriction allows trappers, recreationists and the like to use three- and four-wheel ATV's but not automobiles. The purpose of forest road closures is intended to protect the roads from damage and not to restrict forest users.

Country Music Jam Session in Fosston April 7

Country music lovers are urged to attend the monthly Country Music Jam session at the Embassy Community Center at the corner of Third and North Eaton Avenue in Fosston on Sunday, April 7. Monday's event, sponsored by the Northwest Regional Service Cooperative, featured 12 of the 31 Region 1 and 2 teams that competed throughout the season. Other teams competing in the regional competition were Stephen/Argyle, second place; Warroad, third place; Blackduck, fourth place; Roseau, fifth place; as well as Clearbrook/Gonvick, East Grand Forks, Greenbush/Middle River, Lake of the Woods, Thief River Falls, and Win-E-Mac. Monday's event qualified the top five teams to compete in the State Knowledge Bowl in Brainerd on April 22-25.

Energy, Farm Bill issues top CHS Board agenda on Capitol Hill

To help U.S. farmers and ranchers remain competitive, Congress must approve energy and farm bills that provide tools that let the co-ops they own help producers, CHS Cooperatives directors urged during their recent visit to Capitol Hill. "This was a particularly critical time to make our voices heard on Capitol Hill," said CHS Directors Curt Eischens, Jerry Hasnedl, Duane Stenzel and Michael Toelle. "Two of the most important bills for our agricultural cooperative system in recent years – the 2002 Energy and Farm bills – are at the top of the overall congressional agenda right now. It was an important time to make our member-owned cooperative perspective heard."

Eischens of Minneota, Hasnedl of St. Hilaire, Stenzel of Wells and Toelle of Browns Valley represent farmers and ranchers in Minnesota on the CHS Board.

During their annual Washington DC visit, March 11-14, CHS directors called on the offices of 90 members of Congress to outline the co-op's positions on pending legislation impacting agriculture, energy policy and cooperatives.

Topping the board's agenda was the pending energy bill which, in addition to setting overall national policy, includes key tax provisions that help refiner cooperatives comply with the upcoming implementation of the Environmental Protection Agency's low sulfur diesel regulations.

CHS directors also sought support for renewable fuels usage, including a partial excise tax exemption for biodiesel.

Today, just four cooperative-owned refineries remain, compared with 20 five decades ago. Of those, CHS owns a refinery at Laurel, Mont., 75 percent of the National Cooperative Refinery Association at McPherson, Kan., and has a supply agreement with the Farmland Industries refinery at Coffeyville, Kan. Cooperative refineries provide 40 percent of the fuel used by all of U.S. agriculture.

Upgrades to meet the low sulfur requirements at Laurel and McPherson will cost an estimated $250 million. The tax provisions contained in the Energy Bill would help offset those costs.

"If members of Congress want to help rural America, assisting cooperative refiners is a way to do it," the Minnesota directors said.

In addressing the 2002 Farm Bill debate, the CHS directors called for a program that creates a solid safety net for all farmers and ranchers, expands foreign trade markets, provides incentives for conservation practices without expanding the Conservation Reserve Program and maintains a 10-year, $73.5 million agricultural funding supplement.

Other key issues included the need for funding of upgrades for Mississippi River lock and dam system, along with opposition to limiting navigation on the Snake, Columbia and Missouri river systems. Board members also urged approval of legislation designed to assist cooperatives including a tax code change that would allow co-ops to better use preferred stock as a means of returning cash to members more quickly.

In addition to congressional visits, the board hosted a reception for the National Association of Wheat Growers as well as a dinner for agricultural, energy and cooperative organizations. U.S. Department of Agriculture Deputy Secretary Jim Moseley was keynote speaker for the banquet, sharing the agency's outlook for pending farm program legislation and new USDA programs.

Board members also heard briefings on cooperative issues and the 2002 Farm Bill from the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, as well as an overview of agricultural trade policy from Mark Sloan of the U.S. Trade Representative's Office of Agricultural Affairs.

CHS Cooperatives (www.CHSco-ops.com) is a producer-to-consumer cooperative system owned by farmers, ranchers and their local co-ops from the Great Lakes to the Pacific Northwest and from the Canadian border to Texas. CHS, through its Cenex® and Harvest States® brands, is a fully integrated agricultural foods cooperative providing a wide variety of products and services ranging from grain marketing to food processing to meet the needs of customers around the world. It also operates petroleum refineries/pipelines and, through a broad range of working partnerships, markets and distributes energy products, agronomic inputs and feed to rural America.

Emiko Kajino to brings "Kimono World" to Warren

Emiko Kajino of "Kimono World" in Tokyo, Japan, is bringing her show to the United States for selected programs. Everyone will have the opportunity of seeing her production on April 6 in Warren.

Emiko Kajino will bring three ladies from her shop in Tokyo to assist her in a program of traditional hair styling, kimono dressing and giving insights to some of the most captivating aspects of Japanese culture.

There are many different fabrics used in the kimono, which is the Japanese national costume. In modern days there are only a few people who wear this dress all of the time. It is usually reserved for special occasions. While western clothing is cut to fit the body, the kimono is cut and sewn in a straight line with one long piece of fabric that is wrapped around the body. There are no buttons or zippers used, but only a few ropes to fit the kimono to the person. The kimonos are of a standard size that can be worn by anyone. The ideal figure for a kimono is cylindrical, therefore, if the waist is too thin or the back to slender, cotton cloths and towels are used to adjust the body.

This program is sponsored by the GFWC Warren Women's Club and will be held at 10:30 a.m. April 6 in the WAG Elementary School. A noon luncheon will be served. During the luncheon, guests will be treated to a style show presented by Country Casual/River Jordan. Tickets, $7 for adults, and $5 for children under 12, are available at Country Casuals/River Jordan and True Value in Warren.

Thief River Falls girls high school softball...

Trying to build upon success

Thief River Falls enjoyed a taste of success during the 2001 high school softball season with an 11-10 record that carried the Prowlers into the third round of the double-elimination North Sub-Section 8AAA tournament. The challenge in 2002 is to build on those accomplishments.

The latest edition of Thief River Falls softball has a lot to offer, according to Matt Okeson, who begins his fourth year as head coach with five starters back from last spring's team that matched the win total from his first two years at the helm (5-11 in 1999; 6-17 in 2000).

"Defensively we should be very athletic and strong in the infield," offered Okeson, who expect solid play in the middle from juniors Megan Bettin and Steph Hoard at shortstop and second base, respectively, and at the corners from junior third baseman Katie Walseth and senior first baseman Miriah Johnson.

Senior Beth Brown, along with juniors Kayla Loe and Steph Haverland could also provide key contributions in the infield.

"The outfield should be very consistent," said Okeson, who has confidence in seniors Stacy Harbott, Loretta Hruby, Meagan Lunke, Becky Solem, and Brown.

Senior Ashleigh Anderson, who caught 16 games a year go, is the incumbent at catcher. She will get help from juniors Laura Anderson and Hoard.

The pitching staff will be led by senior Abbie Houske. She appeared in 13 games last year, finishing with a 7-5 won-loss record and a 3.35 earned run average over 71 innings. Hruby, who has pitched at the varsity level the past two years, will be used in relief.

"We have not had two girls with this much varsity pitching experience over the past three seasons, so this is a huge area of improvement for the program," said Okeson. "If they keep the walk totals down, we should be a very competitive team."

Younger pitchers in the program include Hoverland, sophomores Kayla Harris and Kendra Mooney, plus freshman Megan Berg.

"Offense will be an early question mark," acknowledged Okeson, who lost his top two 2001 hitters – all-conference players Kylie Rogalla and Amy Christensen – to graduation.

To compensate for anticipated shortcomings at the plate, Okeson will try to manufacture some offense, especially early in the season. "We will look to put the ball in play with the bunt and do a lot more slap-hitting," he said. "The girls have really come a long way over the past three years in those two areas. We have been concentrating on the small game a lot in early practice. Several players have been working on bunting left-handed, and are very excited to give it a try."

Bettin, who hit .408 last spring, is expected to lead the attack, with Solem (.379) and Hoard (.375) also capable of providing some offensive power. A year ago Bettin drove in 14 runs, while Solem and Hoard both finished with 13 RBI.

Okeson will start the 2002 season with eight seniors and six juniors on the varsity roster. "We have a great balance of leadership and youthfulness," he said. "We should be very exciting to watch."

Rest of the players in the Thief River Falls softball program this year are juniors Jenna Owen, Jenny Healon, Stacy Schultz, Alicia Peterson, Sam Alby, Becky Lehrer and Allie Torsveil; sophomores Kyla Genereux, Melissa Johnson, Marit Dalen, Alesha Franks, and Stacy Olson; along with freshmen Kindra Trunivel, Kayla Gallagher, Jillian Larson, Jenny Gmve, Amanda Noreen, Kelly Fawcett, Katie Peterick, Chelsey Bottem, Shayla Torell, Trudy Erickson, Ashley Read, Jackie Stenvik, Kari Wold, Alicia Toren, and Angie Blom.

Okeson's coaching staff included Eric Melcher, junior varsity; and Tony Greene, freshmen.

A scheduled Tuesday, April 2, Thief River Falls season opener at home against East Grand Forks Sacred Heart has already been called off, setting the Prowlers' debut back to Friday, April 5, on the road against Badger/Greenbush-Middle River.

Pioneers enjoy winning season

■ NCTC men's basketball team finishes 14-10

Rick Nikunen expects to meet the self-imposed 2002-03 deadline he set for the Northland Community and Technical College men's basketball program.

When Nikunen stepped down as head coach of the Northland women's team to take a similar job with the men's squad in 1998-99, he laid out a five-year plan for the Pioneers. "By the fifth year," he explained, "I wanted to be able to compete for a division championship."

But there was work to be done. The Pioneers were 1-20 under Ted Krize in 1997-98 and 0-22 in Nikunen's first year. The figure improved to 8-16 in 1999-2000, but leveled off to a nearly-identical 8-18 the next winter.

A 14-10 finish this year was a step in the right direction, and with a roster full of freshmen, it gave promise to the future.

The Pioneers went 8-2 in early-season nonconference play, but lost three of their first four Minnesota Community College Conference starts. Those setbacks, coupled with a pair of close late-season Northern Division home court losses, kept Northland out of the MCCC state tournament, despite top-of-the-line performances in season-ending wins over Fergus Falls and Itasca.

Despite the season-opening success, the intensity of play in Northern Division games caught the younger Pioneers by surprise, according to Nikunen. "Our inexperience showed," he said, "but as the season went along, we got better. In the last 2-2 1/2 weeks, I thought we were playing as well and anybody in the Northern Division. But the early losses, and a couple of key division losses at home came back to hurt us."

Jerry Shorter (Madison, Wisc.), Matt Ulmer (Frazee) and Llewellyn Marshall (Chicago) were the only sophomores on the squad. The 6-0 Shorter led the team in scoring with an average of 19.2 points per game to earn All-Northern Division and MCCC all-state honors.

"The sophomores were our leaders," offered Nikunen. "All three had roles to play, and they were willing to accept those roles."

The large first-year group was headed by 6-8 Reggie Gaddis (Madison, Wisc.), who averaged 16.2 points and 7 rebounds per game.

Leading rebounder on the squad was 6-4 freshman Justin Skjerven (Thief River Falls), who averaged eight rebounds per game. Top assist man for the Pioneers was 5-11 freshman Evan Barnett (Minneapolis).

While disappointed the Pioneers did not make a post-season appearance, Nikunen was nevertheless happy with the progress the program made this year, and he is eager to see how high this year's freshmen will be able to elevate their game as sophomores. He's working hard on another recruiting class, but he knows his returning players will form the nucleus of what he hopes will be a title contender next year. "I feel confident we are going to be competitive with this group," he said. "I want to be able to compete for a championship. With our returning sophomores, and a few new freshmen, I think we'll be able to do that."

Stephen/Argyle Central presents George M! April 5-7

Stephen/Argyle Central will present the musical, "George M!," on Friday and Saturday, April 5 and 6, at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, April 7, at 2 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Tickets will be available at the door at a cost of $6 for adults and $4 for students, seniors, and preschoolers.

Students in grades seven through 12 have been working on the challenging musical since January. Songs and tap dance complement the story.

George M. Cohan's story is told "where he lived it – on a stage." Cohan loved Broadway and America, and his music reflect his strong feelings with songs such as "My Town," "Give My Regards to Broadway," "Over There," and "You're a Grand Old Flag."

Lead cast members include: Brent Radeke as George M. Cohan; Bryce Hendrickson as Cohan's father, Jerry; Beth Radeke as Cohan's mother, Nellie; Michelle Johnson as his sister, Josie; Lisa Widner as his first wife, Ethel; and Kally Nelson as Cohan's second wife, Agnes.

Other cast members are: Scott Paulson, Ashley Nelson, Sara Gajeski, Sarah St. Germain, Brandee Swenseid, Alissa Riopelle, Brenna Benson, Sarah Nowacki, Meghan Kuznia, Kathy LaBine, Chelsie Hvidsten, Allie Kuznia, and Tiffany Szklarski.

For more information about the production, call Colleen Radeke at (218) 437-8521.

Head Start seeks children for 2002-03 program

Northwest Head Start is currently recruiting preschool children for the 2002-03 program year. Head Start is operated by Northwest Community Action, Inc. and serves families in eastern Marshall, Roseau, Lake of the Woods, and Kittson counties.

Head Start is a family-oriented, comprehensive child development program that provides activities in the areas of education, health, social services, and parent involvement. The program provides activities for children of all ability levels, including children with special needs. Head start serves eligible families with children who are three to five years old as of September 1, 2002.

Anyone who has a child or knows of a child who will be three, four, or five years old before September 1, 2002 and is interested in learning more about the program, should call the Head Start office in Badger at (218) 528-3227 or toll-free at 1-800-568-5319.

NOTICE TO READERS

While work-at-home advertising is often legitimate, we advise readers to fully investigate the background of any company before paying a fee. If an offer sounds "too good to be true," it probably is. Proceed with caution if you are asked to send money or in calling 900 numbers. All phone numbers prefixed by "900" are charged to the caller on a per minute per call basis. Remember, if you have any doubts, investigate.

Knowledge Bowl include: Amy Borgen, Badger; Jason Rarick, Climax/Shelly; Nondita Rahman, Crookston; Kristin Chisholm, Fertile/Beltrami; Ruth Carlson, Fosston; Gus Rustan, Goodridge; Alexey Yurasskiskh, Indus; Daryk Leonhardt, Kelliher; Kristen Finney, Kittson Central; Nicole Engstrom, Lancaster; Sean Shelton, Mahnomen; Nate Muzzy, Marshall County Central; Paul Bachand, Oklee; and Abby Larson, Tri-County.

Thirty-one school districts competed in Region 1 and 2 Junior High and/or Senior High Knowledge Bowl this season. Participating schools include: Ada/Borup, Badger, Bemidji, Blackduck, Clearbrook/Gonvick, Climax/Shelly, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Fertile/Beltrami, Fisher, Fosston, Goodridge, Greenbush/Middle River, Grygla, Indus, Kelliher, Kittson Central, Lake of the Woods, Lancaster, Mahnomen, Marshall County Central, Norman County East, Oklee, Roseau, Stephen/Argyle, Thief River Falls, Tri-County, South Koochiching, Warroad, Waubun, and Win-E-Mac.

Minnesota Service Cooperative Knowledge Bowl competitions are interdisciplinary academic competitions designed for secondary students in grades 9-12. During the meets, teams of students participate in written and oral rounds by answering questions related to all areas of learning typical of secondary educational programs. Questions test students' recall, problem solving, and critical thinking skills. The competitions consist of a written round of 60 questions and four or five oral rounds of 45 questions each. Teams consist of four members and one alternate.

Wetland restoration project taking shape

A piece of land two miles west of Winger in northwestern Minnesota's Polk County is being restored to a landscape that will someday resemble what it looked like before it was farmed.

The wetland and native prairie restoration is a joint project between the Minnesota Board of Water and Soil Resources (BWSR) and the Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT). The project will be used by BWSR and Mn/DOT to offset wetland impacts that cannot be mitigated on site for state, city, county, and township road repair, rehabilitation, reconstruction, or replacement projects.

The Vesledahl project will restore 750 acres of wetlands and 500 acres of native vegetation. The entire piece of land, purchased by the state from Steve and Bob Vesledahl, covers 1,900 acres. The 130 basins restored will range from 0.5 to 50 acres in size.

"Having an opportunity to restore a piece of land this size and leave a legacy of such magnitude rarely comes around in one's lifetime," said Dan Eklund, a BWSR wetland specialist from the agency's Brainerd office. The project could not have been possible without funding, interagency coordination, and acceptance by neighbors, he noted. "When I initially view the site, I knew we were on to something special."

This project will produce a number of benefits, according to Bill Best, a BWSR board conservationist whose region includes Polk County. "This large tract of land restored to native prairie and wetlands will create a greenway that will connect DNR and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service lands," he said. "Certainly, everyone's hope is that the area will become a sanctuary for wildlife. This in turn will help attract birders and hunters to the county, which will help support the local economy."

People should be able to see and identify a wide variety of grasses, forbs, and wetland vegetation at the site once it is open to the public, said Best, who is housed in BWSR's Bemidji office. "Big and little bluestem, switchgrass, Indian grass, prairie cord grass, purple prairie clover, black-eyed Susan, and asters are just some of the vegetation that has been planted on site," he noted. Seeds that might still lie dormant in the wetland basins could germinate naturally, he noted. "Schools should be able to take advantage of these resources for educating students on plant identification and the importance of natural ecosystems."

treatment was different, but discrimination did not exist in the same sense as it existed in the white population.

Very little else about women appeared in journals, except notations that the women were promiscuous.

Yellow Bird said her grandmother and others encouraged her to delete that information from her book. Yellow Bird wants to encourage people to look at the subject from a different perspective. Early settlers and explorers, looked at the promiscuity from the perspective of a Christian. The American Indians did not have the same belief system. In fact, they looked at sex as a gift.

The fact that she intends to put this information in her book, may put her at odds with her grandmother. Yet, Yellow Bird's grandmother was one of the individuals who had the biggest impact on her life.

Yellow Bird explained that her mother had 13 children, and laughingly said, she was also her mother's biggest problem. Many of their difficulties pertain to religion. Yellow Bird remains true to the religion of the Arikara, while her mother is Catholic. As long as they don't discuss religious differences, they seem to get along, she said. Because there were so many children in the family, Yellow Bird spent a considerable amount of time with her grandmother. It was her grandmother, Yellow Bird said, who taught them who they were and what they were about. "This is who you are," she would say. To this day, when Yellow Bird sees another American Indian struggling, she thinks back to her grandmother and knows that this person who is struggling now did not have someone in their life to teach them who they were.

Who are these people? Her research also indicates that there were interesting differences between American Indian tribes. Upon first contact with whites, for example, the Arikara did not indulge in alcohol. Yellow Bird said they told those who wanted them to drink alcohol that if they wanted them to drink, they had to pay them to watch them act foolishly.

The Arikara grew crops. This often made them the target of the Sioux – her term, which she explained was easier to say than repeatedly stating the individual tribe names. So, when it came to fighting, the Arikara would fight against the Sioux. (This is a delicate subject, she said, because she has many friends who are Sioux, and in fact, some ancestors who were Sioux, as well.) She even has ancestors who fought with the Seventh Calvary during the Battle of the Little Big Horn. Bloody Knife, who was killed during the battle, served as Custer's favorite scout, and was one of her ancestors.

It was a different time and our perspective has changed. Many things have changed, and the change became more evident as Yellow Bird answered questions about advantages and disadvantages to living on reservations, amount of blood quantum needed to become an enrolled member of a tribe, casinos and their impact on American Indians, and of course, the Fighting Sioux logo.

On that subject, Yellow Bird said she is patient. Time has changed many things, and in time, many more things will change – for the better.

We would like to thank everyone for all the cards, flowers, thoughts and prayers at the time of my surgery and recovery. I also want to thank Dr. Rathgeber and staff at the Altru Clinic in Thief River Falls and all the doctors and surgeons at the Altru Hospital in Grand Forks. We say special thanks to our family and friends for all their help. Our pastors and congregation at Trinity Lutheran for all their prayers.
God Bless you all.

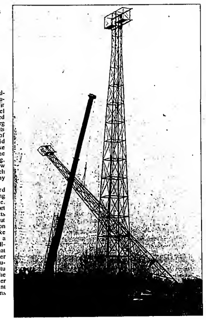
Oklee, Plummer school boards approve pairing

by David Hill
Editor

Oklee and Plummer school boards have voted to pair academically starting the next school year in August of 2002.

The plans call for both districts to keep grades Kindergarten through 4 at each site, but combine grades 5, 6, 7 and 8 in Plummer, and grades 9, 10, 11 and 12 in Oklee. The plan will be re-evaluated after two years.



Oklee Superintendent Dale Salberg said he was not surprised by the amount of support for the pairing. Most residents, he said, seem to recognize that the pairing will strengthen the two schools, and allow them to continue to offer good quality curriculum.

Sparsity aid was a deciding factor in the decision to pair academically. Richard Lorenson, superintendent/principal in Plummer, said Plummer has been receiving nothing in sparsity aid, while this year, Oklee received about $55,000. Pairing academically, now means the two schools will share over $237,000. Lorenson noted that although the district does not want to lose any students because of the pairing, any loss of students would have the unusual result of increasing sparsity aid.

While sparsity aid was a deciding factor, it was not the only reason the districts decided to pair academically. Cuts in personnel was not one of the reasons, assured Lorenson. Lorenson and Salberg said they don't anticipate any cuts in personnel. The ultimate goal of the academic pairing, said Lorenson, is to increase course offerings and strengthen the schools. With this pairing, Lorenson said the system will now have nearly two sections in each grade. This, he said, creates many possibilities.

Lorenson said he has heard many positive comments indicating that the pairing was long overdue. One of the reasons for that support is the fact that the two districts have been paired in sports for about 16 years. In addition, Lorenson noted that smaller schools like Oklee and Plummer have seen a steady decline in student enrollment. In fact, Lorenson said that when he joined the staff at Plummer in 1987, the school had 257 students. Today, the school has 177 students. Lorenson said that with the pairing, both schools stand a better chance of surviving the current economic problems, and problems

Minnkota Power Cooperative provided the crane used to take down the light towers at the former Irv Wilson field this week. The city has a new baseball/softball complex at the Multi-Events Center near Northland Community and Technical College. The lights and towers were removed this week, however, to make way for the new Engelstad Arena. Groundbreaking for the $10 million arena will take place at noon on Monday, April 8. The public is invited to attend. Three of the light towers that were taken down will be relocated on the Pennington County Fairgrounds. The remaining will be in storage. Anderson Power and Equipment donated the flatbed used to move the towers. City employees assisted in removing the towers and lights.

Daylight saving time begins Sun.

Remember to set your clocks one-hour ahead before you go to bed the evening of April 6. Daylight saving time begins on April 7.

Federal law, administered by the Transportation Department, specifies that daylight saving time applies from 2 a.m. on the first Sunday of April until 2 a.m. on the last Sunday of October.

TRF Times Home, Sport Craft Show this weekend

The 10th Annual Thief River Falls Times Home, Sport and Craft Show will be held Saturday and Sunday, April 6 and 7, at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center in Thief River Falls. The show opens at 10 a.m. on both days, but closes at 6 p.m. on Saturday, and 5 p.m. on Sunday.

Products for your home, the outdoors, and everything in between will be on display or on sale at the Home, Sport and Craft Show. Exhibits will be displayed inside the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center and outside of the Center. About 100 different businesses, groups and organizations are participating in this event.

Several businesses and organizations will also operate concession stands at the event.

Admission at the door is $2.50 for adults (16 and older), $1.50 for children (6-15); and children under age 6 will be admitted free of charge.

New Eagles Club opens in EGF

East Grand Forks - For the East Grand Forks Eagles Club, smaller means better. The club opened informally last week much to the praise of early patrons.

Forced to moved from its former location on the Point because the club was on the Corps of Engineers permanent flood protection plan, the club was rebuilt at a new location. The new 10,000 square foot building is about a third as big as the former building, a size trustee Scott Nelson says is more suited to current membership numbers.

Once complete, the new club will feature banquet/wedding facilities that will seat approximately 275 people, an outdoor patio and two horseshoe pits, pool tables, dart boards, a kitchen to serve lunches and suppers, and 10 television sets.

Mike Melby of Thief River Falls has been hired to manage the facility. The Exponent

Migrant school program ends

Ada - Although the summer migrant school program of Norman County West was once the largest in the state, the program will not operate in Norman County this year.

The decision to end the program is due to the fact that farm practices have changed over the years. In the valley's sugar beet fields with the need for migrant labor steadily decreasing.

Plans are currently being made for migrant families in Norman County to be served by schools in either Moorhead or Hillsboro. Norman County Index

Sister of Columbine victim to speak

Bagley - Dana Scott, sister of Columbine High School murder victim Rachel Scott, will be the featured speaker at Bagley and Clearbrook-Gonvick high schools on Wednesday, April 10. Scott's appearance is a prelude to the Rise Up America event planned in Bemidji next weekend.

The older sister of Rachel Scott, Dana will speak about combating violence through a chain reaction created by acts of kindness. The origin of her message comes form an essay written by Rachel shortly before her death and a videotape made by her murderer, Eric Harris. Farmers Independent

Drug investigation yields arrests

Detroit Lakes - A 10-month investigation resulted in the 27 felony arrest warrants that were acted upon Tuesday in Detroit Lakes, and by day's end, a number of the individuals sought by law enforcement authorities had been arraigned in Becker County District Court.

Two district judges read the charges against at least 11 defendants April 2, with each facing between one and 10 felony counts relating to the sale of a controlled substance.

Detroit Lakes Police Chief Kel Keena said that the drugs involved included marijuana, cocaine, and methamphetamines that were allegedly sold at a house near Rossman School to a confidential reliable informant. Becker County Record

Agassiz Refuge plans include prescribed burns

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is planning prescribed burns for 17,410 acres in the year 2002. Seven burns are planned for spring treatment, and an additional four burns are targeted for fall.

A prescribed burn is a managed fire conducted under a special set of guidelines called a prescription. The prescription identifies the range that environmental factors can encompass to meet the objectives of the burn and still be carried out safely. Relative humidity, wind speed and fuel moisture are among factors that must be correct for the burn to occur.

Each year, several burn units (usually about 10,000 acres) on the refuge are targeted for burning. Each unit is bordered by either maintained fire breaks, waterways or roads that enable the fire to be contained. When conditions meet the planned prescription, the burn area is ignited. Refuge fire equipment and personnel are on site to ensure the fire stays controlled.

Most burning on the refuge is done in April, May or later in the season from mid September to early November, when the prescription can be met.

Burning helps restore and maintain many plant habitats. Fire removes dry, dead plant matter that has built up over the years, opening up space for new plant growth and providing better cover for wildlife. The burn allows nutrients locked up in the dried plants to be returned to the soil to be used by new plants.

A common objective is to kill or stress plant species that are undesirable. It's also used to set back woody vegetation (willow) that has encroached upon open areas or become too mature to be of great food value for wildlife such as moose, deer and rabbits.

Burns are conducted by refuge staff and staff from cooperating agencies, all of whom are trained and certified in wildland fire fighting. Local wildland fire fighting agencies are notified of the burn so that they are prepared if needed.

Red Lake Electric's Operation Round Up awards grants

Customers of Red Lake Electric Cooperative have again provided money to non-profit organizations and charities through the Operation Round Up program. Over 80 percent of the Cooperative's customers voluntarily round up their electric bill payment to the next highest dollar each month. The pennies then go to fund community projects and charities.

Red Lake Electric Trust, Inc. is the distributor of the funds and their five-member board of directors held its semi-annual funding meeting on March 12 to determine grants of funds available. Eighteen grants were made totaling $9,150.

Five providers of emergency services were given grants. The equipment needs of the St. Hilaire, Newfolden and Thief River Falls Fire Departments were addressed with grants of $900, $1,000 and $750 respectively. The Goodridge First Responders received $1,000 for member training and the Polk County mounted Posse Search and Rescue Unit received $500 for a GPS unit.

Senior citizens were the beneficiaries of three grants. Valley Home and Oakland Park Nursing Home, both of Thief River Falls, were each given $250 for resident outing expenses. The Goodridge Senior Citizens Center will be able to make some repairs to their building with a $500 grant received.

Grants of $1,000 and $500 were given to the Hospices in Thief River Falls and Crookston to help pay for bereavement services and staff training. The Red Lake County American Cancer Society Chapter was given $500 for cancer research and patient services.

The "Never Again" performance happens again

Lincoln High School Concert Choir leaves next week on a tour that will take them to the Minneapolis area where they will perform in four different venues, including The Dakota Jazz Club, Beth El Synagogue, a Jewish school, and the McPhail Center for the Arts. (Submitted Photo, taken by Thoele Photography).

LHS Choir to perform in Mpls.

Members of the Lincoln High School Concert Choir will be taking to the road on Monday, April 8, for four performances in the Minneapolis/St. Paul area. These performances are based on their May 21, 2001 "Never Again" concert, which was held at Lincoln High School.

The choir students will be taking the Jewish songs to four venues in the Cities including The Dakota Jazz Club, the McPhail Center for the Arts, and Beth El Synagogue in St. Louis Park. All of their performances will be part of the official release of the "Butterfly Songs" compact disc that the students recorded at Studio M at Minnesota Public Radio last June. All of the musicians that accompanied them on the compact disc recording also will be performing with them at all of the venues.

The choir will perform at The Dakota Jazz Club for the 7 and 9:30 p.m. shows on April 8. The cover charge for each performance is $10. The Dakota Jazz Club is located in St. Paul and showcases jazz artists from the Minneapolis/St. Paul area. The jazz station, 88.5 FM, will be airing the performance live from The Dakota Jazz Club.

The choir will be singing many of the pieces from the "Never Again" concert as well as the "Butterfly Songs." Featured soloists include David Christensen, JoAnna Swantek, and Marnie Schafer.

The singers will also be performing for a Jewish school and all faculty at the McPhail Center at 1 p.m. on April 9. Henry Oertelt, a Holocaust survivor, will be a part of each of the performances.

The service at Beth El Synagogue in St. Louis Park will be the highlight of the performance tour. The service will start at 7 p.m. on April 9. The cantor and Jewish choir will accompany the Lincoln High School singers as they sing the processional up into the synagogue. The Lincoln High School choir will then perform five of the pieces from the compact disc

School adds holidays to calendar

Alexandria - Students in Alexandria School District 206 will have two extra days off from school – at least for the next two school years.

At its meeting on March 18, school board members approved the 2002-2003 and 2003-2004 school calendars, which include days off for Martin Luther King Jr. Day and Presidents Day.

This past January, questions were raised as to why students were in session on Martin Luther King Jr. Day. Echo Press

Pick out a bar recipe to try tonight - here are some old favorites.

This recipe has been around a long time, probably because the bars are really tasty and quick to make when you want something rich:

DREAM BARS
1 cup flour
1 1/3 cups packed brown sugar
1/3 cup soft butter
2 eggs
1 teaspoons vanilla
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup coconut
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Mix flour, 1/3 cup brown sugar and butter until crumbly. Press in bottom of 9x9 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 15 minutes.

Combine 1 cup brown sugar and remaining ingredients in bowl. Beat at medium speed until thick and foamy. Pour over partially baked crust and bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes, until golden.

These are brown sugar bars with chocolate frosting - they taste just like toffee candy:

TOFFEE BARS
1 caps butter
1 cup packed brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
1 cup (6 ounces) semi-sweet chocolate (1/2 cup in bars and 1/2 cap for top)
(or milk chocolate stars or candy bars are good topping too)
1 cup chopped nuts

Cream butter, brown sugar and vanilla. Stir in flour, 1/2 cap of chocolate chips and 3/4 cup of the chopped nuts. Press into greased 9x15 inch pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until light golden brown. Immediately sprinkle with remaining 1/2 cap chocolate chips (or milk chocolate candies or bars). When soft, spread to frost and then sprinkle with remaining 1/4 cup chopped nuts.

Make this original tender treat or try one of the flavor variations:

SHORTBREAD
2 cups flour
1/2 cup sugar
3/4 cup soft butter
1 tablespoon cream
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Combine all ingredients in mixing bowl. Mix until a dough can be formed (if using mixer, use low speed). Form into a square.

Flatten on greased cookie sheet to 10x8 inch rectangle. Prick with fork to make 2 inch triangles. Do not separate. Bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes or until golden brown on edges. Cut along pricked lines.

Coffee Shortbread: Add 2 teaspoons instant coffee and 1/4 cup finely chopped pecans.

Mocha Shortbread: Add 1 teaspoon instant coffee and 1 tablespoon cocoa.

Butterscotch Shortbread: Use brown sugar instead of white and decrease baking time to 15-20 minutes.

Almond Shortbread: Add 1/3 cup finely chopped almonds and 1/2 teaspoon almond extract.

Chocolate Shortbread: Add 2 tablespoons cocoa.

Tasty caramel is sandwiched between delicious layers:

CARAMEL NUT LAYERS
1/2 cup butter
1 cap flour
1/2 cup quick-cooking oats
1/3 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup caramel ice cream topping
1 tablespoon flour
1 tablespoon butter
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1/4 cup chopped nuts

Mix flour, oats and brown sugar. Cut in butter until particles are fine. Press half of the mixture in bottom of 8x8 inch pan, reserving remainder. Bake at 375 degrees for 10 minutes.

Combine ice cream topping, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon butter, powdered sugar and nuts. Pour over partially baked crust. Top with reserved crumb mixture. Bake 12-15 minutes more or until light golden. Cut after cool.

Sugar cookie bars are easy to make with your favorite filling:

FILLED SUGAR COOKIE BARS
3/4 cup butter
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 tablespoon cream or milk
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 caps flour

Cream butter with sugars. Add egg, cream, baking powder, vanilla and salt. Mix well. Blend in flour. Refrigerate while preparing a filling.

Roll out half of dough on lightly floured sheet of waxed paper to 14x10 inch rectangle. Transfer to cookie sheet, waxed paper side up. Remove paper and spread with filling. Roll out remaining dough as above and place over filling. Remove waxed paper and sprinkle with sugar.

Bake at 375 degrees for 15-20 minutes or until light golden brown. Cut into 3 x 1 1/2 inch bars.

Date Filled Cookies: 1 1/4 cups cut dates, 1/4 cap sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind. Combine in saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Add 1/2 cup chopped nuts.

Fig Filled Cookies: 1 1/2 cups cut figs, 1/3 cup sugar, 1/2 cup water, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Combine in saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, until thick.

Apricot Filled Cookies: 1 1/2 cup cut dried apricots, 1/2 cup water, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 2 tablespoons orange juice. Combine in saucepan and cook, stirring constantly, until thick. Stir in 1/2 cup sugar and 1/2 cup coconut. Reheat before spreading.

Happy Birthday, Lucy!

Children's clinic at Roseau April 30

A Children's Physical Rehabilitation Clinic will be held at Messiah Lutheran Church in Roseau on Tuesday, April 30. The annual clinic is sponsored by the Roseau American Legion Auxiliary and Minnesota Children with Special Health Needs (MCSHN), a division of the Minnesota Department of Health.

The clinic, for children 12 years of age and under, will provide evaluations of children with suspected problems in speech, language, hearing, vision, development, nutrition or feeding, hyperactivity, or any other health problem. Staff will include a pediatrician, pediatric nurse practitioner, speech pathologist, hearing/vision consultant, and medical social worker.

For more information or to schedule an appointment, contact Edith Larson at 606 8th Street SW, Roseau, MN 56751, or call (218) 463-1206.

Kimono World program at Stephen April 11

"Kimono World," a program about some of the most captivating aspects of Japanese culture, will be presented on Thursday, April 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the old auditorium in Stephen.

The Japanese women who will be performing have spent two weeks touring the upper midwest, and Thursday's performance will be their final show before returning to Japan. A reception, hosted by the cast and crew of the Stephen High School musical, "George M," will be held in their honor following the performance.

Emiko Kajino brought her program to the United States for a second tour for the pleasure of sharing the kimono tradition as well as traditional Japanese music and folk dance. People of all ages appreciate the talent and friendship shared by the women. Funds raised at the April 11 program will benefit the Stephen Arts Council. Tickets are $5 for adults and $2 for students.

Card of Thanks

A sincere "thank you" to Dr. Kurt Possai, Dr. Sanjay Patel, and the staffs of Northwest Medical Center and Karlstad Healthcare Center for TLC while I was a patient. My appreciation to Pastor David Pretty and to Pastor Dennis Raymond for your visits. Plans begin for Plummer's 100th anniversary July 4

Planning has begun for Plummer's 100th birthday celebration on July 4. A parade and all-school reunion are already among the activities scheduled for the celebration.

The Centennial committee is gathering historical information and photographs to be used for a souvenir history booklet. Submissions would be appreciated. The history booklet will be available for purchase as the centennial nears.

The Centennial committee is also sponsoring a 2004 Plummer Centennial Logo contest. Anyone interested in designing a logo is encouraged to submit one or more entries. Entries should be no larger than eight-inches by 11-inches and must be received on or before May 15. There will be a $25 cash award for the winning entry and the logo shall become the property of the Plummer Centennial committee.

Historical information and/or logo entries can be mailed to Debbie DuChamp, P.O. Box 14, Plummer, MN 56748, or delivered to her at the Plummer Creamery. (Historical items or pictures will be returned if a label with the owner's name and address are attached.)

Funding for the celebration will come from various businesses, individuals and civic groups.

Watch for more information about the celebration. Events and activities will be publicized as plans become finalized.

Viking church kicks off mission festival Sunday

"Bringing My World to Christ" is the theme of the 2002 Mission Festival at Viking Covenant Church.

On Sunday, April 7, speaker Janelle Nelson will share information about her short-term experiences with Covenant World Mission at 10 a.m.

On Saturday, April 13, an international dinner will be served at 5:30 p.m., followed by a presentation by Cheryl Clark of Ecuador who will discuss her work in Christian education.

On Sunday, April 14, Lori Ranum will be the guest during the Sunday school hour, beginning at 10:30 a.m. Ranum will also speak about her ministry at the Covenant Women's Family Night at 7 p.m. Her ministry includes teaching missionary children and church planting in Japan.

The public is invited to attend these meetings.

RHS art featured at Roseau library during April

The exhibit series at the Roseau Public Library continues its 12th year with its annual spring exhibit by Roseau High School students.

Roseau Library Friends invite patrons and visitors to view 20 colorful map boxes and 10 pop art creations made by students.

Roseau's new art teacher, Mary Vatnsdal, supervised the pop art projects created by ninth graders in the style of 20th century artist Roy Lichtenstein. Students displaying pop art include Eva Parrill, Paul Kloempken, Nicole Skeim, Austin Paulson, Matt Przekwas, Allison Kulig, Jenny Erdmann, Amber Wibbels, Stephanie Haugen, and Kayla Prelvitz.

The three-dimensional map boxes, available for viewing on a low reference shelf near the computers, were designed by art students in grades eight through 12 during a COMPAS residency with Susan Armington. Map box exhibitors include Sarah Kienitz, Amanda Langton, and Todd Swanson, seniors; Leah Kruse and Tyler Stynsberg, 10th grade; Jessica Lee and Leah Juhl, ninth grade; and Alyssa Stynsberg, Brittney Skoien, Grace Dahlgren, Matt Shepard, Tiffany Lein, Chris Link, Lander Martin, Heather Donarski, Shanrell Kaml, Connie Kokosh, Becky Holter, Savannah Geroy, and Kelsey Swart.

The art show is open during library hours every day during the month of April. On weekdays, the library opens at 9:30 a.m. Weekend hours are from 1 to 4 p.m. until April 28 when they will be discontinued.

Melody Masters to perform In Roseau Sunday, April 14

Melody Masters Quartet of Charlotte, N.C. will appear at Roseau Community Church on Sunday, April 14, beginning at 7 p.m.

The group has performed throughout the United States and Canada for many years, made numerous radio and television appearances, and made many recordings.

While there is no admission charge for the concert, a freewill offering will be received. Everyone is welcome to attend.

Crookston man dies in accident Friday morning

James William Hohman, 78, Crookston, was pronounced dead at Riverview Hospital in Crookston Friday morning following an accident on Highway 75.

Minnesota State Patrol received a report of the accident at 7:04 a.m. on Friday, April 5. According to the accident investigation report, Hohman was driving a car south on Highway 75 when his vehicle left the road on the left side south of Climax and hit a tree. The State Patrol report states that it is possible he had a heart attack at the time. Hohman was not wearing a seat belt, and when the air bag deployed it caused other injuries.

The accident remains under investigation.

ASHS meeting set for April 19 in Lancaster

Agassiz Swedish Heritage Society (ASHS) will hold its annual meeting at 6 p.m. on Friday, April 19, at Sion Lutheran Church in Lancaster. Reservations for the catered meal must be made with Vice President Lyndon Johnson of Hallock at 218-843-2834 by Monday, April 15.

Fiddler's Delight, an area-wide violin group, will provide entertainment. Marlene Saiger of Warren is their pianist. Her husband, Donald Saiger manages the outstanding group.

There will be a short business meeting to officially elect three new board members. Willing to serve on the executive board are Harriet Pearson of Red Lake Falls, June Mosbeck of Thief River Falls, and Earl Erickson of Viking. They will replace Matthew Edman of Alvarado, Lyndon Johnson of Hallock and Irwin Johnson of Thief River Falls, who have served six years on the board.

Sion Lutheran in Kittson County, has deep Swedish roots and is well known for its Scandinavian smorgasbord they serve at Midsummer in June. Sion's Pastor Tim Lundeen is well known by individuals in ASHS, having served his internship at Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Warren, and prior to that, serving as substitute lay pastor in several parishes around his hometown of Goodridge.

Candy Nelson of Lancaster will cater the meal. All area Swedes, and anyone interested, are cordially invited by ASHS President Matthew Edman of Alvarado.

Plans are being made for the ASHS Annual Midsummer Fest at Lake Bronson. The event is currently scheduled for Saturday, June 22, in conjunction with Lake Bronson's Rhubarb Days celebration.

Other ASHS board members are Jerry Johnson of East Grand Forks, Dolores Anderson of Alvarado, Neal Fox and Charles Samuelson of Thief River Falls, Doris Johnson of Warren and Carole Wilson of Roseau.

Welcome back to the good ol' days

Even commercials are returning to the "good old days."

I thought I recognized something about that commercial. Wednesday night, NBC ran a story about the comeback or return to the tried and true successful commercials. Remember Mr. Whipple. Maytag's bored repairman has been around for a long time. An older Mikey of Life cereal commercial fame, is also back.

As I was reviewing newspapers from around the State of Minnesota I came upon a story in the Minneapolis City Pages called "Faketown" by Leyla Kokmen, that confirmed what I had noticed the last time I visited my brother in Maple Grove – the small-town look is in vogue.

There it was, right smack dab in the middle of a booming Maple Grove. It looked like the Main Street we see in many small, older Minnesota Cities, but it wasn't old, it was brand new. At least, I thought it was very new, or was it a very spruced up old central city? I was so confused at what I was looking at that I even had to ask my brother: "Wasn't this an empty field last year?"

That's what Leyla Kokmen found in her story – "The buildings are only a couple of stories tall, with brick façades and lots of windows. Some have balconies that look out over the street. Curlicue street lamps line the sidewalks that line these few blocks, and matching park benches are scattered along the way."

So what's this all about? Why are advertisers and big cities returning to what many of us refer to as "the good ol' days" or "small-town America?"

Kokmen asks the same questions, and Tim Murnane, vice president and general manager of Opus Northwest LLC, a developer, said it's about building a community that the landowners, the city officials, and the shoppers themselves were clamoring for.

I have a slightly deeper answer. I think it's because it's comforting, and when the world is as topsy-turvy and as unpredictable as it is now, people want to be comforted by things they know, things they cherish from their childhood. They want images and feelings that remind them of home.

Does this mean folks will be moving back to rural communities? I doubt it. I just think that, like we have for centuries, Americans take the best of what they find, and make it something useful to themselves.

Yes, we can take comfort in knowing that we have something the rest of America wants. But, if we in rural America are to be really clever, we should probably market and financially support our own rural revival.

Let's put out the welcome mat this summer, and let everyone know – Welcome back home to rural America. It's been awhile.

That's just rude

Perhaps a return to the good old days and Main Street means people want to be comforted by things they know, things they cherish from their childhood and home. But unless we change our attitudes and values, those buildings and images will be empty, meaningless façades.

This week, news outlets across the country reported the results of a survey that finds rudeness in America is getting worse. According to a story on CNN.com, "A full 79 percent of the 2,013 adults surveyed by telephone in January by the research group Public Agenda said a lack of respect and courtesy in American society is a serious problem. Sixty-one percent believe things have gotten worse in recent years."

A director of Public Agenda, said people get excited about this issue, and think this is an area of society that they would like to see improve.

Unfortunately, while many people say they want to see an improvement in our manners and attitude, 41 percent also said "they themselves have behaved this way in the past."

What drives us to act rudely?

Bad driving, bad roads, crowded conditions, telemarketers, rushed working hours and conditions, the need for two-income families. There aren't enough hours in the day to list all of our pet peeves or triggers. And maybe that's it too – not enough hours in a day.

But maybe it goes back to the "good ol' days" and our continuing search for a better life. According to the article on CNN.com, "Harvard University professor Robert D. Putnam said the rudeness epidemic is a symptom of growing social isolation. In his 1999 book 'Bowling Alone,' Putnam argued that television, automobiles, suburbanization and other forces have led to the decline of community organizations that once held Americans together."

So do we reject all that at one time we thought would bring us happiness and contentment – television, automobiles and suburbanization? Reminds me of the movie where the actor says "I'm mad as hell, and I'm not going to take it any more," and a television tossed from an apartment soon becomes a cascade of televisions.

Perhaps we ought to repair what is broken first. And as a single television tossed from a window led to a cascade of televisions, one nice word or apology, might bring about a cascade of polite or good behavior.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively, letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Crime Victim Services evaluated in statewide groups

Services provided to crime victims in Minnesota are being reviewed in a series of focus groups and public meetings in each of the state's 10 judicial districts.

The review is being conducted by the Minnesota Center of Crime Victim Services (MCCVS), Minnesota Department of Public Safety, and will continue through June. A summary report of the findings and subsequent recommendations will be issued by MCCVS this fall.

The effort is soliciting information and ideas from focus groups as well as public town hall meetings. Each focus group consists of 12 to 15 participants, including victim service providers, judicial representatives, attorneys, law enforcement officers, probation and parole personnel, and legislators.

Following each focus group, a town hall meeting will be lead by a facilitator, allowing the public an opportunity to offer suggestions for service priorities, as well as to relate their experiences with current services.

Victim services are provided through state, county and municipal agencies, as well as a host of private and non-profit organizations. Services range from reparations, including reimbursement of medical, legal and relocation costs, to rights advocacy and legal representation to emergency housing and counseling.

Since September's terrorist attacks, there is a heightened national awareness of the need for crime victim services, according to Mary Ellison, executive director of MCCVS. Ellison anticipates specific concerns to be raised at the local level.

"Because of the growing diversity in Minnesota's population, we expect to hear a desire for cultural and language-specific services," says Ellison. "We also anticipate groups will identify continued adequate funding of services and the ongoing training of crime victim advocates as primary concerns."

Crime victims meeting April 11 in Thief River Falls

Minnesota Center for Crime Victim Services (MCCVS) in the Minnesota Department of Public Safety will host an open town hall meeting in Thief River Falls from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thursday, April 11, in the Pennington County Courthouse to solicit public comment on the level of services provided to crime victim services in Minnesota's Ninth Judicial District.

The Ninth Judicial District includes the counties of Aitkin, Beltrami, Cass, Clearwater, Crow Wing, Hubbard, Itasca, Kittson, Koochiching, Lake of the Woods, Mahnomen, Marshall, Norman, Pennington, Polk, Red Lake and Roseau.

Participants in the meeting will include Georgie Peterson, Minnesota Department of Administration as facilitator; Mary Ellison, executive director MCCVS, and directors and advocates with regional crime victim service providers.

MCCVS will use public comment to help identify needs in crime victim services in Minnesota. Services are provided through state, county and municipal agencies as well as a host of private and non-profit organizations. Services range from reparations, including reimbursement of medical, legal and relocation costs, to rights advocacy and legal representation to emergency housing and counseling.

THE LYON'S SHARE

Tim Lyon

"And It's Got Fangs This Big!"

Before I actually started hunting them, I'd heard a lot about how wily wild turkeys were. I'd listen politely as veteran hunters would describe the bird's near-supernatural advantages in terms of sight, stealth, hearing and wits. 'Heck', they'd claim, unmistakable reverence creeping into the words, 'if turkeys could smell you'd never shoot a one!' And, like I said, I'd listen politely to the accounts, doing my best not to smirk or grimace. I may not have ever actually hunted the birds at that time, but I'd had my fair share of experience with wild turkeys. Wily and cunning? Perhaps. Wary and unshaatable? C'mon. I'd lived, you see, on Oak Island.

Oak is a largish (three square mile) island off Minnesota's Northwest Angle in Lake of the Woods. Most of those familiar with the lake's geography have at least an idea about Oak, if not some bona-fide experience. Usually, however, when I broach the subject of turkeys on Oak Island, the standard response is a knowing nod and then a disparaging, detailed discussion concerning those of us who actually lived there.

24 "wild" turkeys flew onto Oak back in the mid-80's (via seaplane, of course) courtesy of a well-intentioned local who felt that the isolated character of island life, combined with the hearty personality of the birds themselves, would form a perfect union. Mother nature, however, had different thoughts and it quickly became clear that Ben Franklin's favorite fowl was not destined for life off the Angle. A lack of ground forage, unusually well-adapted predators, local pets, and winters more severe than any bald-headed creature could reasonably expect to withstand, all contributed to a fairly quick extinction. Within five years the gobbles on Oak were gone. An impression, however, had been made.

Despite the odds, these turkeys tried to adapt and survive. A move toward humanity was their most productive one. People represented food, as welfare-like handouts of birdseed and stale bread were the only things that kept the birds going. People represented safety – the occasional sacrifice of a flock member to an aggressive black lab was more than an adequate trade-off for protection from the foxes, fishers and owls that roamed the woods. And people represented a good way to fill in the dull parts of a day...

Unlike the truly wild turkeys to our south, the Oak Island turkeys seemed to seek out human contact. Their evening roosting trees were invariably located immediately adjacent to a lodge or cabin, guaranteeing that whoever slept in that building would be awakened by the raucous chorus of 20 or so turkeys as they greeted the dawn. The call of a solitary tom a mile away can raise the hair on the back of a hunter's neck – the entire avian choir from a distance of 10 yards through an open 5 a.m. June window does little for the average fisherman's blood-pressure. Yelling back only incited them more, boiling the birds into a gobbling frenzy that eventually had every guest in camp cursing and every dog on the island barking.

And once greeted audibly, it was a rare morning that allowed you to sneak under that tree without experiencing a 'good-day' of the more tangible sort. Remember, a 20-pound turkey is twice the size of your first born child – and this thing is undiapered.

On the ground, the birds were no less of a hazard. While more show than actual attack, the flock would quietly corner unsuspecting passersby against wood-lines and buildings and then rush them like a pack of hungry wolves sending their victim running away in an embarrassing, arm-flailing panic towards the safety of a doorway or the lake. Snowmobilers held a special fascination for the turkeys, perhaps because the unoccupied idling of a two-cycle engine sounded vaguely like a fellow hen in heat. Whatever the reason, it wasn't uncommon to see a handful of the birds defending the machine from a rider who simply wanted to get on the thing and ride home. Unwilling to back down without a fight, the birds would have to be driven away from their prize with nothing less than a swinging barrage of leather gauntlets and snowballs and the sacrifice of a good deal of snowmobiling dignity. (Do you know how hard it is to look macho on an Arctic Cat when you're hightailing it away from a rafter of turkeys?)

The only human the flock seemed genuinely intimidated by was, ironically, a six-year-old kid named Aaron and his fierce, nine-pound ball of fur companion Mishy. This dynamic duo would obligingly "put the run" on the birds, free of charge, for any local or tourist who was feeling particularly intimidated. As best as I can recall, they were busy on the weekends and were the only superheroes ever to inhabit Oak Island.

And now, years later as I head south in the Spring to hunt distant relatives of the gang that once menaced Lake of the Woods, I try to shake the memories. My present quarry is wary and reclusive, as well as wily and devious. I remind myself, when a distant tom gobbles at the rising sun that the surge of adrenalin I am feeling is a result of anticipation and not uneasiness. I am after all, the hunter. And while I might smirk or grimace as an occasional thought about my previous experiences with those northern birds crosses my mind, I remind myself that I'm no longer on Oak Island and it's quite clear now who the turkeys are.

Thank You

Words seem very inadequate to express our heartfelt "Thank You" to everyone involved with Dale's benefit. It was a day we will never forget and will cherish forever.

A special thank you to our friends and family for all their hard work and support, to Dale Svensgaard for auctioning, the people and businesses who contributed items for the auction, the Eagle's Club for hosting the activities, to Lutheran Brotherhood, Branch #8129, for the matching funds, and to all who attended the events that day. Also, thank you to those who could not attend but sent greetings

It was truly appreciated

Championship honors in the 2002 Thief River Falls Backcourt Club basketball playoffs for fifth/sixth grade boys went to the Spurs, who beat the Lakers in the finals. The Bulls defeated the Heat in the third place game, while the Magic out-scored the Raptors in the consolation bracket. Members of the Spurs squad included, front row from left, Andrew Rook, Tyler Olson, Craig Nichols; back row, coach Jeff Johnson, Adam Hutton, Dylan Johnson, Chase Bakke, and coach Kevin Rook. Not pictured: Seth Torstveit.

Playoff title in the Thief River Falls Backcourt Club fifth/sixth grade girls basketball program this year went to the Mystics, a championship game winner over the Comets. The Sting beat the Sparks in the third place match-up, and the Liberty defeated the Sol in the fifth place contest. The Mystics roster included, front row from left, Katrina Peterson, Britteny Sunrem; second row, coach Dave Peterson, Hannah Kainz, Tiffany Rose, Cherel Wilcox, Marea Kalinoski, coach Kent Kainz; back row, Carli Sandahl, Chelsey Sorteberg, Toni Sorteberg, Megan Miller, and Jessica Fisher.

Prowlers fielding a strong tennis team

There is a great deal of optimism being offered by Thief River Falls boys high school tennis coach Troy Hanestad when talking about his 2002 Prowlers.

"Prospects for the season look outstanding," said Hanestad. "We have 11 returning players with varsity experience, and a great group of leaders in our senior class."

It could be a turnaround season for the Prowlers. They were just 3-10 in dual meet competition last spring, although they did reach the North Sub-Section 8A team tournament finals and gained a spot in the four-team Section 8A field. Thief River Falls lost to Crookston 7-0 in the sub-section title match, but challenged Park Rapids Area before losing a 4-3 Section 8A semifinal decision.

Six lettermen return off that team, including seniors Matt Dimich, Mike Kimball, Nick Matilla, and Jason Swenson; junior Matt Wilson; and sophomore Chris Mickelson.

The Prowlers are scheduled to open the season Tuesday at East Grand Forks, where they will face the Green Wave and Moorhead in a double-dual that starts at 11 a.m.

Hanestad has set some lofty goals for this year's squad. "If our players can commit themselves and work harder than the other teams in our section, we have an excellent chance of sending our team and some individuals to the state tournament," he said.

The Prowlers's schedule starts with eight matches (at five sites) on the road. They will make their home debut Tuesday, April 30, vs. Mahnomen.

Boys, girls high school track results...

Trio of Prowlers pick up wins at Moorhead

First place finishes by Trent Christensen, Shara Guidry and Stacia Kalinoski highlighted Thief River Falls performances Thursday in the Moorhead Athletic Association Indoor high school track meet at Concordia College.

Behind Christensen (50-1) and Guidry (35-7), the Prowlers swept the boys and girls shot put titles. Kalinoski (2:27.61) was a winner in the girls 800 meters.

"Going in, we knew Trent would do well," said Thief River Falls coach Tim Olson. "That was Shara's best toss, and it was a flat-out great run for Stacia."

It was a 1-2 Thief River Falls finish by Guidry and Krista Breanna (31-7) the girls shot put.

Nathan Browning (55.20) gave Thief River Falls a second place finish in the boys 400.

Moorhead won both team titles, and the order of finish was identical in both portions of the meet. The Spuds easily out-distanced second place Fergus Falls 252-114 in the boys end of it, followed by Detroit Lakes with 59 points and Thief River Falls 39. It was a closer race for the girls title, with Moorhead edging Fergus Falls 124-121, followed by Detroit Lakes 109, and Thief River Falls 38.

"We ran well," said Olson. "I was pleasantly surprised with a couple of individuals. For the most part, we ran hard. We made some progress. Our younger runners are gaining some experience."

It was the second and final portion of a season-opening indoor season for the 2002 Prowlers, who will kick off the outdoor schedule Thursday, April 18, when they compete in the first Northland Community and Technical College Invitational boys and girls high school track meet at the Multi-Events Center.

Tim Dion is named as MVP by B/G-MR

Most valuable player honors went to junior Tim Dion Tuesday when Badger/Greenbush-Middle River named its award winners for the 2001-02 boys high school basketball season.

Dion was also named the team's best offensive player. Senior Ricky Larson was presented with the Gator Award; junior Jake Peterson was selected as the most improved player; and junior Brian Thompson was recognized for leading the team in steals.

A young Badger/Greenbush-Middle River team – Larson and David Mattson were the only seniors on the roster – struggled early in the year. The Gators opened with a win, but then lost eight straight and were 3-14 in late-January.

"We didn't anticipate that kind of start," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Eldon Sparby, "but we had a whole new set of kids and they didn't understand what it took to step up from the junior varsity to the varsity level. We played excellent ball here and there, but not consistently. It took a while for the whole chemistry thing to work itself out."

But the pieces began to fall in place down the stretch. A 6-6 finish put the Gators at 9-20 for the year.

They knocked off Tri-County 68-58 in the Sub-Section 32A tournament semifinals before losing to Stephen-Argyle 64-36 in the title game.

"We did finish pretty strong," confirmed Sparby. "We were playing pretty good basketball at the end of the year. We played our best game against Tri-County. We did all the things you hope your kids have learned during the year. We executed our offense; we had better shot selection; and we did a better job taking care of the ball."

In a balanced attack, Dion was the only player carrying a double figure scoring average for the year at 10.1 points per game.

"We'll have basically everybody back next year," noted Sparby. "I anticipate a better season. We'll be more experienced, and the kids know what they have to do to be successful at the varsity level."

Young Gators led by freshman MVP

■ Kimbrough tops B/G-MR awards

Kierah Kimbrough picked up three awards when members of the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River girls high school basketball team were recognized for their efforts during the 2001-02 season.

The Games named Kimbrough their most valuable player and best offensive player. Statistics also earned the 5-10 freshman center best rebounder honors.

Missy Bruggeman and Breanna Holm were named co-best defensive player.

Danielle Peterson was selected as the most improved player.

Other awards went to Ashley Mekash, hardest worker; Amanda Randall, best passer; and Kelsey Holmes, best free throw shooter.

A young team playing a tough schedule, the Gators finished 13-14 this winter. It was the first time in the 10-year history of the Badger/Greenbush-Middle River cooperative that the program finished below .500, and the first year since 1981-82 that a Neibauer-coached basketball team did not have a winning season.

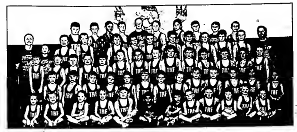
"We improved a lot, but we were really young, and there were a lot of really good teams around this year," said Neibauer.

Even though there wasn't a senior on the roster, and the Gators made extensive use of three freshmen and two sophomores, they hung around the .500 mark throughout the year.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River reached the Sub-Section 32A tournament finals before losing to eventual Class A state champion Kittson Central.

"We got better, but it didn't help when both guards (Holm-January, Holmes-February) went down with mono," pointed out Neibauer.

With a veteran roster, the Gators should continue to improve in 2002-03. But there is no guarantee that will automatically produce a big climb in the win column, warns Neibauer. "We'll have a lot of kids coming back," he acknowledged, "but teams like Lake of the Woods, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo, Roseau, and Warroad will all have their top players back, and Kittson Central graduates only two starters. We'll have to get better. We have to get the outside shots to drop. We shot 35 percent this year; we have been shooting 48 percent. When you can't hit from the outside, teams pack the inside on you."



A perimeter attack will help take some of the defensive attention away from Kimbrough, making her that much more effective around the basket. If that happens, the 2001-02 season could be a stepping stone for future success.

TRF youth wrestling dual results listed

Results of Thief River Falls matches in the team portion of the annual Take-Down Club Big Cat Open youth wrestling tournament held Saturday, March 30, in the Lincoln High School gym were released this week.

The four-team, round-robin event produced a three-way first place tie involving Thief River Falls, Greenbush and Minnewaska Area. Roseau wound up fourth. Thief River Falls beat Roseau 48-10 and lost to Minnewaska Area 30-22, before the Take-Down Club notched it's first-ever win over Greenbush, 36-34.

Over 300 wrestlers from Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota took part in the individual portion of the tournament.

Due to a picture/cutline mix-up in The Times, the names and the correct photo of the 2002 Thief River Falls Take-Down Club are being published in today's Northern Watch.

Singing Ranger enlightens, entertains

By Kathi Carlson
Reporter

"Singing Ranger" Charlie Maguire will be bringing more smiles to northwestern Minnesota audiences next week when he performs for Soil and Water Conservation District members in Red Lake and Pennington counties.

It will be his second trip north in a week's time as his program delighted attendees at the banquet of the Wetlands, Pines, and Prairie Audubon Sanctuary when it celebrated its 20th anniversary at a banquet at the Eagles in Thief River Falls Tuesday evening.

Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District will hold its annual banquet at Redeemer Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 9. In addition to Maguire's performance, the event will feature the recognition of 2001 SWCD Cooperators Les and Trudy Wilde, Beautification contest winners David and Betty Peterson, and the winners of this year's poster contest. Reservations for the banquet are required and can be made by calling Barb Molskness at the Pennington SWCD office at 683-7075.

Invited and pre-registered guests will attend the Red Lake County SWCD banquet on Monday, April 8, at 7 p.m. at Third Base in Brooks.

If Maguire's entertaining performance at the Eagles last week was any indication, SWCD members are in for a treat. Accompanying himself with a harmonica, jaw harp, or guitar, the folksy Singing Ranger will tell a story through songs such as "I'm from Minnesota," and "The Hinckley Fire."

Charlie Maguire has been the official Singing Ranger of the National Park Service since 1995, serving at Mississippi National River and Recreation Area in St. Paul. He composes and performs Mississippi River songs and has created education programs based on the arts. In 1997, he was the Midwest recipient of the NPS Freeman Tilden Award, given to Park Service employees for outstanding and innovative interpretive and educational programs, and he has received the Mississippi National River and Recreation "Star Award" six times since 1995.

Maguire grew up in upstate New York where as a teenager, he borrowed a guitar, purchased a book, Play the Guitar in 30 Minutes, and began what would become his life's work. He graduated from Northland College in Ashland, Wisc. in 1970 with a degree in liberal arts and then headed west, serving with VISTA, teaching English as a second language, collecting songs, making field recordings, and publishing a songbook for teachers of migrant workers in western Nebraska and eastern Wyoming. Maguire followed VISTA to Minnesota where a chance meeting with Garrison Keillor in 1974 led to 10 years of regular appearances on public radio's popular A Prairie Home Companion.

With 800 songs and seven albums under his belt, Maguire has captured the attention of the national media, and his songs have been featured on the CBS Evening News and other nationally broadcast programs. In addition to his work with the park service and performances at festivals and coffeehouses across the country, Maguire lectures throughout the region on the role of women in environmental history, and he is an adjunct professor of Language Arts at Hamline University where he teaches a course on songwriting.

Although Maguire's Singing Ranger duties are based at the Mississippi National River and Recreation Area in St. Paul, a 55,000-acre area that stretches 72 miles from Anoka to Hastings, he is a frequent performer at Itasca State Park, where through his "Songs of the Mississippi" program, he educates Minnesotans and park visitors about the historical significance of the Mississippi while stressing the importance of protecting it.

Those taking in Maguire's programs next week will discover that he has a unique way of combining some enlightening river education with hand-clapping, foot-tapping musical entertainment, spelling F-U-N.

Singing Ranger Charlie Maguire, who entertained guests attending Tuesday's Wetlands, Pines, and Prairie Audubon Sanctuary banquet in Thief River Falls, will make a return trip north next week for performances at the Soil and Water Conservation District banquets in Pennington and Red Lake counties.

Grants of $250 each were given to the Thief River Falls Area Food Shelf and the Pennington County Humane Society. The Junior Community Club of Goodridge was given $350 for fire extinguisher equipment for its community hall in Goodridge.

The Marshall County 4-H Federation received $100 for its 4-H Centennial activities. The Red Lake County Fair board was given $300 to repair the portable food stand used by 4-H members during the fair events. The Little Brother and Little Sister programs of Thief River Falls and Marshall County received grants of $250 and $500 respectively.

recording along with the band. They will sing with the entire synagogue during the lighting of the candles at the end of the service. Each candle represents someone that perished during the Holocaust.

"We are really ready for this," said Choir Director Darcy Reese. "Last year when the composers said this needs to be performed in other places, I would never have guessed that it would actually happen. And to sing this music in a synagogue with Jewish people who really understand the words and the images that we paint with our words, is just too much to comprehend sometimes."

Behind the singers at the synagogue will be the beautiful banners that hang at Lincoln High School during the "Never Again" concert in May. These banners were painted by Alissa Norland, a junior at Lincoln High School, and they will be flying once more for the "Never Again" performance in Minneapolis.

Individuals interested in purchasing the "Butterfly Songs" compact disc may do so now at Kezar Music in Thief River Falls, or by contacting Darcy Reese at Lincoln High School.

caused by declining enrollments.

Not everyone has been supportive of the decision to pair academically. Lorenson and Salberg both said some residents questioned the wisdom of pairing. Transportation was a major concern.

Lorenson conceded that there are students living on the fringes of the district, and that will provide a real challenge for officials drawing up new bus routes. "I can assure those patrons, that every consideration will be made to have the new routes as short as possible. In some cases, routes will need to be started at the farthest point going directly to school. The board is also aware of busing concerns and have promised to look at every individual case if needed. Fortunately, we have four routes and none of them are real long routes. I am confident we can accommodate every patron if we keep our focus on minimizing student time on each bus."

While the school boards have decided to pair academically, a lot of work needs to be completed. Lorenson said the boards approved the academic pairing proposal March 20 and 25, respectively, but the formal agreements still need to be completed. He said he doesn't anticipate problems in completing the agreements because no turf changes hand, but it will still be a lot of work.

"Again, we welcome your input on these concerns. I can assure you at this time, we don't have all the answers. However, as we look to the future, I am very certain through cooperation and 'give-and-take,' every problem can be solved," said Lorenson.

While the academic pairing of the two schools creates a challenging transition period, Lorenson said he is excited about the future for the schools.

Roseau library hosts Lunch at the Library series during April

Participants in the Roseau Area Library Friends (RALF) "Lunch at the Library" travel series enjoyed Pictures of Paris with Lou Hermanson on Thursday, April 4, kicking off the 2002 series.

Hermanson shared slides of her seven-day visit to Paris. The slides were taken as she criss-crossed the French capital on sight-seeing buses, a boat, and the city's intricate subway systems and viewed historical places, cathedrals, the Eiffel Tower, several major museums and art galleries, and many parks and gardens, including the Tulleries.

The "Lunch at the Library" travel series will continue on Thursdays, beginning at 11:45 a.m., throughout the month of April. Presentations will include: "Northwestern Ireland" with Joe McDonnell on April 11, "Sailing Norway's Coast" with Jerry Solem on April 18, and "The Mississippi" with Bud and Betty Johnson on April 25.

Beverages and cookies or bars will be served, and participants are also welcome to bring a bag lunch to eat as they enjoy the slide presentations, which begin at noon. While admission is free, donations to RALF will be welcome.

Deb Brammer, membership chair, will be available to those who wish to pay dues for Roseau Area Library Friends, which welcomes both active and associate members. The organization's annual meeting will be held on Monday, April 29, at 4 p.m., followed by a county-wide Friends session.

Also, RALF chair Sharon Grafstrom encourages lunch participants to come early to view the April art exhibit that features the pop art work and three-dimensional map boxes created by 30 Roseau High School students in Mary Vatnsdahl's art classes.

Other activities at the library include the used book sale fundraiser that is currently in progress. The event usually raises more than $1,000. This year, library staff and volunteers are eager to sell as many books as possible in order to clear storage areas prior to the start of the Phase 3 washroom renovations scheduled to begin this summer.

Firearm safety course offered in Newfolden

Persons over the age of 12 years are invited to participate in a firearm safety course on Tuesday, April 9, at 7 p.m. at the Newfolden school cafeteria.

The course is sponsored by the Agassiz Rod and Gun Club. For more information, contact Deveme Chapman at 874-4763.

Threshing bee meeting Sunday at Roosevelt

Lake of the Woods Steam and Gas Engine Association will hold a planning meeting on Sunday, April 7, at 2 p.m. at Mt. Carmel Church.

Anyone interested in preserving the area's unique heritage is invited to attend the meeting and help plan the 30th anniversary show that will be held in August.

Mt. Carmel Church is located six miles north of Roosevelt on Rocky Point Road. For more information, call (218) 386-3801 or (218) 424-7455.

SOFT CONTACTS AND HEAVY SPORTS

It was the final set of the tennis match. Sally was hot, nervous and tired. Her glasses kept fogging and slipping down. How she envied her opponent who did not have to contend with this problem. What Sally did not know was that her opponent WAS wearing glasses. Not the visible spectacles – rather, soft contact lenses.

No matter what your sport, good vision is essential. And since many individuals have less than perfect vision, some form of corrective lenses are called for. Eyeglasses are a common solution – but not for everyone.

If this is your case, consider soft contact lenses. They're soft and pliable which means they won't pop out – even during the most rugged activities. They're comfortable right from the start. Every day more and more athletic eyeglass wearers are enjoying the new freedom and confidence that comes from converting to soft contact lenses. Whatever your sport, soft contact lenses will help you see better, play better and look better.

In the interest of better vision

Construction begins on Engelstad Arena - TRF

Watching the construction equipment prepare the site for the future Ralph Engelstad Arena - Thief River Falls, appeals to many people. Mike McLean, who lives nearby the construction zone, stopped on Thursday to watch the big equipment removing soil from the site. The contractor, Thygason Construction, will dig down 19-feet to prepare the site for construction. Construction sites can be dangerous places, which is why a fence has been installed around the entire site.

Oops, wrong band

Bemidji - Bemidji High School band's invitation to participate in Dave Casper's Pro Football Hall of Fame induction turned out to be a mistake.

While many were surprised by the invitation, it was not extended without reason. Casper was born in Bemidji in 1952. However, he played football and graduated from a Chilton, Wisc. high school.

Once the mistake was realized, Bemidji's band was invited to take part in the parade that will be one of 20 events held during an 11-day period in Canton, Ohio. According to Derek Wickum, Bemidji band director, it is highly unlikely that the band will make the trip. Pioneer

Plans for new school unveiled

Clearbrook - Plans for the new Clearbrook-Gonvick School were unveiled last week for the public.

The 102,000 square foot facility will have textured masonry, aluminum windows, metal panel accents, a soaring south-facing entry, and bay windows in classrooms and central commons area, assuring students high visibility inside and out. The plan features three wings connecting to the commons area, wide corridors, large open classrooms, a modern media center, and two gymnasiums. Farmers Independent

Greenbush lad Wrestler of the Year

Greenbush - With advice and wrestling experience gained from practicing with his older brother, 55-pound Ben Langaas placed first in his class at the North-Youth Wrestling Association (NYWA) state wrestling contest held April 6-7 in Rochester.

Ben pinned two opponents and defeated another with a technical fall to win his class at Rochester. Prior to the state contest, he showed promise by placing first at the NYWA club level district contests in Greenbush and the regional competition at Bemidji. To reward him for his consistent performances at the district, regional, and state levels, judges rewarded Ben by naming him Outstanding Kindergarten Wrestler of the Year.

In addition to his individual success, Ben helped his team medal at 5th place in Rochester. He is the son of Kevin and Karla Langaas of Greenbush. The Tribune

Roseau student places 7th at state spelling bee

Roseau - Roseau eighth grader Alyssa Stynsberg placed 7th in the 2002 Minnesota State Spelling Bee at St. John's University in Collegeville on March 26. Alyssa was accompanied to the tournament by her parents, Paul and Faith Stynsberg.

"Halcyon" was the word that knocked her out of the competition in the 9th round, a word that Alyssa said she had never heard before. Its definition is calm and peaceful.

The competition was won in the 13th round when Detroit Lakes six grader Grant Remmen correctly spelled "tutelage" and then "sophistry." Roseau Times-Region

New criteria for nutrients in water could have profound impact on region's communities

by David Hill
Editor

The Environmental Protection Agency is proposing new criteria on nutrient levels in rivers and lakes. This could have a profound affect on rural cities, agriculture and animal farms.

The matter has been controversial for this and many other reasons.

Dick Fawcett, Farm Journal Environmental Specialist, wrote: "One would think EPA would set standards based on research showing what nutrient concentrations are harmful to aquatic systems. Wrong! EPA started with the assumption that current nutrient levels are too high. Then the agency summarized nitrogen (N) and phosphorus (P) monitoring data from 1990 through 1998, pulled out the calculator, and set the standards at 25 percent of historic levels."

It's possible these criteria could result in the closing of the waste water ponds in Thief River Falls. It is also very possible that even without the waste water ponds, all of the rivers in the area will not be able to meet the EPA criteria.

Don Barron, member of the Pennington County Water Quality Task Force, and experts who are now challenging the proposed criteria, note that the criteria seem based on the assumption that there is no research that could shed light on more accurate historic levels, and incorrectly, upon the assumption that water existed in more, or less, a pristine state prior to man's arrival in America.

Furthermore according to Dick Fawcett, Farm Journal Environmental Specialist, "the sudden appearance of water quality standards so far below

Water management organizations to merge

At their joint March 13-14 retreat, the Red River Basin Board (RRBB), The International Coalition (TIC) and the Red River Water Resources (RRWRC) formally agreed to merge and will become the Red River Basin Commission (RRBC). The merger is expected to be complete within the next several months.

Fargo Mayor Bruce Furness, RRBB chair, feels this merger is of great importance. "This decision means we can build an organization that is adaptable in nature and flexible in operation to enhance, strengthen and improve relationships in the basin," Furness said. "This new organization is highly significant to water management progress along the Red River."

The need for cooperative solutions and the importance of speaking with a unified voice was underscored by participants of the 19th Annual Red River Basin Land and Water International Summit conference, held on January 16-18 and co-sponsored by the RRBB and TIC. By joining forces, the RRBB, TIC and the RRWRC have taken the first steps toward creating a powerful, unified Red River Basin water management voice.

The mission of the RRBC will be to build basin-wide consensus and commitment to comprehensive, integrated watershed stewardship and management, and to speak with a unified voice for the Red River Basin.

"This is a historic moment in Red River Basin water management," said RRBB Executive Director Lance Yohe. "This merger is a logical step that builds upon the visionary efforts of many water leaders over the years. The RRBC will build upon the best successes of each of the precursor organizations and provide a new vehicle for the next century of water management activities in the Red River Basin."

An interim board was established, consisting of all board members of the three organizations. They will meet quarterly this year and establish a new board at the 20th Annual Red River Basin Land and Water International Summit Conference to be held in Winnipeg, Manitoba in January of 2003.

An interim RRBC executive committee was also formed. The following officers were selected to serve until the January 2003 annual conference: Bruce Furness, Fargo, N.D., chair; R.S. "Bud" Oliver of Selkirk, MB, vice chair; and, Jeff Lewis of Detroit Lakes, secretary/treasurer.

Other executive committee members are State/Provincial representatives: Jack Adams of South Dakota; Dale Frink of North Dakota; Ron Harnack of Minnesota and Steve Topping of Manitoba. The other local representatives include Joe Belford of North Dakota, Mike Kutchman of North Dakota, Don Ogaard of Minnesota, Jon Evert of Minnesota, Don Alexander of Manitoba, and Garry Brown of Manitoba. Quentin Fairbanks will be the tribal representative, while Henry Van Offelen will serve as the Environmental and Natural Resources representative.

The first meeting of the combined organizations will take place at 11 a.m. on April 4 in the City Council chambers in Grand Forks, N.D.

"Pippin" takes stage

Show will be held April 18-21 at Northland

Magic, war, Kings and court, plotting and politics, love, music and merriment all take center stage when Northland Community and Technical College presents "Pippin," April 18-21.

"Pippin" is an original Broadway musical written by Roger O. Hirson with music and lyrics by Stephen Schwartz. It is the story of the French Prince Pippin, son of King Charlemagne, whose ultimate search is for the meaning of life.

In Pippin's search, he comes home from university, engages his father in war, experiments with a political life and physical love, revolts against his father, searches for peace, finds love but rejects it, and then has to choose his ultimate journey. What will he decide?

Clifton Hanson stars as Pippin, and is joined in the ensemble cast by Darren Albertson as the leading player, Hannah Kelley as love-interest Catherine, Vanessa Anderson as the step-mother

TRF man serves at Camp X-ray, Cuba

(Note: The following story was submitted to The Times by the Army and Air Force Hometown News Service. Marine Corps Cpl. Ryan Hesse is a 1998 graduate of Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls.)

by Jim Hughes

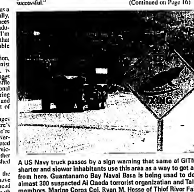
It's a scene that could easily have been ripped from the pages of a Tom Clancy novel. Hundreds of American service members guarding some of the world's most dangerous terrorists against a backdrop of never-ending tensions, where the only thing separating freedom from community tyranny is a concertina-wire draped fence.

The son of a Thief River Falls woman is one of those service members. Marine Corps Cpl. Ryan M. Hesse, son of Robin Bergdahl, is deployed to this Navy base – also known as GITMO – tucked away in the southeastern corner of communist Cuba as part of a mission to detain and care for suspected Al Qaeda terrorists and Taliban members.

Called Joint Task Force 160, Hesse and more than 1,500 service members representing every military service, as well as the Coast Guard, serve at what has been dubbed Camp X-ray, where about 300 detainees are held and questioned in an attempt to stave off future acts of terrorism.

Hesse supports the task force as a guard at Camp X-ray. "Basically, I'm here to ensure that detainees don't escape," said the 1998 graduate of Lincoln High School. "I'm part of a quick reaction force that responds immediately if trouble arises in the camp."

Life at this isolated naval station, sandwiched between communist Cuba and the Caribbean Sea, is stressful enough with the challenges they face surrounded by a hostile environment. Tack on the additional problems of controlling and caring for hostile detainees, and Hesse and his team face a whole new set of challenges.



"We face multiple challenges every day," he said. "But there's nothing we can't overcome – we're Marines, and we adapt and overcome. There are highly-motivated people from all the different services here, and we're coming together to get the mission accomplished safely."

In place since January, the American service members have dealt with everything from head butts to bites, and even death threats. Hesse is part of an integral part of a growing number of front lines against terrorism rapidly spreading worldwide.

"I'm proud to be part of this operation," he said. "This mission is a vital component of our nation's battle against terrorism – I'm just glad I could do my part to make it successful."

Much has been said about living conditions at Camp X-ray, but Hesse believes the treatment of detainees is as fair as they can make it. He said that detainees are flown into Cuba via military aircraft where they are in-processed and placed

Evening with the Arts in Grygla

Grygla - The annual Evening with the Arts will be held at Grygla School on Friday, April 19. The event is held in cooperation with the school's drama, music, art, occupational foods, and woodworking departments.

Beginning at 6 p.m., visitors can view an art show in the school lobby. Students selected themes and based their work on the September 11 tragedy. Each student also made an American flag painting. The paintings will be auctioned off at the event with proceeds going to help cover expenses for a field trip to the art department at Bemidji State University in May.

Also on display at 6 p.m. will be a decorated cake display by the occupational foods class and a woodworking display by the shop class. After various vocal instrumental ensembles perform from 6:30 to 7 p.m., the curtain will go up on the play, "The Will and the Spirit." The Grygla Eagle

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere
email: lacours@spacestar.net

Old fashioned desserts are on the menu this week. These recipes are from the Silver Creek Lutheran Church Cookbook.

Rice pudding with raisins - what better comfort food than that:

CUSTARD RICE PUDDING
Sharon Russell

2 eggs
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk, scalded
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups cooked rice
1/2 cup raisins
Nutmeg

Mix eggs and sugar and salt. Stir in scalded milk. Add remaining ingredients.

Pour into 1 quart baking dish. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Set in dish in a pan of water 1 inch deep. Bake at 350 degrees for 50-60 minutes

This is the old-fashioned way to make bread pudding:

BREAD PUDDING
Bernice Trochman

2 cups milk
2 eggs
2 tablespoons melted butter
1/2 to 2/3 cup sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1 cup bread crumbs
1 teaspoon vanilla
Raisins, if desired

Beat egg whites stiff. Add vanilla. Set aside.

Beat egg yolks with butter and sugar. Add bread crumbs, salt and milk. Cook in double boiler until thick. Beat 1 minute.

Fold in egg white mixture. Bake in 350 degree oven until firm. Serve with whipped cream, hard sauce or lemon sauce.

GINGERBREAD
Helen Russell

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs, beaten
1 cup molasses
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg (may add more or less as desired)
2-1/2 cups flour
1 cup hot water, added last

Cream sugar and shortening. Add eggs and molasses.

Sift flour, soda, baking powder, salt and spices. Add hot water.

Pour into greased and floured 9x13 inch pan and bake at 375 degrees for 35 minutes.

Serve hot with butter or cold with whipped cream. Also can be frosted with white sugar frosting or eaten plain.

Some people call this Crazy Cake - It's really easy and tastes great:

EASY CAKE
Lena Williams

1-1/2 cup flour
3 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
5 tablespoons cooking oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup cold water

Sift dry ingredients together. Add oil, vinegar and vanilla and water, mixing well.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes in 9x9 inch pan.

This is the easy frosting that is so good. Cook about 2 1/2 to 3 minutes and pour into a buttered pie pan for old-fashioned fudge (yes, fudge), cook barely 1 minute and pour over ice cream for hot fudge to die for, or make it Gladys' way for the best frosting you've ever tasted. It'll be a favorite (and it's easy to memorize the recipe too):

CHOCOLATE FROSTING
Gladys Gutterud

1 cup sugar
1/4 cup cocoa
1/4 cup butter
1/4 cup milk

Mix all ingredients in saucepan and bring to full, rolling boil. Boil at least 1 minute (can cook longer, up to 2 1/2 minutes). Let stand about 5 minutes (I add vanilla now), then stir until of spreading consistency. (For fudge, stir a while and dump into buttered pan. For ice cream topping, pour into small pitcher and let stand a few minutes, then pour over ice cream.)

Here's one of those old-fashioned pies that you only bake once in a while:

SOUR CREAM RAISIN PIE
Lena Williams

Crust for 9 inch pie
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cloves
1-1/2 cups sour cream
1 cup ground raisins

Mix all ingredients together. Pour into pie shell.

Bake at 425 degrees for 10 minutes, then at 325 for 20-25 minutes.

Remember how you love these:

MATRIMONIAL BARS
Carmen Gastafson

Filling:
1 cup dates
1/2 cup sugar
1 cup boiling water
Crusts:
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-1/4 cups flour
1-1/4 cups oatmeal
1 cup brown sugar
3/4 cup melted butter
1 scant teaspoon soda

Cook dates, sugar and water until soft. Set aside.

Mix crust ingredients well. Pat 2/3 of the mixture in greased 9x13 inch pan.

Spread date mixture over and sprinkle with remaining crumbs.

Bake at 350 degrees until golden brown, 20-25 minutes.

OVERNIGHT COOKIES
Myrtle Solberg

1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup lard (or shortening)
1 cup butter
1 cup chopped nuts
4 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 scant teaspoon soda
3 eggs
Cinnamon

Mix all ingredients together and shape into long rolls. Roll in waxed paper and let stand overnight.

Next day, slice and bake at 350 degrees.

Happy 39th...again

Love,
The Kids

Golden 14th Birthday

On the day that you were born, the angels got together and decided to create a dream come true. As the doctors handed Dad our first and only son, the excitement shined through. Holding you, Dad reached out and shook the doctor's hand, almost forgetting to let go! So today on your golden birthday, we are reminded of your birth, and God sending you to us. A blessing for these past 14 years and a lifetime to cherish!

Happy Birthday, Gory
Love Mom, Dad,
Cassie, Kimberly and Julia

The family of Abigail Anderson would like to thank all of our family & friends who attended Abby's benefit. We would also like to thank our friends & community who put their time and effort in putting this together. The cards and donations were greatly appreciated. Your kindness & generosity warmed our hearts & put a smile on our faces.

Thank you,
Mike & Jenny Anderson

A Different Perspective

Sometimes it helps to look at things from a different angle. Notions about the most rudimentary aspects of north-woods life take on an entirely new twist when viewed from a fresh perspective. Traditionally accepted concepts about fishing, weather, or even hockey give ground on innovative outlooks.

Take the lateness of the Rainy River thaw this season. The abnormally tardy mid-April meltdown certainly has its benefits.

"Most obviously," a fellow local fishing type reminded me, "is the fact that a 100 percent successful catch-n-release program is at work underneath the slowly rotting ice. No fishermen means no take and no take means a bunch more fish that'll be available this summer. And there's no human disruption to interfere with the spawning process, either. That means the chances for a good hatch are greatly increased. We could be looking at good fishing years down the road because of this late thaw."

I tried to smile at his optimistic attitude despite the fact my dwindling bank account had to wait for June guide days to replenish itself.

And then I considered the coolish character of our recent weather and was encouraged a little to realize that the inevitably later spawn will keep the fish closer to the river later in the season. This meant better potential for 'opener' fishing which would allow us to keep in closer contact with walleyes as they move out to the big lake.

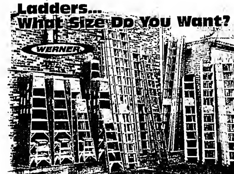
And then I recognized that a frozen river on an early April Saturday allowed me the opportunity to watch some college hockey with family and my visiting east coast parents. And that's college hockey that just happened to include the Minnesota Gophers and a National Championship (You didn't honestly think I wouldn't find a way to work that in, did you?) And all of a sudden the prospects of a Frozen Four drowned out my anxieties about a frozen river.

New perspectives, however, seemed to be as applicable to hockey as they were to weather and fishing this week. Unfamiliar with even the more obvious aspects of the game, my parents were constantly in need of explanation.

"It would be nice if they could all play the game," lamented my mother in reference to the goaltender who was involved in the action only infrequently. Apparently his isolation and immobility at the far end of the rink labeled him as some sort of rejected, odd-ball, social pariah in her eyes. I launched into an explanation about the goalies' abilities and duties, but before I could get very far I thought about all the net-minders I had come in contact with and realized that perhaps she wasn't too far off the mark.

"Wouldn't it make more sense", she queried later on after a Maine goal, "instead of mobbing the scorer after a goal, to have the scored upon team embrace their own goaltender?" I winced momentarily, but then quickly appreciated her logic, good mother that she is, and her understanding of the reassuring power of a hug.

"This penalty thing bothers me," scoffed my ex-school teacher of a Dad. "Here these guys do something wrong and their punishment is an extended, solo appearance on national television as they act out their tantrums for the cameras in the comfort of the penalty box. Any educator knows that a need for attention is what made them do what they did in the first place. If that thing is really a penalty box, they should have something like those kids' third grade teacher in their with them making them do math problems or sit-ups or something. Heck, all they do is rest in there. It's no penalty - it's a vacation." Once again I thought about cringing, but quickly overcame the notion as a small amount of the common sense trickled through



The questions continued. Basic questions about offsides and icing; more-complex concerns about the differing widths of the lines that determined those calls. Taste questions about the overbearing camera coverage of a deceased coach's living wife and kids to taste questions about another coach's questionable hairstyle. Questions about the whistle and why it didn't stick to the referee's lips when he blew it in such a cold environment. Questions about why a Zamboni was called a Zamboni.

And each question made me look a little differently at the game I thought I'd grown comfortable with, offering new, fresh perspectives on old subjects. And when the game was over and the Gophers' celebration had quieted down, I let my thoughts wander back to the frozen Rainy River and decided it wasn't a question so much of good or bad, It's just a different view. Think of all those fish, I mused, that'll still be there on May 11.&

Burning Permits

Any township resident that intends to do any burning must first obtain a DNR burning permit from their fire department. For residents of Norden, North, Silverton, Smiley and Rocksbury Townships of Pennington County and Excel Township of Marshall County these permits can be picked up at the Thief River Falls Fire Station. There is no cost for the permit. Failure to obtain a permit may result in an unauthorized burning citation. There is no burning within the city limits of Thief River Falls in the spring of the year.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. It takes effort to be prepared for severe weather

Not only should we be proud of what has been rebuilt since 1997, but we should be pleased with the progress officials have made in the effort to make sure this doesn't happen again, or if it does, to provide citizens with the necessary plans and leadership to survive and rebuild again. Perhaps it is no coincidence then, that Severe Weather Awareness Week has been planned for the week of April 15 - 19, the five-year anniversary of the floods of 1997. This, it seems, is when we are most aware of the impact severe weather can have on our lives.

"This campaign is to educate our citizens, schools, hospitals, nursing homes and businesses on the need to plan for the possibility of severe weather that may occur during the course of this year," said Pennington County Sheriff Michael Hruby, who is the county's emergency program manager.

One way in which residents can prepare is to make plans to protect themselves from severe weather.

Lest we think our region is affected only by severe weather in the winter and spring, there will be an added emphasis this week on tornadoes. Tornadoes are not restricted to "tornado alley," a couple of states safely south of here. In fact, between 1950 to 2001 there were six tornadoes in Pennington County, 10 in Red Lake County, 12 in Marshall County, 34 in Polk County, 12 in Kittson County and 17 in Roseau County.

In an effort to help citizens prepare for a tornado, a statewide tornado drill is scheduled for 1:45 p.m. on Thursday, April 18. Sirens will sound, and officials will implement emergency management plans. Citizens are also being asked to exercise their tornado plans. Hruby encourages everyone to participate in the drill.

One way in which residents can prepare for bad weather is to own a weather radio. Sheriff Hruby encourages the use of weather radios as a means of keeping informed about weather conditions. It's an excellent way in which to keep informed, and if severe weather happens during the night, the radio will wake you to the presence of danger.

While it's easy to be complacent, it is interesting to note that since the storms and floods of 1996-1997, many citizens seem to have a greater respect for serious weather. It's good to see that officials are still emphasizing the importance of being prepared. As we learned in 1997, you never know....

Grand Forks and East Grand Forks celebrate

Blizzard after blizzard was followed by an ice storm, power outage, and then flood. I thought the 1996-1997 winter would never end. It did, of course. Out of this disaster, communities rebuilt and neighborhoods became closer than ever. It's still hard to believe, however, that it has been five years already.

While we had our own battles to fight in northwestern Minnesota, the flooding Red River forced the evacuation of roughly 60,000 citizens in the East Grand Forks and Grand Forks area, destroying homes and businesses indiscriminately. In addition, fire consumed 11 buildings in the heart of Grand Forks.

It has been five years since those events, and much has been accomplished; so, it should not be surprising that leaders have chosen to celebrate the turning of a tragedy to triumph. Special events for the weekend of April 19 - 21 in Grand Forks and East Grand Forks provide residents with a variety of activities and allows them to choose how they wish to mark the occasion of this fifth anniversary. Activities include the unveiling of 12 bronze plaques at Memorial Park in Grand Forks at 3 p.m. on Friday, April 19; a parade in East Grand Forks at 11 a.m. on Saturday, April 20; a celebratory prayer service at the East Grand Forks Veteran's Memorial near Sherlock Park at noon; open houses at some public facilities in East Grand Forks from 1 to 3 p.m. on Saturday; and a concert at Grand Forks Town Square and "Dine Around Downtown" event in Grand Forks from 1 to 5 p.m.

Grand Forks Herald Publisher Mike Maidenberg, said in a news release from the Downtown Leadership Group, that "it would have been easy to forget downtown and let our history end up in a landfill. Instead, we realized downtown is our legacy to future generations. Refurbished historical buildings, a Town Square, Corporate Center, County Office building, restaurant row and the Greenway are the result."

All of this is due to leadership, the amazing support and cooperation among public and private agencies, and most importantly, the indomitable spirit of the residents of North Dakota and Minnesota. If there is one thing we would chose to celebrate on this anniversary, it would be this.

USDA program to cover uninsurable crops

by Mike Philipp
FSA director

Final regulations governing the Non-Insured Assistance Program (NAP) have been released, and farmers in northwestern Minnesota now have until Thursday, April 18, to sign up for the program. The NAP has changed considerably from earlier versions, and most notable Area Loss Requirements have been removed and a $100, non-refundable, up-front application fee now applies.

The NAP offers producers of uninsurable crops a catastrophic-level risk protection option, similar to the CAT level offered on insurable crops through multi-peril crop insurance. Some northwest Minnesota crops that would fall into the NAP category include rye, buckwheat, honey, certain varieties of dry edible beans and hay (forage crops that are outside the insurable period). Producers should check with FSA for other, less common crops. Crops that are insurable are not eligible for NAP.

Producers who are interested in signing up or obtaining more information should not hesitate to contact FSA before the April 18, 2002 deadline because an opportunity to prove a higher yield on the NAP crop exists and the supporting documentation would also need to be provided to FSA by the deadline. Those producers who cannot provide acceptable, reliable records will receive a county transitional yield. NAP participants will then need to annually maintain their NAP APH yield.

Producers of mixed hay will need to provide FSA with the correct varieties and remaining percentage of alfalfa so that the application can be properly categorized. FSA will conduct mid-season inspections to verify coverage classification and crop conditions. NAP is similar to the Federal Crop Insurance program and participants will receive a partial reimbursement for production losses greater than 50 percent of the farms APH or proven yield.

Farmers who want more information, or to sign up for the NAP should contact their FSA office as soon as possible, but no later than the April 18, 2002 deadline.

Nominations for business awards sought by Chamber of Commerce

Each year the President of the United States designates a week as Small Business Week. This year, May 6-12 has been designated as Small Business Week. During this week, the spotlight will be on the men and women who, through their entrepreneurial spirit, play a vital role in building our communities and economy.

For the past 15 years during Small Business Week in Thief River Falls, specific businesses and entrepreneurs have received recognition for their efforts. Area individuals, agencies, and businesses are encouraged to help identify candidates for the 2002 awards. The Business of the Year Award recognizes outstanding business owners and operators for their achievements in running a successful business that has had some impact on the community. These owners/managers of the business have had demonstrated creativity in product development, marketing, production, methods of service or delivery, and community involvement. Businesses in all sectors of the economy are eligible.

The Thief River Falls Entrepreneur of the Year award is for someone who has started a successful, new operation with a three-year track record, has demonstrated creativity, and overcome constraints or barriers.

Special recognition will be given to the businesses selected as Thief River Falls Business of the Year and Thief River Falls Entrepreneur of the Year at 8 a.m. a breakfast on Thursday, May 9, at the Evergreen Eating Emporium. The public is invited to attend.

Nominating forms are available at the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce. The deadline for nominations is April 12. For more information, or to have a nomination form faxed to you call the Chamber office at 681-3720.

Free testing of well water to be conducted

Regular screening of private wells is the only sure way to know if there is a problem with the drinking water. An annual water screening is recommended for all private water supplies. Water may look clear and clean but still have contaminants that may present health risks.

Marshall County Water Plan Coordinator Jan Kaspari urges homeowners who haven't tested their drinking water in recent years to bring a sample to one of the Water Screening Clinics being conducted at the following locations in Marshall County:

• Stephen Community Center from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. on Thursday, April 18.
• Newfolden Community Center from 9 a.m. to noon on friday, April 19.

How do I take a sample?

1. Run the water for 5 to 10 minutes before taking the sample.
2. Use a permanent marker to label any type of plastic baggie or zip up bag with your name. A clean, sterilized glass jar can also be used if a baggie is not available. If you have more than one sample, add an identifier.
3. Collect the water in the baggie, only one-half cup is needed. Do this within 24 hours of arriving at the water testing clinic and keep it refrigerated until you leave for the clinic. The water sample should be cool upon arrival to the clinic.
4. Samples should be taken before the water enters a softener or any filtration system. Remember the goal is to test your well not to determine if your treatment system is working properly.

Samples will be tested for nitrate, bacteria, iron, pH and hardness. There will be no charge for this screening.

For more information, call Jan at 218-745-4217.

John Smith, Chasing Elvis perform at UMC

Two musical acts will perform at the University of Minnesota, Crookston on Wednesday, April 17, in the Bede Ballroom. Singer-songwriter John Smith will start the evening off at 7 p.m., and the group, Chasing Elvis, will take the stage at 8:30 p.m. The performances are open to the public. Admission is free for UMC students and $2 for others attending the concert.

John Smith has performed his brand of folk music at clubs and coffeehouses around the country, both as a solo performer and as half of the folk duo Runaway. His is a winner of the Kerrville New Folk Award, has performed at the Kerrville and Napa Valley Folk Festivals, and has been a perennial finalist at Telluride's Troubadour Competition. His recently released third CD, "Traveler," taps into his Irish roots.

Chasing Elvis is a funky alternative rock band whose high-energy performance includes covers of tunes by Smashmouth, Santana, Lenny Kravitz, Dave Matthews Band, Cheryl Crow, Audio Adrenaline, and other contemporary bands. The band also has a message with band members sharing information about their relationships with God and how it has impacted their lives.

The event is sponsored by UMC Student Programming and Activities for Campus Entertainment (SPACE), and the Chasing Elvis performance is co-sponsored by UMC's Monday Night Fellowship Group.

Hibbing catcher Tim Zubich had to come up tha lina to haul in a late-arriving throw from the outfield es Northland runnar T.J. Super went by for e fourth inning run in the first geme of Tuesday's Minnasota Community College Conference basebell doubleheader. Pioneers third bese coach Nick Drees wetched the pley et the plete. Northlend swapt the twinbill 5-2 and 8-0.

NCTC pitchers doing their job

Gay Finstrom was understandably concerned about the demands placed on his Northland Community and Technical College pitching staff when a revamped schedule bunched ten games into a six-day span. The Pioneers head baseball coach wasn't sure he had enough arms to get through Minnesota Community College Conference doubleheaders scheduled Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday.

Tuesday, Jon Johnson and Aaron Schmitz tried to help ease Finstrom's worries with complete-game pitching performances that carried the Pioneers to a 5-2, 8-0 Northern Division sweep over Hibbing at the Multi-Events Center.

Johnson, a freshman from East Grand Forks, gave up just four hits and a pair of fourth inning runs in the opener. Schmitz, a sophomore from Red Lake Falls, posted a six-hit shutout in the nightcap.

"Getting the two complete games really saves on the arms," confirmed Finstrom. "It helps that you don't have to go into your ballpen with so many games coming up."

Trailing 2-1, Northland won Game 1 with a four-run fourth inning that featured a one-out bases-loaded double by Schmitz that pushed all three runners across the plate. Schmitz then moved up on an infield single by Joe Erb and scored on a wild pitch.

"We had a pretty solid day," said Finstrom. "First game, we went against a good pitcher. We got some timely hits."

The Pioneers, who opened their 2002 Northern Division schedule the previous day by splitting with defending state champion Itasca, combined eight hits with nine errors for the second-game win.

The pattern was set in the first inning of the nightcap when three errors, two walks and a Brandon Olson single produced an early 3-0 lead.

Olson wound up with a 3-for-4 game and three RBI.

Halvorson is MVP for RLCC girls

Michelle Halvorson missed the first part of the 2001-02 girls high school basketball season due to an injury. She showed her value to the Mustangs when she returned, leading the Oklee/Plummer cooperative to its first post-season title. Her efforts earned the 5-5 junior guard most valuable player honors at the team's awards banquet.

Tiffanie Malwitz was named the most improved player; AnnaMarie Fore was selected as the best defensive player; Kelsey Lambert was chosen Miss Hustle; and Maureen Munt was recognized as the team's top free throw (percentage) shooter.

Halvorson and Fore were introduced as all-conference players, with Lambert and Brittany Berberich given honorable mention status.

Despite winning just two of their first eight games and then incurring a seemingly never-ending series of personnel losses to injuries and illness, the Mustangs made it a memorable winter by landing a first-ever berth in the Section 8A tournament.

They accomplished that by beating Kellther/Northome 64-49 and Lake of the Woods 46-42 in the Sub-Section 29A tournament at Bemidji State University. The fact that two-time defending Class A state champion Fosston had been switched from Sub-Section 29A to 30A this year helped.

But they couldn't avoid the Greyhounds altogether. Fosston beat Red Lake County Central 59-43 in the Section 8A semifinals at the University of Minnesota-Crookston. It's the fourth straight time the Mustangs' season ended with a loss at the hands of Fosston.

"We were pleased with the season," said Red Lake County Central coach Rick Koivisto. "It was nice to win that first sub-section title."

Koivisto figured the Mustangs would be in the championship hunt this winter. "Fosston left the sub-section and we had four starters back," he pointed out. "But then we got off to a 2-6 start. That was not the way we wanted to begin the year."

An 8-2 mid-season run finally (Continued on Page 9)

Pioneers sweep Central Lakes

It's been a home away from home, and a real bonus for the 2002 Northland Community and Technical College baseball team. The Pioneers, like the rest of the Northern Division, have been forced to vacate their home diamond due to spring weather-related field conditions. However, the new Multi-Events Center complex adjacent to the Thief River Falls campus is high and dry, and being put to good use by the Thief River Falls school.

Originally the schedule had the Pioneers playing five of their first six Minnesota Community College Conference doubleheaders on the road. But conditions elsewhere resulted in a revamped slate and a 10-game Northland homestand to open league play.

The Pioneers are trying their best to capitalize on the opportunity. A 12-2, 7-1 sweep against Central Lakes Wednesday pushed their MCCC record to 5-1 heading into a Friday match-up with Mesabi Range.

Northland coach Guy Finstrom is grateful for the opportunity for the chance to play the early-season games at home. "The Multi-Events Center is a Godsend," he said. "I want to thank the people who were responsible for building the field. It's been great to be able to play these games at this time of the year in northern Minnesota."

Northland, after starting the year with doubleheader losses at the hands of NJCAA Division I Kansas City Junior College during an abbreviated weather-shortened trip to Harrison, Ark last month, split with Itasca and swept Hibbing prior to beating Central Lakes. The string of home games wraps up today (Saturday) with a 1 p.m. twinbill against Vermilion.

Chad Stromland, a freshman from Roseau, led the Northland offense in Game 1 during Wednesday's chilly wind-swept doubleheader. He drove a two-run single to right field in the first inning; bounced an RBI single through the left side of the infield in the second inning; had lead-off single and scored in the fourth; then ended the game in the fifth inning when his hard-hit ball to third wound up as a run-scoring throwing error and a 12-2 spread.

Northland took control of the first game with a six-run second inning that included Stromland's RBI single; a two-run double to left-center field by Luke Rudie; a long double to center by Jon Johnson for a run; and a two-out, two-run throwing error on a ball hit by Steve Wiseth.

Andrew Broden, a freshman left-hander from Fertile-Beltrami, turned in a complete-game pitching performance for the win. He gave up just five hits and a pair of fourth inning runs.

Stromland was also in the middle of things in Game 2, but this time as a pitcher. He gave up just four hits, including a second inning home run by Mike Baso, in another route-going performance by a Northland starter.

Joe Erb had three hits, two doubles and drove in two runs in the nightcap. Steve Wiseth hit a solo home run in the fourth inning.

"To beat Brainerd twice is really big," noted Finstrom.

Following completion of the regular season Northern Division schedule, the top two finishers earn spots in the May 11-13 National Junior College Athletic Association Region 13 tournament, while the top three finishers advance to the May 17-19 MCCC state tournament. Both events will be played at Willmar.

NCTC player on First Team...

Misten Hoie is named as All-America

Misten Hoie became the first player in Northland Community and Technical College women's basketball history to earn All-America honors when word was received Wednesday that the 5-4 sophomore guard from Bagley had been named to the 2003 National Junior College Athletic Association Division III First Team.

It capped a remarkable year for Hoie and her Northland teammates that included a Minnesota Community College Conference state championship: an NJCAA Region 13B title, and a runner-up finish in the NJCAA Division III national tournament.

Hoie averaged 12.5 points, 3.5 assists and 4.8 steals per game while shooting 40.1 percent from the field (144/359), 29.5 percent from 3-point range (38/129) and 67 percent at the free throw line (61/91).

She was earlier named to the MCCC All-Northern Division, MCCC all-state, MCCC state all-tournament, NJCAA All-Region 13, and NJCAA national all-tournament teams, and was recently recognized as the Region 13 Player of the Year.

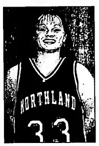
A year ago, Northland coach Mike Zachow said Hoie was the best player in the state before her freshman season ended early with a broken foot. And there were no guarantees the injury wouldn't come back to haunt her as a sophomore.

"It's quite a story," said Zachow. "Last year, she didn't really know if she was going to play basketball – she didn't know if she was good enough to play college ball – and we didn't know how her foot would hold up this year."

Hoie finished as the third-leading vote-getter on the All-America ballot. Heading the list was Heather Ignacek from the College of DuPage, the Illinois school that beat Northland 66-49 in the national finals at Corning, N.Y. The votes made Ignacek the NJCAA Division III Player of the Year.

Molly Brothers, Suffolk County (N.Y.) finished second in the All-America voting behind Ignacek and ahead of Hoie.

Hoie finished her Northland career with a school-record 202 steals, along with 176 assists and 670 points. She is No. 3 on the school assist chart and No. 6 in scoring. Her 149 steals this winter ranked third nationally.



NJCAA Division III All-America

■ First Team - Heather Ignacek, College of DuPage (Ill.); Molly Brothers, Suffolk County (N.Y.); Misten Hoie, Northland (Minn.); Lindsey Bradt, Hudson Valley (N.Y.); Keir Gargon, Passaic County (N.J.)

Mark Lorenson named Player of the Week for North Central baseball

University of North Dakota left fielder Mark Lorenson, a junior from Plummer, was named the latest North Central Conference baseball Player of the Week.

Lorenson earned the honors following a 4-for-4 offensive performance against the University of Minnesota-Crookston that included two home runs and a career-high seven runs-batted-in.

UND pounded out 17 hits in the one-sided 19-1 April 4 victory that improved the winners' record to 6-7.

Lorenson was a pitcher-outfielder with the Red Lake County cooperative high school baseball program before beginning his collegiate career.

Green Wave, Spuds are winners vs. TRF

■ Boys high school tennis opener

Moorhead and East Grand Forks handed Thief River Falls a pair of losses Tuesday in season-opening boys high school tennis action at the Center Court Fitness Club in Grand Forks, N.D.

The Prowlers lost a 5-2 decision to the Spuds and fell 6-1 at the hands of the Green Wave, the double-dual host.

Jason Swenson and Russ Anderson were Thief River Falls winners at No. 3 and No. 4 singles, respectively against Moorhead.

The Prowlers' lone win vs. East Grand Forks came from Anderson and Joe Ihle at No. 2 doubles.

Next outings for the Troy Hanestad-coached Prowlers will be a Tuesday dual at Crookston and a Thursday double-dual at Moorhead vs. the Spuds and Fergus Falls.

Carl Dugstad named most valuable player

Carl Dugstad has been named the most valuable player on the 2001-02 Red Lake County Central boys high school basketball team.

Doug Melby was selected as the team's top defensive player and was also presented with the Mustang Award.

Nick Brustad was announced as the most improved player and Ryan Paradis picked up the Ryan Melby Free Throw Award.

The Mustangs struggled through a 2-23 season this winter when their only wins came during December tournaments – 44-33 over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart at the Northland Invitational and 47-43 vs. Hill City at the Roseau Invitational. They ended the year with 16 straight losses.

"This season was a long one," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Randy Huie. "We did not accomplish what we set out to do as a team."

However, Huie said he was proud of the Mustangs' never-say-die efforts. "The important lesson is that our players showed up to play hard every night," he said. "This team had heart and character. The ability to do this in the face of adversity has taught these boys a great life lesson, always do your best, no matter the circumstances."

Huie offered thanks for the support and efforts from the players, coaching staff, administration and parents.

turned the ship in the right direction, and, thanks to a full-strength line-up, a strong finish capped it off. "The last three games we matched the way we played in our January/February stretch," noted Koivisto. "The end of the year was the first time all season the whole team was healthy."

An in-tact line-up played up to its potential, according to Koivisto. "We cut down our turnovers and we shot the ball better. I thought we would be a better outside shooting team this year, and those shots finally started to fall at the end."

With Lambert, Fore and Lindsay Bergerson the only seniors on the 2001-02 squad, the Mustangs should be competitive again in 2002-03 – if they stay healthy.

Comments on Agassiz Valley Water project taken

The Environmental Assessment worksheet for the Agassiz Valley Water Management Project to be constructed by the Middle River-Snake River Watershed District is now available for public review and comment.

The Agassiz Valley Water Management Project includes the construction of a floodwater storage site and environmental features approximately six miles east and one mile south of Warren. This project is expected to reduce flood flows from approximately 32 square miles. Copies of the Environmental Assessment worksheet are available from the Middle River-Snake River Watershed District office at 453 North McKinley Street, Warren.

The impoundment is on the line between Marshall and Polk counties and occupies parts of section 12 of McCrea Township, section 7 of Comstock Township, both in Marshall County and sections 12 and 13 of Bristol Township and sections 7 and 18 of Helgeland Township in Polk County. The inlet channels in addition to these four sections, occupies parts of sections 8, 9, 10 and 11 of Comstock Township in Marshall County and parts of sections 17 and 20 of Helgeland Township in Polk County. (A more precise definition of the area involved is available from the Middle River-Snake River Watershed District.)

A 30-day period for review and comment on the Environmental Assessment Worksheet shall begin the day the Environmental Assessment Worksheet availability notice is published in the Minnesota Environmental Quality Board publication known as the "Monitor." This publication is scheduled to begin on April 15, 2002 and the 30-day comment period will end on May 15, 2002. Written comments should be submitted to the board of managers of the Middle River-Snake River Watershed District, 453 North McKinley Street, Warren, MN 56762, during this 30-day review period. The comments shall address the accuracy and completeness of the material contained in the Environmental Assessment Worksheet, potential impacts which may warrant further investigation before the project is commenced, and the need for an Environmental Impact Statement on the proposed project.

Volunteer banquet in Argyle April 17

Argyle Area Community Foundation (AACF) will hold its 9th annual Volunteer Appreciation Banquet on Wednesday, April 17, at the Farmer Dell Restaurant and Lounge in Argyle. Social hour will begin at 6 p.m., and dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Rob Horken aka Ernie the Angler will be the guest speaker, and musical entertainment will be provided by cast members of the musical, "George M!"

AACF is a community foundation with funds invested with the Minnesota Foundation in St. Paul. Its mission is to support projects that enhance the environment of the community. This includes support of senior activity programs such as Argyle's H.O.P.E. program and youth activity projects such as the new American Legion Baseball program. AACF also supports programs that physically improve the appearance of the community such as the Highway 75 corridor enhancement project.

Everyone is invited to attend the banquet. The suggested contribution is $14. Those attending are asked to RSVP by calling Vicki at the Argyle City office at (218) 437-6621.

in individual eight-foot by eight-foot cells. They are issued private items such as toiletries, prayer caps, foam mats, a copy of the Koran, a blanket, canteen, and meals that allow them to adhere to religious restrictions. They have Muslim chaplains and are given periodic physical exams.

Hesse and his unit live in conditions comparable to those of the detainees – a tent city with no air conditioning. 12-hour work days seven days a week, and a work environment in hot, tropical temperatures. Despite this, Hesse says morale is high.

"We're working long hours, it's hot, and we're away from home, but we all knew what we were getting into when we signed up for the military," he said. "This is what we do, and we're all glad to be able to serve our country when it needs us."

While far from living and working under ideal conditions, Hesse says it's not all bad at GITMO. They do have the benefit of being at an actual American base with quite a few amenities. These include a naval exchange store, a gymnasium, places to eat, Caribbean beaches, and wildlife such as iguanas and banana rats to watch.

But there's no place like home, said Hesse.

"I miss my family, and I want them to know I love them, especially my wife – I love you, Mickey," he said.

How much better off are we?

current nutrient levels makes it appear there's a crisis," Fawcett describes in his article appearing in the October 2001 edition of Farm Journal, that's just not the case.

Not only do N and P occur naturally in amounts higher than proposed standards, but historically, levels were higher due to fires as well as bison and pronghorn, for example. Estimates vary, but at least 60 million bison once roamed over North America. Pronghorn populations have been estimated at between 20 and 100 million.

The "pollution" of rivers and lakes from these causes were evidenced in journals from early explorers. In 1821, Henry Rowe Schoolcraft described the Illinois River in his journal as follows "August 5. It presented to the eye a smoothing sluggish current, bordered on each side by an exuberant growth of aquatic plants, which in some places reached nearly across the channel. We soon found the water tepid and unpalatable, and often times filled with decomposing vegetation to a degree that was quite offensive."

In Saskatchewan, John McDonnel, descending the Qu'Appelle River, remarks in his Journal of May 18, 1795: "Observing a good many carcasses of buffaloes in the river and along its banks, I was taken up the whole day with counting them and, to my surprise, found I had numbered when we put up at night, 7,360, drowned and mired along the river and in it. It is true, on one or two places, I went on shore and walked from one carcass to the other, where they lay from three to five deep." There lay sometimes upward to a thousand dead on some low points drowned while crossing in spring on the ice and washed ashore. Amongst them were to be seen often the bears feeding upon the carcasses."

Scientists Edward C. Krug and Derek Winstanley were contracted by the government to prepare a report that would be used to help set nitrogen criteria for surface waters in Illinois. These scientists uncovered the comments from the journals above and compiled a report that contradicted some of the conclusions environmentalists had already reached. This scientific study stated that "pre-European-settlement conditions are described erroneously as being pristine and oligotrophic, with little nitrogen leaking out of the prairie landscape."

The scientists concluded that: "To establish scientifically sound reference conditions, it is necessary i) to quantify in a common unit all forms of N (dissolved and particulate (micro- and macroparticles), and organic and inorganic) and all sources, reservoirs, transformations, and fluxes of N; and ii) to understand interactions between N and other biogeochemical cycles of, for example, H_2O, O_2, C, and P. Criteria for setting N standards must recognize the great complexity of the N cycle and its interdependence with other variables. They must also consider the ways that human activities have both added to and subtracted from natural soil-N reservoirs."

MPCA has been participating in discussions and the development of criteria for Minnesota, of course. Local residents have been arguing that they should be included in discussions and, as stakeholders and as individuals most likely to be impacted by implementation of these criteria, a right to participate in measuring new levels as well.

Barron and others believe that not only is it imperative to include scientific and historical data into the equation for safe water levels, it is imperative to include all stakeholders in the discussions that will ultimately result in establishing new standards.

In an attempt to help citizens understand the issue, Don Barron, secured permission for The Times/Northern Watch to reprint of a series of articles first appearing in The Northome Record and written by its editor, J. Reed Anderson. The two stories will appear in the next edition of The Times.

Hallock man killed in accident Thurs.

Corey Richard Sugden, 22, Hallock, was found dead at the scene of a one-vehicle rollover two miles north of Hallock.

Kittson County Sheriff's Department reported receiving a 9-1-1 call at 11:06 a.m. Thursday, April 11, reporting an accident two miles north of Hallock on 280th Street. The Kittson County Volunteer Ambulance Service and Hallock Fire Department were dispatched to the scene.

An investigation of the accident indicates the pickup Sugden was driving was traveling east when it went out of control and rolled over on the north side of the road. The Minnesota State Patrol and Hallock Police Department assisted the Kittson County Sheriff's Department at the accident scene.

Apartment building given reprieve

Red Lake Falls - A Red Lake County owned apartment building in Red Lake Falls scheduled for burning was given a reprieve after a party expressed interest in purchasing it. The prospective buyer requested time to look the building over and determine if it is worth saving.

Red Lake County commissioners agreed that if the building could be sold to a private party, that would be better than burning it. They gave the prospective buyer until April 23 to have the structure inspected. If the buyer does not accept it, the building will be turned over to the Red Lake Falls fire department for burning. Oklee Herald

McIntosh gets new extension educator

McIntosh - Rumors that the Extension Office in McIntosh would be closing proved unfounded. Not only is the office staying open, but it will be gaining a permanent extension educator.

Jim Stordahl, who is currently the extension educator at the Clay County office in Moorhead, will be relocated to McIntosh sometime before July. Erskine Echo

Hrbek fishes Rainy River

Williams - Sunday was the last day to fish for walleyes on the Rainy River this season and the day Kent Hrbek, a Minnesota Twins baseball legend, chose to fish it.

Hrbek flew into Baudette early Sunday morning, accompanied by sportswriter/anchorman Eric Gilselson and a KSTP cameraman. Bill Stay of Rodbender's Guide Service in Baudette served as the group's guide. Northern Light

Mr. Tri-County pageant May 18

Karlstad - Junior and senior boys at Tri-County School and the school's student council plan to raise money for cancer and have a good time while raising it. The 2nd annual Mr. Tri-County Pageant has been slated for May 18 with the following contestants participating: Tyler Foss, Brian Kleinwachter, Jeremy Grochowski, Nathan Sjoblom, Dan Berggren, and Jose Ibarra.

Brett Spilde was last year's winner. The event raised $1,500 for the Kittson Unit of the American Cancer Society. North Star News

Youth injured in ATV accident

Bagley - Two youth, ages nine and 11, were hospitalized with broken bones after the ATV they were riding collided with a pickup truck in rural Bagley on Sunday, April 14.

According to the Minnesota Patrol, the driver of a 1998 pickup was westbound on a county road and the driver of the ATV was southbound on a private driveway when the pickup struck the ATV. The ATV and its riders landed in the south ditch. One of the youth was transported to Clearwater County Hospital in Bagley before being taken to North Country Hospital in Bemidji, and the other youth was transported to Altru Hospital in Grand Forks. Farmers Independent

Service Learning

Area students exhibit lessons of the heart

North Borders Partnership grant brings service-learning recognition/training session to TRF

by Kathi Carlson
Reporter

"Education of the heart" is how teacher Cal Lindberg describes his Community Action Program (CAP) at Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls.

Area educators gathered at the Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls Thursday to learn about "service-learning," an educational concept that would be new to some and familiar to others like Lindberg, who implemented the CAP program at LHS 28 years ago.

Lindberg attended the seminar with several of his students as well as Lois Anderson, activities coordinator at Valley Home, and Hazel Smith, resident and president of the Residents Council at Valley Home. The Thief River Falls entourage was joined by teachers and students from Greenbush-Middle River School and Kittson County Central, all offering examples of how service-learning has been incorporated into the curriculums at their schools.

The service-learning recognition and training session was made possible through a North Borders Partnership grant. The session was facilitated by Bev Amston of Ada, who manages the grant, and Marge Espe of Thief River Falls who served as assistant trainer. Espe is a retired Greenbush-Middle River teacher who was involved in the service-learning project that took place at her school last year.

Although service-learning means different things to different people and has no clear definition, The National and Community Service Act of 1990 defined the term as a method under which students learn and develop through active participation in organized service experiences that meet community needs and is integrated into the students' academic curriculum or provides time for the student to think, talk, or write about what he or she did and saw during the service activity. Service-learning also provides students with opportunities to use their newly acquired skills and knowledge in real-life situations, enhancing what is taught in school by extending student learning beyond the classroom and into the community and helps foster the development of a sense of caring for others.

Lindberg explained that his program is an elective that offers students one social studies credit and provides services to the community in three areas, including services to persons who are disabled, the elderly, and children. He also told attendees that due to the nature of the class and its activities, his program has been enhanced by the block schedule that was implemented at LHS during the 2001-2002 school year. Four days a week, Monday through Thursday, Lindberg uses a school van to deliver students to various sites where they serve in a variety of volunteer capacities.

Lois Anderson has worked at Valley Home for six years and discussed how the CAP program has impacted residents and programming at the assisted care facility. CAP students, Anderson said, do many of the extra things, such as putting up seasonal decorations and organizing holiday programs that staff members do not have time to do. CAP students also take care of the morning programming at Valley Home, offering games to residents who gather to participate in them and one-on-one time with residents who are less social. Anderson also explained that CAP students interview each of Valley Home's new residents and write a social history about them. The exercise allows the residents to talk about themselves and reminisce about their lives.

Service-learning is nothing new at Lincoln High School where students have participated in Cal Lindberg's Community Action Program for 27 years. Jamie Dehlen serves children, working with first and third grade students at St. Bernard's School. On Thursday morning, Jamie listened as teacher Kathie Knott's students practiced their reading skills.

Habitat drive at Agassiz opens for the season

The Lost Bay Habitat (auto) drive at Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is now open and will remain open through October. The Habitat Drive entrance is at Refuge Headquarters where the headquarters sign is located along Marshall County road 7. The four mile long drive is located 11 miles east of Holt, and is open during daylight hours, seven days a week. A sign along Highway 1, three miles east of Thief River Falls, also guides visitors to the refuge.

Interpretive signs along the drive describe the types of habitats and several species of wildlife that depend on those species of plants. A controlled burn was completed in the fall of 2001 in Headquarters Pool along Lost Bay Habitat Drive. Effects of fire can be observed on the vegetation during the spring and early summer months. Wildlife use between burned and unburned areas should also be noted.

Two hiking trails are located on the refuge. Headquarters hiking trail is one-half mile long with a crushed granite rock surface making the trail accessible to all modes of human travel. An interpretive leaflet is available at the beginning of the trail. The Maakstad Hiking Trail is a one-fourth mile long mowed grass trail along the drive, which is open for walking. Habitats are different along the trails so take time to walk both trails. Both walking trails give hikers a closer look and allow the hikers to hear the sounds of nature. Wood and chorus frogs have been very vocal and as summer progresses other frogs and toads will become vocal. Take time to remain motionless and hikers will see more wildlife.

Two kiosks with interpretive signs and leaflet dispensers are located along Marshall County road 7. One kiosk is located across from the Parker Observation deck and the other kiosk is located near

Pennington County Fair board plans 2002 Fair

While the same high-quality events will be held at the Pennington County Fair, the most celebrated event of the fair this year will be the completion of a new grandstand. The 2,500-seat grandstand was actually completed last fall, but unfortunately, not in time for the annual county fair.

The entire fair board is really appreciative of the donations that made it possible to construct the new grandstand, said past board president Floyd Erickson.

To celebrate and thank the community and donors, special activities, including a ribbon-cutting ceremony, will be held during the first evening of entertainment at the new grandstand, Tuesday, July 16. From 5 to 7:30 p.m. a barbecue picnic and entertainment from the Huot Sisters, will be provided for donors and special guests. This event will take place in a tent next to the grandstand. After 7:30 p.m. the grandstand will be opened to the public. A special ribbon-cutting ceremony will then be conducted. Following this ceremony, entertainment by the Roosters will be provided.

Erickson said the fairboard is within $50,000 of paying for the grandstand, so donations are still welcome.

Plans for this year's fair are still being finalized, but plans include a variety of activities and events.

Grandstand events include a Motocross on Wednesday, a talent contest and battle of the bands on Thursday, the Thunder on Hooves bull ride Friday and Saturday evenings, a mud run for recreational vehicles at 2 p.m. on Saturday, and a Fireworks display following activities at the grandstand on Saturday. The annual demolition derby has been scheduled for Sunday.

Grand passes for all seven activities at the grandstand can be purchased for $25 for adults, and $15 for students 12 and under. Individual event tickets may also be purchased.

Sometimes you want something extra nice for brunch or breakfast for the family or for guests. These recipes make for fresh breakfast tastes:

These fruit juicy drinks will be a hit on a hot summer day - use different juices for favorite flavored drinks

CREAMY FRUIT COOLER
1-1/2 cups crushed ice
1 (6 ounce) can frozen orange juice concentrate
3/4 cup lowfat vanilla yogurt
1/4 cup water
8 ounces (1 cup) lemon-lime soda pop

In blender or food processor, combine all ingredients except soda pop. Blend until smooth.

To serve, pour mixture into 4 glasses, add 1/4 cup soda pop to each and stir gently. Serve immediately. Makes 6 (2/3 cup) servings.

(Each serving contains 100 calories, 2 g protein, 22 g carb, 1 g fat, 2 mg chol, 25 mg sodium, 310 mg potassium, dietary exchanges of 1 1/2 fruit.)

Make this breakfast dish in a hurry right under the broiler, and doesn't it sound delicious:

CHEESY HASH BROWNS AND HAM
12 teaspoons softened butter or margarine
6 (3 ounce) frozen hash brown patties
6 ounces thinly sliced cooked ham
3 ounces (3/4 cup) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley

Spread 1 teaspoon butter (or margarine) on each side of each frozen hash brown patty. Place patties on ungreased cookie sheet and broil 4-6 inches from heat for 11-13 minutes, until golden. Turn patties over and broil another 4-6 minutes until golden.

Place ham slice on each patty and broil for 1-2 minutes or until hot. Sprinkle cheese and parsley over ham. Serves 6.

(Each serving contains 350 calories, 12 g protein, 24 g carb, 23 g fat, 28 mg chol, 610 mg sodium, 490 mg potassium, dietary exchanges of 1-1/2 starch, 1-1/2 medium-fat meat and 3 fat.)

Sweeten up any meal with these really simple biscuits:

DAISY BISCUITS
1 (7.5 ounce) can refrigerated buttermilk biscuits
5 teaspoons seedless raspberry preserves
2 teaspoons sugar

Heat oven to 450 degrees. Grease cookie sheet. Separate dough into 10 biscuits.

With shears, make 5 equally spaced 1/2-inch cuts around outside edge of each biscuit to make daisy shape.

Place biscuits on cookie sheet. With thumb, make indentation in center of each biscuit. Spoon 1/2 teaspoon preserves into indentation and sprinkle sugar evenly over biscuits.

Bake at 450 degrees for 6-10 minutes or until golden. Makes 10 biscuits

(One biscuit contains 60 calories, 1 g protein, 13 g carb, 1 g fat, 0 chol, 180 mg sodium, 105 mg potassium, dietary exchange is 1/2 starch and 1/2 fruit.)

Use this recipe for a quick dessert any time - It is especially tasty in the summer - use other favorite fresh fruits in pear or apricot juice in place of the fruit cocktail:

BUBBLING FRUIT
1 (16 ounce) can fruit cocktail in fruit juice, undrained
1 cup sliced strawberries
4 ounces (1/2 cup) ginger ale or lemon lime soda pop
1/4 cup coconut
Fresh mint leaves, if desired

Spoon fruit cocktail and juice into 6 individual clear serving dishes. Top with strawberries (now can be covered and refrigerated until ready to serve)

When ready to serve, pour ginger ale over and sprinkle with coconut. Garnish with mint. Makes 6 1/2 cup servings.

(One serving contains 80 calories, 1 g protein, 17 g carb, 1 g fat, 0 mg chol, 15 mg sodium, 140 mg potassium, diet exchange is 1 fruit.)

Use fruits in season to make this cool dessert:

EASY CRESCENT DESSERT PIZZA
1 (8 ounce) can refrigerated crescent rolls
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
4 teaspoons sugar
1 (3.5 ounce) package instant vanilla pudding
1-1/2 cups milk
1 teaspoon orange peel, grated
1/2 cup whipping cream, whipped, or 1 cup frozen whipped topping, thawed
2 to 2-1/2 cups fresh fruit, such as blueberries, strawberries, peaches, pears, etc.
Lemon juice

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Separate crescent rolls into 8 triangles and place in ungreased, 12 inch pizza or 9x13 inch pan. Press over bottom and 1/4 inch up sides to form a crust.

In small bowl, combine margarine or butter and almond. Brush crust with mixture.

Bake at 375 degrees for 11-13 minutes or until golden brown. Cool completely.

In medium bowl, combine pudding mix and milk. Beat at low speed 1 minute. Stir in orange peel. Refrigerate 10 minutes until set. Fold in whipped cream.

Brush peach or other fruit slices with lemon juice to prevent discoloration.

To assemble, spread pudding mixture over crust. Top with fruit. Refrigerate 1 hour before serving. Cut into wedges to serve. Store in refrigerator. Serves 8

(To serve fruit pizza on serving plate, line baking pan with foil. Bake crust as directed on the foil. Cool completely, then carefully remove foil from crust and transfer crust to serving plate.)

(Each serving contains 260 calories, 4 g protein, 33 g carb, 14 g fat, 24 mg chol, 460 mg sodium, 240 mg potassium, dietary exchange is 1 starch, 1 fruit and 3 fat.)

Bite-sized caramel rolls make any breakfast special - make a bunch cuz they'll love them:

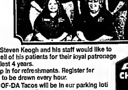
PETITE CARAMEL PECAN ROLLS
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
1/4 cup margarine or butter, softened
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 (8 ounce) can refrigerated crescent rolls
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 cup finely chopped pecans

Heat oven to 375 degrees.

In small bowl, combine brown sugar, margarine or butter and syrup. Blend well. Spread in bottom of ungreased 8 or 9 inch round cake pan.

Separate rolls into 4 rectangles, firmly pressing perforations to seal. In small bowl, combine sugar and cinnamon and sprinkle evenly over rectangles. Sprinkle 1 tablespoon of the pecans over each rectangle.

Starting at shorter side, roll each rectangle, pinching edges to seal. Cut each roll into 4 slices. Place, cut side down, over brown sugar mixture in pan.



Bake at 375 degrees for 20-27 minutes, until golden. Cool in pan 1 minute, then invert onto serving platter or foil. Serve warm or cool. Makes 16 rolls

(One roll contains 100 calories, 1 g protein, 13 g carb, 7 g fat, 0 mg chol, 150 mg sodium, 55 mg potassium, dietary exchange of 1/2 starch, 1/2 fruit and 1 fat.)

Gospel Sing-along Sunday in Fosston

Embassy Community Center in Fosston will host its monthly gospel sing-along on Sunday, April 21, beginning at 3 p.m.

Those who play musical instruments are invited to bring their instruments to participate in the sing-along portion of the program. The event will include an attendance gift, devotional, and potluck refreshments. While there is no charge, a freewill offering will be taken for the special musical guests.

Riverview hosts Women's Health Luncheons

Dr. Darrell Zeller, Altru OB/GYN in Crookston and Thief River Falls, will be the featured speaker at Riverview's Women's Health Luncheons on Tuesday, April 23, and Thursday, April 25.

Dr. Zeller will cover the topic of urinary incontinence, a problem common to women as they age. He will discuss reasons for the condition, types of incontinence, and various treatments.

The sessions begin at noon, and women can attend either session. Due to his schedule, Dr. Zeller's presentation will be taped Tuesday and shown at the Thursday session.

The luncheons begin shortly after noon and are kept to an hour, enabling working women to attend and return to their jobs on time. This is the sixth year Riverview has sponsored the luncheons. The presentations are free, and attendees can either bring their own lunches or purchase a bag lunch for $3.

Pre-registration is required. For more information, or to pre-register, call (218) 281-9405 or toll free 1-800-743-6551, extension 405.

Gov. Ventura to visit Fosston

Governor Jesse Ventura is planning to visit Fosston on Tuesday, April 30, to honor the Lady Greyhounds for their athletic achievements. The girls broke the record for the most consecutive games won in the State of Minnesota by any girls team, bypassing the boys athletic record of 68 consecutive games, and was ranked only one point away from being the top academic team in the state.

The Governor will be flying into the Fosston Municipal Airport Tuesday evening and will be dining at the new Fosston High School gym with fans and players. The Governor is expected to address the crowd, sharing his insights on how athletic experiences can transfer into the mainstream of life.

Tickets for the Governor's Dinner and program are $25 per plate, and are available in Fosston at the city hall and at Paluhlicki's Food and Deli, and in McIntosh, Erskine at the city halls, and at the Thirteen Towns newspaper office. Proceeds generated from this event will be used to support the Lady Greyhound sports program and will also be directed toward the needs of all other extracurricular and athletic programs in the Fosston School District.

God took the strength of a mountain,
The majesty of a tree.
The warmth of a summer sun,
The calm of a quiet sea.
The generous soul of nature,
The comforting arm of night.
The wisdom of the ages,
The power of the eagle's flight
Then God combined these qualities,
There was nothing more to add.
His masterpiece was now complete,
He lovingly called it Dad.

A rose is not a rose is not a rose.
No sir, most roses aren't hardy enough to live through our winters. But thanks to our friends north of the border, there are many Canadian roses available that need no winter cover.
The Morden Roses from Manitoba have made a big splash. The Morden Blush features light pink, tea rose-like blooms on an attractive two-foot bush. The Morden Centennial grows to three feet and is covered with deep pink blooms for most of the summer.
The William Baffin grows to nearly eight feet, and blooms four times per summer. It can be used as a climber, or it can stand alone. It features a deep maroon fall leaf color. The William Baffin makes for a great hedge.
The Cuthbert Grant is a deep red hardy rose which has the best scent of any of the roses which are winter hardy.
The Harison's Yellow rose grows to be a large shrub, and is covered with yellow roses in June.
The old time Hansa and Grootendorst roses are so hardy you can't kill them with an axe. They feature the old-time frilly foliage and deep pink blooms of the roses which lasted fifty years in Grandma's farm yard.
Hardy roses are best planted in a hot location. The south side of the house is ideal. In moist summers, hardy roses can benefit from a spray of fungicide to keep the leaves free of disease. Otherwise, they are virtually care-free.
Hybrid tea roses are beautiful, and we sell them, but they are not hardy and require more love and care than most people have to give. We prefer the hardy roses. They thrive on neglect.

Prepare for Minnesota's construction season

When the highways and hyways of northwestern Minnesota clear of ice and snow, the shivering is replaced by the teeth-rattling bumps of broken asphalt. This reminds us, of course, that it's time for the construction season. Well, the construction season is about to descend upon us, and for northwestern Minnesotans, it will descend upon us in a big way.

Department of Transportation Commissioner Elwyn Tinklenberg described plans for this year's construction season as, "... the largest road construction program in state history."

In District 2, which is in northwestern Minnesota, nearly 30 independent road construction projects costing about $34 million, are scheduled.

Minnesota is fortunate that it can afford to make improvements to its transportation network. Much of our commerce, and even day-to-day activities, revolve around our ability to drive from one place to the next. Without this network of roads and highways our ability to communicate, conduct business, and provide our families with nearly unlimited opportunities, would be seriously impinged upon.

Yet we look upon the construction season with dread. Often, a construction zone is just one more frustration in a long-line of frustrating events in our busy lives. The only thing I can think of that is more frustrating than a long detour around a construction zone, is waiting for a 100-car train and watching it come to a rest just shy of the last few cars and start to back up.

We must remember, however, that construction crews are doing their jobs, and are trying to improve our lives by providing us with a reliable and safe transportation route.

Just in case we forget, however, the legislature has implemented laws designed to protect the public and construction crews. Under a new state law enacted last summer, a work zone is defined as a roadway construction site when workers are present. According to a news release from the Department of Transportation, previously, the speed limit in all work zones was a maximum of 40 miles per hour. Under the new law, the speed limit on a divided highway is up to 15 miles per hour lower than the posted speed. Drivers will see new "Fines Double" signs to indicate they are approaching a work zone.

According to Tinklenberg, this is necessary because there are an average of 2,400 crashes in work zones every year in Minnesota. Most of these crashes, he said are caused by speed and driver inattention.

Having been forced to take long detours because I didn't check the route beforehand, I understand the frustrations. It doesn't have to be that way. Drivers can get the latest information about state highway construction projects from MnDOT's Web site at http://www.dot.state.mn.us, and by clicking on "Road Conditions;" or by calling 651-284-0511 or toll-free at 1-800-542-0220. Travelers with wireless phone service can access information by calling Mn/DOT's new traveler information line 5-1-1, which is available through wireless services, except Verizon.

An over-used cliche tells us that there are only two seasons in Minnesota – winter and the construction season. It's now the construction season.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

I would like to call the attention of your readers to the motivation for the recent votes by the Plummer and Oklee school board to pair-up. What was the deciding factor? Was it how much more the students would benefit? Nope! According to the April 6, 2002 edition of the Northern Watch, Plummer Superintendent Richard Lorenson stated that sparsity aid was the deciding factor.

So what is sparsity aid? Sparsity aid is additional revenue that is available to small and isolated schools where options to increase the number of students would require students to travel an unacceptable amount of time.

Currently the Oklee school receives about $55,000 in secondary sparsity aid because they are an isolated school. The Plummer school's central location and options to increase the number of students through open enrollment make it ineligible to receive sparsity aid. Through open enrollment, the Plummer school is currently serving around 40 students from the Thief River Falls district.

Sparsity aid is divided into two parts, one part is for the secondary (high school) and the other part is for the elementary (grade school). The secondary school sparsity formula takes into account a secondary school's enrollment, distance from the secondary school to the nearest secondary school and the geographic area of the secondary school attendance area. The elementary sparsity formula provides additional funding for elementary schools that average 20 or fewer pupils per grade and that are 19 miles or more from the nearest elementary school.

Currently, the school boards are only interested in the secondary sparsity aid. So how do the school boards plan on increasing secondary sparsity aid from $55,000 to $237,000? Well, it's quite simple. All you do is bus the entire high school from the non-sparsity school (Plummer) to the sparsity school (Oklee).

This raises a couple of questions in my mind. Are the school boards artificially creating sparsity to get more state aid? If they are, is it ethical? Secondly, does this plan cause the students to travel an unacceptable amount of time? If it does, then sparsity aid is being used to create what our legislators had intended it to prevent. Finally, do the school boards have plans to create sparsity in the elementary school next?

Sincerely,
Greg Holmes
Plummer

Americans commemorate 2002 National Crime Victims' Rights Week

During the week of April 21-27, 2002, victims of crime, victim advocates, criminal and juvenile justice officials, allied professionals and community volunteers across the United States will observe the 22nd annual National Crime Victims' Rights week.

In the aftermath of September 11, this year's theme, "Bringing Honor to Victims," reflects the country's heightened awareness of the harsh and tragic impact of crime on its victims, while underscoring the critical importance of helping all victims of crime rebuild their lives.

"The tragedy of September 11 brings special meaning and purpose to this year's observance," said John Gillis, director of the Office for Victims of Crime, U.S. Department of Justice. "This week is about bringing honor to all crime victims by promoting a greater understanding of crime victims' needs, by educating victims about their rights and the resources available to them, and by applauding the countless volunteers and professionals who have dedicated their lives to seeing that those harmed by crime don't fall through the cracks."

For nearly three decades, the victims' rights community has successfully brought crime victims' concerns and issues to the forefront of America's public policy agenda. Today, every state and federal government provides for the participation of victims in the criminal justice system, helping to make individuals and communities safer and making our justice system stronger. Crime victims' laws have been passed at the federal, state, and local levels giving victims legal rights, such as the right to be notified throughout the criminal justice process, the right to be consulted before a plea agreement is entered; the right to be present during court proceedings; the right to speak at sentencing, and the right to restitution from a convicted offender.

Victim advocates also point to other progress. Thirty-two states (including Minnesota) have provided the highest protection for the rights of crime victims by enshrining them in their state constitutions. Thousands of local service organizations and offices within criminal justice agencies that provide direct support to victims of crime exist today. And more and more victims of crime are asserting their right to seek redress through civil justice.

Susan Herman, executive director of the National Center for Victims of Crime, encourages people across America to join in saluting the significant achievements of America's crime victims, service providers, and justice professionals in this especially difficult time for Americans.

"National Crime Victims' Rights Week gives us the opportunity to support crime victims and thank those who serve them," said Herman. "Let's build on our past successes and renew our commitment to making comprehensive victims' rights and services a reality in every community. The 26 million people in this country who are victimized by crime each year deserve no less."

The Taxing Quality of Mid-April 2002

Most springs at this latitude seem to slide onto us through a haze of gray oblivion. Unlike the abrupt and definitive quality of an unplanned pregnancy or an overtime hockey win, our move past the vernal equinox up here is usually accompanied by a meandering pace of non-committal weather systems more stubborn and lingering than visiting out-of-town relatives. One day it's winter, and the next day is less like winter, and a few days later it's more like spring and so on and so on. The fishing styles generally mimic that sluggish transition. One day you're fishing saugers at Bridges and the next you might try a few hours of walleyes outside the Gap and then a few days later you sneak up river and dump a reluctant boat in below the rapids and then the weather cools and you try the saugers again and so on and so on. The actual dates of the fishing seasons don't tend to loom large because we've normally satisfied our fishing cravings on all fronts and are ready to tolerate a month away from the angling scene. Yet, once again, the winter of 2001-2002 is unwilling to be defined in any traditional sense.

To say we have done anything but approach the April 16th closure of the border waters fishing season at anything but break-neck speed would understate the night and day quality of this spring. Everything from the legal closure on the calendar to the meltdown on the lake to the very patterns of the fish themselves seemed aimed at the middle of April. 'A water-shed moment' is what John F. Kennedy used to call such sharply defined times.

The law, as mentioned above, suggests that it's time to stop fishing. One day (April 15) you can fish for walleyes, but the next day (April 16) you can't. Simple, straightforward, and pretty abrupt.

The Rainy River and Lake of the Woods seems to have taken clues from the rulebook this year. The extended season (the time beyond which fish houses must be off the lake each night) begins on the first of April. This two week extension is generally considered a concession to the unrivaled productivity of the Rainy pre-spawn fishery. Coincidentally, the date the Rainy decided to expose itself this year was almost exactly the first day of the special season, creating a lemming-like rush to places like Birchdale and Frontier as fisherman scurried to get even a few hours of river fishing in before April 15th.

And while the lake itself might start to play second fiddle to the river in April, a few informed and intrepid anglers always pay loyal homage to what is usually a late season bonanza on the still frozen big basin. Once again, coincidentally, the April 15th closure date out there was pretty much on the same schedule as the credibility of the ice and the arrival of temperatures to ensure its demise. All very conveniently- one day you're fishing and the next day you can't.

Equally abrupt was the changeover in my yard. One day I was comfortably mired in winter, all my offending sins from last fall happily covered in snow and encased rigidly in frost. The fresh gravel in the driveway from last October didn't need to be rolled or raked when stiffened by winter temperatures. The electrical connections to the shop could be easily ignored when the underground wires for that purpose were trapped in a puddle of frozen meltdown. The branches and brush cut before winter laid opportunely out of sight under the accumulations of winter snow.

And then dawned that morning of April 16th, when thoughts legally and climactically were forced away from fishing and on to more workmanlike chores. How convenient that the gravel in the driveway softened on that particular calendar date. How fortuitous that the wire to the shop became frost-free that exact morning. How curious that the accumulated brush reappeared at almost precisely the same hour one could no longer fish the river or the lake.

I think I liked it better when things happened gradually around here.

Deer hunters to hold seeds for wildlife distribution

Thief River Falls Chapter of the Minnesota Deer Hunters Association would like to announced their annual Seeds for Wildlife Distribution from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday, April 20, at Hartz Trucking on First and State Avenue in Thief River Falls.

Forty-pound bags of corn seed, grass seed and sunflower and beet seed, will be given away to anyone who would like to plant food plots for the benefit of area wildlife. This will be the only time that seed will be available this year.

For more information, contact Wayne Klementson at 681-2042.

Nerness Family Singers to perform in Strathcona

The Nerness Family Singers from Windom will appear in concert at the Grace Evangelical Church in Strathcona beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Sunday, April 28.

With Harvey on guitar, Allison on violin, Laura on steel guitar, and Linda, Andrew and Elizabeth on keyboards, the Nerness Family entertains and ministers to audiences with their gospel music. They belong to the Gospel Music Association and the Christian Country Music Association, and perform a variety of gospel music.

There is no admission charge for the concert; however, a free-will offering will be received. Everyone is invited to attend.

High school baseball...

Prowlers start schedule with a pair of wins

Pitching was supposed to be Thief River Falls' strong suit this spring. But the Prowlers have relied on their offense to pick up season-opening high school baseball wins over Red Lake County Central and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River.

Monday, a six-run second inning carried the Prowlers past the Oklee/Plummer/Red Lake Falls cooperative 7-6. Tuesday, a three-run sixth inning netted a come-from-behind 9-7 victory over the Gators.

"Our pitching hasn't been as strong as I thought we'd be," admitted Thief River Falls head coach Shane Zutz.

But on the positive side, the search to find a shortstop to solidify an otherwise veteran infield was apparently resolved with the play of junior Kjell Johnsrud. "Our infield defense was good," said Zutz. "Kjell stepped up and got the job done at shortstop. He really played well."

The Prowlers scored their 16 runs in the two games on 17 hits. "We hit the ball pretty well, but we didn't do some of the little things very well," explained Zutz, referring to carrying out assignments on bunts, sacrifices, etc.

Thief River Falls built an early 5-0 lead over Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, but trailed 7-6 going into the bottom of the sixth when an RBI single by Caleb Crapeau capped a two-out, three-run rally.

It was the first game on the Multi-Events Center diamond for the Prowlers, who called Irv Wilson Field home before the new facility was built. It was used for the first time when Thief River Falls hosted the Ninth District American Legion tournament last August. The Northland Community and Technical College baseball team opened its 2002 schedule at the complex located adjacent to the school.

TRF swimmers have banquet

Awards, special recognition and athletic letters were feature parts of the program during the Thief River Falls boys high school swim team banquet Monday.

Nathan Browning was named the Prowlers' most dedicated swimmer and was presented with the Coaches Award.

Russ Anderson was given the Animal Award; Stephan Hahn was selected as Rookie of the Year; and Josh Swenson was tabbed as the most promising swimmer.

Recognition for school record [illegible] with a 57.54 in the 100 backstroke and Jason Swenson with a 1:02.96 in the 100 breaststroke.

Nathan Bylander, Josh Swenson and Browning were named captains of the 2002-03 Prowlers. Aaron Field, Jason Swenson and Browning served that role this winter.

Introduction of Thief River Falls All-Section 4A swimmers included Browning, 100 backstroke and 50 freestyle; Jason Swenson, 100 breaststroke and 200 medley relay; and Josh Swenson, 100 butterfly.

Thief River Falls improved its dual meet record from 1-5 in 2001-02 to 5-3 this winter; placed fourth in the Section 4A meet; and climbed from 26th a year ago to 14th this time around in the Class A state meet. The Prowlers' sectional placing matched their 2001 finish, but this year they had to contend with Grand Rapids, a team that dropped from Class AA and won the Section 4A title.

Individual Thief River Falls state meet entries were Jason Swenson, 100 breaststroke; Browning, 100 backstroke and 50 freestyle, and Josh Swenson, 100 butterfly.

Special award winners announced during the 2001-02 Thief River Falls boys high school swim banquet were, front from left, Russ Anderson, Animal Award; Stephan Hahn, Rookie of the Year; back, Nathan Browning, most dedicated and Coaches Award; and Josh Swenson, who was named most promising swimmer.

Thief River Falls state meet-qualifying relay teams included Browning, Jason Swenson, Josh Swenson, and Cody Sorvig in the 200 medley; Cody Sorvig, Browning, Field, and Jason Swenson, 200 freestyle.

"Overall, our season was a great success story," said Kelly Weets, who served as Thief River Falls co-head coach along with Luke Miller. "I'm very proud to have coached these young men, although I can take little credit for their success. They were a veteran squad with lots of good leadership from the captains and seniors. They came in knowing what they had to do. Luke and I appreciated that as new coaches."

It was a season, pointed out the coaches, when every member of the team made vast improvements in their events, with personal best times surfacing at nearly every meet.

Graduation will take a big bite out of the Thief River Falls line-up, noted Weets. "A major task at hand for the program is recruiting," she said. "We will graduate seven seniors. We will really miss their

Fergus Falls beats Northland twice in softball match-up

Fergus Falls swept Northland 9-8 and 6-2 Wednesday in a Minnesota Community College Conference softball doubleheader hosted by the Spartans.

The Pioneers, who opened the 2002 season by winning three of four games against Mesabi Range and Vermilion in Thief River Falls over the weekend, couldn't come up with the winning formula on the road.

An offense that is the strength of the team did not come through, according to Northland co-head coach Kathy Huschle.

"I'm sure the travel had something to do with that," explained Huschle in reference to the missing attack. "We have to do a better job with the bunt and designed plays.

Pioneers, Spartans split games

[illegible] split, but the edge went to Northland Tuesday in a Minnesota Community College Conference baseball showdown with Fergus Falls. The Spartans won an 11-1 first-game blow-out in five innings. The Pioneers came back to take the nightcap 10-8.

The results did little to separate the two teams who started the day tied atop the Northern Division standings with one loss each. However, picking up a win on the road for the 10-2 Pioneers against their biggest pennant challenger was a major accomplishment. And at the same time, a loss at home for the 8-2 Spartans, especially after the one-sided Game 1 victory, is not the best route to take for a title.

It was the first MCCC road trip of the 2002 season for the Pioneers, who opened league play by hosting five straight doubleheaders. They made the most of that opportunity by winning nine of those ten games. But it produced a schedule that put them on the road for six of their final seven Northern Division twin-bills.

As the score indicates, Northland struggled with it's first league road assignment. "They (Spartans) got going before we got off the vans," said Pioneers coach Guy Finstrom. [illegible] to the top of the Northern Division standings was no fluke with the Game 2 win. It was the Pioneers' first victory at Fergus Falls since 1997.

A four-run first inning that featured a two-run single by Oscar [illegible] by Chad Stromland and Jon Johnson, ignited the Northland second-game turnaround.

"It was nice to win down there," acknowledged Finstrom. "The kids had a mental block the first game, but they had enough confidence in themselves to come back and take the second one."

Northland built a 10-3 lead before watching Fergus Falls turn walks into a five-run rally in the bottom of the seventh to make it close.

Top three regular season finishers in the Northern Division earn MCCC state tournament berths, while the top two gain spots in the National Junior College Athletic Association Region 13 tournament.

Northland took an 11-6 overall record into the weekend that included games Friday at Itasca and today (Saturday) at Hibbing. The Pioneers will be at Central Lakes Wednesday, then make their final home appearance in a Saturday, April 27, rematch with Fergus Falls.

Weather affects sports schedules for Prowlers

Several weather-related changes in the Thief River Falls spring sports schedule occurred during the past week.

Two more season-opening delays for the Thief River Falls girls golf team included the cancellation of the Crookston Quadrangular Tuesday and the combination Crookston/Warren-Alvarado-Oslo Invitational Thursday.

Also erased Thursday was the Prowlers' softball game at Crookston and a boys double-dual tennis outing vs. Moorhead and Fergus Falls on the Spuds' courts.

School records set by Jason Swenson (left) and Nathen Browning were recognized during the Thief River Falls boys high school swim team banquet. Swenson swam a 1:02.96 in the 100 breaststroke at the state meet, while Browning recorded a 57.54 in the 100 backstroke at the Section 4A meet.

Crookston is tennis winner against TRF

Two singles and two doubles wins added up to a 4-3 Crookston victory over visiting Thief River Falls Tuesday in boys high school tennis.

"This is my fourth season with the boys program, and we have yet to beat Crookston," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "We had them on the ropes. We lost 4-3, but actually won the first set in two of the matches we lost."

High winds made it a less-than-ideal day for tennis.

"We had a lot of kids who stayed very focused in some poor playing conditions," noted Hanestad. "It is easy to become discouraged and blame all of your problems on the conditions when you are playing in a heavy wind like that. But most of our kids were really positive and used the wind to their advantage. It was a good lesson for our team. I think our players believe they are good enough to beat Crookston, which is a big step in the right direction."

Thief River Falls winners were Jason Swenson and Ryan LaCoursiere at No. 3 and 4 singles, respectively, along with Matt Dimich-Mike Kimball at No. 1 doubles.

"Matt Dimich and Mike Kimball beat a very good Crookston team at No. 1 doubles," noted Hanestad. "Jason Swenson completely dominated his match. Ryan LaCoursiere out-worked and out-hustled his opponent. Ryan was mentally tougher than his opponent, and that was probably the deciding factor in that match."

Prowlers golf team has a middle-of-pack debut

An appearance at the Detroit Lakes Invitational Tuesday marked the 2002 debut of the boys high school golf season for Thief River Falls.

Moorhead Black won the 12-team event on the Wildflower course by a six-shot margin over runner-up Detroit Lakes Red, 302-308. The Prowlers finished with a middle-of-the-pack sixth place 332.

The score was a little higher than what Thief River Falls coach Dick Tyler was looking for. "I was hoping that we would score no more than the low 320's for our first meet," he said.

Jon Peterson of Moorhead was meet medalist by shooting a par-72.

"We were led by the steady rounds of freshman Paul Sjoberg (78) and senior Tommy Greelis (80)," pointed out Tyler. "Mitch Pribula was consistent with an 85. We need our fourth through sixth players to improve their scores."

Sjoberg placed sixth in the meet; Greelis finished 11th.

Detroit Lakes Invitational
■ Team totals - Moorhead Black 302, Detroit Lakes Red 308, Hawley/Ulen-Hitterdal 324, Fergus Falls 326, East Grand Forks 328, Thief River Falls 332, Moorhead Orange 334, Staples Motley 340, Bemidji 344, Detroit Lakes White 344, Lake Park-Audubon 396, Menahga/Sebeka 401.

athletic abilities, their work ethic and their great personalities. They've contributed to our team in so many ways, and their absence will really leave a void. If we don't get any new kids to join, we'll be looking at an 11-member squad next year."

Thank you for all the cards, phone calls, flowers, gifts and most of all your prayers. Thanks to Pastor Dahlin and Pastor Knutson for their visits while I was a patient at Northwest Medical Center for two weeks. Thanks to Dr. Patel and all the nurses who were so kind. Also, thanks to all the personnel of Karlstad Healthcare Center who were so great to me the two weeks I spent there to recover.
May God bless you all.

creating a meaningful piece that can eventually be left for their families. "They (the CAP students) have honored us so much," Anderson said.

Resident Hazel Smith echoed Anderson's sentiments, discussing how residents look forward to the activities and programs engineered by the CAP students.

Junior Laura Anderson discussed her experiences at Valley Home, including the various duties she performs and what her experiences there have taught her. She said that she has learned to be more patient and not to judge others before she has taken the time to get to know them.

Patience is among the traits developed by classmate Carissa Harris as she performed her CAP duties at the Occupational Development Center. Carissa leads ODC consumers in a 15-minute exercise program and teaches them a variety of crafts and life skills, such as cooking. In addition to becoming more patient, Carissa said that working with people who are developmentally disabled has taught her communication skills.

Jamie Dahlen works with first and third grade students at St. Bernard's School, spending her time under the direction of the classroom teachers. Tasks, she said, include correcting assignments, playing games, helping students with their school work, and performing some the "extras" such as creating bulletin boards, doing art projects, and seasonal or holiday activities. Jamie enjoys watching the students grow emotionally and scholastically during the school year. "They try harder just for you," she said.

Senior Amanda Seaverson was a CAP student last year whose experience was so powerful that she continued to help in the CNC Unit at Northwest Medical Center through the summer. At the nursing home, students spend their time engaged in group and one-on-one activities with the students. They also plan programs such as the 50s dance they organized last spring, complete with Cathy Erickson and her band. While Lindberg said he had his doubts about the outcome of such an activity, it was a huge success. "We had so much fun," Amanda said.

Although the majority of the experiences students have had while working with the elderly have been enjoyable, they have also learned some of life's harder lessons, especially when a resident has passed away. It's lessons such as these that are discussed on Fridays when students remain in the classroom.

On Fridays, students meet in the classroom where they participate in activities that are geared to help them succeed in their community assignments, share their successes, problems, and ideas, assess their personal strengths and weaknesses and set goals. The classroom time Fridays also provides time for Lindberg to take care of administrative tasks such as checking attendance and collecting journals.

Reflection is also an important part of the program with each student being required to keep a journal from which she or he creates an in-depth case study of their CAP experience. Lindberg requires that the case study explain both what the student learned about the person or persons they worked with and what they learned about themselves in the process.

Service-learning manifested itself in the form of a quilt in Mary Anderson's math class of Greenbush-Middle River School. Anderson and students Lindsay Hendrickson, Kaeh Wiskow, Rachel Agre, and Jaime Emery discussed their classroom project Thursday, with their quilt, a bright red, white, and blue creation, providing a centerpiece for the Best Western Inn meeting room. Math became real as students used their skills to design the blocks that were eventually sewn together into a quilt that would be raffled off to raise funds for New York firefighters. While sewing is generally considered "women's work," students told about how the young men became engaged in the activity, learning a life skill in the process. All of the students described the activity as positive and one that they would do again.

Students Nancy Davis, Stacy Sobolik, and Amy Webster joined Charlie Lindberg, media specialist and media arts instructor, to discuss the variety of service-learning opportunities at Kittson County Central School. Activities include working with the elderly and children in the community as well as working in the school office and classrooms, producing a school/community radio show and creating videos, including one for a church that was in the process of calling a new pastor and another which highlighted the "United We Stand" program that recently presented an encore performance. Through their activities, the students reported learning a variety of skills and developing traits and attitudes that would serve them throughout their lifetimes.

In a nutshell, service-learning is all about combining academics with helping others, creating caring citizens and leaders in the process. "And, it's about 'giving back,'" Cal Lindberg, said about his program.

Marshall Co. Dairy Association seeks princess candidates

The American Dairy Association of Marshall County is seeking candidates to participate in this year's princess program. Dairy princesses serve as goodwill ambassadors for the dairy industry by appearing at various promotional events and speaking to consumers and the media. The princess contest will be held on May 6 at [illegible] with the coronation at 8 p.m.

A candidate must be a high school graduate by July 1, 2002, and not yet 24 years old by July 1, 2002. She or her parents must be actively engaged in the production of milk for sale to a licensed plant during the current year. A candidate also qualifies if she or her parents are employed on a dairy farm in a dairy-related capacity.

County dairy princesses are eligible to attend a statewide promotion training seminar to be held in Willmar on May 17-19 and may apply to be considered as a finalist for the Princess Kay of the Milky Way title. Twelve finalists will be selected to compete for the Princess Kay title in August.

For a complete rules brochure and applications form, contact Norma Hanson at 218-378-4380.

Due to the construction at the fairgrounds, parking is a major concern for the fair board. Erickson said the fairboard is studying the matter and will make an announcement about parking at a later date.

Bandshell events have also been scheduled. Gospel Night will be held on Wednesday from 5 to 10 p.m. Performing on Thursday will be the hypnotist/magician Jason Mystic, the Cathy Erickson Band, and the Billy Yates Nashville band. Events on Friday and Saturday will include performances by Jason Mystic, Just Kruse-in, the Billy Yates band, and the Cathy Erickson Band. Sunday, there will be performances by the Cathy Erickson Band and Just Kruse-in.

Events at the bandshell are paid for with funds collected through the raffle. For $10, fairgoers and visitors can purchase a chance at a number of prizes. This year, first prize is an Arctic 4x4, second place a Model 90 four-wheeler, third place a big screen television from Sears, fourth prize is patio law furniture from Kmart, fifth prize a remote car starter from Pennington Fast Lube, sixth prize a mini-garden tiller from Hardware Hank, seventh prize a year supply of Pepsi from Pepsi Cola, eighth prize is a homemade quilt, ninth prize is a weed trimmer from Hardware Hank, tenth prize is a yard equipment trailer from Hardware Hank, and 11th through 20th prizes will be $50 cash awards.

Returning to the Midway will be the Rogers Brothers Funland. Ticket information will be released as the dates for the fair approaches.

Habitat drive opens

the east boundary of the refuge. Another kiosk is located at the refuge headquarters parking lot. Refuge and U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service leaflets are available at the kiosk locations.

The 100-foot tower near headquarters will be closed due to the tower being renovated and will not be open to the public. The 14-foot tall Lansing Parker Pool Observation Deck along Marshall County road 7 is open during daylight hours. Permanent 20-power spotting scopes are mounted on the Parker deck, and also on the headquarters office deck for observing wildlife.

An occupied bald eagle nest, situated on an island in Parker Pool near the observation deck, can be observed from County road 7. If the pair is successful in raising the eaglet(s) to fledgling(s) the eagles will be visible at least until the eaglet(s) leave the nest in mid-July. Bird species and numbers have been rapidly migrating into and through the area. Male birds are in their breeding colors making identification easier at this time of year rather than in late summer-fall. Birds are also very vocal at this time of the year, allowing identification of bird species by their songs and calls.

If visitors want to talk to a refuge staff member before, during or after their visit, contact the refuge office between the hours of 7:30 a.m. and 4 p.m., Monday through Friday, excluding holidays. Call 218-449-4115, extension 214, 210, 211 or 213 for further information. Bring binoculars and spotting scopes to get a closer view of wildlife, and identification books to identify wildlife or plant species and camera to capture some lasting memories.

Swifter justice for drunk drivers in Clearwater County

Bagley - Drunk drivers will receive swifter justice in Clearwater County under a plan announced recently by District Judge Paul Rasmussen that will require a DWI trial to take place within 45 days a defendant's first appearance in court. The plan is based on the theory that the swifter the punishment, the greater the impact on the offender.

In addition to the "fast track" scheduling, the court is implementing other changes regarding DWIs. Written sentencing orders, formal review hearings, and more intensive probation will be utilized to ensure offenders understand and comply with the conditions of sentencing. The Leader Record

Student bound for international science fair

Roseau - Sarah Kelmitz's science fair project, "The Measure of Beauty," earned her first place honors in the math category at the regional science fair in Bemidji in February and was selected Best Overall Project for the Senior Division at the Minnesota Academy of Science Science Fair last weekend, earning her the right to participate in the International Science Fair in Louisville, Ky. in mid-May.

Because Roseau School does not have a science fair competition, Sarah submitted her own forms, competing for the first time at the regional level. Her extensive research project proves that there is a mathematical standard for beauty. Roseau Times-Region

School district considers computer-use fee

Alexandria - Faced with a budget crunch, the Alexandria School District board of education is searching for new ways to balance the books.

Superintendent Ric Dressen suggested an increase in co-curricular fees and that the board consider the implementation of a student registration fee of $10 to $25 per student at Alexandria's secondary schools. The fee would cover the expenses for students using the district's computers and supplies such as paper and ink cartridges. Echo Press

Newfolden coach hangs up his hat after 35 years

Newfolden - After 35 years as head basketball coach of the Marshall County Central Nordics boys basketball team, Ron Ueland has announced his retirement.

He retired three years ago from 34 years of teaching, the last 32 at MCC, but he wasn't ready to give up coaching at that time. The new head coach will be Jake Rantanen, who has been the assistant girls coach for a couple of years.

"I wonder how it will feel not to coach," Ueland said. "I know it will be a big adjustment." New River Record

Finding jobs in northwest Minnesota

Students and adults from throughout northwest Minnesota visited with staff manning the table for the Northwest Minnesota Regional Job Fair. Hundreds of individuals took advantage of the opportunity to visit with employers and apply for new jobs. The event was held Wednesday at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls.

Jobs?

Annual Job Fair attracts hundreds seeking new jobs

by David Hill
Editor

If you were interested in finding new employment or obtaining information about a company you might be interested in working for, the gymnasium at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls was the place to be on Wednesday, April 17. More than a dozen employers participated in the Seventh Annual Northwest Minnesota Regional Job Fair Wednesday in Thief River Falls.

Darrick Haugstad drove the hour or so it takes to go from Hallock to Thief River Falls early Wednesday morning. He was among the 300-400 individuals to attend the event.

Haugstad hadn't attended the job fair before Wednesday. He heard about the job fair through the WorkForce Center, which sponsors the event. Haugstad explained that he obtained a degree in agronomy two years ago, but since his graduation has not been able to secure anything other than seasonal jobs. Wednesday, he was hoping that he could get a job that could provide him with a little more security.

Jeff Gustafson, Job Service Program Specialist at the WorkForce Center in Thief River Falls, said that an ongoing concern for employers in northwestern Minnesota has been finding enough people to fill jobs.

And, even though unemployment has increased to 4.3 percent in March, businesses are still finding it difficult to fill jobs.

Gustafson said manufacturing and retail have been hit hardest by this trend, as well as businesses with part-time positions.

Generally, there is a surge in the number of people seeking employment during April. That's why the Job Fair is held this time of year. Although it was the seventh annual Job Fair, it was the first time it has been held at Northland Community and Technical College. In previous years, the event has been held at the National Guard Armory.

Gustafson said they decided to hold it at the college in an attempt to attract more college students to the event.

While the event helps people find jobs, it is primarily for employers. Gustafson explained that at the conclusion of every job fair employers are asked to fill out a survey. Year after year, employers have told them that it was a positive experience, and one they want to continue because they are having a difficult time filling positions.

Even though unemployment in Minnesota has risen to 4.3 percent (March), it's still below the national level of 5.7 percent. With that much unemployment, one might conclude that it would be easier to fill positions, but that's not necessarily true.

Marie Finney, vice president of administration at Digi-Key, a wholesale electronic parts distributor located in Thief River Falls, said people were lined up in front of their booth before the Job Fair officially opened at 11 a.m.

Unfortunately, while Digi-Key remains very busy, they aren't hiring as many people as they have in the past because business is not growing as fast as it was in the past.

Finney said that in 2000, they hired 400 employees. In 2001, they

Jobs Inc. guests to discuss workforce study

The public is invited to attend the Jobs Inc. annual meeting at noon on Tuesday, April 30, at the Evergreen Eating Emporium. A regional labor force assessment, which was conducted last year, will be the main topic for the program.

Last year, Jobs Inc. provided matching funds to assist in a $150,000 labor force assessment survey for northwestern Minnesota. The project involves a survey of the region's labor force, employers and students. Dave Hengel, economic development director for the Headwaters Regional Development Commission, who coordinated the labor force project, and Kari Howe, northwest regional representative for the Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development, will present information on the regional assessment. Specific details on the Thief River Falls "laborshed," which involves interviews with over 800 residents living within 45 miles of the city, will be discussed. Employers and human resources staff, along with interested members of the public are encouraged to attend the public meeting.

The meeting includes a buffet luncheon. The charge for the luncheon, including gratuity, will be $7.50. Reservations are preferred, and can be made by contacting the Community Development Department - Jobs Inc. office by noon on Monday, April 29.

Battling his way to the top

BattleBot builder learns valuable lessons

by Kathi Carlson
Reporter

If your eyes are wide open, there are often times when life's disappointments can present new opportunities.

Such is the case for young BattleBot builder Chris Mickelson whose story appeared in the November 3, 2001 edition of the Northern Watch. At the time, Chris, his mom and his grandmother were preparing for a trip to California the following week where Chris and his BattleBot Milton were registered to compete in a BattleBot competition at Treasure Island in San Francisco.

The Mickelsons left Thief River Falls as scheduled, but as they drove west, the news carried information about terrorist threats in California. Specifically, the threats involved bridges, some of which they would have to use to get to their destination. California's governor, who appeared at several news conferences, was taking the situation very seriously, and so did the Mickelsons. After several "what should we do?" calls home, Chris decided they should turn around – a mature and responsible decision for a high school sophomore with BattleBot stars in his eyes.

At that time, however, the BattleBot craze was still in its infant stages, and a new opportunity became available for Chris when "BattleBots IQ," a national robotics competition for middle and high school students between the ages of 12 and 18, was announced.

Chris set his sights on the inaugural BattleBots IQ Tournament that was held March 28-30 at Universal Studios in Orlando, Fla., and made the Easter weekend trip with his parents, Tom and Donna Mickelson, and his brother, John, a senior at Lincoln High School. Dad flew down, and Mom, Chris, and John drove with Milton aka Karl in tow.

While he didn't win the competition, he lost only two matches, and he came home with a ranking that would guarantee him a spot in the next BattleBot IQ competition. Chris was satisfied with his performance and had good reason to be proud. Of the 47 competing BattleBots in Orlando, only Chris and one other youth competed solo. The other competitors were members of teams, sponsored by and, in some cases, financially backed by their schools. The competition also carried its fair share of what we'll call "BattleBot Dads." Although Chris ◀ Chris Mickelson and his robot, "Milton" aka "Karl" have recently participated in a national BattleBot IQ competition, held in Orlando, Fla., as well as the local, regional and state science fairs, faring well in all areas of competition. This experience has provided him with a valuable learning experience. Currently, Chris in the process of building a new robot for future competitions as the nation-wide BattleBot fever continues to grow.

TRF Chamber honors Tony Dorn Sr.

■ Tony Dorn Sr. is named the TRF Chamber of Commerce Entrepreneur of the Year

Tony Dorn Sr
Entrepreneur of the Year

Tony Dorn Sr. has been named Thief River Falls' Entrepreneur of the Year. The award will be presented to Dorn at the Annual Small Business Breakfast 8 a.m. Thursday, May 9, at the Evergreen Eating Emporium. Reservations can be made with the Chamber of Commerce at 681-3720.

Tony Dorn Jr. describes his father as "driven." He devoted his adult life into the business and it was among his highest priorities. He has always been "aggressively energetic" in anything he does, said Tony Jr.

But devoting his life's effort into his business, also meant caring for his employees and their families. Robert "Bud" Brooten, who has been with Tony Dorn Inc. for 55 years, said he has gotten along with him real well because "he has a genuine concern for your well being." He added that he knows what you go through and takes it into consideration.

Tony Jr. said that to this day, they have many long-term employees and consider their business a hometown, family business.

While Tony Dorn Sr. could sell just about anything to anyone, Tony Jr. and Bud Brooten said they like to keep him away from the repair shop.

Tony Jr. said most of what he starts to repair ends up at Wennberg's.

Bud would only say that his big fingers don't fit in most machines.

Today, Tony Dorn Sr. is retired, but still visits the office and serves in an advisory capacity.

Tony Jr. said that even in retirement he still adheres to one goal that has been obvious throughout his career – customer satisfaction.

Tony Sr. is a little surprised at all the attention. He explained that it isn't like he invented a new product. Being an entrepreneur simply means being dedicated to business and product. Of course, customer and employee satisfaction form the foundation of any successful business.

When asked what Thief River Falls could do to support its entrepreneurs, Dorn Sr., said that's an age-old story. After thinking about the question, he said most importantly, residents should realize that business support of community events is based on recognition that local business is here to fill local needs.

Tony Dorn Inc.

In 1934, Art Hamilton started Hamilton Business Machines. In the early 1940's, Grundy Aakus and A.H. (Tony) Dorn took over the operations of the company. Upon the untimely death of Dorn, Grundy Aakus purchased the company and changed the name to Grundy Office Supply. In the spring of 1949, M.A. (Tony) Dorn assumed his father's position as salesman for the company. Twenty-three years later, he exercised his option to buy out Grundy's and changed the name to Tony Dorn Inc. In 1977 Tony R. Dorn joined the company and in 1996, he was appointed president and operations manager of the company. Tony

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

—Spring is springing as fast as it can. The following spring-y recipes are from the cookbook, "More Recipes From Mount Saint Benedict."

Soon it will be rhubarb time again. Try this as soon as you can - I'm sure it's a good spring tonic and will get you pepped up for springtime chores:

COLD RHUBARB-STRAWBERRY SOUP
Sr. Brigetta Buckley

3 cups water
3/4 cup sugar
1 cup (1 pound) rhubarb, cut in 1/2 inch pieces)
1 cup (1/2 pint) strawberries, hulled
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
1/3 cup dry white wine
Sour cream for garnish, if desired

In large saucepan, heat rhubarb, water, sugar and orange peel to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes. Cool.

Place half of soup in blender with 1 cup strawberries. Blend on high speed until smooth. Stir into remaining soup. Serve chilled. May garnish with sour cream, half and half or plain yogurt.

This would be a good salad to serve at your next barbecue:

SAUERKRAUT SALAD
Sr. Carmella Buckley
(Margaret Welander)

1 large can sauerkraut (drain but do not rinse)
2 cups celery, diced
1 cup onion, diced
1 cup green pepper, diced
2 cups white sugar
1 cup vinegar
1 teapoon celery seed (if desired)
1/8 teaspoon pepper

Mix sauerkraut, celery, onion, green pepper and pepper in bowl.

In saucepan, mix sugar, vinegar and celery seed and boil for 3-5 minutes. Pour over vegetables and refrigerate overnight.

Here is another tasty solad to pep up your meals:

PEA SALAD
Sr. Ann Marie (Bonnie Neumann)

3 cups peas, cooked and drained
1/2 cup celery, chopped
2 tablespoons mild onion, chopped
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 cup cubed cheddar cheese
4 tablespoons sliced black olives
1 cup salad dressing
Salt and pepper to taste

Combine peas, celery, cheese, olives and onion in a bowl. Blend salad dressing and salt and pepper and pour over pea mixture. Stir and chill. Serves 8.

This is a delicious soup that can be made in a matter of minutes - serve with a sandwich for a quick lunch:

HOT EGG DROP SOUP
Sr. Lorraine Kraft

2 stalks celery with leaves, chopped finely
2 tablespoons sliced green onion
Dash of ground ginger
2 (13-3/4 ounces each) cans of chicken broth or homemade broth
Dash of hot pepper sauce
2 well-beaten eggs

In saucepan, combine all ingredients except eggs. Bring to a boil and slowly pour the beaten eggs into the soup so egg forms thin shreds.

Remove from heat and serve immediately. Serves 4.

This peppy sandwich will make a great meal with the egg drop soup above:

SOMBRERO SPREAD
Sr. Joyce Selander

1-1/4 pounds hamburger
1/4 cup chopped onion
4 cups extra hot ketchup
1/2 teaspoon chili powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 (8 ounce) can red kidney beans with liquid
Garnish:
1/2 cup shredded sharp processed American cheese
1/4 cup green olives, chopped
1/4 cup chopped onion

Brown hamburger and onions in skillet. Stir in ketchup, chili powder and salt. Mash beans and add to mixture. Heat thoroughly.

Place on halves of hamburger buns and garnish with cheese, olives and/or onion. Serve hot or place filled buns in oven until warmed.

Riverview groundbreaking event May 6

A groundbreaking ceremony May 6 will mark the beginning of Riverview Healthcare Association's $18.5 million construction project.

The event will be held in the Riverview cafeteria at 2:30 p.m. with the actual groundbreaking and presentation taking place at approximately 2:45 p.m. The celebration will include members of Riverview's staff, board, and auxiliary, as well as community members. Members of the Minnesota Hospital Association and other regional and state dignitaries have also been invited. The event is open to the public, and refreshments will be served. Depending on the weather, part of the celebration may take place outdoors on the front lawn.

"We are extremely excited to share the kick off of this important project with the community and the residents of our service area that have made this venture possible," said Deb Boardman, CEO of Riverview. "Because of local support and patronage over the years, Riverview is in the position to expand its capabilities and improve the services we offer our region."

The project includes construction of a new building attaching Riverview to Altru Clinic-Crookston, which is located directly across Minnesota Street. The new building will house outpatient services that benefit from being close to both the hospital and clinic, such as outpatient surgery, emergency room, urgent care, and radiology.

The other major new-construction project will be the addition of two 11-bed residential units attached to the south end of Riverview Nursing Home. These units will be designed to serve the unique needs of residents with dementia and those needing short-term rehabilitation following illness or injury.

The two construction projects are expected to take between 13 and 15 months to complete. Following the completion of the new structures, remodeling within the existing building will begin. The entire project is expected to take about 24 months.

Improvements at 59 and 1 being explored

In addition to the improvements already made at the intersection of Highway 1 and 59 near Thief River Falls, the Minnesota Department of Transportation is exploring the possibility of installing flashers above the right stop signs on both County State Aid Highway 16 and U.S. 59 this year. This will include the installution of several streetlights that are required in conjunction with the installation of the flashers. The Minnesota Department of Transportation will be contacting Pennington County regarding an agreement with maintenance and power costs.

Allen Zutz plays golf for BSU team

Allen Zutz of Red Lake Falls is playing for the men's golf team at Bemidji State University. Zutz is a freshman undecided on a major.

Throughout the fall and spring season, the men's team matched up against universities in the Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference and NCAA Division II teams in the region. Last October, the BSU men placed second at the conference golf tournament. It is Don Niskanen's eighth year coaching the men at BSU.

Farms to receive identification survey in the mall

A total of 500,000 potential farms and ranches across the country, including nearly 7,000 in Minnesota, will receive a 2002 Farm Identification Survey in the mail over the next few weeks. The intent of the survey is to identify agricultural operations for the 2002 Census of Agriculture.

Many people who do not consider themselves to be farmers or ranchers actually qualify as a farm and are important to the 2002 Census of Agriculture. The Farm Identification Survey consists of seven short questions which will help determine agricultural status. Simple questions will ask about growing crops or raising livestock in any quantity. The short survey should take less than five minutes to complete and mail in the postage paid envelope.

Responses to this survey and the 2002 Census of Agriculture are mandatory under Title 7, U.S. Code, which also assures the information provided is confidential and will not be provided to any individual or organization.

The 2002 Census of Agriculture forms will be sent to 2.75 million potential farms and ranches in December 2002. For additional information about the Farm Identification Survey or the 2002 Census of Agriculture, get online at www.usda.gov/nass/ or call toll-free at 1-888-4AG-STAT or 1-888-424-7828

Stephen/Argyle students complete "Opera on Our Own"

Fifth and sixth grode students at Stephen/Argyle Central recently completed "Opero on Our Own," an Artist in Residency project funded by the Northwest Regional Development Commission. This project was built from last year's Minnesota Opera residency among schools in northwest Minnesota.

Karen Brodley of Bemidji, served as the Artist in Residence for "Opero on Our Own." During the past six weeks, Bradley met with the students to present the basic elements of opera, including libretto, scenery, casting, blocking, lights, costumes, publicity, progroms and props. The students were in charge of creating each of these elements under Brodley's guidance. In depth study of Gian Carlo Menotti's operas provided the understanding of the story behind each opero.

Fifth grade students transcribed and performed Minotti's "Help, Help, The Globolinks!" This is the story of school children who were invaded by alien Globolinks. The only defense known to destroy the terrible Globolinks was the sound of music. As the students and their teachers realized this, they discovered how important music is to their lives.

Sixth grode students chose "Amahl and the Night Visitors" as the basis for their performance. Amahl was a poor crippled shepherd boy who lived with his mother. The three kings happen to stop at their home as they follow the star to find the Christ child. Amahl, his mother, and the shepherds entertain the three kings during their stay. Upon their departure, the three kings leave their gifts with the child Amahl, who is also given the gift of walking again.

Every students was involved in each production on or off-stage. The students were responsible for finding costumes and props, designing and building scenery, and designing programs and publicity. The stage production held at Argyle on April18 revealed a small portion of what the students actually experienced. Brodley brought to life the stories, and created an exciting environment for the students. The word "opera" has an entirely different meaning to the students than it did six weeks ago.

This activity is made possible in part by a grant provided by the Northwest Regional Oevelopment Commission with funds provided by the Minnesota State Arts Board through an appropriation by the Minnesota State Legislature.

Border security issues discussed in Warroad, Crookston

Senator Mark Oayton's State Director, Jim Gelbmann, will hold meetings in Warroad and Crookston next week to discuss the impact that federal border und homeland security initiative will have on communities in Minnesota.

Dayton said Gelbmann will meet with local law enforcement representatives, city and county officials, as well as area residents to discuss the issue. He said that in addition to making sure the legislation passed by the Senate addresses legitimate concems about the safety of our borders, he is interested in hearing about the potential economic impact security threats may have on Minnesota's border communities.

The meeting in Warroad will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 2, at the city hall.

The meeting in Crookston will take place at 10 a.m. on Friday, May 3, in the community room of the Northwest Regional Correction Center.

County Humane Society participates in Adopt-a-thon

Pet Adopt-a-thon, the weekend when animal organizations worldwide join together to find a home for each and every shelter pet, is taking place on May 4 and 5.

Thousands of shelters in dozens of countries are participating in Pet Adopt-a-thon 2002, including the Pennington County Humane Society. The local Humane Society will be sponsoring a Community Appreciation Oay at the Heritage Community Center on May 4 from 1 to 5 p.m., and a vaccination clinic at the city hall parking lot the same day from 2 to 4 p.m. There will be food, games, mini-seminars, information on the humane society, pictures of available animals, door prizes, a coloring contest, a silent auction, and much more. Silent auction items include a Dodge van, a DVO player, framed prints, Terry Redlin collector plates and stand, a Kandiyohi water machine and more. The vaccination clinic is co-sponsored by Northern Vet Clinic, Or. Donald Hagen.

Call the Pennington County Humane Society to adopt a loving animal as part of Pet Adopt-a-thon 2002. You'll get a lifetime of companionship and unconditional love from a cute and cuddly furry friend. For more information about Pet Adopt-a-thon 2002, call 218-681-8045, or visit the national Web site at www.petadoptathon.com. The local humane society Web site is www.pawstrf.org.

Spring fund-raiser features Dr. Skogerboe

Dr. Rudy Skogerboe will be the featured speaker at Cornerstone Christian School's annual spring fund-raiser at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church in Thief River Falls. The program will begin at 2:30 p.m. and will include a presentation by students.

Dr. Skogerboe is well known in northwestern Minnesota, having practiced medicine in Karlstad from 1948 through 1965. He is also recognized as an author, musician, and political activist. Retired, he is currently residing in Grand Forks, N.O.

Rudy Skogerboe's story began in 1921 when he was born in Erskine. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Concordia College, a Bachelor of Science degree from the University of Minnesota in 1944 and his Ooctor of Medicine degree there in 1946. His internship was completed at St. Luke's Hospital in Duluth. Ouring his second year of medical school, Rudy married Arona Olsted, also of Erskine. They have four children.

As a captain in the US Army, he served at the Veterans Administration Neuro-Psychiatric Hospital in St. Cloud from 1946 to 1948.

In April of 1948, Dr. Skogerboe began a medical practice in Karlstad, a pioneer venture as there was no hospital there, nor had Karlstad had a doctor in residence for five years. His start included an office in his family's home, and he took his patients to hospitals in Thief River Falls and Greenbush. He also made many house calls, and on occasion, babies were delivered at patients' homes. If a snowstorm kept one of Or. Skogerboe's patients from reaching him, he went to them, clad in a down-filled parkaand pants and armed with a snow shovel, thermos of coffee, and two-way radio.

While in Karlstad, Or. Skogerboe worked with the hospital board, helping plan and build a small, well-equipped hospital in 1951. In 1955 he took a leave of absence from his proctice there to participate in a surgical residency at Abbott Hospital in Minneapolis.

Dr. Skogerboe returned to school, zeroing in on a specialized field of medicine. From 1966 to 1969, he took a residency in urology at the VA and University of Minnesota hospitals in the Twin Cities. He joined the Grand Forks Clinic, specializing in urology, in July of 1969, and remained there until his retirement on January 1, 1994.

Throughout the years, Or. Skogerboe has been active in a variety of church and community activities. In 1954, he received he "Young Ooctor of the Year" award from the Minnesota Medical Society, and in 1989, he was presented the "Service to Mankind" award by the Greater Grand Forks Sertoma Club.

Dr. Skogerboe's book, Who Has Stolen My Church, has been printed severol times, and he has produced three trumpet albums.

Dr. Skogerboe's lifetime of experiences are sure to make interesting fodder for Sunday's fund-roising event.

Everyone is welcome to attend, and refreshments will be served following the progrom. An offering for the on-going work of Comerstone Christian School will be received.

Our Saviour's Lutheron Church is located on Hwy. 59 Southeast in Thief River Falls.

Open Mouth, Insert What?

I'm confused. No, I'm not talking about my general approach to day-to-day existence, which probably has something to do with being dropped on my head as a toddler, or that time I was abducted by aliens for 20 minutes on my way to Sunday school. (Really). I'm confused by this Midwestern eating thing. You know, which meal occurs when, in what part of the region. I mean, I can understand traveling to some exotic foreign country and struggling so much with the local nuances of language that innocent questions like 'What time is dinner?' are greeted with peals of laughter, a roll of toilet paper, and directions to the outhouse. But in a geographical diameter of less than a few hundred miles, you'd expect some dinnertime consistency, wouldn't you? Or is that suppertime stability?

Growing up on the east coast, meal times and names were pretty standard. A hearty breakfast was served shortly after you woke up. Lunch came about midday and consisted of somewhat lighter fare. Supper, the biggest meal of the day was always at six o'clock and if you were late you'd better be carrying a good excuse. (Aliens, for example, if you hadn't already wasted that one at church.) Even if we traveled to visit relatives hours away in strange lands like New York or Maryland, the culturol distinctions didn't seem to erase the meal pattern: breakfast, lunch, and supper. It was a reassuring constant for an odd and insecure young child.

And then along comes middle age and a move to the upper Midwest. Unusual culinary culturol patterns emerge and the self-confident nature I've diligently acquired over the last few decades is assailed. Soda becomes pop. Casseroles are now hot dishes. My neighbors eat a jellied fish soaked in lye and seem to like it! And all of these twists and turns in consumption are paralleled by a complete disruption of the eating blueprint.

Breakfast, fortunately, remains breakfast here. At least the coffee continues to be offered at a time when it's needed most. After that, the daily picture is hard to digest.

The next meal, at least in northern Minnesota, is 'lunch' if it's served outdoors somewhere, like shore-lunch. The defining nature of this meal seems to be the fresh air character. Move a little west into the farming zones of the Red River Valley, for example, and it's still called lunch, but it's served at about 4 pm and is a meal that's toted out into the fields for those driving tractors and combines. It's not a heavy repast, just a sandwich or two, unlike the overwhelming natare of the noontime shore-lunch a little to the north and east.

Now, take that same troctor driver or fisherman and drog him indoors anytime between 12 and 4 p.m. to sit down at a set table and all of a sudden we're eating 'dinner.' What happened to lunch? As a matter of fact, most of those performing long hours of field work will expect to arrive home at noon for 'dinner' and eat a 'lunch' late in the afternoon in order to sustain them to the evening 'supper' hour.

The 'dinner' designation takes the confusion to a higher level. 'Oinner' on the east coast was certainly not an unheard of term, but more normally applied to a late afternoon, special occasion kind of affair. Easter dinner or Christmas dinner, for example, were white tablecloth, coat and tie, lavish events that involved extended families and a seemingly interminable time frame. If 'dinner' began at 4 p.m., for instance, you could bet that Uncle Ralph would still be searching the mashed potato bowl for his dentures at 8 p.m.

Out here, 'dinner' is commonplace and lacking in time restrictions. It can be as early as noon or as late as 6 p.m. and offers no real limits as to what is served. Eggs, sandwiches, venison roast, Marie Antoinette's head – they're all fair game for dinner. But be forewarned! If this, the heftiest meal of the day, occurs even a minute before 12 on a Sunday, it magically becomes 'brunch' which makes no sense at all because there is no indoor 'lunch' and if there were it would be just a small meal. Right? 'Brinner', perhaps?

Which brings us to 'supper'. A substantial, social, 6 p.m. east coast feast that now becomes a smaller, less demanding evening affair (if it gets acknowledged at all) when it gets moved to the Midwest. Usually soup and bread, maybe some summer sausage (can you eat that in January?). Heck, its significance drops so far in stature that oftentimes Minnesotans will even skip 'supper' based on the time and quantity of the 'dinner' that occurred earlier in the day.

However, this gastronomic quandary is not without its upside. For rather than struggling to identify those moments in the day when I should be eating and what, the infinite options have made the choices easy. With breakfast beginning the day, followed shortly thereafter by branch and a move outdoors for lunch, then an early afternoon dinner with plans for my traditional evening supper, there appear to be few moments in the day when I'm not expected to have something in my mouth. And provided we're not serving lutefisk, there should be plenty left over, even for the aliens.

Roseau County Historical Society notes milestone

Roseau County Historical Society will celebrote its 75 anniversary on Sunday, May 5, at 3 p.m. in the theater at Roseau School on Hwy. 11 and 5th Avenue.

The event, entitled "Looking Back," will feature a style review of fashions from the 20th century, Native American costumes and dance, and a military salute with U.S. military uniforms. Music of the century will add insight to the eras represented.

One hour prior to the celebrotion, the historical society's annual meeting will be held in the school commons area. The meeting will review the past year's business and future goals of the society. The public is encouraged to attend.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Passenger rail service is growing in importance

Much has changed in the past year. A growing concern that has been made more evident by the terrorist attack on September 11 is the demand on our nation's airline industry to produce safe and reliable transportation. Much can and should be done to address shortcomings and provide support to our nation's airline industry, but we should not forget another option - passenger rail transportation.

Our reluctance as a nation to rely on rail transportation must be puzzling to our European neighbors. They rely heavily on passenger rail service, whereas other than subway service in larger cities, our passenger rail services languish in obscurity – unless there's a derailment.

During the past year, Congress has debated withdrawing its commitment to passenger rail service. This would seriously derail future development of a transportation service that must be developed.

Congressman Earl Pomeroy, (D-N.D.) supports Amtrak. In a viewpoint printed in the April 19 edition of the Grand Forks Herald, Pomeroy writes: "Amtrak is a vitally important transportation link for North Dakota, especially in those communities that do not have air service. Citizens and businesses across North Dakota depend on, and benefit from, daily Amtrak service. More than 80,000 North Dakotans rode the Empire Builder last year, and many small businesses rely on Amtrak's baggage service to ship their goods and products. Amtrak also is a valuable employer, providing more than 200 jobs for North Dakota residents. Some of those employees already are losing their jobs or being asked to transfer as a result of budget cuts."

Having recently traveled across North Dakota and Montana on the Empire Builder, I was struck by the vast empty distances between communities – communities that have no access to air service, and safe travel on roads and highways during the winter is frequently questionable. According to the passengers on the train that I visited with, people living in those small communities are worried about the possible loss of the train service.

From my personal experience, the trip was relaxing because I wasn't driving on icy roads and in bad weather. I could get up and walk around without being told to sit down and buckle up because of turbulence. I could look out the window and see vast fields, rolling hills, mountains in the distance, deer, elk, grouse, pheasants and a three-legged coyote outside Havre, Mont. To me, the adventure caused me to reflect upon a time when planes weren't used as flying bombs, leg room wasn't an oxymoron, service meant palatable food that came served on real plates, and security concerns didn't require that you show up one or two hours in advance so someone could search through your belongings and sometimes your person. There are many advantages to passenger train service that in the past have seemed unremarkable. Times are changing.

I believe, as Pomeroy does, that our nation should be connected by a nationwide passenger rail system. Service sometimes means providing it at a loss. Perhaps, sometime in the future it will become a profitable venture. And if there is ever a chance the passenger rail service will become popular and profitable again, now is the time. People are in the mood for a change. They're tiring of the pressures, and rush of traffic.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Northwest Senior Federation marks birthday of group

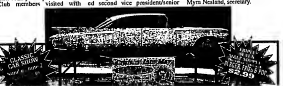
Northwest Senior Federation celebrated the birthday of the organization at a recent meeting. The very first meeting of the Northwest Senior Federation was held in Middle River on May 6, 1980.

Honored guests at the recent meeting included the first group of officers for the organization, including Olga Engevik of Thief River Falls, Leonard Olson of Warren, Oroydon Postier of Clearbrook, and Joyce Lockhart. Myra Nesland made corsages and presented them to these leaders. Leonard Olson and Joyce Lockart are still county vice presidents.

Club members visited with Richard Honetschlager from the state office. Honetschlager will help the organization boost income into the Northwest so that the organization can keep its office open in Thief River Falls. Minnesota Senior Federation, however, will no longer pay the secretary's salary.

Membership in the organization is $10 per person or $20 per couple. Senior Partners care applications will be charged an additional $5 as a service charge to cover new brochures, phone calls, postage and photo copying.

Officers were elected at the meeting. Harriet Heinen was elected second vice president/senior partners care officer. Winton Forsberg was elected vice president for Pennington County.



Valarie Solem, director for Sen. Mark Dayton's office in Thief River Falls, was a special guest at the meeting. Sen. LeRoy Stumpf was also among the guests. He was also at the first meeting of the organization in 1980.

A special cake was purchased and noted that the first meeting of the organization was held 22 years ago. The cake was decorated with the Minnesota logo in red, white, blue, and bordered with roses. The cake was served by Valerie Solem and Betty Roadfeldt (Moris), and Myra Nesland, secretary.

is lucky to have the support of his parents, his BattleBot was solely his design, paid for, for the most part, with money he earned working in the produce department at Super One Foods.

The rules for BattleBot IQ state that the competing robots must be specifically created for the youth competition, and because "Milton" had been registered for the earlier California competition, Chris changed his robot's name to "Karl" for the Florida contest just to be on the safe side.

There were other differences between the youth and regular BattleBot competitions as well. The arena for the youth competition is smaller, measuring 32- by 32-feet, and the weapons are different and controlled by teammates. Chris recruited the help of his brother, John, who was more than happy to oblige him. Chris's dad, Tom, had a role, running the family's video camera. Because the television rights for BattleBot IQ had not yet been sold and it was not a taped-for-TV event, videotaping was allowed. The inaugural tournament rather served as a pilot project for a possible children's television program focusing on youth robotics, education, and competition.

There were a couple of battles, including one of Chris's, which were taped for possible airing, so the young man's hopes of his robot appearing on television have not been totally dashed.

Although the youth competition included some changes, much was the same as the regular BattleBot competition.

Check-in and the required safety and technical inspection was the first order of the day on Thursday, March 28, and Chris's robot weighed in at 115.5 pounds, qualifying it for the middle-weight division.

Chris's first three fights took place on Friday, and he won all three. In the first fight, "Karl" was pitted against "Reaver," a tenacious robot who kept going even after its motor mount was broken and its tire fell off. "It just wouldn't die," Chris said.

His robot's second fight was with "Swiss Cheese the WedgeBot," and this match went down to the judges' decision, ruling in Chris/Karl's favor, 28 to 17. This battle, Chris describes as frustrating. Because of Swiss Cheese the WedgeBot's design, it was slow, there was nothing for Chris/Karl to grab, and the two robots spent their allotted amount of time dancing around the arena. When the judge's ruling came out in Chris/ Karl's favor, Chris didn't hesitate to engineer Karl's "victory spin."

After winning his third fight against "Trojan Warrior," however, Chris kept his delight in winning in check and skipped the victory spin. As Karl hit its opponent, Trojan Warrior's parts flew all over the arena. "I destroyed him," Chris said, and one doesn't do a victory spin, he said, after wrecking one's opponent's robot.

Chris's next three fights took place on Saturday, March 29, the final day of the competition. He lost his first fight that morning against "The Edge" when a wire disengaged, and Karl lost power. The Edge would go on to place second in the BotBout and win the best of show award for aggressiveness.

In his second battle Saturday, it was Chris's turn to disable his opponent, knowing how to eliminate "WhirlWind" within seconds of the battle's onset. WhirlWind was also among the best of show winners, capturing the "Best Engineered" award.

While it was secured so tightly that Chris could not pull it loose, the wire that was disengaged in his first battle Saturday with The Edge was knocked loose by "Greenwave" as well during Chris/Karl's sixth fight.

Chris's last competition was the Robot Rumble, during which, for the first time during two days of competition, Karl was flipped over.

Because Chris and his robot had never competed before, Chris had no idea how it would measure up, and he was happy with his sixth place finish. In addition to The Edge, which finished in second place, the other BotBout winners were "Wee Willy Wedgy," the tournament champion, and "PlasticBot" and "Evil Eagle" capturing third and fourth place.

In addition to the actual battles, Chris's mom, Donna, noted several other positive characteristics of the competition. She especially appreciated the camaraderie that developed amongst the competitors and the fact that all of them were so willing to share their tools and help each other. Although Chris described his tools in comparison to some of the other large school-sponsored teams as "bare bones," he shared what he had and even helped fix The Edge, who would eventually beat him.

Chris has also realized other successes with his robot-engineering skills. Lincoln High School science instructor Patti Johnson encouraged Chris to participate in Lincoln's Science Fair in January, and although he put his project, "The Fundamental Elements of Combatant Robotic Design," together only the night before the competition, it earned him a Grand Champion award and the right to participate in the regional competition in Bemidji on February 21.

At the regional competition, Chris was awarded the Herbert Hoover Engineering Medallion award, and at the Minnesota Academy of Science Science Fair last weekend in the Twin Cities he was the only LHS student to receive special awards. His project was selected as the US Department of the Army's Award for Excellence in Science and Engineering top medal winner and the US Department of the Navy's Office of Naval Research Naval Science Award winner in the engineering category. He received a $100 savings bond from the Army and a $50 savings bond and graphic calculator from the Navy.

Evidently, Chris's expertise in science extends to the environment as well as he was a member of the Lincoln High School team that took second place at Wednesday's Envirothon at Lake Bronson State Park and will advance to the state competition May 21.

In addition to the science endeavors, tennis and a host of other end-of-the-school-year activities have kept Chris busy this spring – but not too busy to be kept from working on another robot. Milton/Karl has been dismantled, its parts being used for another design that Chris plans to enter in a June competition in the Twin Cities and an October competition in Orlando.

The BattleBot craze continues to grow as the first book, BattleBots: The Official Guide, was released this week and BattleBot toys became available at participating McDonald's yesterday (Friday, April 26). BattleBots has also risen to the top of Comedy Central's television lineup and is getting plenty of publicity from other media sources.

With regard to her son's participation in future BattleBot competitions, Donna Mickelson is still saying, "maybe," although her smile and twinkling eyes reveal that she knows full well that "maybe" is not a word in Chris's vocabulary.

Dorn Sr. has stayed with the company as the principal stock holder in an advisory capacity. This is a three-generation family company, which has shown continuous growth throughout its existence. Originally, the company had six employees. Today, it has a staff of 28 to 30 full-time employees, which includes employees at the branch location in Grand Forks, N.D.

Tony Dorn Inc. offers a complete line of business-related products, including supplies, furniture and machines. The major product line is Canon USA, which is the world leader in copiers, fax machines, and full color systems. Tony Dorn Inc. is an original Canon dealer dating back over 30 years. With the ever-changing technology in the business machine industry, Tony Dorn Inc. is committed to stay with this change to offer its customers the best products and service available in today's market. Tony Dorn Inc. has been named a Golden Eagle Dealer with Canon multiple times. This award represents a dealer's annual accomplishments in sales, which exceed Canon's expectations.

During the company's years of service to the area, the area has experienced significant economic fluctuations. Throughout these upheavals, the company has adjusted and recognized customers' needs, and has made extra efforts to accommodate them through the tough times. In 1997, when the flood hit the area, Tony Dorn Inc. and Canon teamed up to provide virtually all the temporary businesses in the area, including the Red Cross, FEMA, and the Cities of Grand Forks and East Grand Forks, with equipment and service they needed to continue operations.

Tony Dorn Inc. is a reflection of its owners and staff. It is known for its participation in area sports through advertising and financial contributions to organizations, individuals and events. In 1946, Tony Dorn Sr. helped revive the youth hockey programs, and continues to work with the programs. Tony Dorn Jr. has also continued this involvement, and serves as president of TRFAHA. Both Tony Sr. and Jr. serve on a number of community committees and boards. They have contributed to the community projects, such as the Multi-Events Center and the Depot Project. The Tony Dorn family is also involved with the Education Foundation and offers an ongoing nursing scholarship in memory of Mrs. Tony (Teddy) Dorn.

Tony and his wife Teddy had three children: Tony Jr., who is married to Connie and live in Thief River Falls; Kaye, who is married to Buzz Marvin of Fargo, N.D.; and Lynn, who is the athletic director at North Dakota State University. Teddy was active in the business until she passed away in 1991. In 1993, Tony Sr. married Pat Thompson. They reside in Thief River Falls. Tony Dorn Sr. has four grandchildren, and as of 5 p.m. on Wednesday, April 24, he has one great grandchild.

Trees for up here, from up here.
Not everything grows in this climate! That is why Bergeson Nursery founder Melvin Bergeson devoted so much time to finding and introducing new varieties of trees which excel in our area.
Blooms in spring, bird food in winter...
Soon the flowering crabs will be in full bloom. The most common one in the upper midwest is the Red Splendor, introduced by Bergeson Nursery in 1948. The Red Splendor has spectacular bloom in the spring. More importantly, its berries hang on all winter, or until the birds eat them. No mess on the sidewalk!
A fast-growing shade tree...
When the elm died of disease, the search was on for a reliable replacement. Melvin Bergeson introduced a fast-growing seedless ash, which was patented as Bergeson Ash. It can grow as many as three feet in a single season. The Bergeson Ash has an upright branching habit, and is ideal for boulevards.
Orange color in the winter...
The Flame willow is no ordinary willow. It grows in a neat oval shape, and doesn't drop branches. Most importantly, its branches are a bright orange in the winter-time. Plant one at the edge of your yard, where you can see the sun catch the colorful branches in the winter. Introduced by Melvin Bergeson in the 1970s.
A shrub for four seasons...
Dogwood are tough as nails, and the Bergeson Dogwood is ornamental as well. Deep-red branches in winter, white blooms in the spring, elegant foliage in the summer, and a unique cherry red fall color make the Bergeson Dogwood an ideal shrub for the corner of any house.

Students from throughout northwestern Minnesota braved the cold to participate in this year's Envirothon at Lake Bronson State Park Wednesday.

Teams from Thief River Falls captured the top three places. Other teams placing in the top ten included an additional Thief River Falls team, two teams from Lake of the Woods, a media team, a teacher team, and teams representing Stephen/Argyle and Grygla schools.

The first place team from Lincoln High School won the event for the second year in a row and captured third place at last year's state competition. Team members include Chrissy Wegner, Sarah Willis, Kay Steiger, Jacki Mooney, and Sara Sundby.

Determining second and third place winners proved to be challenging as two Lincoln High School teams tied and had to go to the tie-breaker questions to determine placement. Members of the second place team are Ben Worker, Andre Thibodeau, John Mickelson, Chris Mickelson, and Jason Swenson. Third place team members are Jeremy Anderson, Chris Nelson, Nathan Browning, Alex McIntyre, and Ben Lofgren.

The media team, which placed fourth, includes Curt Quesnel, Davin Halvorson, Bob Halvorson, and Linda Ottesen, all employees of KKAQ/KKDQ Radio in Thief River Falls.

In addition to the schools already mentioned, the annual competition included teams from Greenbush/Middle River, Roseau, Tri-County, Warren/Alvarado/Oslo, Badger, and Kittson County Central.

Envirothons are problem solving natural resource competitions for high school students. In most states, Conservation District Associations, local conservation districts, and cooperating state and federal resource agencies sponsor the events.

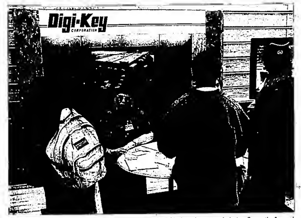
The top three teams from Lincoln High School qualified to compete in the state Envirothon competition that will be held on Tuesday, May 21, at Camp Miller on Sturgeon Lake near Moose Lake.

Auditions to be held for Into the Woods

Mark your calendars for the Fosston Community Theater's June 27-30 summer production of the musical "Into the Woods," which won three Tony awards. Music and lyrics are by Stephen Sondheim and the book by James Lapine.

Many familiar fairy tale characters are included as the baker and his wife set out to break a curse. As they go "into the woods," they meet Little Red Riding Hood and the wolf, Rapunzel, Cinderella, a witch, Jack with his beanstalk, a standard charming prince, and many others. However, not everything ends with happily ever after and the characters must learn to deal with the consequences of their actions.

Auditions will be held Sunday, May 19, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Fosston Community Theater. The cast is large, accommodating 20 or more actors of various ages and range of singing ability. A number of strong male and female voices are needed for the leading roles. A video with the original Broadway cast is available for loan at the Fosston Community Library.



Jenny Barnside is the director, but a musical assistant for piano and vocal directing is needed. If someone is available for that position or has any questions, they are asked to contact Deb Amazi at 435-2177. This musical is being produced with a grant from the Northwest Regional Arts Council.

These are for three-year terms. Nominations will also be accepted from the floor.

NCTC Music Dept. holds spring concert on Tuesday, April 30

The Music Department at Northland Community and Technical College will hold its spring concert at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, April 30, in the Northland theater. The Northland Jazz Band and the Chamber Choir will perform during the concert.

The evening begins with a performance by the Northland Jazz Band. Performances will highlight the skill of several sections, and soloists. Featured soloists will include Sarah Willis, Vanessa Anderson, Lori Sorvig, Jim Lehrer, Kathryn Nordine, and Tom Powers.

The Chamber Choir, under the direction of Linda Samuelson and Vanessa Anderson, will perform several period pieces, and feature solos by Bailey Nordine and Chuck Eaton.

There is no charge for admission to the spring concert.

John Reitmeier, president and CEO of HelpDeskGuys.com, located in Fisher, visits with individuals seeking information about employment opportunities with his company. Hundreds of individuals from throughout the region attended the Seventh Annual Northwest Minnesota Regional Job Fair held Wednesday at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls.

Newfolden woman injured in accident

Lynnette Ekman of Newfolden was taken to Northwest Medical Center in Thief River Falls following a one-vehicle roll-over near Carpenter's Corner on Thursday.

Minnesota State Patrol received a report of an accident at 12:49 p.m. Thursday, April 26 According to the State Patrol report, Ekman was driving a car west on Highway 1 when at about one half-mile west of Carpenter's Corner, she swerved the vehicle to avoid hitting an animal. Ekman over corrected, and the vehicle entered the east ditch and rolled. There was extensive damage to her car. Ekman was taken to Northwest Medical Center with an injury to her knee.

Jobs?

hired 125, but in 2002, so far, they've only hired 10. Despite the interest of in finding employment with Digi-Key on Wednesday, Finney said they didn't have any positions open. The company will probably hire more sales people in the near future, because the company is planning to add sales shifts when it goes to 24-hours a day (Sunday evening through Friday) in the near future. She explained that this will position the company to provide service to customers from the United Kingdom and Japan.

The most difficult positions for Digi-Key to fill are the part-time day shift positions. Potential employees have been more interested in full-time positions because of the need for benefits. Students have difficulty fitting part-time work into their daytime schedules.

There are other challenges for employers in northwest Minnesota, however. Finney said when the company does hire, Digi-Key wants hard working, dedicated and loyal employees who show up, on time, every day. Employees from northwestern Minnesota are generally good all-around employees who are the kind of hard-working, dedicated people they want, but Finney added the last part about showing up on time because of some of the problems that they and other employers in the region have discovered lately.

Several employers agreed, stating that they have noticed, that a new generation of employees want the security of a full-time job, but don't want, or feel like it's necessary for them to show up at work on time, or even show up at work every day when they are expected to be at work. Stated more simply, they don't seem to have the dedication to the job that older workers have.

Some of the employers also mentioned that they also don't seem to have the communication skills prospective employees used to have. At Digi-Key, for example, it's important to be able to communicate effectively with customers.

Despite the fact that there aren't as many jobs out there as there were a couple of years ago, Darrick Haugstad was not going to let this opportunity for new employment slip by without filling out several job applications. At one of the several tables in the college gymnasium, he was filling out five applications. He was not alone. Hundreds of individuals took advantage of the opportunity to seek out new jobs. These are the "early birds." As the seasons shift, pressure will mount for employees and employers, and there will be more demand for jobs.

Beating the throw to the bag, Northland runner Jenny Weiss went from first to third on a first inning single by teammate Natalie Sirjord during Tuesday's Minnesota Community College Conference softball match-up with Itasca at the Multi-Events Center. Weiss was able to slide under the tag applied by the Vikings' Andrea Thralnan. Itasca won both ends of the Northern Division doubleheader, 13-6 and 16-2.

Itasca sweeps NCTC 13-6, 16-2

Itasca solidified its hold on first place in the Northern Division with a 13-6, 16-2 Minnesota Community College Conference softball double-header sweep over Northland Tuesday at the Multi-Events Center.

The afternoon started well for the Pioneers when their first batter, Tiffany Holmes, homered in Game 1. And after falling behind 6-1, they rallied for a 6-6 fifth inning tie.

But that's when things fell apart. A two-run home run by Heather Olson ignited a seven-run top of the seventh for Itasca. An error, walk, passed ball, stolen base, and hit-batsman all contributed to the outburst.

That not only put the first game out of reach, it produced momentum that carried the Vikings to a five-inning second-game victory.

It was a disappointing home field performance, admitted Northland co-head coach Kathy Huschle. "They just didn't have much heart," she said of her team. "We made a lot of mistakes. They (Vikings) have a good team, but I think we could have played better."

Itasca started the day at 9-1 in the Northern Division and 14-1 overall. Fergus Falls sat in second place with a 7-3 MCCC record, followed by Northland 4-4, Vermilion 3-3, Mesabi Range 2-6, and Hibbing 1-7.

Itasca	042 000 7	13	7	0
Northland	103 020 0	6	11	9

Pitching - (Itasca) Lexie Geisler 7-W, (Northland) Tiffany Holmes 4, Kylie Rogalla 2-L.

Offensive highlights - (Itasca) Heather Olson 2 home runs, Kendra Roberts 2/5; (Northland) Jenny Weiss 3/4, Natalie Sirjord 3/4, Tiffany Holmes home run.

Northland	100 01	2	6	2
Itasca	345 4x	16	9	0

Pitching - (Northland) Tiffany Holmes 2-L, Kylie Rogalla 2, (Itasca) Lexie Geisler 5-W.

Offensive highlights - (Northland) Jenny Weiss 2/3; (Itasca) Heidi Zoller 2/3, Kendra Roberts 2/4.

Northern Division leaders to play in a Sunday twinbill

A Minnesota Community College Conference baseball showdown between Northern Division leaders will take place Sunday when first place Fergus Falls and second place Northland square off in a 1 p.m. doubleheader at the Multi-Events Center.

The games were moved back from an original Saturday date.

Northland's pennant bid took a hit Wednesday when the Pioneers lost a 3-1, 9-4 MCCC twinbill at Central Lakes.

The Pioneers, who are 13-5 in the Northern Division and 14-9 overall, swept the Raiders 12-2, 7-1 two weeks earlier in Thief River Falls.

"Their pitchers threw pretty well," reported Northland coach Guy Finstrom. "Usually we can jump on teams right away, then pick up a few more runs here and there and hold them off. But we just couldn't do that this time. The only time we led was 1-0 in the first game."

The two teams played in cold, snowy weather – conditions that were ripe for mis-plays on defense. "We made some errors we haven't been making this year," noted Finstrom. "We've been on a roll. But maybe now the kids realize they have to come ready to play every day."

Northland, looking to land state and region tournament berths, ends the regular season with games at Mesabi Range and Vermilion May 3 and 4.

Northland	100 000 0	1	6	2
Central Lakes	200 100 x	3	4	2

Pitching - (NCTC) Chad Stromland 6-L; (CL) Ben Jukich 7-W.

Offensive highlights - (NCTC) Aaron Schmitz 2/4, Kelsey Williscroft RBI single; (CL) John Pohlkamp RBI triple, Ara Anderson RBI double.

Northland	020 020 0	4	5	3
Central Lakes	212 022 x	9	8	1

Pitching - (NCTC) Jon Johnson 6-L; (CL) James Freeze 5-W, Dustin Burkman 2.

Offensive highlights - (NCTC) Oscar Hernandez 2-run single; (CL) Adam Hardy 2/3, home run, triple, 3 RBI.

Jason Koch is Prowlers' MVP

Jason Koch was named the most valuable player on the 2001-02 Thief River Falls boys high school basketball team during the Prowlers' April 21 awards banquet.

Joe Field was selected as the Prowlers' most improved player.

Team leaders in various statistical categories were also presented with awards, including Nick Ricks, free throws; Walter Forney, rebounds; Tyler Bosh, taking a charge; and Koch, assists.

Eric Grembowski and Koch were announced as captains of the 2002-03 Prowlers.

First year as Thief River Falls head coach for Chris McLean ended with a 59-37 Section 8AAA loss to Little Falls and a 7-16 record.

The Prowlers had troubles offensively, but they remained competitive through hard work, especially on defense.

"Throughout the season we constantly stressed two things," explained McLean. "We wanted to maintain a learning attitude, and we wanted to build a strong work ethic. If we were 17-6 or 6-17, it would have been the same speech."

The Prowlers followed instructions, according to McLean. "The kids worked hard every day," he said. "Some games we were outplayed by more physical teams and by better athletes. But we were never out-worked. From a coaching standpoint, it was a tremendous group of kids to work with. I couldn't have asked for anything more from a group of kids."

McLean said the four seniors who will be lost to graduation will be missed. "I asked the seniors to provide leadership, and they did an outstanding job in that area," he noted. "They contributed a lot to our program."

Special award winners at the 2001-02 Thief River Falls boys high school basketball banquet were Joe Field (left), who was named most improved, and Jason Koch, who was selected as the Prowlers' most valuable player.

Among the players returning next winter are Koch and Ricks, the Prowlers' top two point-producers this year with 12.0 and 10.4 scoring averages, respectively.

Off-season work will be important for the Prowlers if they want to improve, particularly on offense, according to McLean. "We gave up 55 points a game this year, which is all right," he said. "But we only scored 47 points per game, and we shot 51 percent at the free throw line. The summer will be very important for us. We have to shoot better and we have to score more points next year. They have to work on those areas in the off-season."

New name selected for large schools in Sea-Range line-up

Two-part Sea-Range Conference has separated into different entities for the 2002 high school football season, it was announced following the annual league meeting recently.

Thief River Falls, Cloquet, Hibbing, Grand Rapids, Duluth East, Duluth Central, and Duluth Denfeld will now make up the North Country Conference. They previously formed the Super Sea-Range Conference, but will no longer be affiliated with the smaller schools that lined up in the Sea-Range standings.

Games played between Super Sea-Range and Sea-Range teams counted in the two conference standings.

The Prowlers were first-year members of the Super Sea-Range Conference in 2001 when they went 6-1 in league play and finished second to Duluth Denfeld.

Formation of the North Country Conference featured a four-year commitment from each of the league members.

A major reason for Thief River Falls' affiliation with teams in northeast Minnesota was to alleviate the Prowlers' scheduling problems. As a conference member, they have six games locked in place on a yearly basis.

There will be two changes to the Thief River Falls football schedule in 2002 that should please most everyone associated with the program when former area rivals East Grand Forks and Crookston replace 2001 foes Albany and Proctor. The Thief River Falls-Albany match-up was a one-year deal. Proctor, the smallest member of the Super Sea-Range Conference, will leave that group to play the smaller Sea Range Conference schools.

East Grand Forks and Crookston were lost to the Prowlers when the Green Wave and Pirates began scheduling within their Class AAA ranks and couldn't accommodate Class AAAA Thief River Falls. But they've since worked things out, at least for the next two years.

Beyond that, Thief River Falls officials would like to get three former foes – Detroit Lakes, Bemidji, Fergus Falls – back on the schedule in the future.

Thursday weather is a factor for TRF squads

Cold temperatures and snow flurries prompted officials to call off scheduled Thursday high school outings involving the Thief River Falls baseball, softball and boys tennis teams.

The Prowlers' tennis dual at Bemidji was moved back to Friday.

A Thief River Falls softball game vs. Warroad was rescheduled to Thursday, May 9.

Thief River Falls' baseball game at Roseau was changed to Monday, May 6.

Moorhead runner Brondon Heyan crossed the plate as Thief River Falls catcher Ben Worker stretched to reach the ball during the third inning of Tuesday's Section 8AAA high school baseball game at the Multi-Events Center. Hayen scored when a throw to the plate on a sharply-hit, one-out, bases-loaded ground ball was dropped. It was the first of six runs scored that frame by the Spuds, who went on to beat the Prowlers 14-1.

Spuds cruise past Prowlers

Thanks to nine Thief River Falls errors, Moorhead had an easy time of it Tuesday in a 14-1 high school baseball win at the Multi-Events Center.

Absence of shortstop Kjell Johnsrud due to illness forced Thief River Falls coach Shane Zutz to revamp his infield, and that led to part of the Prowlers' woes on defense. But mistakes were made elsewhere, too, as two season-opening wins over area Class A competition were overshadowed by the one-sided Section 8AAA setback.

"We didn't show up to play," offered Zutz. "We weren't aggressive. We didn't make the plays. We took a step backwards as a program today."

It started in the top of the first inning when Adam Fode sent a one-out double into the left-center field gap and Cody Griffin drew a walk. Fode advanced to third on a fly ball out to right field and trotted home when a throw to second on a steal by Griffin bounced into the outfield. Griffin scored on a single down the left field line by Andrew Woodland.

Thief River Falls got one run back in the bottom of the first on a one-out walk issued to Dane Kjono, a ground ball single into right field by Caleb Crapeau and a sacrifice fly by Josh Langlie.

That was it for a Thief River Falls offense, and the Prowlers' defense went into a self-destruct mode. Four errors led to six third inning Moorhead runs and three more miscues made it 10-1 in the sixth. A four-run seventh capped off the rout.

Scoring/Innings

Moorhead	200 002 4	14	9	0
Thief River Falls	100 000 0	1	5	9

Pitching - (Moorhead) Ryan Krause 5-W, Shane Bushland 2, (TRF) Reid Sjaaheim 4 2/3-L, Gabe Carlson 2 1/3.

Offensive highlights - (Moorhead) Adam Fode 3/5, double, Chad Beiswenger triple, Jason Pieterick double, Shane Bushland 2 RBI, (TRF) Jon Forney 3/3, Mitch Pribula double.

Park Rapids Invitational...

TRF girls track team has a big point total

A second place 104-point performance in the girls' portion of Tuesday's Park Rapids Invitational high school track meet drew rave reviews from Thief River Falls head coach Tim Olson.

"I don't remember the last time we scored more than 100 points in a meet," said Olson. "I was impressed. It was a great effort."

Highlighting the Prowlers' scoring was a 30-point production in the throwing events, where Shara Guidry, Brenda Kopari and Krista Brenna went 1-2-3 in the discus, while Guidry and Brenna finished 2-3 in the shot put.

The Prowlers also got first place runs from Stacia Kalinoski in the 1600 and Erin Steva in the 400.

"To score as many points as we did, you have to have kids come up with those third-fourth-fifth-sixth places, and that's what we did," explained Olson.

Detroit Lakes won both team titles, with the girls scoring 121 1/2 points while the boys collected an almost-identical 121 points. Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton boys finished second with 99 points. Thief River Falls was fourth in a 14-team field with 68 points.

"Our boys did okay," said Olson. "It was a good effort on their part, but it just happened to be a girls day for us."

Prowlers split double-dual tennis decisions against Otters, Spuds

Thief River Falls broke into the win column for the first time while splitting double-dual decisions in Monday boys high school tennis at Moorhead.

The Prowlers took all three doubles encounters and came up with a four-match split in singles to beat Fergus Falls 5-2.

A sweep in singles carried Moorhead past Thief River Falls 4-3.

Russ Anderson (No. 2) and Justin Pyle (No. 4) were Thief River Falls singles winners against Fergus Falls. The doubles victories came from Matt Dimich-Mike Kimball (No. 1), Matt Wilson-Chris Mickelson (No. 2) and Nick Matilla-Joe Ihle (No. 3).

Those three doubles combinations produced the Prowlers' points against the Spuds.

The matches were rescheduled from an April 18 weather-forced postponement. Results put the Prowlers' dual meet record at 1-6.

Pioneers' Johnson, Rogalla earn Player of the Week honors

Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division Player of the Year honors in baseball and softball went to a pair of Northland Community and Technical College freshmen recently.

East Grand Forks' Jon Johnson won the award in baseball for his pitching exploits that produced three wins and an 0.73 earned run average for 19 innings of work over a six-day span.

The Pioneers made it a sweep of the weekly awards when Thief River Falls' Kylie Rogalla was recognized for her offensive numbers in softball as she went 7-for-15 at the plate with two doubles, two triples and two home runs.

Golfers battle cold temperature, wind

Hand warmers and mittens were needed Thursday, according to Thief River Falls boys head high school golf coach Dick Tyler, as the Prowlers joined 21 other teams at the Fergus Falls Invitational.

Led by Tom Henderson with a three-over par 75, Fargo South golfers finished 1-2-3 in the medal standings as the Bruins easily won team honors by a 324-338 margin over second place Detroit Lakes. Thief River Falls was an eighth place finisher at 350.

The Prowlers' top score was an 85 by Tommy Greelis, good for a seventh tie on the leader board.

"We were able to keep all four counting scores in the 80's," pointed out Tyler. "The cold north wind made the playing conditions difficult. It was determination by all of the competing golfers that kept the scores as low as they were."

Lightning ands golf meet

They tried to start their 2002 high school golf season Tuesday, but the Thief River Falls girls joined the rest of the field in a search for shelter when lightning brought an abrupt end to the Warren-Alvarado-Oslo quadrangular.

It was the fifth straight meet the Prowlers have lost to weather and course conditions this spring.

TRF JV SOFTBALL

■ Saturday, April 6 - Megan Berg struck out 14 batters in a 4-0 Thief River Falls win over East Grand Forks Sacred Heart.

■ Tuesday, April 10 - Thief River Falls swept Grand Forks Central 7-6, 13-11. Laura Anderson was 2-for-3 with 2 RBI in the one-run victory. Strong games were turned in by catchers Janne Owen and Kendra Mooney. Steph Haverland and Kayla Harris were the winning pitchers.

■ Monday, April 22 - Coaches in a soggy outfield by Jenny Heston and Marti Dalen highlighted Thief River Falls play in a 15-12 setback at the hands of Crookston. Kayla Harris was the losing pitcher.

Meghan Nelson signs with Southwest State

Southwest State University women's head basketball coach Kelly Kruger announced this week that Thief River Falls senior Meghan Nelson has signed a national letter of intent to play for the Mustangs in 2002-03.

A six-foot forward, Nelson averaged a team-high 12.2 points per game for the Prowlers this winter. She also led the team in steals and free throw shooting percentage, and was second on the Thief River Falls rebound charts.

"Meghan is a player who likes to create, and does a good job of getting others the ball," said Kruger in a school press release. "She handles the ball well with both her left and her right hand. She can be effective inside and outside, and is very good at facing up."

Southwest, located in Marshall, went 24-8 last year and advanced to the NCAA Division II tournament Sweet 16 for the first time in school history. The Mustangs have produced three straight 20-win seasons, back-to-back Northern Sun Intercollegiate Conference titles, two straight NCAA tournament appearance, and won the NSIC tournament title last year.

Mayville State honors two local students

Mayville State University students, Kelly Cota from St. Hilaire, and Kelly Hanson fram Thief River Falls, were among the students recognized at the Academic and Student Senate Awards program held on Campus, Sunday, April 14. Each year, the traditional program honors Mayville State students who excel in academics and/or campus leadership. It is co-sponsored hy the Mayville State Office of Academic Affairs and student senate.

Kelly Cota, St. Hilaire, was recognized for being named an NAIA All-American Scholar Athlete as a basketball player for the Comets. Kelly's parents are Roger and Bonnie Cota, St. Hilaire.

Kelly Hanson, Thief River Falls, was recognized for being named to the Dean's List. Kelly's parents are Wayne and Virginia Hanson, Thief River Falls.

Area residents attend 4-H conference

Jody Holand, Coreen Erickson and Justine Erickson of Thief River Falls attended the Minnesota 4-H Centennial Conference, Energizing the Partnerships, in Brainerd, April 12-14, and are ready to put into action what they learned at the conference.

Convened by the Center for 4-H Youth Development and the University of Minnesota, the Minnesota 4-H Adult Volunteer Association and the Minnesota Association of Extension 4-H Educators, the conference not only celebrated the 100th birthday of 4-H but also was an outstanding training and networking event for the Minnesota 4-H program. Approximately 300 youth and adult volunteer leaders and extension staff attended the conference.

"This conference was a great experience, a chance to increase our understanding of how we work together, and a chance to gather tips from a variety of people on how to do our work better," said Coreen Erickson.

Erickson also said that the conference was a very rewarding and "energizing" experience for her daughter, Justine. Justine attended classes that included: Teens Teaching Internet Skills; 4-H Jump into Fitness – Hot off the Press; Connecting with your audience; Supporting players – Student Acting Troupes use Role Play to Teach and Change Lives; Wonderwise Science Kits; and Theater Games 101 – On Stage and Off.

Justine said that the teens had a blast and she definitely wants to go again.

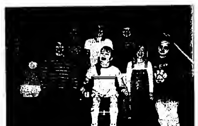
Coreen and Jody found many new leadership ideas through keynote speakers Carl Olson, who brought to life his experiences as middle school counselor, and University of Minnesota Regent Robert Bergland, who shared his experiences and the impact that 4-H has had on his life.

Coreen and Jody attended several workshops, including "Improving Our Future," "Five Steps to a Great (Leader) Relationship," "Who Wants to be a 'Super' Chaperone," "Exploring Your Environment" and "Quilts for the Community." Each had something important to share with participants.

Coreen especially enjoyed the exhibit presented by the visiting Norway delegation. They described their lives in Norway and explained that their 4-H Clubs are allowed to take only one project per year. These projects are very extensive. A hunting project would include gun safety, obtaining license registration for big game, such as elk, and scoping out and researching land available to hunt on and then the actual hunt.

Jody said the 100th year conference provided multitudes of information that increases her abilities to promote youth development in her club and community. She attended a session on "Making Your 4-H Program Survive and Thrive," for example. In this interactive session, participants explored what things help or hinder youth organizations.

In the final session, Jody attended a small grants workshop. This class focused on grant writing techniques, grant criteria and sources of funding. She states that she learned what makes or breaks a grant proposal. She looks forward to writing some grant proposals for some future 4-H community service projects.



Justine is an 8th grader at Franklin Middle School, and has been an active member of 4-H for six years.

Jody is a 4-H alumnus from the Bena Buckaroo 4-H Club in Cass County. She is an active 4-H parent and assistant club leader.

Coreen is a 4-H alumnus from the City View 4-H Club in Pennington County. She has been an active 4-H parent for the last six years.

"I loved the partnership interaction with youth and seeing both sides of the 4-H equation. I was refreshed by the energy and optimism expressed by the State 4-H Ambassadors and other youth in attendance at all my sessions. I look forward to the future of 4-H and spreading the word that 4-H is about Youth, not cows, corn and canning. I realize more than ever how important youth are in our families, clubs, communities, in our country and in our world. I encourage everyone who is interested in our future, to take time to invest in our youth," said Jody.

Student advances to international science fair

Bagley - Rebecca Krystosek of Bagley was one of four high school students selected at the 65th Minnesota Academy of Science Science Fair to advance to the Intel International Science and Engineering Fair that will be held May 12-18 in Louisville, Ky.

Krystosek's project, "A Qualitative Study of Macroinvertebrate Diversity in Stream Bionetworks, compares stream insects in the headwaters of the Clearwater, Turtle and Mississippi rivers in Clearwater and Beltrami counties. Farmers Independent

New park ranger at Hayes Lake park

Roseau - A reception welcoming Marty Torgerson as the new park ranger at Hayes Lake State Park will be held on Monday, May 6, at 7 p.m. at the park.

Prior to coming to the Roseau county park, Torgerson worked one-year stints at Split Rock Creek State Park near Pipestone and Cascade River State Park near Grand Marais. Roseau Times-Region

Lorraine Sorenson named Volunteer of the Year

Clearbrook - Lorraine Sorenson was named Volunteer of the Year at the Good Samaritan Center's annual Volunteer Recognition Banquet April 25.

Receiving special awards for accumulated hours of service were Betty Johnson, 502 hours; Karen Bowman, 103 hours; Helmer Hanson, 106 hours; Debbie Natratil, 107.5 hours; and Mayo and Lieda Rusten, 123.5 hours. The Leader-Record

Building to be used for training, practice burn

Red Lake Falls - The Champagne Apartment building on the south side of Red Lake Falls will be used by the Red Lake Falls Fire Department as a practice burn.

The Red Lake County Board of Commissioners agreed last week to let the department use the building for training purposes and a practice burn. The person who was interested in buying and renovating the building has changed his mind.

Fire Chief Dan Geller told commissioners that he will check into the possibility of grant money for training, which could include rescue and ladder drills. Red Lake Falls Gazette

Back Home Days slated for June 13-15

Hallock - Hallock's annual Back Home Days, slated for June 13-15, will feature the grand opening of "The Station," the community's new senior citizen center.

Other activities will include the Hallock Community Theater production, "See Ya At The Park," a Lions Club pancake feed, and several class reunions.

This will mark the celebration's 18th year. Kittson County Enterprise

Dayton aide listens to feedback on area border issues

Jim Gelbmann, state director for Sen. Mark Dayton, Is holding meetings this week in northwestern Minnesota to discuss border security issues. Gelbmann said in an interview Wednesday that he is hearing two distinct reports.

Gelbmann said he is hearing from law enforcement officials that we need to make sure our borders are secure, and that our relatively unguarded border is not used by individuals to enter the country and cause damage or harm to the public.

On the other hand, Gelbmann says he is hearing concern from citizens and representatives of the tourist industry that a restrictive border would cause significant damage to border town economies.

Gelbmann said he understands their concerns and will share them with the senator. He said Senator Dayton Is supporting President Bush's proposal presently in front of Congress. That proposal would provide resources to local law enforcement officials. Gelbmann said the senator wants local officials to receive the resources they need because they are used to working with local residents and understand what needs to be done. And, he said, local residents would not be intimidated by more resources being allocated to local law enforcement officials.

The proposal sets aside $10.6 million to be administered by FEMA. Gelbmann said he understands that most of the money would be dedicated for equipment and training, but could also be used for staff.

With a meetings scheduled at Warroad and Crookston this week, Gelbmann said he's looking forward to feedback from area residents about border security issues.

Northland Band to perform concert in park Monday

Northland Community Band and Thief River Falls Rotary Club will kick off the spring outdoor activities at the Floyd B. Olson Park gazebo by offering a combination picnic and concert. This special event is a celebration of the 30 years that the Northland Community Band has been performing for Thief River Falls, and surrounding communities, and an opportunity to raise money for local organizations. The event will be held at 6 p.m. on Monday, May 6.

"A Concert in the Park/Band-O-Rama" will feature the Northland Community Band, which is under the direction of Linda Samuelson. Samuelson is now in her third year as conductor of the Northland music ensembles. Three guest conductors will be taking the podium as well: Kristin Buckley, Franklin Middle School band director; Mike Lehrer, retired Franklin Middle School band director; and Les Torgerson, who was the director of the Northland Community Band for 27 years until he retired in 1999.

Adding a bit of variety will be some featured performers. Linda Samuelson will take the stage as saxophone soloist for the musical number "Tango." The trombone section, made up of Les Torgerson, Bruce Felt, Sarah Willis and Reid Froiland, will take center stage for "Two Pair of Slippers." Jane Anderson will lend her vocal talents on "America the Beautiful" with the band. As an added attraction, the Northland saxophone ensemble will be performing "Sarabande and Courante" by Archangelo Corelli and "Marche Militaire" by Franz Schubert. The members of the saxophone ensemble are Linda Samuelson, Kathryn Nordine, Tom Powers, Deb Ernst, Lon Servig and Tom Hovland.

The varied program will also be comprised of three marches penned by John Philip Sousa: "The Liberty Bell March," "Minnesota March," and the standard that all marches are judged by "The Stars and Stripes Forever." Standard wind band literature will be represented by "Shepherd's Hey" written by Grainger and "Let the Light Shine" by Frank Bencriscutto. A little taste of "serious" literature will be represented by "Coro Dei Gitani" written by Guiseppe Verdi, transcribed for band by Cesarini.

Pieces from Americana will also be included, such as "Jeanie with the Light Brown Hair," and "Wade in the Water." Two other lighter numbers on the program are "Tijuana Taxi" made famous by Herb Alpert and the Tijuana Brass and "Little Brown Jug" made famous by Glenn Miller. And to really lighten the mood, "Instance Concert" and Lawrence Milk Plays Guy Lombago" will round out the concert.

As an added attraction to the great musical performances promised, a dinner will also be served. The food will be prepared

Child in critical condition

18-month-old falls into pond

One and one-half year old Logan Gast is in critical condition at Merit Care Hospital in Fargo, N.D., after falling into a stock pond east of Argyle on Wednesday, May 1.

Marshall County Sheriff's Department received a 9-1-1 call at 6:26 p.m. Wednesday from the Steve and Vicki Gast residence in Foldahl Township east of Argyle. According to a news release from the sheriff's department, they requested an ambulance for Logan who was not breathing. Apparently, the child was outside playing when he fell into a stock pond. C.P.R. was given by family members and the Argyle Rescue Squad and Warren Ambulance were dispatched to the scene. Logan was transported to North Valley Health Center in Warren, and later transported by Life Flight helicopter to Merit Care Hospital in Fargo, N.D., where he was listed in critical condition as of Friday morning.

Judy Yutrzenka delivers her last letter

Retiring rural mail carrier Judy Yutrzenka ended a 28-year career Friday, and was honored at a retirement party at the Town and Country Cafe in Viking. Yutrzenka's routes included Route 1 out of Viking and Route 7 out of Thief River Falls. In retirement, she looks forward to camping and traveling with her husband, Tom.

As her little white Subaru pulled up to the last mailbox at rural Viking, Judy Yutrzenka marked the end of a 28-year career as a rural mail carrier Friday.

A retirement party in her honor was held yesterday afternoon (Friday, May 3) at the Town and Country Café in Viking.

Judy began her career as a substitute carrier for 11 years before becoming a full-time carrier. Before serving Route 1 in Viking and Route 7 in Thief River Falls, Judy worked in Ulen, Fergus Falls, and Argyle. Her final route encompassed 110 miles and included 425 box holders.

During her career, she was actively involved in the Minnesota Rural Letter Carriers Association. She held offices on the area, county, and state levels, including six years as a director on the state board, two years as vice president and in 1993-1995, a two-year term as state president. She was honored for her service in 1997 when the Minnesota Rural Letter Carriers Association named her Rural Carrier of the Year.

In addition to serving as an officeholder at various levels, Judy has been involved as a facilitator/trainer, first in a program that promotes self-esteem, pride in work, and positive relationships among postal workers, and recently as an Academy trainer, training newly hired employees about becoming a rural carrier.

Judy is married to Tom Yutrzenka, a semi-retired farmer, and they have five children. Patrick and his wife, Janell, reside in Bloomington. Pam and her husband, Gary Pieper, and Paulette and her husband, Jeff Pearson, all live in Warroad. Peggy and her husband, Joe Miller, are in Oklahoma, and Paul and his wife, Julie, reside in Argyle. The family also includes seven grandchildren.

Among Judy's retirement plans are camping and traveling with Tom, including time in Arizona next winter.

About her long career Judy says, "The Postal Service has been a good employer. I have enjoyed my fellow employees, and I am appreciative of the awards and certificates of appreciation I have been awarded for the many committees that I have served. There are many opportunities within our company, and I feel fortunate to have been so involved."

Friday's retirement party afforded Judy the opportunity to reminisce and share the many stories she's amassed during her many years as a rural mail carrier.

As a retiree, Judy will enjoy new adventures and move back across the car seat, taking command of the steering wheel on the left side of her vehicle again. As for the little white Subaru that's served her so well, it will continue its work, as it's already been sold and is going to its new post with a Roseau rural mail carrier today.

Northwest Beverage named TRF Business of the Year

By Kathi Carlson
Reporter

Working together to get the job done has become a Newland family tradition.

Northwest Beverage, Inc., named Thief River Falls Business of the Year by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce, will receive recognition during Small Business Week 2002 at a breakfast at the Evergreen Eating Emporium at 8 a.m. on Thursday, May 9.

The purpose of the breakfast is to honor all businesses. Also receiving special recognition will be Tony Dorn Sr., 2002 TRF Entrepreneur of the Year. Colleen Falk, director of the Small Business Development Center (SBDC) will be the guest speaker, discussing the SBDC services available for existing small businesses. The public is invited to attend. Cost of the breakfast is $7, and reservations, due by May 7, can be made with the Chamber of Commerce by calling 681-3720. In addition to the Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Small Business Week Breakfast are Job's Inc. of Thief River Falls and the Thief River Falls Small Business Development Center.

Shawn Newland is the owner and president of Northwest Beverage. Working with Shawn are her brother, Griffin, vice president, his wife, Kerry, and Shawn and Griffin's mother, Darlene. General manager LeRoy Jensen has been with the company for 22 years. There are also currently seven other full-time employees, two part-time, and two seasonal employees who work for the company.

Northwest Beverage is the franchised distributor of Anheuser-Busch and Pabst products in six counties in northwestern Minnesota and the distributor of Premium Waters, Inc. products in 12 counties.

Northwest Beverage was purchased by John G. Newland, and his father, Lloyd, in 1957. Started in 1945, the company was originally located in a small warehouse on Pennington Avenue South that it shared with Thief River Falls Jobbing Company. The business was incorporated in 1971, and in 1975, a major expansion took place when a large warehouse was built. The 1,500 square foot loading dock area that was added in 1985 brought the facility to 19,000 square feet.

Continued growth and vision for the future were among the reasons a new building was constructed in 2001. Groundbreaking took place in June, and the structure was ready for occupancy in January. The new building is located in the Industrial Park southwest of Arctic Cat and Digi-Key and features 7,670 square feet of office space and warehouse space that totals 26,400 square feet. In addition to the needed space, the new facility also provides ease for the company's trucks, which were constantly faced with traffic challenges at the Pennington Avenue location. One of the many features of the new building is its ability to be easily added on to when future growth warrants expansion.

Currently, four beer delivery trucks, two water delivery trucks, and two sales vans serve Northwest Beverage's customers. Beverages offered by Northwest Beverage include Budweiser, Bud Light, Bud Dry, Michelob, Michelob Light, Busch, Busch Light, Natural Light, Schmidt, Schmidt Light, Stroh's, Stroh's Light, Old Milwaukee, and Old Milwaukee Light beer products and Kandiyohi and Chippewa bottled water products.

Bottled water products were added in 1992. Setting up more than 150 accounts in a few months time, the late Dean Dokken, a Northwest Beverage sales representative, is credited with having gotten the bottle water business off to a good start.

Premium Waters products include the Kandiyohi and Chippewa labels, and the company is based in Willmar. Using the latest technology, its water is purified by distillation with a mineral injection system used to create what Premium Waters claims to be the difference in its product. As bottled water becomes the beverage of choice, additional growth is expected in the industry during the next few years with Northwest Beverage planning expansion of its bottled water business this summer.

The year 2002 marks the 150th anniversary of Anheuser-Busch, the St. Louis-based company that has grown to be the nation's largest brewery. As large discount chains have become prevalent across the country, Shawn says, Anheuser-

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

Today's recipes are also from my Mount St. Benedict cookbook - some more ideas for your May celebrations.

These would be pretty nice to serve for that family gathering - sa tasty - just like the ones you buy:

UNCOOKED FRUIT CARAMELS
Sr. Gabriel LaCoursiere

1 cup seeded raisins
1/2 cup dried apricots
1/2 cup dried figs
1 cup pitted dates
1/2 cup candied orange peel
6 candied cherries
1 cup walnuts
3 tablespoons orange juice
Confectioner's sugar

Wash apricots, raisins and figs. Put the apricots, raisins, figs and the dates, orange peel, cherries and walnuts through food chopper. Add enough orange juice to hold fruit and nuts together, mixing well.

Press into greased 8x8 inch pan. Refrigerate overnight. Cut into squares and roll in confectioner's sugar. Store covered in refrigerator until ready to put on serving plate. Let stand a little while to warm up.

These pretty cookies will look so pretty on a dessert tray, and they'll taste so good:

BON-BON COOKIES
Sr. Rose Marie Boucher

1/2 cup soft butter
3/4 cup powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-1/2 cups flour, sifted
1/8 teaspoon salt
Food coloring, if desired
Fillings, like chocolate chips, nut, cherry, date filling or other ideas you might have

Heat oven to 350 degrees.

Cream butter, sugar and vanilla. Blend in flour and salt thoroughly with hands. Add food coloring if desired.

Wrap one level teaspoon of dough around filling.

Bake 1 inch apart on ungreased baking sheet in 350 degree oven for 12-15 minutes. Dip tops of warm cookies in icing.

Icing:
1 cup sifted powdered sugar
2 tablespoons cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
Food coloring

For chocolate frosting add 1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted, and use 1/4 teaspoon cream

APRICOT BARS
Sr. Christine Sitta

Crust:
3/4 cup butter
1-1/2 cups flour
1/3 cup sugar

Mix flour and sugar. Cut butter into the mixture as if making pie crust. Pat into bottom of 9x13 inch pan. Bake 25 minutes at 350 degrees.

Filling:
1 1/2 cup brown sugar
3/4 teaspoon baking powder
3 eggs
1 cup dried apricots
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup walnuts, chopped
Rum flavoring

Cook apricots for 10 minutes. Drain, cool and chop into small pieces.

Beat eggs well. Add sugar.

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add to egg mixture. Add walnuts, rum flavoring and apricots.

Spread mixture on top of baked crust and return to oven to bake an additional 30 minutes or until set. Frost with a powdered sugar and water frosting.

This bar recipe makes a big bunch - just right for that after-graduation crowd:

COCONUT BARS
Sr. Lioba Kelner

2 cups sugar
1 cup butter
4 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1-1/2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-1/2 cups coconut
1-1/2 cup nuts, chopped
1 (7 ounce) jar marshmallow crème

Cream shortening, sugar, eggs and vanilla. Sift flour and salt. Add flour and salt to egg mixture, along with coconut and nuts. Mix well. Spread in greased and floured 11x17 pan (or one 8 inch pan plus a 9x13 pan).

Bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes. Remove from oven and spread with marshmallow crème. Cool and frost with Chocolate Frosting (below).

Chocolate Frosting:
2-1/2 cups powdered sugar
1/4 cup milk
1/2 cup butter, softened
1/4 cup cocoa
Dash of salt

Combine above and mix well. Spread over cooled bars.

I love lemon bars and they are so festive for spring serving:

LEMON BARS
Sr. Helen Bedard

2 cups flour
1 cup butter
1/2 cup powdered sugar
2 cups sugar
4 eggs, beaten
4 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup lemon juice

Mix 2 cups flour, butter and powdered sugar. Pat into 9x13 inch pan. Bake 20 minutes at 350 degrees.

Combine sugar, eggs, 4 tablespoons flour, baking powder and salt with lemon juice. Beat smooth. Pour over cooked crust and bake at 350 degrees for 20-25 minutes more.

When cool, sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Protect your savings long term
Almost one in two Americans will spend some time in a nursing home after age 65. Now is the time to start protecting yourself and your loved ones.
• Medicare does not cover custodial care.
• The average length of a nursing home stay is two and a half years.
• Nursing home costs average $50,000 per year
I can help you determine whether long-term care insurance is an option for you and provide you with information on plans, costs and available options. For more information on how to protect yourself against the rising costs of long-term care, call or stop by my office today.

Benefit dinner held for two local teachers

A benefit dinner, consisting of burger and fries, and a bake and craft sale, and silent auction, will be held for two long-time employees of the Thief River Falls School District Carol Moschner, and Helen Beito.

The benefit will be hosted by employees of the Thief River Falls public schools. The benefit will be held from 4:30 to 7 p.m. on Tuesday, May 7, at the Lincoln High School cafeteria. The cost for dinner will be $5.

Carol Moschner, started at the St. Hilaire school, moved to Northrop, then to Challenger. She retired last year as secretary at the Alternative Learning Center located in the School District Service Center.

Helen Beito, started at Lincoln High School and has worked as an educational assistant at Franklin Middle School, Mark Twain and Knox elementary school, and has worked at Challenger Elementary School since it opened.

Helen is currently residing at the Karlstad Nursing Home and Carol is recovering at home from surgery with more surgeries to be schedaled. Both have extensive on-going medical expenses. If you are not able to attend, donations can be made payable to Beito/Moschner Benefit and sent to Jodi Bergman, Thief River Falls, 230 LaBree Avenue South, Thief River Falls.

Matching funds have been applied for from Lutheran Brotherhood and Aid Association to Lutherans. Matching funds granted by AAL Branches 9590, 10653, and LB Branch 8129.

A donation box will also be available for Fred Mylkeby, long-time transportation director for the schools. Fred is recovering at his home with help from Suzie.

Temperance society holds annual meeting

Marshall County Temperance Society will hold its annual meeting on Sunday, May 5, at 2:30 p.m. at New Hope Lutheran Church in Newfolden. Pastor Oliver Urdahl will be the speaker. Coffee will be served, and the public is invited to attend.

Extension Service and MHFA offer homebuyer series

Buying a home is one of the most important decisions that a person makes today. In order to prepare homebuyers for this important step, the University of Minnesota Extension Service and Minnesota Housing Financing Agency (MHFA) will offer a "Home Stretch" Homebuyer Workshop on Thursdays, May 9, 16, and 23.

The workshops will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m. in room 703 at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls. The sessions are designed for first-time homebuyers of low to moderate income, homeowners who are ready to finance a contract for deed, or persons interested in exploring the possibilities of homeownership.

Participants will gain a thorough understanding of the home buying process, including how much they can afford to spend, eliminating the barriers of homeownership, and what kinds of mortgage assistance programs are available. Various speakers from agencies or companies that work with homebuyers will present the material and answer questions.

A certificate of completion will be provided to participants attending all three sessions. Many lending programs now require completion of a homebuyer workshop to be eligible for their mortgage products.

The registration fee for the workshop is $15 per household. To receive a registration brochure with additional information, call the Pennington County Extension Office at (218) 683-7030 or 1-800-681-2116. Registration deadline is Monday, May 6.

Cedar 4-H Club of Middle River will be holding a food drive for the Middle River Food Shelf on Saturday, May 11, 2002.

Empty plastic bags will be dropped off on front doors in the town of Middle River on Saturday, May 4th. Please donate non-perishable food items. Cedar 4-H members will pick up the full bags of 9.00 a.m. on Saturday, May 11th.

A drop box will also be available in the hallway of the Spruce Valley Community Center for non-perishable food donations.

Cash donations are welcome. Make check payable to the Middle River Food Shelf and mail before May 6 to: Mindy Bukowski, 18360 350th St. NE, Middle River, MN 56737

Please support your local food shelf and your local 4-H Club. Thank You!

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Nonsense can be a bit taxing

Sometimes public policy initiatives can go a bit too far. An editorial in the Rapid City Journal described a tax initiative in California, for example, that would impose a tax of 2 cents per can of soda and study the feasibility of taxing junk food. Granted, Californians are known for being "out in left field," but even by those standards this was probably composed in outer space.

The purpose of the bill is to discourage, through public policy (taxation), the consumption of soft drinks and junk food. Purportedly this would decrease the consumption of these foods and address a serious health issue in the United States – obesity. Dbesity is a serious problem. In fact a study reports that 300,000 Americans die every year because of obesity-related illness.

Whatever happened to taking responsibility for actions clearly within our sphere of self-control, or exercise being the path to fitness? No, let's blame the manufacturers, and force our will on others through taxation.

As the Rapid City Journal and the Libertarian Party pointed out, "Dur eating habits shouldn't be the government's business – and politicians shouldn't be allowed to raid our refrigerators or tax our Twinkies in the name of so-called public health."

The Rapid City Journal editorial board tackled practical applications of the issue, and questioned whether two cents per can would discourage any consumption; and, it pointed out that unlike other items subject to "sin taxes," "junk foods consumed by one person do not affect the health or safety of other people, such as drunken drivers killing other motorists or pedestrians and second-hand smoke causing cancer in nonsmokers."

And the veil of silliness is lifted; but, it makes you wonder what silliness could be next. . .

The sky is the limit. We might, for example, propose to the Minnesota legislature to impose a tax on exercise and exercise equipment. Lets face it, when many of us see exercise finatics, feelings of inadequacy and a guilt overcome many us, and force us to delve into such self-destructive tendencies as eating a whole box of Twinkies; their pedding, pushing and jogging cause unnecessary wear and tear on our SUV tires when we swerve to miss them; and their fit, muscular bodies and fierce competitiveness cause us to watch them on television for hours on end. We've become a nation of obese couch potatoes and it's all because of exercise fanatics. They're a hazard to our health, and they ought to be taxed. We could use the tax dollars we collect from them to support the cost of counseling millions for their feelings of inadequacy. That's the way to solve the obesity problem in this nation.

If the proposal to tax exercise equipment and fitness facilities fails, maybe a proposal to tax the nonsense written by overworked, sarcastic editors will work.

Arbor Day celebrated in Thief River Falls on May 7

City Forester John Johnson informed the city council on Tuesday that the community had been awarded the Tree City USA award for the 14th year in a row.

The Tree City USA program, sponsored by The National Arbor Day Foundation in cooperation with the USDA Forest Service and the National Association of State Foresters, provides direction, technical assistance, public attention, and national recognition for urban and community forestry programs in thousands of towns and cities that more than 93 million Americans call home.

To qualify as a Tree City USA community, a community must have a tree board or department, a tree care ordinance, a forestry department with a budget of at least $2 per capita, and an Arbor Day observance. John Johnson, who has announced his plans to retire this spring, has made a conscientious effort to make sure this community fits those requirements. His efforts have increased the knowledge about trees in our lives, and set in motion a desire to know about our environment. One result is the fact that people seem to have taken an ownership of the trees in the community. Whenever a tree-trimming operation begins, for example, residents are quick to respond in an effort to protect their trees. In any event, the effort to educate the community translates into better care of our trees.

Dn Tuesday, May 7, the community will celebrate Arbor Day. While nationally Arbor Day was celebrated on Friday, April 26, our knowledge of our environment tells us that a later date for this region of the state would be more appropriate. And so, on Tuesday, May 7, at 6 p.m., the community will plant a tree in observance of Arbor Day, at the Third Street boat landing park. The public is invited and encouraged to attend.

According to the National Arbor Day Foundation, the first Arbor Day was celebrated in the state of Nebraska in 1872, in response to a state proclamation urging settlers and homesteaders in that prairie state to plant trees that would provide shade, shelter, fruit, fuel, and beauty for residents of the largely treeless plains.

Dn that first Arbor Day, more than one million trees were planted in Nebraska's communities and on its farms. The Arbor Day idea was promoted by J. Sterling Morton, editor of the Nebraska City News, who later helped the idea spread to neighboring states and eventually to all of the United States and many other nations.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

The Amtrak system must not be further reduced in size. On the contrary, it must be expanded. Both highways and airports are badly congested; but no matter how much government money is poured into building roads and expanding airports, we still have congestion. Further shrinking of Amtrak will not solve this problem, but getting more people into trains would help to reduce it.

The United States' transportation policy is totally inconsistent. Since 1980, federal funding for highways has increased 106 percent (doubled); and for aviation, it has increased 130 percent (more than double); but for Amtrak, it has decreased 65 percent. These figures are adjusted for inflation.

The amount of funding for Amtrak is a mere pittance, compared with Government funding for airways and highways. Comparing U.S. Government funding for Amtrak with other developed countries' funding for their railroad passenger service, shows Amtrak funding to be totally inadequate, yet even with this meager funding, Amtrak patronage increases most years. With adequate funding, our passenger train service would go much further toward reducing congestion, as well as giving tens of thousands of tax-paying Americans, whose preferred mode is train travel, for its comfort, relaxation, proximity to natural environment and its safety, more opportunity to exercise their preference.

The fatalities per passenger-mile of rail travel, compared with air and highway travel, have always greatly favored the rail mode. Now this contrast is even greater since the September 11 disaster, which has caused even more people to fear flying.

Sincerely,
John J. Bowman, Jr.

Roseau River WMA drive open May 4

The seven-mile wildlife drive on the Roseau River Wildlife Management Area, located 20 miles northwest of Roseau, will open to the public on the weekend of May 4 and 5 from one hour before sunrise to one hour after sunset each day. The drive completely encircles the Pool One East Sanctuary offering motorists a chance to enjoy the spring waterfowl migration and see a variety of other wildlife as it traverses wetland, woodland, brushland and farmland habitat.

A portion of the wildlife drive is one-way traffic only. The recommended entry point is the main dike road, one and three quarters miles south of the RRWMA headquarters, on Roseau County Road 3. Motorists are urged to use caution because of narrow dike roads, soft shoulders and deep ditches. The speed limit on all WMA roads is 20 miles per hour. Other dike roads leading to pools two and three and to the roads on the west end of the WMA will also be open if conditions permit.

Inclement weather may require closing the dike roadways. Motor vehicles licensed for use on public highways are legal to operate on the WMA dike roads on May 4 and 5.

For more information, please call the Roseau River Wildlife Management Area office at 218-463-1557.

Thank You

We would like to thank everyone who made the benefit for Jan Hanis a huge success. It was wonderful to see her friends and family come together to make it all possible. God has blessed us all by bringing her into our lives, and for that we are truly grateful.

A special thank you goes out to Zion Lutheran Church for the use of their facility to prepare and host the benefit, and to Abundant Life AAL Branch #10450 for their matching funds. We are also grateful to Mitch's co-workers for their contributions and organization of the silent auction.

Finally, all of this would not be possible if it were not for all of the area businesses and organizations that made donations. For your contribution to the success of this benefit, we are extremely thankful.

With Deepest Gratitude,
Jan's friends and coworkers

Border Bancshares completes First National Bank purchase

Effective April 25, 2002, Border Bancshares, Inc., purchased First National Bank. First National Bank, with offices in Thief River Falls and Middle River, will continue to operate under their new owners, Border Bancshares, Inc., with little change at this time.

"First National Bank will continue to operate with the same staff as they have in the past, except for the departure of Curtis J. Neumann, president, and Scottie E. Peterson, vice president, who are pursuing other banking and business ventures," said Robert J. Hager, CEO of Border Bancshares, Inc.

Over the next year, Border State Bank and First National Bank will be aligned to offer the same products and services in all seven bank locations. Being able to bank at any of the locations will be an added convenience for the customer, said Hager.

"The change in ownership to Border Bancshares is a well thought-out process to ensure the best interests of our First National employees and customers," said Curtis J. Neumann, former president of First National Bank. "Border Bancshares owns Border State Banks. They have a strong commitment to the community and that is why we are confident in this change in ownership."

"Committed to the customer and the community, Border State Bank and First National Bank share many of their top priorities. At Border State Bank, our three main objectives are to best serve our customers, communities, and employees," said Hager. "With the needs of the communities continuing to grow in our trade area, this will assist us in servicing those needs with higher lending limits and expertise."

Border Bancshares, Inc., a holding company owned by Northern Minnesota business owners and residents, owns Border State Bank with locations in Roseau, Badger, and Baudette; Border State Bank of Greenbush; and Border State Bank of International Falls. Border State Banks have approximately $140 million in combined assets. First National Bank is approximately $45 million in assets, for a combined asset base of $185 million.

Residents of Thief River Falls and many areas in northwestern Minnesota woke up to an "unpleasant" May Day surprise. Fortunately, most of the snow had melted by mid day.

MDA to offer "Biodiesel 101" education course

The Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA), along with the Agricultural Utilization Research Institute (AURI), the Minnesota Soybean Growers Association (MSGA) and Minnesota Soybean Research and Promotion Council (MSRPC), has developed an educational task force to inform stakeholders about the developing biodiesel industry and future opportunities.

After several years of discussion, the 2002 Minnesota Legislature passed a bill mandating a two percent blend of biodiesel in each gallon of petroleum diesel fuel sold in the state with limited exceptions. This action has led to significant interest in biodiesel production. Minnesota will require 16 million gallons of biodiesel every year at the two percent mandated level. But where will it come from and who will manufacture it?

To answer those questions and more, a series of informative "Biodiesel 101" presentations have been scheduled:

• May 13, 1 p.m., Northland Community College (Theater), Thief River Falls
• May 14, 9 a.m., West Central Initiative, 1000 Western Avenue, Fergus Falls
• May 14, 3 p.m., Initiative Foundation, 405 First Street SE, Little Falls
• May 20, 9 a.m., South Central Technical College cafeteria, Faribault
• May 20, 3 p.m., Windom Community Center Room 120, Windom

These pre-assessment sessions will include information on what the state and federal laws mean, where federal legislation is headed, what is needed to make biodiesel, the national marketing scenario and more. There will also be information about a statewide feasibility study that will examine biodiesel markets, product costs and evaluation of processing scenarios.

If you have questions about the presentations, please contact Kurt Markham at 651-296-6382, or by email at kurt.markham@state.mn.us.

Altru Pastoral Services holds service, burial

Chaplains of Altru's Pastoral Services team will conduct a memorial service today (Saturday, May 4) at 10 a.m. at Babyland in Calvary Cemetery in Grand Forks. The service of remembrance is for anyone who has been involved in a miscarriage, including family members, friends, and health care workers.

The service will consist of the commendation and burial of remains from miscarriages that have occurred in the past six months. In the event of inclement weather, the service will be held at the chapel located in the center of the cemetery.

Don't buy a lemon.

They don't do well in our area. Instead, choose from the many fruit-bearing plants proven hardy in our area over the years. Here are a few of the best:

LUNCHBOX APPLES

The hardiest apples for our area are the delicious Centennial and Chestnut. Their smaller size and sweet taste makes them both ideal for snacking.

The Centennial usually bears apples the second year after planting, even on small trees. Its fruits are egg-sized and egg shaped. They ripen early August, and work in pies without peeling.

The Chestnut apple is the very best eating apple for this area. Everyone who owns one loves it. The apples can exceed two-inches across. They ripen in September.

NEW! A CHERRY FOR OUR AREA!

The Bali Cherry, new from Alberta, Canada, survives winters to -54°. The cherries are a beautiful bright red and are mild tasting. The tree is attractive, with glossy dark green leaves and distinctive bark. Limited supply available.

MOW-DOWN RASPBERRIES

The Red Wing raspberry, introduced by the University of Minnesota, bears on new canes. Therefore, if you like, you can mow down the old ones. Or, you can leave a few up for an early crop of berries.

The Red Wing bear from late August through frost. Their berries form clusters at the end of the branches for easy picking. The berries are mild and juicy.

Partners at No. 3 doubles, Thief River Falls freshmen Joe Ihle (left) and Jan Keys kept their eyes on the ball during a volley in Thursday's Northwest Quad boys high school tennis meet hosted by the Prowlers. They were dressed for the weather, which included cool temperatures and a strong, bone-chilling wind.

TRF drops one-run ball games

Despite banging out 31 hits and scoring 19 runs, Thief River Falls dropped back-to-back one-run games in high school baseball trips to Detroit Lakes and Warroad.

Detroit Lakes spotted Thief River Falls leads of 5-0 and 8-6, but won 9-8 Friday (April 26).

Warroad fell behind 6-0, rallied for a 6-6 tie, watched Thief River Falls score five runs in the top of the seventh, then came back with a half-dozen runs in the bottom of the inning to win 12-11 Monday.

Inability of the pitchers to throw strikes cost the Prowlers against the Lakers, according to Thief River Falls coach Shane Zutz. "We played pretty well offensively and defensively," he said. "We need to throw strikes at the start of the inning. When you let two or three guys get free passes, it only takes a couple of hits and you hand back the runs you just scored."

And it was more of the same against Warroad, pointed out Zutz. "This game mirrored the Detroit Lakes game," he noted. "We were in command, had a letdown, and let them come back. Again, we didn't throw strikes when we needed to."

The Prowlers' early advantage over the Lakers began with a third inning bases-loaded double by Ben Weigelt that scored two runs. Jon Forney and Reid Sjaaheim followed with RBI singles, and Garrett Hoglo brought home a run with a ground-out.

After giving up six runs in the bottom of the third, Thief River Falls came back with a three-run sixth off another bases-loaded situation. This time, Josh Langlie drove in two runs with a single and Kjell Johnsrud, who had walked, scored on a passed ball.

The Lakers again answered the challenge by scoring three times in their next at-bat on three walks and a pair of hits.

Thief River Falls' Ben Worker was 3-for-4 at the plate with a pair of doubles against Detroit Lakes.

Three days later, Caleb Crapeau, Dane Kjono, Sjaaheim, and Langlie had three hits apiece in the Thief River Falls offensive show against Warroad.

But the Prowlers couldn't hold on at the end. The final-inning Warroad rally was fueled by three walks, an error and a hit-batsman before Tony Selvog and Kent Peterson came through with two-run doubles for the win.

"It's tough to bang out 19 hits and lose," acknowledged Zutz. "We need to step up and finish teams when they are down."

Otters-Prowlers contest called off a second time

A scheduled Wednesday Thief River Falls vs. Fergus Falls North Sub-Section 8AAA high school baseball game at the Multi-Events Center was called off because of the weather. It was the second time the contest was scratched due to the conditions.

Fergus Falls sweeps Prowlers

■ Otters win North Sub-Section 8AAA softball match-up

Fergus Falls used momentum from a come-from-behind bottom of the seventh inning 6-5 first-game victory to rack up a 10-run rule 12-1 five inning second-game triumph Tuesday in a North Sub-Section 8AAA high school softball doubleheader sweep against visiting Thief River Falls.

The Prowlers started the day in fine fashion, scoring four times in their first at-bat of the afternoon. They carried a 5-0 lead into the bottom of the fourth inning in Game 1 and were clinging to a 5-4 advantage going into the final frame.

But Fergus Falls tied it on a one-out RBI single by Jessica Holicky and, after drawing a two-out walk, won it on Sarah Sarine's second double of the game.

Thief River Falls' first inning success included a run-scoring wild pitch, RBI singles by Stacy Harbott and Kayla Loe, then an error that allowed the fourth run of the inning to cross the plate.

A second inning single by Laura Anderson scored the fifth Thief River Falls run in Game 1.

"We let this one get away from us," said Thief River Falls coach Matt Okeson. "We let the momentum turn in the fourth and fifth innings, and could not get it back. Offensively we put the ball in play, but we left too many people on base."

Thief River Falls had another lead in Game 2, but it was a short-lived 1-0 edge that disappeared in the bottom of the first inning. Sarine, who was 3-for-3, homered as the Otters doubled a six-run output in the fifth to put an early end to things.

"We did not come out ready to

Strong outing is turned in by TRF boys golf squad

Best Thief River Falls showing of the 2002 season netted the Prowlers a fourth place finish in the 21-team Bagley-Fosston Invitational boys high school golf tournament Monday.

East Grand Forks turned in a first place 295, followed by Fosston and Warroad at 311, and Thief River Falls with a 312.

"We played our best golf of the year," said Thief River Falls coach Dick Tyler following the Prowlers' sixth tournament outing of the spring. "We had three scores in the 70's, and the fourth counting score of 80. These are the scores we were expecting this year."

Tyler Severtson of East Grand Forks took home medal honors with a one-over par 72. Thief River Falls' Paul Sjoberg was one of four golfers sharing second place at 74.

Joseph Haj and Brady Stanley both finished with a 79 for the Prowlers, and one bad hole, pointed out Tyler, put Tommy Greelis at 80 instead of joining his Thief River Falls teammates in the 70's.

The other two Thief River Falls entries had their moments, too, according to Tyler. "Both Matt Nordhagen and Corey LaSalle had good nine-hole totals, but were a little higher on the other nine," he explained.

Bagley-Fosston Invitational

■ Team totals - East Grand Forks 295, Fosston 311, Warroad 311, Thief River Falls 312, Lake of the Woods 316, Roseau 322, Ada-Borup/Norman County East 324, Red Lake Falls/Plummer 327, Win-E-Mac 320, Crookston 330, Warren-Alvarado-Oslo 334, Fertile-Beltrami 352, Bagley 356, Blackduck 375, Walker-Hackensack-Akeley 375, Kelliher/Northome 381, Norman County West 383, Fosston JV 389, Waubun 330, Mahnomen 417, Clearbrook-Gonvick 424.

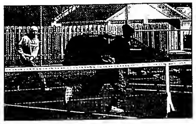
■ Medalist - 1. Tyler Severtson, EGF, 72; 2. (tie) Kyle Schantzen, EGF; Tom Solem, EGF; Paul Sjoberg, TRF; Cory Ruud, Lake of the Woods, 74.

■ Other TRF scores - Joseph Haj 79, Brady Stanley 70, Tommy Greelis 80, Corey LaSalle 83, Matt Nordhagen 84.

Goodridge senior signs...

Casey Jones will play basketball career with Minnesota-Crookston

Goodridge High School basketball standout Casey Jones has signed a national letter of intent to play at the University of Minnesota-Crookston in 2002-03.



Jones is a 6-9, 215-pound center who scored over 1,000 points and grabbed over 500 rebounds for the Huskies.

During his high school career, Jones was named all-conference by both Polar and North Tri-County coaches; an all-Sub-Section 31A selection; an all-tournament pick and MVP of the Northland Community and Technical College Invitational.

He was also chosen as the Goodridge team MVP.

Golden Eagles coach Gary Senske was excited to announce the signing of his latest recruit. "Casey will probably have his best years of basketball in front of him," he said. "He has a soft shooting touch, can run the floor very well, and he passes well. He is a physical player who will develop into a very fine college athlete. We look forward to working with Casey and having him in our program."

The University of Minnesota-Crookston is a member of the NCAA Division II Northern Sun Conference.

Thief River Falls runs meet without seniors

Seniors were missing from the Thief River Falls line-ups Tuesday when the Prowlers showed up at the Crookston VFW Invitational boys and girls high school track meet.

Minus the upperclassmen, who were home to attend their senior banquet, Thief River Falls girls finished fifth and the Thief River Falls boys were seventh in the 15-team event. Warroad boys and Crookston girls won team titles.

Thief River Falls girls received first place performances from Shara Guidry in the shot put and a 4x400 relay team of Brittany Haviland, Cami Hendrickson, Stacia Kalinoski, and Erin Steva.

Green Wave takes tennis title

East Grand Forks emerged the team champion in a very balanced field that made up the annual Northwest Quad Thursday in Thief River Falls, ending a nine-year Crookston run as winner in the 36th edition of the boys high school tennis meet that rotates sites on a yearly basis.

Bemidji went home with titles at No. 2, 3 and 4 singles; East Grand Forks had winners at No. 1 singles and No. 3 doubles, while Crookston players finished on top at No. 1 and 2 doubles.

Team-wise, East Grand Forks finished with 14 points, Bemidji 11, Crookston 9, and Thief River Falls 8.

In singles, the winners were Jon Kuntz, East Grand Forks, No. 1; Peder Engelstad, Bemidji, No. 2; Trever Potter, Bemidji, No. 3; and Jon Konecne, Bemidji, No. 4.

Doubles champions were Tyler Derosier-Eric Buchmeier, Crookston, No. 1; Tim Anderson-Derek Martin, Crookston, No. 2; and Derek Hanson-Josh Frovarp, East Grand Forks, No. 3.

"There were a lot of close tennis matches," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "The team results were very close, and considering the number of matches that were decided in third set tie-breakers, each team could have easily won or lost three or four more matches."

Top Thief River Falls finishes were runner-up efforts by Jason Swenson, No. 3 singles; and Matt Wilson-Chris Mickelson, No. 1 doubles.

"I was happy with the way our kids competed," said Hanestad. "We did some juggling in our line-up today so that we could see some of our players in different positions and evaluate how they would respond. As a team, we would really like to win a tournament like the quad, but if we lose and it helps us determine a better line-up for sections, then so be it. Our focus all year has been to prepare for the section tournament."

Otters win softball doubleheader against Prowlers by 6-5 and 12-1

play the second game," offered Okeson. "It was our first doubleheader of the year, and it was a good learning experience for some of the girls who have not played at this level. We were not mentally prepared, and we showed it by committing four errors and losing by 11 runs. Come tournament time we will play two games in one day, so we need to be able to adjust quickly."

The Prowlers picked up just one base hit off Heather Barry in the nightcap – a first inning single by Hruby. "We struggled with this pitcher," noted Okeson. "She was slower than the pitcher in Game 1, but we did not adjust."

Results pushed the Otters' record to 9-1 and dropped the Prowlers to 1-5.

The Prowlers are in the middle of a busy schedule that calls for eight games in nine days.

and served by the Thief River Falls Rotary Club. Food donations from Deans Foods and Pepsi helped set the menu of brats, hot dogs, beans, chips, milk, pop and ice cream.

The picnic and concert will be held at 6 p.m. on Monday, May 6 at the Floyd B. Olson Park, home of the gorgeous city gazebo on Third Street. In case of poor weather, the event will be moved to the city auditorium. Money raised from this event will be split between the BMX Rollerpark and Northland Band Travel Fund.

Members of Northland Community Band include: Flutes – Kristin Buckley, Sarah Engelsrud and Judy Whaley of Thief River Falls, and Pamela Genereux of Warroad; Bassoon – Jan Klopp of Thief River Falls; Clarinet – Ben Erickson, Susie Koland, and Suzanne Steidl of Thief River Falls, Daniel Hellerud of Karlstad, Erin Otto of Clearbrook, and Marlo Paulson of Red Lake Falls; Bass Clarinet – Lori Hovland from Fertile; Saxophone – Kathryn Nordine of Goodridge, Tom Powers, Deb Ernst of Thief River Falls, Lori Sorvig from St. Hilaire and Tom Hovland from Fertile; Trumpet – Susan Anderson from Karlstad, Bob Apostal, Mike Gilbertson, Mike Lehrer, Jessien Lilja, Marshe Lubitz, Tracy Nelson, LeRoy Ose and Luke Torgerson from Thief River Falls; Horn – Bob Dahlen of Goodridge, Dick Houtkooper and Lindsey Retumdh from Clearbrook; Trombone – Bruce Felt, Les Torgerson, and Sarah Willis from Thief River Falls, and Reid Froiland from Crookston; Baritone – Jim Lehrer from Thief River Falls; Percussion – Edie Brandli and John Danielson from Thief River Falls, and Nancy Plummer of Fosston.

Northwest Beverage, Inc. moved into its new facility in the Thief River Falls Industrial Park in January. The business, owned by Shawn Newland, is a distributor of Anhauser-Busch and Pabst beverage products to six northwestern Minnesota counties and Premium Waters bottled water to 12 Minnesota counties. Northwest Beverage has been named the 2002 Thief River Falls Business of the Year by the Thief River Falls Chamber of Commerce.

Busch has fought to maintain its three-tier system that includes the brewery, wholesaler, and retailer, the result being service. The brewery also stresses the responsible use of its products by adults and requires that its franchisees do the same through such things as letters to the editor and advertising.

Consumption trends, dictated, in part, by legislation, have led to growth, in recent years, in Northwest Beverage's off-sale business.

A large lunchroom area at the new Northwest Beverage facility features bi-fold doors that open to double the size of the room. The new building also offers ample space for the frequent in-house training required by Anheuser-Busch for administrative employees, sales representatives, and delivery personnel. Anheuser-Busch requires that each employee has a job description, Shawn says, and that the business present a comprehensive business plan each year.

While Kerry Newland has listed her job as accounting, she performs numerous office duties. "She wears a lot of hats," Shawn says. Darlene Newland has listed "administrative secretary" as her job title. Titles aside, however, Shawn says that family members, along with other company employees, all pitch in to get the job done. In addition to the family member's close work proximity, they live near each other, with Shawn living next door to her mother and two blocks from Griffin, Kerry, and their preschool sons. "We don't call each other on the weekends," Shawn jokes, admitting that the family does, at times, enjoy weekend activities together.

Shawn has been with Northwest Beverage for 19 years, joining the company after attending college and medical secretary training. Honored and pleased to be the recipient of the 2002 TRF Business of the Year award, she says the award is one she shares with her family and employees who, with her, celebrate the accomplishments of the past look to the future.

Goodridge Lion tamers operated a lunch stand during the 21st Annual Lions Smelt Fry and Auction in Goodridge Saturday, April 27. Despite cool weather, hundreds of people stopped what they were doing to attend the event. Funds raised from the event are used to support a variety of community projects like youth camps, the after prom party, student awards banquet, scholarships, the Pennington County Grandstand, Hospice, the County K-9 unit, and the Goodridge Fire Department. Besides, said Roger Hoffman, it really brings the community together.

Congregation relives old ways

Leonard - An old fashioned church service at Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Leonard April 28 was held in conjunction with Clearwater County's centennial celebration.

Pastor Dan Bowman arrived at the church on horseback, and some of the parishioners were dressed in costumes that depicted the past. As in the old days, men, women, and children were seated in different areas, and the liturgy for the day was from a hymnal used in the 1930s. True to the form of years gone by, the preacher was presented with a chicken and some eggs for his salary.

The "little" lunch served after the service consisted of a heaping serving of mashed potatoes covered with creamed chicken, baked corn, perfection salad, red Jello, buns, lefse, coffee, and lemonade. The Leader-Record

Superintendent hits the roof

Alexandria - District 206 Superintendent Ric Dressen spent the day working on the roof of Jefferson High School Wednesday, May 1, fulfilling a promise made to students earlier in the year.

Dressen told JHS students that if they performed 7,000 or more hours of community service during the year, he would spend a day working from their school roof.

The latest totals indicated that the students have served more than 14,000 hours for various community groups and activities. "I'm proud . . . These students' volunteer hours deserve to be shouted from the rooftop," Dressen said. Echo Press

Bluebird trail developed at school

Erskine - Twenty Peterson bluebird houses were placed on Win-E-Mac School property last week as part of an on going project of instructor Bob Nephew's environmental science classes.

The houses were constructed in the classroom, and in the future, additional houses will be added to the trail system. Part of the project also includes the development of a record-keeping system for compiling data about the bluebird population.

The houses will continue to be monitored for successful bird attraction in coming years, and it is hoped that the trail at the school can become part of the National Bluebird System. Erskine Echo

Travel info center reopens

Crookston - Fisher's Landing Travel Information Center reopened this week, now operated by the Crookston Convention and Visitors' Bureau.

A reopening event featured speeches by local and state officials, entertainment by the Crookston High School Fiddlers, and refreshments.

The Minnesota Department of Tourism closed Fisher's Landing last October during the second round of budget-cutting measures that saw four other state TICs shut their doors. Fisher's Landing is one of the first to reopen. Crookston Daily Times

NCTC names Students of Year

May 16 is date for graduation

Beth Olson and Shanast Mason have been named Students of the Year by the Graduation Committee of Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls. They will be honored during the college's spring commencement exercise at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 16.

Beth Olson is graduating with an associate of arts degree in liberal arts. While at NCTC, she has been active in a number of campus activities. Olson is the vice president of service for Phi Theta Kappa honor society, head of the NCTC Recycling Project, the Student Senate secretary, sports editor for The Northern Light, a student newspaper, and was the 2001 NCTC Homecoming Queen, a member of the NJCAA-Division III National Runner-Up Women's Basketball team, the NCTC Women's fastpitch softball team, and the NCTC Chamber Choir. She has also been named to the National Dean's List for 2000-2001, and served as a student tutor.

Olson has been an active representative of the student body on and off campus, attending and participating in many statewide Student Senate activities and political rallies. In addition, Olson served as student coordinator of the 2002 NCTC blood drive, and was instrumental in coordinating student efforts to support the local food shelf and the Violence Intervention Project.

Olson plans to continue her education at St. Cloud State University and major in mass communications with a minor in film studies. She further hopes to attend the University of Southern California (Los Angeles) School of Cinema-Television after completing her bachelor's degree.

Beth is the daughter of Bryan and Polly Olson of Hokah, Minn.

"Beth is an intelligent student, a talented athlete, and a true leader who commits herself to college and community. She exemplifies a student's opportunity and potential at Northland, and has the resolve to

Northwest Dairy Day set for June 22

The 53rd Annual Northwest Dairy Day will be held in Thief River Falls on Saturday, June 22, at the Pennington County Fairgrounds.

Competition is open to any youth from kindergarten to one year past high school. Registration is from 10 to 11 a.m. The opening ceremony will follow the closing of registration.

The Northwest Dairy Day committee will honor an outstanding dairy farm family currently operating a dairy farm in northwestern Minnesota. They will be recognized following the opening ceremony.

The registration committee includes Rhoda Gust, Tina Gust, Strathcona and Sherri Rupprecht, Thief River Falls. Jim Mattson, Thief River Falls, will continue to serve as the fundraiser chairman for the event and Polly Bakken, Angus, will handle the ordering of T-shirts for the participants. She designed the imprint for the shirts this year. It incorporates a red, white and blue patriotic design.

Officers and board members include: Lew Wallace, Middle River, president, Dale Rupprecht, Thief River Falls, vice president, Norma Hanson, Goodridge, secretary/treasurer, and Mark Lehman, Fertile, Jim Mattson, Thief River Falls, Mike Philipps, Thief River Falls, Sherri Rupprecht, Thief River Falls, and Rhoda Gust and Tina Gust of Strathcona as board members.

In a family of 14, every one is unique

by Kathi Carlson
Reporter

Most likely, the words "Happy Mother's Day" will be heard 12 or so times at the home of Kelli and Jim Hewitt tomorrow.

A couple of the Lancaster couple's dozen kids may even belt out in song to commemorate the day that honors motherhood. Each of the children in the Hewitt household has his or her own unique gifts, and currently, two of the family's eight girls, Ashlee and Katrice, are busy trying to make a name for themselves in the music business.

The Hewitt Sisters and their band will be featured at a dance at the Evergreen Eating Emporium in Thief River Falls on May 18, performing songs from their recently released CD, "Blowin' In The Wind," and other favorites.

The musical endeavors of 14-year-old Ashlee and 16-year-old Katrice are family affairs as are all the Hewitts' other enterprises. And while to say they are busy doesn't seem quite adequate, busy they are. Saying they live in Lancaster isn't quite fitting either as the family hails from Caribou Township, 20 miles east of Lancaster. Kelli says that avid hunters are familiar with where Caribou Township is.

Amidst the wildlife that attracts hunters to the area is the six-bedroom home the Hewitts built 10 years or so ago to house the expanding family. Children include Sheila, 21; Lacey, 19; Katrice, 16; Ashlee, 14; Mallori, 11; Marshall, nine; Josiah and Jessica, seven-year-old twins; Whitney, seven; Isaiah, six; Carson, four; and Kaylee, two. Nine of the children are natural. Three are adopted; and all are loved to pieces.

The subject of adoption came up after the couple had only one child of their own, Kelli says, and when they finally got around to getting serious about it, they first planned to adopt a child from Russia. After hearing a missionary speak about the plight of children in Haiti, however, they switched gears, and adopted Josiah, Jessica, and Isaiah. Although they had only planned to adopt a single child, this family knows better than most the importance of keeping siblings together and opened its doors and their hearts to three.

All but two of the couple's children were born at home, a practice Kelli says is becoming more and more accepted and popular. While pregnant with Sheila, Kelli participated in extensive childbirth training classes in Wyoming where she and Jim were residing at the time. An easy labor and delivery required little of the attending physician, and thus when the couple was expecting their second child after they had returned to Minnesota, they decided to have a home birth. Both training and experience have taught Kelli about the danger signals that would necessitate a hospital delivery, she says. In addition to Sheila's hospital birth, Mallori was born at the Greenbush Hospital, and a trip to the hospital in Thief River Falls was necessary after Whitney was born breech. Midwives were involved in some of the births, although Kelli's short labors and the family's location resulted in their arrival after the children's births had already occurred.

Sheila, Lacey, and Katrice attended Heritage Christian School in Karlstad before Kelli and Jim extended their parental commitment to include home schooling. A Christian-based curriculum is used, and while she used to be quite strict in the time set aside for lessons, Kelli says she's had to loosen up as the children have become more and more active. A proponent of home-based education, she also says that home schooling affords her children opportunities to zero in on the subjects they are truly interested, bringing their gifts to fruition. While many, Kelli says, show concern for the children's social development, it is not a problem as they have ample opportunities to meet and spend

Agassiz to celebrate Migratory Bird Day

May 19 is date for International Migratory Bird Day events

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge will celebrate International Migratory Bird Day (IMBD) on Sunday, May 19, 2002 from 1 to 5 p.m. at Refuge Headquarters. This celebration will be held rain or shine. Having the celebration one week later than the official day allows later migrant birds to arrive north, which will add to the number of birds that will be available to observe on the refuge. Warblers and shorebirds are two groups of birds that are some of the last to arrive at this latitude. To celebrate this day special activities will be held as described below.

Greg Brooks, a licensed bird rehabilitator from Gilby, North Dakota will be the featured presenter from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. He will talk about and display his live adult bald eagle and great horned owl. Please bring a lawn chair with you to seat yourself at the program. From 2:15 to 2:30 p.m. a short refuge program will highlight Agassiz's recognition as being one of the American Bird Conservancy's Globally Important Bird Areas.

Lincoln High School visual students, enrolled in the Northern Expressions School of the Arts taught by Marilyn Adams, completed bird drawings this school year. Agassiz NWR loaned several species of birds to use for their drawings. The students' bird drawings will be on display during the open house.

A nature walk on the newly completed wheelchair accessible Headquarters Hiking Trail will be led by refuge personnel from 1 to 2 p.m. From 1 to 2 p.m. and 4 to 5 p.m. refuge personnel will be stationed on the 14-foot Parker Pool Observation Deck and the Office Patio Deck. Permanent mounted 20 power spotting scopes are available at these two locations for viewing birds. West Gate Road and North Gate Road will be open to private vehicles for viewing wildlife from 1 to 5 p.m., weather permitting. Refuge personnel and volunteers will also be stationed along West Gate Road and North Gate Road from 1 to 2 p.m. and 4 to 5 p.m. Refuge personnel will identify bird species and various features of the refuge at these locations. By providing these activities for celebrating International Migratory Bird Day more people become aware of the birds that play an important part in our lives. A newly tarred parking lot at Headquarters provides an excellent place to park your vehicle. Plan on spending some time at the celebration and enjoy some quality experience in one of your national wildlife refuges. Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge is located in the heart of excellent birding country and will be featured in the National Wildlife Federation book titled "Best 100 Places In North America To Observe Birds."

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge has been identified as significant for world bird conservation and officially designated a "Globally Important Bird Area" by the American Bird Conservancy. This sign will be displayed at the refuge.

Cub Scouts will be serving popcorn, food and refreshments. Food will include hot dogs, cookies and doughnuts. Twenty-five bluebird and tree swallow wood nest boxes and 100 shrubs will be given away on a first come first served basis. Each family will be allowed one shrub and one nest box. Featured on this year's 2002 International Migratory Bird Day poster are 45 species of migratory birds. Artist Charley Harper painted the picture for the poster. These

Agency honors Cass Lake woman

Cass Lake - Every day, 92-year-old Elsye McGuire walks the four blocks from her home to the Cass Lake Food Shelf to volunteer.

McGuire was honored May 1 in Minneapolis as the 2002 Minnesota Food Share Outstanding Food Shelf Volunteer.

Blind from macular degeneration, McGuire is the "official" onion, potato, and apple sorter. ". . . anything I can feel without seeing," she said. "When you lose your eyesight, your fingers and hands take over." The Pioneer

Church breaks ground for addition

Red Lake Falls - Bethany Lutheran Church broke ground Sunday, May 5, for a new Sunday school addition to its current facility.

Participating in the ceremony were Jenny Nord, daughter of Tim and Peggy Nord of Red Lake Falls, representing the church's future congregation; Kevin Reich, for the church council; and Lorraine Miller, representing her husband who was involved in building the original church in 1967. Red Lake Falls Gazette

Sherry LaCoursiere

Today's recipes are from an old Marshall County Homemakers Cookbook published in 1978.

I hope this cake turns out with my directions - I haven't had time to try it and the directions given aren't very good, but it sounds so good and so easy that I couldn't resist putting it in today:

SPICE DATE CAKE
Carmen Gustafson, East Steiner

1 cup white sugar
2 cups dates
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 cups cold water
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon salt
1 beaten egg
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons soda

Mix first nine ingredients together in saucepan. Bring to a boil and cook for 7 minutes. Add remaining ingredients and mix. Place in greased 9x13 inch pan (recipe says large pan – hope it is 9x13) and bake at 350 degrees until done.

This is another recipe that isn't too clear, but it also sounds good. Wonder who Bonnie is:

PINEAPPLE YUM YUM CAKE
Bonnie of the Busy Bees

2-1/2 cups flour
1-1/2 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons soda
2 eggs
1 regular-sized can crashed pineapple, undrained

Mix flour, sugar, salt and soda. Break in eggs and then add pineapple and juice. Mix well.

Bake at 350 degrees until it looks done. May require a little longer baking time.

Topping:
1-1/2 cups sugar
1 can evaporated milk
2 sticks butter or margarine
1 cup coconut
Chopped nuts as desired

Stir sugar, evaporated milk and butter together in a saucepan. Bring to a boil and cook 4 minutes. Add coconut and nuts as desired.

Pour over cake while it is hot. It will run down on the sides some, but Bonnie says she keeps spreading the topping back up from the edges until it cools.

Maybe Mom would like these bars for her special day:

SOUR CREAM RAISIN BARS
Mrs. Florence Weber, Farley

2 cups raisins, cooked and cooled
Set raisins aside for filling

Crust
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup butter
1-3/4 cups oatmeal
1 teaspoon soda
1-3/4 cups flour

Mix all ingredients together and press half in 9x13 inch pan. Bake for 7 minutes at 350 degrees.

Filling
3 egg yolks
One carton of sour cream
1 cup sugar
2-1/2 tablespoons corn starch

Mix filling ingredients in saucepan. Boil until thick, stirring as it boils. Add raisins. Pour over baked crust. Add remaining crust over filling layer. Bake 25 minutes more.

How about making Mom breakfast in bed – wouldn't this be good with a fresh fruit salad and a glass of juice:

BREAKFAST PIZZA
Mrs. Earl McGregor
Choregirls Club

1 (8 ounce) can crescent rolls
1 (8 ounce) package brown and serve sausage
1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese
4 slightly beaten eggs
3/4 cup milk
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon oregano

Spread dough in greased 9x13 inch pan. Add chopped sausage and then cheddar cheese.

Beat eggs and add milk, green pepper, onion, salt, pepper and oregano. Pour over cheddar cheese. Top with mozzarella cheese.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes.

I have to include these cookies – I think I've tasted these and have been looking for a recipe for them. I'm sure your mother would like them, especially if you wrapped them in plastic wrap in a pretty basket with a perky ribbon:

EGG WHITE NUT COOKIES
Eunice Liedberg
Newfolden Nifties

1 cup shortening (I would use butter)
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup white sugar
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups flour
Egg whites

Roll into a ball and dip in egg whites which have been beaten with a fork. Dip in chopped nuts and bake at 350 degrees until brown.

You might like to make a bowl of this punch for your mother this year – she'll never guess how easy it is. This recipe is not from the Marshall County Homemakers, but was in the Bemidji Pioneer 1994 Holiday Recipe contest:

EASY PUNCH
Suzanne Elhard

1 pint sherbet, any flavor
36 ounces (3 cans) cold lemon-lime soda pop

Place sherbet in pitcher or punch bowl and pour soda pop over. Serve right away. You might want to double or triple the recipe for a bunch, since this recipe just serves 4.

Greenbush nursing home celebrates Homes for the Aging Week

Greenbush Community Nursing Home invites the community to join its residents, volunteers, and staff as it celebrates Homes for the Aging Week May 12-18.

A number of activities are planned, including an "All American Day" carnival on Monday, May 13, from 3 to 5 p.m. The indoor event will feature games and bingo with prizes, fresh lefse, cotton candy, nachos with cheese, apples with caramel, hot dogs, fried bread, popcorn, a bake sale, bike drawings, artistic balloon creations by Balloon People, and free blood pressure checks.

Other events include the following Tuesday, May 14 – An Ireland Tour, "Ten Thousand Welcomes," by Joe McDonnell at 2 p.m. and a Beito Family presentation at 7 p.m. Wednesday, May 15 – Native American Day Drumdance by Red Lake youth at 12:45 p.m. and a piano recital at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, May 16 – "Scandinavian Celebration" Norway Voyage by Jerry Solom at 2 p.m. Friday, May 17 – "Greetings from Germany" presentation by Angela and Tina Westman at 2 p.m.

Homes for the Aging Week in Minnesota honors the state's residents of long-term care and senior housing communities and those who care for them. The theme of this year's celebration is "Share the Spirit: A Celebration of Age." The theme highlights the wealth of wisdom, joy, and love older adults have to share with other generations, and provides an opportunity to celebrate this spirit with other seniors, the community, and those who provide care and services.

Greenbush Community Nursing Home is a member of the Minnesota Health and Housing Alliance, a statewide association of nursing home and senior housing communities in Minnesota. MHHA members are dedicated to providing quality care and services to older persons.

LHS bands to perform spring concert May 22

Wednesday night, May 22, will be the last concert at Lincoln High School for 25 senior band members. They, and the band underclassmen, will present the final band concert of the year at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln High School auditorium. The concert will be under the direction of Bruce Felt, and there is no admission being charged.

The 25 seniors who will perform their last Lincoln High School band concert include: Alicia Vigness on flute, Bethany Brown and Naomi Kenner on clarinet, Allisa Holmaas on bass clarinet, Mandi Johnson, Cody Knutson and Kiley Brazier on alto saxophone, Nick Mattila on baritone saxophone, Trevor Christensen, Sarah Lofgren, Joaquin Westerman, Joseph Haj and Allan Benson on trumpet, Nate Cota on French horn, Sarah Willis, Trent Christensen, John Mickelson, Matt Dimich and Walter Forney on trombone, Chrissy Wegner on tuba, and Jason Blakely, Chris Leach, Josh Stenseth, Brent Fulton and Nate Lahren, percussion.

The Jazz Band will open the evening featuring All-State Jazz Band Baritone Saxophone Player Nick Mattila on "Bari, Bari Good." The second selection for the Jazz Band, will feature All-State Band Trombonist Sarah Willis and senior guitarist John Mickelson performing the Beatles' "Lady Madonna." "Blues for the Windy City," a swing tune, will show off the talents of Bass Trombonist Matt Dimich and Trumpeter Sarah Lofgren.

The Concert Band will perform three selection. The first is an excellent concert opener entitled "Overture in B Flat." It features the low woodwind section. The next piece is a medley of Broadway tunes from "Phantom of the Opera." The concert band will close its section of the program with the exciting band standard, "Emperata Overture."

The Wind Ensemble will end the concert and the year with three compositions. The first selection is a major work for band – Holst's "First Suite in E Flat." This three-movement work really showcases the Lincoln High School Wind Ensemble at its best. The second selection is entitled "October." It features Frannie Mann on flute. The final work of the Wind Ensemble portion of the concert is entitled "Inchon." This piece pays homage to the soldiers, sailors and marines who participated in the battle of Inchon during the Korean War. The Wind Ensemble's goal is to create the illusion of helicopters landing in the Lincoln High School auditorium. "Inchon" features solos by our entire flute section, Mandi Johnson on alto sax and our percussion section.

The grand finale of the evening will be the combined Concert Band and Wind Ensemble rendition of "Mars - Bringer of War" from Gustav Holst's suite entitled "The Planets."

The band boosters will host a reception in honor of the graduating band members following the concert in the cafeteria.

NWMC offers hearing screenings during Hospital Week

Thinking Of You
In Memory of Gwen Hanson
Who Passed Away October 16, 2000
Happy Mother's Day!
Despite the darkness that surrounds me
I always see a light -
A star, directly above,
Glistening and shining bright
It reminds me of your smile
Which would always brighten my day
I can only picture your face
As you live thousands of miles away
So, every time I need you
I look up to the sky
Searching for that star
That reminds me of your smile
When I see that star
I hear you whisper in my ear
"Remember, I promised you
I'll always be there"
Then I can smile
Even though we're far apart,
Because I know you're here with me
And I'm forever in your heart
We Love and miss you

Thank You

My husband, Eddie, joins me in thanking family and friends for the benefit held for me at the Strandquist Community Center. Thank you to those who planned, served and attended; to those who brought food and articles for the country store; to the ladies who made the quilt. Thanks to everyone who helped in any way! Special thanks to Bethesda AAL (Branch 9862) for the four hundred dollars matching funds. We appreciate your love and support, kindness and generosity. I am still waiting for a matching kidney and request your continued prayer.

May God Bless you all.

GENERAL NOTICE To Control Or Eradicate Noxious Weeds And Grasshoppers

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, this 8th day of May, 2002, pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Section 18.83, subd. 1 (1992), that all persons in Marshall County, Minnesota, shall control or eradicate all noxious weeds on land they own, occupy or are required to maintain. Control or eradication may be accomplished by any lawful method but the methods may need to be repeated in order to prevent the spread of viable noxious weed seeds and other propagating parts to other lands.

Failure to comply with the general notice may mean that an individual notice will be issued. An individual notice may be appealed within two working days of receipt to the appeal committee in the county where the land is located. Failure to comply with the individual notice will mean that the inspector having jurisdiction may either hire the work done or seek a misdemeanor charge against the person(s) who failed to comply. If the work is hired done by the inspector, the cost can be placed as a tax upon the land and collected as other real estate taxes are collected. You may obtain a list of the plants that are designated noxious and of the members of the appeal committee from your county agricultural inspector or local weed inspector. The local weed inspectors are township supervisors, city mayors or their appointed assistants.

NOTICE IS ALSO HEREBY GIVEN, Pursuant to Minnesota Statutes, Section 18.0225 (1990), that all persons owning, occupying, or in charge of the maintenance of land shall control grasshoppers by any lawful method on land located in designated control zones. The methods used may need to be repeated to prevent the movement of grasshoppers to adjacent lands. Failure to comply with the general notice may mean the inspector having jurisdiction will issue an individual notice. Failure to comply with the individual notice may mean that the inspector having jurisdiction will hire the control work done and place the cost as a tax lien upon the land. A similar appeal process applies to violations of the grasshopper law as to the noxious weed law.

You may obtain lists of the townships that are designated as control zones and of the appeal committee members from the county agricultural inspector or a local grasshopper inspector. Local grasshopper inspectors are township supervisors or their appointed assistants.

An appeals committee has been established by the Marshall County Board of Commissioners. A list of the committee members is available at the county auditor's office in the Courthouse or by calling (218) 745-4581.

The committee will meet at 8:00 a.m. Monday and Thursday of each week, if needed, commencing June 15 through September 30 in the commissioner's room at the county courthouse, Warren, Minn.

THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS ASKS YOUR COOPERATION IN THIS WEED CONTROL WORK

For methods of controlling noxious weeds, see your county agricultural agent, township, municipal, or county agricultural inspector.

Card of Thanks

We would like to extend our heartfelt thanks to all of you for your kindness and thoughtfulness during this difficult time. The phone calls, cards, flowers, memorials and gifts of food were greatly appreciated. Thank you to Pastor Martinson, Pastor and Rhoda Huglen, Kayla Miller, the Moe Ladies Aid and the staff and congregation of Zion Lutheran Church of Thief River Falls for all you have done. A special thank you to the Roseau Class of 1979 for the flowers and beautiful gift for Breann. Also to Jeff Olsen for the wonderful article written on Chad. To all of Chad's many friends, thank you for all the phone calls, visits and offers of help.

LHS choirs to perform concert next Thursday

Lincoln High School Choirs, under the direction of Darcy Reese, will present "A Celebration of Voices" at 8 p.m. on Thursday, May 16, in the Lincoln High School Auditorium. This final production of the year will consist of selections from the choir tours to Minneapolis and Chicago along with jazz pieces, spirituals and mass selections.

The choirs, said Darcy Reese, have worked very hard this year performing their selections for 10 various performances, including high school concerts, the Holocaust Remembrance Day Service in St. Louis Park, a Shabbat service in a Jewish synagogue in Chicago, and competitions in Chicago.

The singers have a wide variety of music to perform for all listeners the night of the 16th. Concert Choir will be performing their competition pieces including "Die Mit Tranen Saen," by Schein, "All That Hath Life and Breath" by Rene Clausen, and "Precious Lord, Take My Hand." They will also be performing a beautiful piece entitled "The Narrow Way" and the spiritual "I Want Jesus."

Swingsations will be performing their entire show from Chicago including "I'm a Train," "Sir Duke," "The Very Thought of You," "Ose Shalom," and "Blue Skies."

Soloists throughout the night include David Christensen, Marnie Schafer, JoAnna Swanick, Bobby Edwards and Danny Christensen. Bel Canto will be performing three pieces including an "Irish Blessing," a creole piece entitled "Mister Banjo" and a high spirited fun American folk piece "Bile Dem Cabbage Down!" with Danny Saylor improvising on the fiddle.

The mass selections are very spirited with Cathy Hagen and Kristi LaSalle at the piano along with Jason Blakely and Chris Leach on the marimba. A special tribute to the seniors will take place at this time.

This is a tribute like no others, and one you do not want to miss, said Reese. The tribute will include ... well, you'll just have to see it for yourself.

With a year of dreams coming true, there was no way Reese was going to let the seniors leave without an unbelievable farewell celebration.

The doors to the auditorium open at 7 p.m. with the celebration starting at 8 p.m. The reason for the late start is a conflict with sporting events. The concert is free to the public so bring your music-loving friends and enjoy "A Celebration of Voices!" Don't forget about the special tribute to these unbelievable singing seniors.

School of Arts students hold music recital

For the past several months the 15 students that make up the music theory component of the Northern Expressions School of the Arts have been working hard at acquiring the skills necessary to become composers. They will place the fruits of their labor before the public at 7:30 p.m. on Friday, May 17, at the Lincoln High School choir room. These students are under the instruction of Darcy Reese, music theory 1, and Bruce Felt, music theory 2.

The recital will feature world premiers of works by members of both theory classes.

Theory 1 students include: Mandi Johnson, Allisa Holmaas, Lynne Hanson, Michael Hilbrand, Jenny Lindquist, and Tiffany Sorenson.

Theory 2 students include: Jason Blakely, Gabe Carlson, David Christensen, Kara Larson, Chris Leach, Marnie Schafer, JoAnna Swanick, Alicia Vigness, and Sarah Willis.

The performance will feature members of the Lincoln High School bands, choirs and orchestras.

There will be a meeting of the "All 50's Reunion Committee" on Monday evening, May 13th at 7 p.m. at the American Legion Clubrooms in Middle River.

In Loving Memory of Our Son, Brother, Uncle & Friend

Allen Rux

who passed away one year ago May 5, 2001

It broke our hearts to lose you. But you did not go alone. A part of us went with you the day God took you home. A million times we've needed you. A million times we've cried.

If love could have saved you, You never would have died. To the grave we travel, The flowers are placed with care. But no one knows the heartache as we turn and leave you there.

No farewells were spoken, No time to say good-bye. You were gone before we knew it. And only God knows why.

If tears could build a staircase, And heartaches make a lane. We would walk the path to heaven and bring you back again.

We love you Al and miss you so very, very much.

Mosquito-transmitted viruses likely to reach MN this summer

Horses are especially vulnerable

Mosquito season is approaching and Minnesotans, especially horse owners, need to be on alert for two mosquito-transmitted viruses.

West Nile Virus (WNV) is a viral disease transmitted by infected mosquitoes to animals and people. In 1999, the virus was first detected in the United States in New York City. The virus has spread westward to 28 states, including Iowa and Wisconsin. It is expected to reach Minnesota this spring. To date, 149 people in the US have become ill with WNV. In 2001, 731 horse cases were identified in 19 states; 63 percent of those cases were from Florida.

Most people bitten by an infected mosquito will not get sick. Symptoms include mild, flu-like symptoms such as fever, headache, and body aches. Rarely, severe illness develops, but signs include high fever, neck stiffness, muscle weakness, convulsions, and paralysis.

WNV poses a serious threat to horses. Symptoms include lethargy, hindquarter weakness, involuntary muscle contractions, loss of coordination, head tilt, circling, convulsions, paralysis, and coma. In 2001, 33 percent of horse cases died or were euthanized as a result of their illness.

A vaccine for West Nile Virus for horses has been granted a conditional license by the USDA. It is recommended that horses be vaccinated annually at least three weeks before the mosquito season. The vaccine for Eastern Equine Encephalitis will not protect against WNV.

Western and Eastern Equine Encephalitis (WEE and EEE) are other viruses that can be transmitted when an infected mosquito bites a human or horse. These diseases are rare in humans but can be life threatening. EEE was documented in Minnesota for the first time last year, with three confirmed cases in horses. No human cases have ever been reported in Minnesota.

Most WEE and EEE infections in humans do not cause any symptoms or illness. When people do develop illness, symptoms are similar to WNV and can include high fever, fatigue, aching muscles, a stiff neck, and tremors or confusion. Although illness is rare, when it does occur, death rates in children can be five percent for WEE and greater than 50 percent for EEE. Illness survivors may have brain damage and long-term disabilities.

In horses, symptoms of WEE and EEE are similar to WNV and can include fever, loss of appetite, drooping eyelids and lower lip, aimless wandering and circling behavior, blindness, and inability to stand. The infection is fatal to horses in 40 percent of cases with WEE and more than 90 percent with EEE.

Horses can be vaccinated against WEE and EEE. Outbreaks of EEE often occur several weeks before the illness is documented in humans. People cannot contract WNV, WEE or EEE directly from their horses.

"There is no human vaccine against these viruses; therefore people should take precautions such as using mosquito repellants," said Jeff Bender, DVM, MS, assistant professor, CVM public health program. "Outdoor activities should be avoided at dawn or dusk when some mosquitoes are most active. Eliminate potential mosquito breeding habitat on or around property. Horses owners should contact their veterinarians regarding vaccination of horses or to report any suspicious illnesses they see in their horses."

Minnesota Department of Health, Department of Natural Resources, Minnesota Board of Animal Health, the Metropolitan Mosquito Control District, and the CVM are actively collaborating to watch for evidence of these diseases and keep the public informed. The CVM and Medical School are jointly developing outreach strategies to veterinarians, physicians and public health officials about the epidemiology, prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of WNV.

Collard completes basic training

Air Force Airman Didier R. Collard has graduated from basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Texas.

During the six weeks of training, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs; performed drill and ceremony marches; and received physical training and special training in human relations. Airmen who complete basic training receive credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

A 2001 graduate of Marshall County Central High School, Collard is the son of Beatrice Collard of Thief River Falls and Scott Kesterson of Portland, Ore.

Trontvet completes basic training

Army National Guard Pfc. Elizabeth A. Trontvet has graduated from basic combat training at Fort Jackson, Columbia, S.C.

During the nine weeks of training, the soldier received instruction and practice in drill and ceremony, marching, rifle marksmanship, armed and unarmed combat, map reading, field tactics, military courtesy, military justice system, physical fitness, basic first aid, and Army values, principles, and traditions.

A 2001 graduate of Lincoln High School, Elizabeth is the daughter of Daniel Trontvet of Thief River Falls.

2002 State Sheep Shearing School and Contest set

Minnesota Sheep Producer's Association will once again be sponsoring a shearing school in conjunction with the 64th annual Greenbush Sheep Days on June 7 and 8 in Greenbush.

The shearing school is scheduled from noon to 4 p.m. on Friday, June 7. Instructors for the school are Clayton Skoien and Doug Kilen, long-time shearers and instructors from Roseau and Thief River Falls, respectively. Shearing equipment will be provided or you may use your own equipment.

The association will also be holding the Minnesota State Junior and Senior Sheep Shearing Contest in conjunction with Sheep Days. The contest will begin at 1 p.m. on Saturday, June 8, at the Sheep Palace in Greenbush.

Winners of the Junior Shearing Contest will be eligible to compete in the National Junior Shearing Contest held in Denver, Colo., next January. Junior shearing contestants must participate in the shearing school held on June 7, beginning at noon. Pre-registration for the shearing school is required by June 4, 2002. Junior contest participants must not have passed their 21st birthday by January 1, 2002. Shearers statewide are encouraged to come north and participate.

The event is sponsored by the Minnesota Sheep Producer's Association. For more information and/or registration, contact Dale Carter at 320-239-4962, or Clayton Skoien at 218-425-7767.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Small business helps keep our economy strong

Some people define small business as any business that employs less than 500 employees. Most of the businesses in northwestern Minnesota would fit into the category of a small business under that definition. For the most part, these businesses are the engine that drives our economy, and that's true of across much of the nation, even in areas with large businesses.

Here are a few facts about small business from the National Federation of Independent Business:

• Small business contributes to job generation, innovation, production and distribution of goods and services, community and neighborhood leadership, pluralism in economic decision-making, and an alternative avenue of opportunity for many.

• Small business produces roughly half of the private sector Gross Domestic Product.

• Small firms produce 55 percent of innovations. They produce twice as many product innovations and significant innovations per employee.

• According to recent Bureau of Labor statistics projects, small-firm-dominated sectors have or will contribute more than 60 percent of new jobs from 1994-2005.

• According to the Business Information Tracking Series, small firms with fewer than 500 employees created 78.2 percent of the 1.87 million new jobs from 1996-97. About 83 percent came from expansions of existing businesses; the remainder was from births of new firms.

• Over the 1987-97 decade, the number of minority-owned firms increased 168 percent to about 3.25 million by 1997.

There's a very good reason why media across the country are focusing on the importance of small business this week – it's National Small Business Week. Small business keeps America's economy strong.

Northland Band contributes to the rich tradition of the region

Northland Community Band continues to make a valuable contribution to this region, not only through entertainment and education, but by representing the region as goodwill ambassadors.

The number of people who have been involved in the band is truly staggering. Some have even been involved with the band throughout most of its 30-year history.

The Northland Community Band consists of performers from throughout the region. They are high school and college students. They are professionals and blue collar workers. The band is a microcosm of who we are in northwestern Minnesota. It should go without saying then, that it takes a great deal of effort for so many people with so many different interests, to work together. I should add, that it takes a rare talent to put together this group of people who can produce a product that sounds so well.

At events like the one held Monday at the city auditorium in downtown Thief River Falls, the community, which is much broader than just Thief River Falls, was brought together in a musical celebration, and goodwill. The community band and Rotary Club teamed up to raise funds for the band and the Rotary Club's many charitable functions, which in this instance is the bike and skate park. Not only did these two organizations provide the community with a rich and varied menu of music, but food and fellowship, as well.

Efforts like the one on Monday night, serve us all.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Think about what it means to be patriotic

(Editor's note: We received a request to re-print this column by Frank Clarke from a local reader. We subsequently obtained permission from Frank to re-print this column, which appeared in the Tampa Bay Sounding.)

Thoughts on "Patriotism"
by Frank Clarke

What if there were a Mad Bomber loose in Tampa blowing up cars and bars and other businesses, and at each bomb-site we find a note: "Stop police brutality! Prosecute investment fraud! Keep pedophiles away from children!"

Do we say, "We'll never give in to terrorists! We're going to support, protect, and defend our police regardless how brutal they get; we're going to encourage more investment fraud; we're going to funnel more children toward our local pedophiles!"?

Or do we say, "This person is a fruitcake and a criminal, but the bomber has a good point. The things the bomber demands, we should be doing, not because we are intimidated by terrorism, but because they are 'the right thing to do'"?

We seem to be in very much that kind of situation vis-à-vis the "War on Terrorism."

What is "patriotism"? Is it "supporting the country's leadership"? If that's all it is, then Hitler's SS was full of patriots and Joe Stalin's KGB should be our role models.

No, the patriot game is not "follow the leader." It's more than that; it has to be (because there can be bad leaders as easily as there are good leaders). Patriotism is wanting what is best for one's country and acting accordingly. Unfortunately, this definition leaves considerable room for ambiguity.

Suppose, for instance, that you fit this description (wanting the best for your country) and you want to bomb Upper Wheresoever because you think that's best for the country. Suppose your neighbor also fits this description (wanting the best for her country) and doesn't want to bomb Upper Wheresoever because she thinks doing so would be bad for the country. Who is acting patriotically? Who holds the patriotic opinion? Could it be. . . both?

If the answer is "both," then we now know something else that patriotism isn't . . . it isn't "everyone holding the same opinion" or "everyone marching in lock-step."

But the most important thing that patriotism isn't; it isn't calling your neighbor "unpatriotic" because he or she doesn't hold the same positions you do. In fact, labeling someone "unpatriotic" because they don't agree with you may be the very definition of "unpatriotic."

That's why some of the letters I've seen appearing in the St. Petersburg Times and elsewhere of late are so disturbing: the writers seem not to have given a single thought to the real meaning of words they throw around like grenades. . . words like "patriotic." They haven't yet asked or answered the question, "What's best for this country?"

I don't claim to know exactly what's best for the country, but I'm pretty sure I know a few things that are bad for it:

• it's bad to have people hating us;

• it's bad to have people mistrusting us;

• it's bad that some people view us as oppressors.

When people hate us or mistrust us, that's bad. When they hate us or mistrust us because our country has acted like a bully toward them or has lied to them, it's doubly bad, because we could have avoided making enemies of them in the first place.

Do you think there are people who hate us because they think our country has mistreated them? It doesn't matter whether or not we have mistreated them; "perception is reality."

A reasonable person will be forced to admit that some people hate the United States because of real or perceived harm we have done, and we take notice that some of them are willing to sacrifice their very lives to give others joy at our misfortune. That is an extraordinary amount of hate.

A reasonable person will ask, "How do we get out of this box?"

There is, I believe, a way to get out of this box:

• We need to stop bullying other nations that don't agree with us;

• We need to stop "playing favorites";

• We need to tell the truth;

• We need to mind our own business.

That may not do much to mollify those people who already hate us, but it could prevent their ranks from growing. On the other hand, if those who already hate us do so because we bully, play favorites, and butt into other peoples' business, they may see a reduced need to make as sad.

Or maybe not. But we shouldn't be actively trying to make things worse. We shouldn't be actively trying to give them more reasons to hate us. We shouldn't be reinforcing their perceptions.

Those who do are planning bad things for this country, and they are not patriots.

Mn/DOT to hold meeting on Hwy.1 in Warren, May 16

Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) will hold a public information meeting at 7 p.m. on Thursday, May 16, at Warren City Hall, to discuss construction work scheduled for Trunk Highway 1 in Warren this summer. Work on the highway, from Montana Street to Seventh Street, will require a detour around the project.

According to Shawn Groven, Mn/DOT project engineer, "the project to improve Trunk Highway 1 in Warren will consist of grading, bituminous paving, storm and sanitary sewer, water, lighting and replacement of a bridge decking." Groven said the work is expected to start on May 22 and last until late October.

Residents of Warren are encouraged to attend the meeting and learn more about the project.

Duck First, Ask Questions Later

Every year at this time the question rears its ugly head with as much allure as a disturbed King Cobra looking to even the score with whomever it was that stumbled past his warmish rock. I usually try to tactfully dodge the inquiry and retreat with a diplomatic alacrity that offends neither aggressor nor defender. Rarely can I avoid the encounter without getting at least a little venom spit into my eye.

"Where should I fish on Opener?"

"Umm, err," is my standard witty response. As much as I get asked that, you'd think I could come up with something a little prepared by this time, if for no other reason than just to avoid looking like such a dimwit. Originally, I figured the questions were generated by genuine interest in my fishing abilities and I answered as honestly and candidly as possible.

"Try over here. Look for a little bit of warmer water and southern exposure. Stick to current if April's been cold. Blah blah blah!"

Age and increased paranoia, combined with a long standing reputation for "Opener" struggles, however, have taught me that the query is usually an attempt by another angler to eliminate "dead-water" from his list of early season possibilities. The local logic, presumably, is that if I'm anchored in a spot on the first day of the walleye season, there's little reason to believe that fish are anywhere close.

I tried the "shotgun" method of piscatorial prognostication for a few years, throwing out a long list of structurally and geographically diverse possibilities, knowing that somewhere, someone was bound to stumble across an Opening Day Walleye. Math was simply on my side. And when that moment arrived, I could quickly jump on board and loudly lay professional claim to the knowledge that enabled that catch.

However, the public eye is an unforgiving one, and a larger note seemed to be made of the huge numbers of errors that I'd committed rather than focusing on the few successes that I encountered. In short, my infamy grew faster than my renown.

Yet despite the blundering reputation, the question continued to dog me early each May – "Where should I fish on Opener?" And while I understood the logic (I fish regularly, therefore I should have a clue as to the enigmatic early season Walleye) I began to feel akin to the reluctant prophets. I was not worthy.

I began to say less. I shrunk from public glare. "Opener" questions were answered with little substance and loads of evasion. "Umm, err." became a veritable sermon compared to the other monosyllabic grunts I offered up.

And the less I said, the longer the lines became for my advice. The world seemed to misinterpret my evasiveness for knowledge- a "he who knows most says least" consideration. More boats collected alongside me on "Opening Day". Other anglers more eagerly quizzed me as to the fullness of my Saturday afternoon cooler. Everyone felt I knew something they didn't and was selfishly holding out on them. And it got ugly. Friendships became strained. Professional relationships were thrown out the door. Relatives stopped coming by to visit (yes, that's a downside). All of this because I was burdened with knowledge I did not possess.

My only salvation was extreme self-humiliation. Several years of loudly and publicly proclaiming my "Opening Day" failures to anyone who would listen. In bars and restaurants, at school functions and church gatherings, anywhere that an ear was available, I would spout off at length as to my "Opener" fishing incompetence. Gradually friends and relatives drifted back my way, understanding that I was indeed the complete and utter fishing baffoon they had originally taken me for.

And again, this year, they ask, "Where should I fish on 'Opener'?"

And I respond, in as witty a tone as I can muster "Umm, err.." and then launch into some rambling and disjointed discourse about the Spring weather and the fickle nature of fish and the recent line-up of several planets. And they're happy because they know I know as little as they do about the crapshoot nature of this roulette wheel we call "Opener." And I'm happy because I've dodged the nasty, hooded head of that snake for another year.

Arctic Cat to Web cast fourth quarter results

Arctic Cat has announced that it will host a live Web cast of its fiscal 2002 fourth-quarter and year-end earnings conference call on Wednesday, May 15 at 10:30 a.m. (11:30 a.m. ET), following the release of its earnings before the stock market opens that day.

Christopher Twomey, president and chief executive officer, and Tim Delmore, chief financial officer, will discuss results and accomplishments of the fourth quarter and fiscal year ended March 31, 2002, and provide an outlook for fiscal 2003.

To access this Web cast, go to the corporate portion of the company's Web site at www.arcticcat.com, and click on the conference call icon. A replay of the Web cast will be archived on Arctic Cat's Web site for 30 days following the call. Listening to the Web cast requires speakers and Windows Media Player, which is available for download at www.windowsmedia.com. If you do not have access to the Internet and want to listen to an audio replay of the year-end conference call, dial 800-633-8284 and enter conference call ID #20554502. The audio replay will be available beginning at noon CT on Wednesday, May 15, until 5 p.m. CT on Friday, May 17.

Greenbush to host 64th Annual Sheep Days

The 64th Annual Greenbush Sheep Days is scheduled for Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8, at the Sheep Palace in Greenbush.

The two-day schedule kicks off with a sheep shearing school beginning at noon on Friday. Also scheduled on Friday is a fitting, showing and judging workshop beginning at noon. This is an opportunity for youth and/or adults to work with professional shearers and fitters to increase their knowledge of fitting and evaluating lambs. We will have lambs available for youth to work on.

A new feature for this year's program will be a 4-H Ethics and Quality Assurance training session to be held on Friday at 5:30 p.m. Youth planning to attend the Minnesota State Fair must attend one of these training sessions at least once every three years. In addition, this training will be very educational for all youth and also good for parents.

Saturday's program begins at 8 a.m. with registration for the judging contest and youth show. The judging contest is open to individuals and teams for both youth and adults and begins at 8:30 a.m. Youth show and breeder's pens competition will follow the judging contest. The youth show consists of classes for purebred and commercial yearling ewes, purebred and commercial ewe lambs, purebred ram lambs, market lambs (90 pounds and over) and feeder lambs (less than 90 pounds). The breeder's show includes classes for purebred and commercial breeders' flocks (one ram, two yearling ewes and two ewe lambs), pen of five market lambs and pen of five feeder lambs.

At 1 p.m. the Minnesota Sheep Producers Association will host the Minnesota State Junior Sheep Shearing Contest and an Adult Shearing Contest with contestants coming from throughout the state.

We encourage sheep producers to pack up the family for an afternoon of fun and education on Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8, in Greenbush. For more information, please contact either Dale Carter at 320-239-4962, or Dean Skolen at 218-424-7339. The event is sponsored by the Minnesota Sheep Producer's Association.

Lumberjacks 11-1 winners over TRF in 8AAA meeting

Bemidji ran its record to 13-2 Tuesday with an 11-1 five-inning win over Thief River Falls in Section 8AAA high school softball at the Multi-Events Center.

The Lumberjacks out-hit the Prowlers 15-2 as Thief River Falls fell to 5-6 for the year.

"They're very good," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Matt Okeson. "They have three-four good seniors. They're the team to beat in our sub-section."

It wasn't a big inning that did in the Prowlers, but a steady supply of offense that produced leads of 2-0, 4-0, 7-0, 9-0, and 11-0 after each Bemidji at-bat added up to the early-ending 10 run rule victory.

And while the Lumberjacks pushed runs across the plate, sophomore pitcher Bekki Rasmussen retired 12 straight batters through four innings.

But the perfect game, no-hitter and shutout all disappeared in the bottom of the fifth when Megan Bettin doubled on the first Thief River Falls ball to leave the infield, then scored on a single by Beth Brown.

Rasmussen struck out two and did not walk a batter.

"She (Rasmussen) is a good pitcher," noted Okeson. "We put the ball in play, but they made the plays."

Losing pitcher Megan Berg struck out six and, like Rasmussen, did not issue a walk.

Thief River Falls, Roseau, Moorhead, Herman-Norcross, Hill City, and Winkler, Man. were listed as entries for the Roseau Invitational that was scheduled to begin a two-day run Friday.

The Prowlers have back-to-back home games Monday vs. Kittson Central/Kittson County North at 4 p.m. and Tuesday against Ada-Borup starting at 4:30.

Rain, snow put breaks on LHS, NCTC squads

Wet weather Wednesday and Thursday erased seven varsity-level athletic events at Lincoln High School, along with a Northland Community and Technical College softball doubleheader.

Rain and snow put a stop to the following games, matches and tournaments:

■ Lincoln baseball games at Badger/Greenbush-Middle River on Wednesday and at home vs. Bemidji Thursday.

■ Lincoln girls golf outings at Menahga Wednesday and at East Grand Forks Thursday.

■ Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational boys high school tennis tournament Thursday.

■ Thief River Falls Invitational boys high school golf tournament

Ben Weigelt tried to put on the brakes, but the Thief River Falls runner wasn't able to avoid a tag by Keith Vatnsdal of Roseau during the first game of Tuesday's high school baseball doubleheader at the Multi-Events Center. With two Prowlers on base, a pair of Roseau errors on a pick-off attempt allowed Josh Langlie to score from second. Weigelt, however, was caught trying to go from first to third on the play. The two teams split the twinbill decisions.

Thief River Falls, Roseau split baseball doubleheader...

Prowlers end Rams win streak

Roseau extended its season-opening win streak to 10 games with a 7-6 eight-inning victory over Thief River Falls in the first half of a Tuesday high school baseball doubleheader at the Multi-Events Center, but the Rams' unbeaten status ended when the Prowlers came out a 12-5 winner in the nightcap.

The split put the Prowlers at 4-6.

Thief River Falls turned Game 1 into an extra-inning affair by scoring in the bottom of the seventh when Caleb Crapeau drew a one-out, full-count walk, advanced a base on a passed ball and scored when Josh Langlie singled to right field.

But the Rams, led by former Thief River Falls head coach Tracey Wensloff, made sure it wouldn't be a long affair when Mike Welch dropped a single into short center field to open the eighth, stole second, went to third on an infield ground-out, and trotted home as Will Leetch sent a ground ball single through the left side of the infield. Welch started the game on the bench; Leetch hit No. 9 in the Roseau order.

A soft line-drive single to right-center in the first inning by Langlie and a single down the right field line by Mitch Pribula in the second inning drove in runs for an early 2-0 Thief River Falls lead.

Ross Olson's single to right field plated two third inning runs to tie it.

Another Langlie RBI single, this one to center in the third, put the Prowlers back on top 3-2, but a fourth inning Brian Hites home run and a two-run fifth inning double to the right field fence by Ryan Stromlund provided the Rams with a 5-3 lead.

Roseau had a pair of two-error plays in the sixth that allowed Thief River Falls to pull even at 5-5.

A two-out infield error, a single by Stromlund and a hit-batsman filled the bases with Rams in the top of the seventh. A passed ball scored a run before a strike-out prevented further damage.

Thief River Falls wasted little time before taking control in Game 2, scoring eight times in the first inning and leading 10-0 after just two at-bats.

Two-run doubles by Ben Weigelt and Alex McIntyre highlighted the Prowlers' first-inning second-game assault.

The game was called after five innings because of darkness.

Thief River Falls coach Shane Zutz said the Prowlers put in a pretty good day of baseball. "We let down on one or two plays in both games, but otherwise, we played alright," he said.

Strong pitching performance, pointed out Zutz, were turned in by Langlie, who struck on 10 batters in the opener, and Crapeau, who fanned seven and walked only one in a route-going Game 2 win.

Thief River Falls will be back at the Multi-Events Center diamond Monday for a 4:30 p.m. game against Red Lake County. The Prowlers will play at Moorhead Tuesday, then compete in a weekend tournament at Hibbing.

Itasca tops NCTC for season sweep

■ State tournament starts Wednesday

Northland, beaten twice at Itasca Tuesday and weathered out of a doubleheader at home against Fergus Falls Thursday, will carry a 6-12 record into the 2002 Minnesota Community College Conference state softball tournament, scheduled to be played May 15-16 at the Multi-Events Center.

> MCCC State Tournament
> ■ What: Minnesota Community College Conference state softball tournament
> ■ When: Wednesday and Thursday, May 15 and 16
> ■ Where: Thief River Falls Multi-Events Center
> ■ Format: nine or ten team, double-elimination bracket
> ■ Single-day admission: $5 for adults; $2 for students, ages 10-under free.

The Vikings completed a four-game regular season Northern Division sweep over the Pioneers with a 14-5 five-inning Game 1 win and an 11-4 Game 2 victory.

Northland was out-hit just 20-19 in the two games, and had only two errors on the afternoon. But a bundle of walks provided Itasca with additional base runners, and the Vikings' hitters made sure those scoring chances showed up on the scoreboard.

"Itasca is a good team," pointed out Northland co-head coach Kathy Huschle. "Our bats came alive, and we played good defense. But we gave up a lot of walks, and Itasca got the timely hits to drive those runs home."

The twice-postponed twinbill vs. Fergus Falls will not be rescheduled again since the outcome would have no affect on National Junior College Athletic Association Region 13 qualifiers, or on the draw for the MCCC state tournament.

Results of regional play this weekend at Itasca will make a final determination on the number of teams who will be in Thief River Falls Wednesday and Thursday for the state tournament. A potential 11-team field has already been reduced to 10 after a change in the Region 13 line-up guaranteed an Southern Division team a spot in the NJCAA Division III national tournament that will be held in Joliet, Ill. on the same dates as the MCCC event.

If a second national tournament berth goes to a Northern Division school, the state playoffs become a nine-team affair.

It's the first time Northland has played host to the state tournament. The double-elimination format will have a 10 a.m. or noon start Wednesday, depending upon the number of entries in the open invitational affair.

Northland	103 01 -	5	10	1
Itasca	207 5x -	14	8	2

Offensive highlights - (Northland) Peggy Knutson 3/3, Natalie Sjord 2/2 double. Kylie Rogalla home run. (Itasca) Andi Threlen 3/4, Lexi Geisler 2/3.

Itasca	630 011 0-	11	12	1
Northland	000 130 0-	4	9	1

Pitching - (Itasca) Lexi Geisler W. (Northland) Tiffany Holmes L.

Offensive highlights - (Itasca) Andi Threlen 3/4, Kandra Roberts 2/4. (Northland) Jenny Weiss 2/4.

Jeremy Anderson is academic all-state

Jeremy Anderson of Thief River Falls is listed as a First Team selection on The Guillotine Magazine academic all-state high school wrestling team for 2002.

The publication that covers the sport in Minnesota has been printing it's academic all-state list for 22 years. Wrestlers with a 3.5 grade-point average or higher are eligible. They are nominated by their coaches. The selection process includes a combination of GPA, place finishes in state and sectional tournaments, and overall records.

Seventeen seniors and 13 juniors earned First Team all-state status. Anderson was one of six wrestlers on the team with a perfect 4.0 GPA.

A junior, Anderson was 32-8 this year en route to a fourth place Class AA state tournament finish at 130 pounds. A four-year letter winner with the Prowlers, he will head into his senior year with a 109-31 career won-loss mark.

Twice named the Prowlers' most valuable and most dedicated wrestler, Anderson has been a state meet qualifier the past three years, finishing sixth as a sophomore.

TRF Pepsi Triathlon is scheduled for May 18

Registration deadline for the 18th annual Thief River Falls Pepsi Triathlon will be 8:30 p.m. Friday, May 17, at the close of a pizza and pasta feed at Danny's Pizza that is being sponsored by race officials. Cost of the all-you-can-eat meal is $5.60.

The triathlon, featuring a 500-yard swim, 12-mile bike and 3-mile run, will be held the following day starting at 9 a.m. in the Franklin Middle School pool.

Entry fee is $15, and all participants who are not USA Triathlon members will be required to purchase a one-day license for an additional $7. Entries post-marked after May 11 will be charged a $10 late fee.

A relay division for two or three-member teams ($30 entry fee) will also be part of the race.

The 50-yard swim, 2.4-mile bike and 1.2-mile run Hugo's Kids Triathlon will follow the regular race, beginning at approximately 11:30 a.m. Entry fee is $12.

Race director is Jim Langland, telephone 218-683-2718.

Josh Langlie, a Thief River Falls junior, delivered a pitch against Roseau Tuesday during a high school baseball game at the Multi-Events Center. Langlie struck out 10 Rams, but was not the pitcher of record as the Prowlers lost the first half of the doubleheader 7-6 in eight innings. Thief River Falls was a 12-5 winner in Game 2.

MIDDLE SCHOOL

Thief River Falls Gold beat Roseau 5-4 Tuesday in a middle school baseball match-up. Winning pitcher Drew Kjono struck out 10 and did not give up an earned run. The Gold offense featured Ross Haling, who was 2-for-2, and Michael Benedict, 2-for-3 with two doubles.

Section 8AA True Team track meet results...

Lakers, Cardinals claim titles

Top point totals belonged to Staples-Motley and Detroit Lakes in both portions of the 2002 Section 8AA True Team high school track meet Tuesday, with the two teams splitting first place trophies.

It was a Cardinals-Lakers 1-2 finish in the boys standings and a Lakers-Cardinals final in the boys competition.

Thief River Falls boys and girls had matching eighth place showings in the eight-team event held at Detroit Lakes.

True team section and state meets feature a format that produces points for all finishers in every event.

Two Thief River Falls girls were individual winners as Erin Steva covered 400 meters in 1.02.73 and Brenda Kopari tossed the discus 114-2.

Top place for the Thief River Falls boys was a third by Nathan Browning in the 400.

Tim Olson-coached Prowlers will finish the regular season with invitational meets at Fergus Falls Tuesday, May 14, and at East Grand Forks Monday, May 20.

time with others. Socialization does not, however, extend to casual dating. The family rather believes in the courtship discipline that stresses the importance of friendship in male/female relationships.

After completing her secondary education, Sheila attended school for two years and then came home to raise Pintabian horses with her family.

The Hewitts became interested in the breed and began raising the horses, bred for their tobiano, several years ago. A Pintabian is a horse that is least 99 percent Arabian and has tobiano markings. Several generations ago, the horses were either crossed with a pinto or horse with tobiano markings. Today, they are crossed with either another Pintabian or parebred Arabian to keep the breed at more than 99 percent Arabian. Currently, there are only about 300 Pintabians in the world, and only about 10 percent of them are black and white.

Sheila attended the John Lyons training program in 2000, becoming a certified trainer/educator and assisted in the teaching program in 2001. She is now working at home, training horses and holding riding clinics and demonstrations at horse events across the state. She's assisted in the training by her sisters, and all stay busy showing their horses during the summer.

Music has been the forte of the next three girls. Lacey, Katrice, and Ashlee took violin, cello, and piano lessons in Grand Forks and performed with the Greater Grand Forks Youth Symphony for two years. Sheila, Lacey, and Katrice also participated in the International Peace Garden's music program. The girls have also performed at numerous area functions.

When it comes to the music Katrice and Ashlee are currently involved in, it would have to be said that 14-year-old Ashlee is the band's centerpiece. She's been told that she has been singing since before she can remember, standing on the countertop in her diaper and performing for company. From the time she was three, Ashlee accompanied her dad and sang when he spoke at area churches. "She loves to be the center of attention," Kelli says. Whether she's belting out a country western tune, her rendition of "Amazing Grace," or the "Star Spangled Banner," Ashlee earns her place in the spotlight. In addition to playing the cello and piano, she taken up the rhythm guitar that she plays in the band.

Katrice has been providing backup vocals for her younger sister since she was five years old. She plays the piano, violin, and has been concentrating on the fiddle for the past couple of years. Other current members of the band include bass player Duane Lyberg of Hallock, Bruce Steen on keyboard and lead guitar, and rhythm guitarist Dan Vagle of Hallock. The girls are both excited about their new drummer, 11-year-old Eddie Cozzen of Lake Bronson, who, they say, is showing great promise. The Thief River Falls dance next weekend will feature performances by Cozzen as well as drummer Tom Olson. The Hewitts will be joined at the event by another group, the Walseth Family, whose members know both about big families and music.

Proceeds from the $5 cover charge will go to the Hewitt sisters to be used for the purchase of some new sound equipment. Youth under the age of 21 must be accompanied by an adult with Evergreen Eating Emporium owner Jane Mattson saying she is planning for a fun-filled evening for those in attendance.

Many in the area have already witnessed the talents of Ashlee and Katrice as they performed at numerous church, school, and social-functions. They've also performed in several county fair talent show competitions and earned a trip to the Minnesota State Fair where they made it all the way to the final competition. Recently they traveled with Ardell Larson, their Grandma Hewitt and Bergan Travel to Branson, Mo. where they performed in several restaurants, and last weekend, they competed in and took second place in a Colgate Country Showdown competition in Coleraine.

Although she prefers to leave the girls' management in their parents' hands, rural mail carrier Ardell Larson of Lake Bronson has taken on the job of assistant manager, busying herself arranging engagements for them. Projects in the works include more competitions, an audition with the Minnesota Twins next winter, and a possible trip to Nashville this summer to record their second CD. While they have visions of stardom, the teenagers have no illusions about the music business. It can be tough, and it's frequently as much about being in the right place at the right time as it is about talent.

Besides, when they're not performing, there is always plenty to do at the Hewitt farm. Jim Hewitt retired his job with U.S. Customs five years ago to farm, and the entire family is involved with the horses, Angus cattle, and what Katrice describes as a yard full of barnyard animals of various types, including five dogs and three cats. Katrice raises Holstein calves and with her sister, Mallori, has 65 hens and an egg business.

All four of the oldest girls love hunting with their dad and uncles, and Katrice has recently taken up taxidermy as a hobby.

Running a household that includes 14 people requires everyone's cooperation, too. Her daughters, Kelli says, know how to cook, bake, and, of course, run the washer and dryer.

She even goes so far as to say that her job as matriarch of the large family gets easier as the older girls assume more and more responsibilities. They also display the commitment to family with which they've been raised.

NCTC names Students of Year

make her dreams come true," said Dr. Orley D. Gunderson, president of NCTC.

Shanasi Mason

Shanasi Mason, daughter of Robert and Paula Mason of Granbury, Texas, is graduating with an associate of arts degree in liberal arts. She has been an active member of campus activities, including being vice president of communications for the Student Senate, editor of The Northern Light campus newspaper, student ambassador, member of the Diversity Task Force committee, and community involvement subcommittee, and has also served as a tutor for the minority program with the local school district. Mason has also taken a major role in representing the NCTC student body on and off campus by attending student political rallies and speaking out on higher education funding and against tuition hikes. Mason was instrumental in coordinating a program on the NCTC campus on the National Day of Prayer and Remembrance following the September 11 terrorist attacks.

Following graduation from NCTC, Mason plans to attend Saginaw Valley State University, Saginaw, Mich., where she will major in elementary education. Mason plans to teach elementary school and would also like to pursue a writing career, including authoring children's books and writing for a national publication.

"During the past year, I have gotten to know Shanasi as an outspoken and active student, devoted to the representation of her peers and dedicated to each task she takes on. I am proud to have worked with her during her years at Northland," said Dr. Gunderson.

Agassiz to celebrate Migratory Bird Day

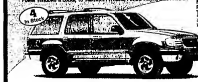
posters will be available free on a first come first served basis. Partners In Flight stickers will be given away also during the celebration.

Agassiz Bookshop, located in the Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge office, will be open for any purchases you desire to make. Items available include plant and wildlife identification books featuring Sibley's fantastic "Birds of North America," Agassiz caps and T-shirts, hand carved wildlife, handcrafted earrings and lapel pins and wildlife videos, CD's and cassette tapes.

Saturday, May 11, 2002, is the official day designated as International Migratory Bird Day. This year's theme is titled "Celebrating Special Places for Birds." "Partners in Flight," a joint government interagency and private organization, was initiated eleven years ago to call public attention to the plight of tropical migratory birds and educate people about the needs of birds. "Partners In Flight" serves as a coordinator and facilitator for migratory bird conservation.

ATV drivers asked to avoid construction

Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) is asking drivers of All Terrain Vehicles (ATV's) to be extremely cautious and avoid driving in areas where construction is taking place.



ATV operators should pay particular attention to areas where hay mulch, reinforced woven fabric, wooden survey stakes, earthen berms and other devices are in place which designate that erosion control measures are being implemented.

According to Larry Randall, Mn/DOT project supervisor in the Northwest District, "evidence of damage done by ATV's is showing up in various construction sites and ATV drivers are being asked to stay away from these areas."

Randall added, "With the reconstruction of portions of Trunk Highway 200 near Itasca State Park, we are required to seed and soil in certain sensitive areas to prevent erosion. When these areas are damaged by ATV's, it can end up costing all taxpayers if Mn/DOT is fined for not being in compliance with environmental regulations that require erosion control."

Mn/DOT asks that ATV operators avoid construction areas and operate their vehicles with care and respect for public road and bridge improvements.

Micro-gardening is an alternative for city gardeners

by Betty Kezar

Micro-gardening helps take the sterile sting out of city life. Call it living on the cheap, call it frugal, call it dinner, but micro-gardening is one of the most creative ways to eat well for less! Practice micro-gardening and you'll replace those hanging plants with baskets of potted vegetables. Cherry tomatoes will decorate the patio where petunias once blossomed. And sprouts will grow where knickknacks once cluttered shelves. Before long, micro-gardening will become second nature. But what is it?

Micro-gardening is growing your own plants – food or flowers – in containers rather than in a plot of ground. The size of the garden is completely up to you. There's micro-gardening, and then there's MICRO-gardening.

You've heard it before: gardening saves money. Besides producing inexpensive food, regular gardening is so labor-intensive that you never have time to consider joining expensive activities like a health club or a meditation group. You'll find exercise and stress relief in regular gardening, but they go hand-in-hand with the tremendous number of hours spent weeding, tilling, watering, fertilizing, picking and worrying about changing weather conditions.

Regular gardening isn't for everyone. Even if you like the work involved (and some people do), you might not have the land, the time or the money to properly establish and maintain a full-sized garden. There's hope, though. Micro-gardening is gardening that just about anyone can handle.

If you're cramped for space, grow your micro-garden inside. Flower pots and window boxes work beautifully for container gardening. Use top-quality gardening soil, not run-of-the-mill dirt, and add the nutrients needed for each specific plant's needs.

Herbs grow particularly well indoors. Depending on your cooking style, one plant each can produce all the parsley, dill, thyme, basil and oregano you need for an entire season of meals. Follow the seed packet directions, or buy individual seedlings, and you're on your way. For the particularly frugal, ask a gardening friend or relative if they'll give you a few of their spare herb seeds. Since your needs are so small, why buy an entire packet of 50 to 100 seeds when you only need five? If you have access to outside areas such as a patio, balcony or porch, your micro-gardening opportunities increase greatly. You may not even need to buy special pots. If you have old flowerpots, buckets, half-barrels or even concrete blocks, you have the makings of great gardening. To plant a block garden stretch black plastic over the patio floor and punch drainage holes in the plastic. Place a row of concrete blocks filled with dirt on top of the plastic and plant seeds or bedding plants in the soil-filled blocks. Go for plants that form bushes rather than vines that need to be staked. Bush beans, tomatoes and peppers are readily available. You can buy them by the individual plant, saving the waste of an entire packet of seeds (unless you can find that generous gardening friend once again). Block gardens are great for patio edges. A word of caution, though, the black-plastic-and-drainage-holes of a block garden could rot a wooden deck or porch. Make sure you try this only on a cement or brick patio. Buckets, barrels and pots are all excellent containers for micro-gardening. Make sure the container is clean and has drainage holes. If there aren't any holes, start with a layer of pebbles before adding the dirt. To simplify preparation even farther, take a big bag of gardening soil, and cut a few slits in it. Plant the seedlings directly into the bag.

Remember that when container-gardening, the plants count on you for their moisture. They might not receive enough rain to grow well, so water the plants when the dirt starts to dry out.

Micro-gardening has it all: for the green-thumb-impaired, it provides opportunity to learn more without an entire patch of ground. For the already-knowledgeable, it gives the chance to try many types of gardening at once. For the easily distracted, it's not so much work that you'll tire of it quickly. And for the hungry, it provides ample variety of food with minimal labor and expense.

Bulbs - tulips and daffodil care

After Bloom

We can count on tulips and daffodils to help welcome spring year after year with only a little bit of care. But some common mistakes in handling bulb plants after they bloom can weaken them and lead to fewer flowers next year.

The most important thing to remember is that leaves must remain on the plants until they turn yellow. This yellowing is not attractive but it's a sign that the leaves have manufactured enough food to build a strong bulb for a good flower display next year.

You can hide these yellow leaves by setting out flowering annuals among the bulb plants about mid to late May.

To encourage strong bulb development, fertilize the bed soon after the plants are above ground and again one month later. If the leaves are pale or undersized, they probably need fertilizer. Apply two pounds of 5-5-5 or a similar fertilizer per 100 square feet. If you're in doubt about this need for fertilizer, send in a soil sample for testing.

If you cut the flowers, use a sharp knife. Take only one or two leaves from each plant to use with the flowers in an arrangement. Taking more leaves than this weakens the bulbs.

Since seed production takes food away from the developing bulbs, remove old flowers before they produce seed.

If your flowers get smaller and fewer, it might mean that it's time to divide and replant the bulbs. Dig the clumps in spring and replant them right away, or hold them in a well-ventilated spot until fall. Digging and replanting in fall is often difficult because the plant leaves are gone and it is hard to find the bulbs.

Fruit trees - why they fail to bear

Home fruit growers often ask: "Why do my trees fail to bear fruit?" There are several possible answers to the question, including: the tree has not yet reached bearing age, improper cultural care, insufficient light, stress due to poor site, insects or disease.

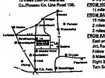
Poor pollination

A plant only blooms when it reaches maturity. Most standard sized fruit trees require five to seven years after planting before they will bear fruit. Dwarf trees usually fruit sooner, within 2 or 3 years after planting.

A fruit tree requires at least 8 hours of direct sun daily to grow, flower and fruit well. In addition, fruit trees require annual pruning and pest management to maintain optimum health. Even with good cultural practices, a particularly harsh winter or a hard freeze in early spring can ruin that year's flower buds. This is especially true for fruit trees that bloom very early in spring, like tart cherries and plums, or for species that lack hardiness in our region, like peaches and sweet cherries. Even rainy weather during bloom can reduce or eliminate a crop by hindering the insects that pollinate the flowers.

Finally, apples, apricots and hybrid plums require that two different varieties be located within 100 feet of each other for pollination to occur. Tart cherries and European plums, however can self-pollinate.

For more information, contact your local Extension Service Office.



Checklist For Spring Repairs

Spring is the time when most people tackle cleaning and maintenance chores. Make sure you are prepared for your spring cleaning by making a list of the items that will probably need your attention. Here are some areas to consider first, courtesy of www.howtocleananything.com.

- Chimneys - clean and inspect flues.
- Siding and trim - Wash siding, touch-up damaged paint and repair loose siding.
- Eaves, downspouts and drains - Clean gutters, straighten and repair damaged downspouts and gutters. Flush downspouts.
- Roofing - Repair damaged shingles and flashing.
- Windows - Clean windows and screens. Inspect them for damage and repair.
- Pests and birds - Check vents, chimneys and other crannies for bird and insect nests.

Meet my friend. . .the ladybug

By Beattie Mickelson

I would like you to meet one of my gardening friends. This friend helps me in my garden and makes my garden look better and be much healthier.

My friend is commonly called the ladybug… its real name is ladybird beetle. This friend is so special because of what it likes to eat – aphids, scales and other soft body insects and their eggs.

Bugs have a sharp hollow bill for sucking blood or plant juices. No beetles are bugs. Beetles have jaws to eat with. Some bugs are food for beetles.

Aphids are small bugs that suck the sap out of our garden plants. This not only makes our plants look sick but often spreads disease from plant to plant. My friend, the ladybird beetle can eat 100's of these aphids.

There are at least 4,000 kinds of ladybird beetles. Most of them are good but there are 2 bad kinds. These are Epilana borealis Fabricius that attack pumpkins, squash and melons and the Mexican Bean Beetle which eats all parts of bean plants except the seed.

Ladybugs have bright bodies, active habits, are in great abundance, are in all parts of the world and are famous in songs and stories. They are nearly a hemisphere in shape; red, brown or tan with black spots (a few are black with red spots). They are 1/16 to ? inch long and about 2/3 as wide as they are long. They have three segmented tarsi. They have relatives with 4 tarsi that are very destructive, the leaf beetles.

The larvae are big and lizard like creatures that run on 6 long black legs. The larvae have very greedy appetites and eat tiny insects all day long which makes them grow very fast. The larvae have distinct body regions, long legs, and warty or spiny backs. They are usually covered with patches of bright colors – blue, black or orange.

After three weeks in the larval stage, they turn into pupa. The pupa are not in cocoons but lay exposed with the tips of the abdomens cemented to the leaf. The sun will warm it and the wind will blow on it. When disturbed it will jerk up and down. While it is in the pupa for one week the larva is changing into a ladybird beetle. One day the pupa will split open. The new ladybug will crawl out, then sit quietly and wait for its body to dry and harden. As it dries, its color will deepen, its black spots will appear.

What do ladybugs do when it rains? They crawl under a leaf to keep dry.

What do ladybugs do when it gets cold? They try to find a warm place by crawling in cracks in buildings, under rocks, leaf debris, bark of the trees or whatever they can find. Sometimes they fly into the air until they get on an air current or prevailing wind to take them to another place.

Birds do not like the taste of the ladybugs. A ladybug lays tiny orange eggs on a leaf and then flies away, they never see their young. The eggs are placed in a mass of 1 or 2 dozen. Each egg stands on end and is in contact with each other. In about 5 days the eggs hatch to become larvae.

When you see ladybugs in early spring, don't worry about them on cold nights. They just hide in the crotch of two twigs and wait for the rising sun to warm them up so they can go and feed on eggs.

The Australian lady beetle was brought to California sometime after 1890 to clean up the cottony cushion scale that was destroying the citrus trees.

Middle Age lore says these beneficial insects were dedicated to the Virgin and were the "Beetle of Our Lady". In England they are called "Ladybirds". Swedish farmers call them "The Virgin Mary's Golden Hen". In France they are called "The Cows of the Lord".

Learn to identify this gardening friend in your garden – the adults, larva, pupa and eggs. Do not destroy them. The larva eat just as many aphids as the adults.

Have a hard time growing trees and shrubs?

Submitted by Kim Swanson

It's frustrating to spend the time and effort planting trees or shrubs, only to see them die or do poorly. Part of the problem could be the site—soils that are poorly drained, subject to drought, alkaline, compacted or affected by de-icing salts. But you can select trees or shrubs that are more tolerant of these conditions and a publication from the University of Minnesota Extension Service called "Tough Trees and Shrubs for Tough Sites" can help.

It recommends specific woody trees and shrubs for six regions in the state. It tells you how to do a simple percolation test to determine how well your soil drains.

There's also a simple test to help tell if your soil is compacted. If you can easily penetrate the soil with a spade down two spade blades (about 18 inches), it's not compacted. But if you need to use a pickaxe, it is compacted.

You can view the publication on the Internet at http://www.extension.umn.edu/distribution/naturalresources/DD7502.html, or check with the Pennington County Extension office or the University of Minnesota Extension Service. For a small charge, you can purchase a copy by calling (800) 876-8636. Ask for item number 07502.

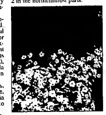
Perennials for the shade

Planning a perennial garden for a shady or partially shady spot presents a challenge. But perennial plants can create a cool, shady spot and add color and texture to a dark area of your yard.



Several perennials may be used for cool, shady areas. Some common shade plants, including hosta and lily of the valley, are good choices. Hostas are grown mainly for their showy leaves. Their flowers range from dark lavender to white. Lily of the valley is popular in spring. Its distinct fragrance is well-known.

Ferns may be used to provide a dramatic background. Astilbe is a flowering perennial with flowers of pink, red, purple or white. Astilbe has a light airy texture and makes a good accent plant. Other good shade plants include: Trollius (globe flower), Dicentra (bleeding hearts), Primula (primrose), and Heuchera, known as coral bells.

Woodland wildflowers, such as trilium, hepatica, woodrue, Jack-in-the-pulpit, and Virginia bluebells, are also well suited to shade gardens.

Low-growing shade plants make good borders or ground covers. Examples include: Ajuga, known as carpet bugle; Pachysandra, also called Japanese spurge; Viola Galium, known as sweet woodruff; Lamium, known as dead nettle; and wild or European ginger.

To find suitable species, browse through garden catalogs. Also, visit your local garden center. Different species may have certain water, pH, or soil type requirements. Make sure the plants you choose fit the site and are hardy in your area. For instance, Minnesota's USDA plant hardiness zones range from 4 in the south to 2 in the northernmost parts.

Even a lazy homeowner looks like a professional gardener by collecting flowering plants that bloom in both sun and shaded areas.

Simple touches to give your home a spring makeover

It's that season again, a time when the trusty paintbrush, level, hammer and drill are taken out of hibernation. Long gone are the days of holiday hustle and bustle, and warmer weather breathes renewed energy into cabin-crazed homeowners.

Spring offers the ideal time to embark on a home-improvement project, and some go all out with major renovations. Others are looking for smaller touches that will give their home a new look. Here are some simple tips on decorative ideas that won't take much time but will have a big impact:

• Say it with color — Nothing can transform a room or the outside of a home faster than a change of paint color or a dramatic decorative accent, like bed linens in a bold shade. Also, neutral colored walls can be paired with several different colored accessories to change the look of a room upon a whim.

• Create a focal point — A room without a focal point can look bland or too busy. Choose a central item, like a painting, piece of furniture or interesting wall covering to tie the room together.

• Scour the flea markets and garage sales — You never know what little treasure you will discover at local flea markets and tag sales. A few inexpensive items like antique vases, picture frames with patina or quirky knickknacks can add a cozy charm to your home.

• Make a splash with pattern — Dress up a bed with a plaid quilt, turn a hallway into a decorative masterpiece with sponge-painting on the walls and investigate floral toiles on everything from curtains to chair covers.

• Look to resources for inspiration — Consult home decorating magazines, your local newspaper, cable programming and more for clever ideas you may never have thought to consider.

• Avoid the clutter — One of the easiest ways to give a room a new look is to ensure that is it neat and orderly. Invest in attractive storage units, shelving, armoires and toy chests to keep the mess at bay.

Aster Yellows - how to identify it, what to do

Aster Yellows is a common plant disease that affects a wide range of flowers, vegetables and weeds. Susceptible flowers include asters, cockscomb, chrysanthemum, coreopsis (core-e- OP-sis), cosmos, echinacea (purple coneflower), dianthus, glads, marigolds and petunias. Entire plantings of marigolds can be destroyed. Susceptible vegetables include carrots, potatoes, onions and tomatoes. Dandelions and plantain are also susceptible and can serve as sources of the disease in home gardens.

The first symptom of the disease is vein clearing, the loss of chlorophyll or green pigment in the leaf veins. This is followed by yellowing of newly formed leaves, sporadic bushy growth, erect growing habit, and stunting. Stems and flower stalks may be numerous and spindly. Flowers often remain green and become distorted. Seeds and fruit do not develop. Specific symptoms vary with the kind of plant.

The leaves of infected carrots grow in tight bunches. The inner leaves are yellow and stunted, while outer leaves turn rosty red to reddish purple. The roots are bitter, stunted and deformed, with tiny hair-like roots growing all over the main root.

Infected glads may have thin, weak, yellow leaves, and the flower spikes may be twisted and deformed, while the flowers remain green. The whole plant is generally stunted and spindly, and the top is often killed.

Asters have stiff yellow growth with many secondary shoots and are stunted. In warm weather, symptoms are more severe, and appear more quickly. At 55 degrees or less, plants may be infected without the symptoms being obvious.

Aster Yellows is caused by a tiny organism known as a phytoplasma and is spread from plant to plant by leafhopper feeding. In Minnesota, Aster Yellows follow an outbreak of the 6 spotted, Aster Leafhopper. Although its eggs can survive Minnesota winters, most adults migrate or are blown here from the south in the spring. Adults are pale green, up to 1/8 inch long, and feed on the under-side of leaves. Touching a plant will cause them to hop or fly away quickly.

Once infected, there is no cure. Diseased plants should be promptly removed and discarded to reduce further spread. Control weeds, such as dandelions and plantain, which may harbor the pathogen. Plants and some varieties vary in resistance. Some research indicates that the use of oat straw mulch may reduce leafhopper numbers. Insecticides are generally not recommended for control of leafhoppers in the home garden.

Some home improvements begin with small touches, like adding an interesting decorative flair to frequently used rooms in the house, like this bedroom (left), and kitchen (right).

Landscaping guide for potential home buyers

If you are considering buying a new home, then you've probably already started your research. According to Mark Whitelaw of the Texas Nursery & Landscape Association, although most prospective home buyers are sure to check out the sizes of rooms, functions of appliances and the quality of the plumbing fixtures of homes they are considering, too few check the landscape for potential costly problems, which can take some of the excitement out of getting a new home.

Before you enter the whirlwind experience of buying a home, consult Whitelaw's checklist for oft-overlooked landscaping problems which may help you negotiate a better buying price, or cause you to pass up a house altogether.

DRAINAGE

Improper drainage can lead to weakened foundations, loose facing materials, rotted supporting wall studs and base plates, structural damage from insects and poor growing conditions for landscape plants. In short, drainage is one of the most important landscaping concerns you should consider before purchasing a home.

• Be particularly aware of surrounding terrain which may cause rainwater runoff into your landscape.

• Look for cracks on interior and exterior walls and along the foundation's perimeter for clues to drainage problems.

• Check rain gutters for good drainage and adequate size to handle the rainfall in the area.

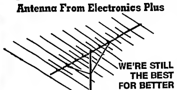
• Be sure that solid surface areas like driveways, patios and walks are graded away from the house.

RETAINING WALLS

The main purpose of retaining walls is to prevent unnecessary soil erosion. Replacing a retaining wall can cost you tens of thousands of dollars, so check these items carefully:

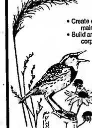
• What type of materials are used in the retaining wall and how old are they? Creosote railroad ties last about 15 years; CCA-treated landscape timbers about 20 years. Masonry can last for centuries if properly installed, but missing mortar may mean the wall is structurally weak.

• Walls higher than 4 feet should be engineered by a professional. Are engineering drawings available and certified by an approving authority?



• Is there adequate drainage through the walls? Solid masonry requires "weep" (drainage) holes equally spaced along the base of the wall.

FENCES



Fences are the ideal tool for security and privacy. Some municipal codes require locking fences for homes with swimming pools. Here are some other questions to keep in mind:

• What is the general repair of the fence? Are posts, rails, pickets and hardware free of rot and rust? Are wood products made from rot-resistant timber?

• Is there a clear space between the bottom of the fence and the soil's surface? Wood fencing will wick moisture into the pickets if they come in contact with the soil and metal fencing may rust more quickly.

Are you discarding $100 bills?

Keep it? Throw it away? Sell it? Those are your choices every time you clean house. Too often you make the wrong one.

The barns and basements of America are filled with ordinary looking things, like a washing machine or blow torch, that someone else wants badly. Because that someone may live a few hundred miles away, you lose money, sometimes a lot of money, when you throw those items away or sell them for pennies at a yard sale.

"That's like tearing up $100 bills," says Tony Hyman, host of the CBS TV News feature "What's It Worth?" and author of a dozen books on hidden treasures around your home.

Some categories are more likely to be valuable than others. Each year, Hyman lists the "Top Ten Household Treasures." Last year's list included 1960s toys, 1970s bicycles, perfume bottles, costume jewelry, fishing tackle, fountain pens, marbles, baseball gloves and cast iron frying pans proving some surprising items can be hidden treasures.

Here are this year's Top Ten Treasures that are worth more than you'd think:

10. Auto owners manuals: Any and all literature about pre-1970s cars, photos, brochures and auto show items are worth from one buck to fifty or more each. A small pile can be worth big bucks.

9. Transistor radios: If it has 6 transistors or less, it's $15 to $1,500, depending on make, model and condition.

8. Thirty-three rpm long play records: It's important to know which are the good ones like the first pressing of Bob Dylan's "Freewheeling" album which would put $5,000 in your pocket.

7. Bobbing head nodder dolls: Top African-American athletes are tops with collectors, bringing up to $3,500 when made of papier mâché or china.

6. Lace: Lace brings up to $100 a square inch, and even machine-made lace is grabbing the attention of collectors and costumers.

5. Beer mugs: Treat hubby's wall-full with respect, as some older Busch mugs bring hundreds of dollars each.

4. Product packaging: Boxes of all sorts of products made before 1960 can have value, especially cigars, candy, gum, coffee and tobacco; cereal boxes only a few years old can also be worth $100 or more.

3. War souvenirs: Vietnam vet? Some of your patches and other uniform parts are already selling for hundreds of dollars. Check it before chucking it.

2. 1960s concert posters: Rock, blues, country — it's all collectible. The poster from Family Dog's SF "Tribute to Ming the Merciless" concert should put $10,000 in your pocket.

1. Pocket knives: One of the biggest surprises is that hundreds of different pocket knives will put more than $1,000 in your pocket if you sell them right!

To find out if you own something valuable you need expert advice and an honest buyer. There's only one good buyer of cigar boxes in the country, and people who want sewing machines, BB guns, and typewriters can be equally hard to find.

The way to make the most money, according to Hyman's viewers, is to contact buyers and appraisers by mail, phone or e-mail. Since 1980, Hyman has been helping amateurs dispose of their possessions by publishing the names, addresses, phone numbers and now e-mail addresses of experts like those you see on TV appraisal shows.

"People are a lot richer than they think," Hyman says, "but until now they haven't been able to cash in on what they own because they didn't know what they have, who wants it, or how much it's worth."

You don't need to know whether you have a $5 fishing lure or a $500 lure, Hyman says, as long as you deal with honest experts. Ask them what you have. Experts will know, he says, and pay you fairly, more than you're likely to get on Internet auctions.

Ten fast interior and exterior upgrade projects

With hectic schedules and work demands, many homeowners don't have much time or energy to plan extensive home upgrade projects. Here's a list of quick, one-hour interior and exterior home improvement projects.

"There are lots of quick, easy projects that people can do to personalize their homes," says Mike Reed of Style Solutions. "Boring rooms can be turned into showpiece marvels. Curb appeal on the outside of the home can be enhanced with the addition of simple pieces. Best of all, even the novice do-it-yourselfer can tackle these projects easily."

• Upgrade #1 — Add texture with moldings.

• Upgrade #2 — Give windows a facelift. Add elegance to the exterior of the home by installing crossheads over the windows. Or, surround the entire window with molding. On the corners, don't worry about mitering. Just use decorative plinth blocks that match up to straight molding cuts.

• Upgrade #3 — Draw attention to ceilings. Install decorative urethane medallions to the top of ceiling fan and light fixtures. Available in a range of styles from simplistic to ornate, medallions help make the ceiling an elegant "fifth wall" in a room.

• Upgrade #4 — Dress up the garage. You enter through this door every day, so why not make arrivals more welcoming? Install insect- and weather-resistant fluted pilasters on the sides of the door and a long crosshead with center keystone over the top. If the garage faces the street, this is an essential way to add curb appeal to the home.

• Upgrade #5 — Break up your walls. Offset windows and doors in a room with vertical pilasters and horizontal crossheads. Usually installed on the outside of a home surrounding an entranceway, these decorative pieces add instant elegance to any room.

• Upgrade #6 — Contrast with metals. Metal accents can provide a cool and welcome contrast to warm colors found in furnishings and wall coverings. Add metal accessories, like wire racks and storage units.

• Upgrade #7 — Look up and trim down. Add classic crown or fascia dentil molding beneath gutters and eaves to heighten the exterior appearance of your home. These pieces add a subtle accent to the roofline.

• Upgrade #8 — Surround your tub. Enhance a bathtub with a combination of urethane window panels and moldings. Because urethane does not absorb water, the panels and trim are ideal for upgrading a bath area.

• Upgrade #9 — Trim out focal features. Try adding millwork trim around a favorite mirror or picture to make it truly stand out on the wall. Faux finishing the trim to coordinate or contrast with wall coverings will make the piece even more special.

• Upgrade #10 — Replace wooden louvers. Located high up in the attic portion of the house, louvers take excessive weather abuse. Hard rains, strong winds and insect infestations increase the risk of peeling paint and damage on these pieces. Replace your louvers with one-piece urethane louvers that resist moisture, rotting, decay, warping and insect infestations.

Plant flowers in soil bag "containers"

by Betty Kezar

Do you have spots in your garden that seem to beg for color? Often those areas are the ones where nothing will grow because of competition from tree roots or bad soil — maybe they're even covered with concrete. In surfing the web, I found a solution.

Buy bags of potting soil, cut four to six slits on one side of a bag, then turn the bag over and make several more cuts in the shape of an X. Then it's ready to be used as a flat "container." Just lay a bag on the ground wherever you need quick color and plant the bags with colorful annuals. Mulching over the bags helps disguise them. And as the plants grow, they cover the bags entirely. If you didn't know better, you'd think they were growing in the ground rather than in a bag.

Although the slits in the bottom of the bag provide good drainage, I think you'll find that these plastic "containers" don't dry out as quickly as some of your other more traditional containers. So another benefit is that they don't need to be watered as often.

Shade tolerant annuals

Many annual plants need full sun to live and to bloom well, but some annuals will tolerate quite a bit of shade. These are plants you want for shady flowerbeds or along walls that block out the sun, or on shady balconies and porches.

Three popular shade-tolerant annuals are wax begonia, impatiens and coleus. Wax begonias are short plants with leaves that are glossy bronze or green, and either single or double flowers in pink, red, or white. They are excellent edging plants. Impatiens will give you continuous blooms in white, red, orange, pink and lavender and add sparkling color to flowerbeds, containers or borders in shady areas. Coleus plants are known for their remarkable foliage patterns and colors. The tiny flowers they produce are not attractive; pinch them off as they appear.

Two shorter annuals that thrive in shade are torenia, the wishbone flower, and mimulus or monkey flower. Two other flowers you might want to try are lobelia, a delicate blue, purple or white edging annual and browallia, which has blue or white trumpet-shaped flowers that look especially good growing with impatiens.

When to fertilize vegetables

All vegetables require nutrients, starting with good soil, to grow and mature. Therefore, incorporate compost or other organic matter into the soil before planting in the spring. You may also choose to add fertilizer.

The following guidelines are for gardens in the Midwest.

If you didn't do a soil test, incorporate 10-10-10 fertilizer at a rate of 2 pounds per 100 sq. ft.

For cabbage family and vine crops, in mid-season apply a side dressing of 10-10-10 at a rate of one pound for each 25 feet of row.

Carrots and other root crops also need a side dressing of 5-15-5 fertilizer at a rate of one pound for every 25 feet of row in mid-season.

Fertilize tomatoes, eggplants and peppers once or twice a month. When the first fruit is about 2 inches in diameter, incorporate one teaspoon of 5-10-5 into the top 1/2 inch of soil around each plant. Avoid heavy applications of nitrogen that can stimulate vigorous vine or leaf growth and delay fruit production.

Never use weed-and-feed fertilizers in your garden. They'll kill good plants along with the weeds.

The Job Market

Many feel they are underemployed

Study looks at TRF "laborshed"

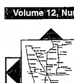
by David Hill
Editor

Difficulty finding qualified employees to fill jobs, even amidst growing unemployment are familiar concerns to most residents and businesses in northwest Minnesota. During the recent annual meeting of Jobs Inc., a quasi-governmental economic development organization in Thief River Falls, officials presented information on the Thief River Falls "laborshed" that may be helpful to businesses and residents in the near future.

As a result of a desire to know more about the workforce in the region, two assessments were undertaken. One involved an assessment of the workforce and available workforce in northwest Minnesota. This labor force assessment involved interviews with 3,190 randomly-selected residents, 18-years and older. A second study, which was really part of the first study as well, was undertaken of the area within a 45-mile radius of Thief River Falls – an area officials have coined as the Thief River Falls "laborshed." The margin of error for the assessment of the Thief River Falls "laborshed" is within plus or minus four percent at the 95 percent level of confidence. The surveys were undertaken by Minnesota Trade and Economic Development, and sponsored in part by Jobs Inc., several area businesses, and organizations.

Of the study in the Thief River Falls "laborshed," probably the most startling bit of information gleaned from the information was that nearly 5,300 employees, or 17 percent, of the employed workforce in the Thief River Falls "laborshed" are considered "underemployed." (The underemployed are regarded as available workers for a new employer, or for their current employer in a different capacity.)

The study added that there are over 37,000 people in the Thief River Falls "laborshed," which also has an unemployment rate of six percent or 2,295 people. When coupled with the number of underemployed, they conclude that there are 7,582 people available in the area for work. Sixteen percent of the employed workforce are part-time employees. Twenty-five percent of the employed workforce are self-employed or consultant/contractual workers; and eight percent, or 3,002, are seasonal or temporary employees.



What would cause the underemployed to switch jobs?

The assessment looked at the factors that generally bear on a person's choice of whether or not to take a job: wages, benefits, hours and commute.

Wages. An interesting observation made in the report, is that $10 to $10.99 is the most commonly required wage, and also the wage that would attract the majority of available workers. The study showed that of the employed workforce, 9,995 earn less than $11 per hour. A conclusion reached, therefore, was that a larger percentage of available-workers-required wages, fall into the lower ranges than the percentage of employed workers' earnings. (The median wage earned now is between $12 and $12.99.)

Benefits. Benefits are also important to the workforce in the

Racism focus of Saturday march

Bemidji - Alleged racist name-calling by a white person against a child from Red Lake is the immediate cause of a protest scheduled for Saturday (May 18) at McDonald's restaurant in Bemidji.

Organizers, however, said the situation with the families at McDonald's is just the culmination of all the insults members of the Red Lake Nation have suffered at Bemidji businesses and cited many examples of Red Lakers being treated rudely, watched by store detectives or followed by police.

Public Safety Director Bruce Preece issued a peaceful protest permit for 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday. Police will block off a portion the roadway and be on hand for traffic control. McDonald's has offered to provide coffee for the demonstrators. The Pioneer

Commencement at Oklee today

Oklee - Twenty-eight seniors will receive their diplomas during commencement exercises today (Saturday, May 18) at Oklee High School.

Also receiving a diploma will be Stephen Paquin, after a wait of some 30 years. Paquin is a Vietnam veteran whose education was put on hold due to the war in southeast Asia.

Paquin's story will be chronicled in the Grand Forks Herald. He is the son of the late Adelore and Betty Paquin. The Oklee Herald

Warroad teaching couple retires

Warroad - A promise that they would only stay in Warroad one year turned into a lifetime career move for Jim and Carol Hallan.

Jim has been the band director and Carol an English teacher at Warroad High School for the past 33 years. The couple will retire at the end of the school year. Warroad Pioneer

City-wide garage sale today

Warren - Folks have been cleaning out their closets and garages in Warren with more than 25 garage sales slated for today (Saturday, May 18).

The event, sponsored by the Warren Chamber of Commerce, will also feature downtown sales, lunch by the American Legion Junior Auxiliary, a physics class car wash fund-raiser, and there will be a book and plant sale.

Sales will commence at 9 a.m., and a map of the city along with locations of garage sales will be available at Warren businesses. Warren Sheaf

Seed cleaning plant in the works

Williams - Due to demand and the soon-to-be closing of Marvin Elevator at Warroad, a new grass seed cleaning and marketing plant is in the planning stages in Williams.

Over 30 area growers plan on investing in the new plant, including Northern Farmers Co-op Exchange. Marvin Elevator is planning on giving the growers a gift of equipment to help defray some costs in getting started. Northern Light

Graduates of NCTC set sights on future

Relatives and friends packed the Northland Community and Technical College (NCTC) gymnasium Thursday for the graduating class of 2002.

While a vast majority of the people in the audience Thursday were Minnesotans, Dr. Orley Gunderson recognized those who traveled from much further away. In fact, there were relatives of graduates who traveled to Thief River Falls from such places as Texas, Illinois, and Alaska. Dr. Gunderson noted that it was a testament to the devotion of relatives and friends and to students and their commitment to excellence in education, that they traveled to the community from so far away.

The 180 or so of the 403 graduates who participated in graduation ceremonies were also recognized. But special honors were bestowed upon five individuals. Annual awards handed out during graduation include Student of the Year, Employee of the Year, Faculty of the Year and Alumnus of the Year awards. This year, there were two Students of the Year – Shanasi Mason, who traveled to NCTC from Houston, Texas, and Beth Olson of Hokah, Minn. (Stories about them appeared in the May 11 edition of the Northern Watch.) Other award honorees included Heather Hauschild, selected as Employee of the Year; Avis Dyrud, selected as Faculty of the Year; and Anita Cardinal, who was selected as Alumnus of the Year. (Stories about these individuals appeared in the May 15 edition of The Thief River Falls Times.)

Honored student speakers Beth Olson and Shanasi Mason reflected upon accomplishments, and new challenges. Olson was a member of the NCTC girls basketball championship team. She challenged her classmates to trust in their teammates and self, never let their guard down, and dare to dream. As Henry David Thoreau said, "Go confident in the direction of your dreams."

Coming to Thief River Falls from Houston, Tex., was a shock for Shanasi Mason. Who would have thought, she said, that it would snow in May. Mason encouraged her classmates to accept and adapt to new challenges. The rewards, she said, will be great.

As students and their friends and relatives left the gymnasium, they did so to refrains of the Stars and Stripes Forever, being performed by the Northland Community Band, and perhaps, with the words of the class motto – "It is in dreaming the greatest dreams... seeking the highest goals, that we build the brightest tomorrows."

Brendon Boisted of Fertile crosses the stage to accept his diploma. Boisted was among 180 students participating in graduation ceremonies at Northland Community and Technical College in Thief River Falls on Thursday, May 16. Relatives and friends packed the gymnasium of the two-year college.

Goodridge plans Baccalaureate on Wed., May 22

Baccalaureate for Goodridge High School students will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, May 22, at the Goodridge Community Center.

Several years ago, the Goodridge area churches revived Baccalaureate services to honor their graduating seniors. Guest speakers have included Goodridge graduates who have attained high honors in their professional and/or personal lives. LaVonne Forsberg, an accomplished artist, is this year's guest speaker.

LaVonne Forsberg

LaVonne Forsberg is a 1961 graduate of Goodridge High School. She married Larry Forsberg in August of 1961 and they have lived in Thief River Falls since that time. They have two sons and two daughters. They have also shared their home with several foster children. Larry and LaVonne have eight grandchildren and many foster grandchildren.

For most of LaVonne's career, she has been self employed. The State of Minnesota commissioned her to do the art work for the State Park permit and collector's mug for the year 2001.

The Baccalaureate service will also consist of musical selections by Goodridge High School students, senior readings, pastoral participation, and a light lunch.

Celebrating National Hospital Week

▶ Reese Vedbreeten struggles to complete a puzzle as she adjusts to a mask designed to give her an idea of what it's like to be blind. Reese and other second graders from throughout Pennington County participated in the 20th Annual Rehabilitation and Disabilities Awareness program Thursday at Evangelical Free Church (the former Washington Elementary school) in Thief River Falls. The program, which is held during National Hospital Week, sensitizes students to the needs and concerns of students with disabilities, by engaging students in numerous activities and discussions.

Marvin Windows employees earn bachelor degrees

Wednesday evening a handful of Marvin Windows and Doors employees were involved in a University of Minnesota first.

Receiving Bachelor of Manufacturing degrees in a ceremony at Warroad High School were Kevin Bruce, Jeff Dow, Gale "Mitch" Cole, Cary Olson, and John Zeck. The degree program was offered on-site at Marvin Windows and Doors, and the five graduates were the first to have completed the first fully off-campus undergraduate degree program in the University system.

In addition to the graduates and their families, University of Minnesota Regent Bob Bergland and numerous officials from the University of Minnesota, Crookston and Marvin Windows and Doors attended the graduation ceremony.

More graduations of this kind are on the horizon as there are over 100 Marvin employees currently enrolled in various University courses, with 23 working toward Bachelor of Manufacturing degrees.

The program began in 1999 when a joint-proposal between Northwest Technical College and the University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) was brought forth and accepted. Immediately, a partnership formed and Marvin employees had an opportunity to enroll in three accredited programs: Associate of Applied Science (AAS) degree in Supervisory Leadership, AAS in Manufacturing Engineering Technology, and Bachelor of Manufacturing.

Developing the program proved challenging. Marvin employs over 2,600 people at its corporate office and 45-acre production facility in Warroad. The company believes that the people who work at Marvin are highly skilled, creative, and innovative. Most are also family oriented and possess a strong work ethic and willingness to learn. Because finding the right balance between work, family, and continuing education was so difficult, only a few pursued their dreams.

Believing in life-long learning and located just six miles from the Canadian border and over 90 miles from the nearest technical college, Marvin officials sought out different avenues to bring post-secondary education to its site.

In the mid-1990s, initial contacts were made to higher learning institutions and partnerships formed to bring certificate programs in Business Microcomputer and Supervisory Leadership to the communities of Warroad, Roseau, and Baudette, and on October 18, 1998, 22 people from the tri-communities graduated from Northwest Technical College's certificate programs.

Later that winter, an employee challenge was put forth to bring a bachelor's degree program to

SOUPÇON

Sherry LaCoursiere

We were cooking for company, last I remember, what with all those showers and graduations and confirmations and such. Let's see what we can do to help you prepare for the celebrations.

This cool dessert will be great to serve with sandwiches:

RASPBERRY DELIGHT

Crust:
2 cups crushed pretzels
2 tablespoons sugar
1/3 cup chopped pecans
3/4 cup softened butter

Filling:
1 (8 ounce) package cream cheese
3/4 cup sugar
1 (8 ounce) carton thawed whipped topping

Topping:
1 (6 ounce) package raspberry gelatin
2 cups boiling water
2 (10 ounce) packages frozen raspberries (not thawed)

In bowl, combine pretzels, sugar, pecans and butter. Press into bottom of ungreased 9x13 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Cool.

In mixing bowl, beat cream cheese and sugar until smooth. Fold in whipped topping and spread over crust.

In another bowl, dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in frozen raspberries until gelatin is almost set. Spread over filling layer. Chill overnight. Serves 12-16.

You've made a salad like this before, but this one is a little different – anyway, it's good to be reminded about a good thing – remember to make it the day before so it can chill overnight:

LAYERED LETTUCE SALAD

Cut up lettuce
1 cup celery, chopped
4 hard cooked eggs, sliced
1 box frozen peas, uncooked
1/2 cup green pepper, chopped
1/4 cup onion, chopped
1/2 cup carrots, coarsely grated
Bacon bits
Mayonnaise-type salad dressing
4 ounces shredded cheddar cheese

Layer lettuce, celery, eggs, peas, green pepper, onions, carrots and bacon bits. Top with salad dressing and sprinkle with cheddar cheese. Chill overnight, if possible.

Cranberries are good any time of year – this salad is especially nice for a buffet:

CRANBERRY MARSHMALLOW SALAD

1 pound cranberries, ground
Small can crushed pineapple, drained
1 pound miniature marshmallows
1 pint cream, whipped

Combine ingredients and chill at least 12 hours before serving. Double to serve a bunch.

This is sometimes called "Frog's Eye Salad." You might like to try it for your party – remember to make it the day before you need it:

DEPEPE SALAD

1 generous cup depepe macaroni, cooked, drained and cooled
1 (20 ounce) can crushed pineapple (drain and reserve juice)
2 (8 ounces each) cans mandarin oranges (drain and reserve juice)
2 cups of the reserved juice (add water if needed)
3 eggs, beaten
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup miniature marshmallows
4 ounces thawed whipped topping

Cook macaroni.

Drain juice from fruits, adding water if necessary. Refrigerate fruits.

Heat juice and thicken with sugar, flour and beaten eggs. Mix with hot macaroni and let set overnight in refrigerator.

Next day, fold in fruit, marshmallows and whipped topping.

This is one of those delicious salads that you make only for special events – use your own favorites in it too – it tastes great with sandwiches or your favorite barbecued meats:

ANTIPASTO SALAD

Dressing:
1/2 cup olive or salad oil
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon crushed red pepper
1 tablespoon snipped fresh basil or 1 teaspoon dried basil leaves
1/4 cup lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 clove garlic, crushed

Pasta:
1 tablespoon salt
8 ounces pasta (any kind)
1 tablespoon salad oil
1/2 cup cubed red pepper
1/4 pound Provolone cheese, cubed
1/4 cup sliced salami or pepperoni (slices cut into quarters)
1/2 cup cubed green pepper
4 medium mushrooms, washed and sliced
1 (1 pound 4 ounce) can garbanzo beans, drained
1/4 cup small black pitted olives
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

To make dressing, in jar with tight-fitting lid, combine oil, lemon juice, 1 teaspoon salt, black and red pepper, garlic and basil. Shake until well combined.

In large kettle, bring water, salt and oil to rapid boil. Add pasta. Do not overcook. Drain.

Turn pasta into a large bowl when hot. Immediately add dressing and toss to combine. Cool.

To pasta mixture, add green and red pepper, sliced mushrooms, cheese, garbanzos, meat, olives and parsley. Toss lightly to combine. Place in serving bowl. Refrigerate, covered, for 1 hour. Toss well before serving.

Construction on Oslo, Hwy. 1 bridge, begins on June 10

Construction work to improve the bridge over the Red River on Trunk Highway 1 west of Oslo in Marshall County, is expected to begin on Monday, June 10, instead of the previously announced starting date of May 20, according to Shawn Gruven, project engineer for the Minnesota Department of Transportation.

Gruven said, "with a later start date than anticipated, we had to allow the contractor several more working days but the project is still expected to be completed by the end of July."

The work requires that the bridge over the Red River be closed and a detour put in place on June 10, with westbound traffic being routed north on Trunk Highway 220, west on Trunk Highway 317, then south on Interstate 29.

Mn/DOT would like to thank the public for its patience and cooperation during construction.

Applicants for Mrs. Pennington Co. being sought

Applications are being accepted for the title of Mrs. Pennington County. Mrs. Pennington County will have the honor of representing her county at the Mrs. Minnesota International Pageant, which will be held at "Ritsche Auditorium," March 15 and 16, 2003 in the City of St. Cloud.

The woman chosen as Mrs. Pennington County will become an ambassador from the Pennington County area and will receive an official title and sash.

The woman chosen as Mrs. Minnesota International will receive a prize package worth $7,000 and the chance to represent Minnesota at the 2003 Mrs. International Pageant. The Easter Seal Society and the Race for the Cure are the official charities of the Mrs. Minnesota International Pageant.

Competitions in the pageant include personal interview, aerobic wear, and evening gown. (There are no swimsuit competitions.)

For more information, call 952-432-6758.

What's It All About Anyway?

It's not supposed to be about the fish. It's supposed to be about camaraderie and scenery and clearing the cobwebs from brains that have been stultified by a winter's worth of regurgitated fish house air. It's supposed to be about seeing the season's first Bald Eagle soaring majestically overhead, or spotting a young Black Bear curiously shambling along a sand beach in search of a chance meal, or hearing a squadron of impatient Bluebills roar overhead as they wait for nesting lakes further to the north to give up their spring ice. It's supposed to be about finding a suitable concoction of clothing in order to survive a day that begins with January chill, rises to sleepy mid-summer warmth, and closes with November goose bumps. It's not supposed to be about the fish.

Then again, if Lake of the Woods continues to spit out early May fish the way it has for the last three years, it's just fine with me if we want to make it about fish.

Depending on personal expectations for the first week of the open water season, this past one has seen the fish as either highly cooperative or extremely annoying. Quite frankly, (and you may only hear me say this once), they almost bit too well. I like to cruise around during the early days of the year. It's all part of the junket right now. You pick up a fish here and a fish there-no such thing as a real "hot-spot." You keep moving and bit by bit a formula for the bigger fishing picture forms in your head. Which spots might deserve more attention a week or so from now when the activity level is greater. Which areas might hold the potential for the first of the late spring bonanzas.

This moving also gives you the opportunity to answer questions as to what six months of winter have done to the Lake. What have the wind and ice and low water done to resurrect Pine Island? What trees and eagle nests blew done in those January storms? Where have cabins and new docks been installed. It's all part of the yearly ritual of re-establishing an outdoor relationship.

Yet, when the "bite" is as good as it was these past few days, it can be tough to concoct reasons for this movement. Drop an anchor, drop a line, catch fish. That's far too simple. Far too anti-climactic. Far too motionless.

There were numbers of fish, there was size to those fish, and there was the usual complement of spring variety. There existed no "secret" pattern or spot or color. Whether the clarity of a non-runoff situation gave the walleyes a greater visibility or the subtle nature of the current allowed them to spread across greater areas, I couldn't tell you. It just seemed like anyone who was willing to put in a good chunk of time and a bona-fide fishing effort managed to at least eat some fish in the evening. Most boats managed to throw back at least one big fish and I saw more 25 to 30 inch walleyes released than I have since the stormy days of last July. In all, it was an opening weekend that bears etching in one's brain.

And despite the fact that I like to view opening week as a time to get out and about and re-connect, I have to confess that I didn't even make it to such exotic fishing destinations as the Gap, a mere two miles downriver, before four days of the season had passed.

And maybe it's not supposed to be about the fishing this early in the year, but after three years of this kind of "Opener" success, maybe it just could be.

Grygla student's work published in BSU "New Voices"

Phoebe Tsellos of Grygla was one of 42 students to have works selected to appear in the 2002 edition of "New Voices," an anthology of high school writing published by Bemidji State University.

Tsellos, a junior at Grygla High School, had her poem, "The Path to Maturity," published. Her writing was submitted by William Poole.

"New Voices" gives Minnesota High School students an opportunity to have their poems and short stories published as well as engages young authors in the creative writing process.

Writings were chosen for the anthology based on style, content, and issues of interest to high school students. More than 160 students submitted manuscripts for the 2002 book. The publication is made possible with the support of the BSU English Department, the BSU College of Arts and Letters, and Bemidji State University Foundation.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editorial opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

Remember Canada on Memorial Day?

On Memorial Day 1966, citizens in Thief River Falls saw a need to address and honor the special relationship that allows Canada and the United States to have the longest unprotected border in the world. Relationships even between the closest of relatives, friends and neighbors can sometimes fray. I was told that at the time, there was a certain amount of tension between the countries, but citizens in Thief River Falls felt a need to remind everyone of the value of this relationship. So on Memorial Day 1966 citizens of Thief River Falls and Canada met at a spot in the Tourist Park (the campground park) and dedicated it to peaceful coexistence and the friendships that have developed. The spot has since moved, but the plaques and flags have been placed at a promontory overlooking the Hartz Park.

As Memorial Day approaches, it is not inappropriate at all to remember and celebrate the peace that exists between our two countries. Since that day in 1966, our relationship has strengthened and despite agricultural policy differences and fishing roles and regulations, the economic relationship has strengthened.

How important is the economic relationship between Minnesota and Canada? According to the Minnesota 2001 Annual Export Statistics, Canada is Minnesota's number one export market. During 2001, for example, exports to Canada increased by 2.1 percent to $2.3 billion. Transportation equipment exports were the main source of growth and grew by 41 percent to $510 million in 2001. This growth offset declines in computer and electronics ($22 million or 6 percent), food products ($28 million or 8 percent), and electrical equipment ($43 million or 26 percent). In contrast, U.S. exports of transportation equipment to Canada fell by 8 percent.

Tourism is important economically, as well. Though not so much of a surprise anymore, most citizens of Thief River Falls can testify to watching in amazement as bus loads of Canadian citizens stop at our grocery stores. While the destination of these Canadian citizens is the area casinos, one local grocery store manager reported that between seven and 10 bus loads of Canadian citizens stop his store every week.

The current exchange rate seems to be more of a deterrent to trade recently, but as time passes, perhaps citizens of Thief River Falls can help citizens of Canada find more reasons for stopping in Thief River Falls.

It is also appropriate to recognize our good neighbor to the north at this time because it is Victoria Day in Canada. Victoria Day, which is the last Monday before May 25, is observed in Canada in commemoration of the birthday of Queen Victoria. Many Canadian citizens choose to celebrate this event by visiting friends, relatives and tourist destinations in America. Our own Tourist Park was filling up with Canadian visitors on Thursday. By Friday evening, the park should be near capacity.

The plaque under the American flag in Tourist Park states: "Dedicated Memorial Day 1966 to all the citizens of Canada, our good neighbor to the north by VFW Post 2793 and citizens of Thief River Falls with our fondest hopes and prayers for everlasting peace and understanding between the people and governments of our two great nations."

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

LETTERS

We challenge everyone to the Promise of Community Action

To the Editor:

"The United States was built on the ideal that hard work should pay off, that individuals who contribute to the nation's economic growth should reap some of the benefits. People from all walks of life, from laborers to corporate executives, contributed to the strong level of overall economic growth that dominated much of the 1980s and 1990s. However, over the last two decades, the gap in income between the lowest-income and the wealthiest Minnesotans has widened significantly. In fact, the top fifth of Minnesota earners gained 55.1 percent, while earners from the lower fifth gained only 22.7 percent.

What's worse, this year's economic downturn has severely compounded the problems of the working poor. Low-wage employees don't receive hefty severance packages after they've been laid off. They don't have savings or 401k plans to fall back on. Many are the sole breadwinners in their families, often supporting their children, parents and other relatives. As the economy worsens, so do their job prospects. They are typically among the last hired and first fired. With no one to depend on, they wonder how they will eat, pay rent and afford health care.

Fortunately, there is hope. Community Action Agencies such as Inter-County Community Council offer comprehensive services to help area low-income residents change their lives. A desire to meet community needs is what makes Inter-County and the network of 1,000 community action agencies unique. Since 1964, community action agencies have embodied the spirit of hope and a commitment to making America a better place to live. They do this by offering job training, financial management counseling, housing assistance, Head Start, nutrition programs and much more – all under one roof.

As part of National Community Action month in May, Inter-County would like to challenge everyone to work toward the Promise of Community Action, which states: "Community Action changes people's lives, embodies the spirit of hope, improve communities and makes America a better place to live. We care about the entire community and we are dedicated to helping people help themselves and each other."

Sincerely,
Bob Melby
Executive Director
Inter-County Community Council

To the Editor:

The Minnesota Department of Tourism puts out a twice a year paper called the "Minnesota Explorer." One issue is available during the fall/winter season, filled with lots of things that travelers and tourists can find to do during the colder months of the year. Then they put one out that touts the warmer weather activities in spring/summer. They are available at any and every possible place where interested people are likely to pick them up. They are found at parks, visitor's centers, museums, resorts, other vacation spots, everywhere.

I was just going through the spring/summer issue and looked for the many summer celebrations that are happening up in this part of Minnesota. They were not all there. They should have been in the Calendar of Events, in the columns in alphabetical order. They should have been in the columns in chronological order. Roseau, Lake Bronson, East Grand Forks, Crookston and Thief River Falls were there. The birding festival at Lake Bronson was there under the Kennedy name. Where were the rest? What about Halloek, Stephen, Argyle, Warren, Karlstad, Fertile, Fosston, St. Hilaire, Red Lake Falls? I know that not all festivals and events dates can be set – The County Fairs seem to have a problem, but all the other summer activities have set dates. Argyle's Meet Your Neighbor Day is always the last weekend in June, Stephen celebrates the last weekend in July, Hallock also has a locked in date for their big day. Everyone knows when their festivals will be, so why not advertise them in this paper that will reach so many more people – and it is free?

Those communities where there were special days listed, this has been done by certain, special people whose job it is to do that advertising. Why can't responsible people from our area towns do the same thing? Sure, there is a deadline date in the fall that needs to be met, but in this age of technological wonders, it has to be easy to do.

I really do believe in advertising. There are so many ways that we can let people know they are invited to our fun days. Everyone at home can read the local papers and see the posters, but there may be some travelers, someone out there looking for something different to do that should be able to see what we have, too.

Watch for the changes that are going to be made in our area over the next few years. Like it or not, they will happen and if we are smart, we will be there helping those changes to happen. There are so many things we can do to bring interested people to this area. They can find many ways to spend their money in our stores, motels, gas stations. Sounds like a good idea, doesn't it?

As usual, I have to mention my favorite topic, the Historic King of Trails. On page 10 of the current copy of the Minnesota Explorer, I found an important little spot about Highway 75. In the article "Discover the Southwest Border," a nice introductory paragraph is written about some of the things that can be found along the Minnesota/Iowa border. Then the author, Joan Hummel, goes on to tell about the International Highway that connects the two states. I will repeat her words. "Back in 1918, a route extending from Winnipeg to the Gulf of Mexico was dubbed the 'King of Trails.' When highways were numbered a few years later, it became U.S. Highway75. Last year, the portion of the highway running through Minnesota was officially designated as the 'Historic King of Trails.' Communities along the highway are working together to draw more travelers to this route once again." That's us folks. We have a lot more to do, but there is already a good beginning. Let's keep going.

Sincerely,
Ethel Thorlacius
Stephen

DFL District I endorsing convention set

Senate District I Democratic Farmer Labor (DFL) endorsing convention will be held on Saturday, June 1, at the Heritage Community Center, Thief River Falls. Registration will be from 1 to 1:30 p.m. and the convention will start at 1:30 p.m.

The purpose of the convention is to endorse a candidate for the House seat 1A and House seat 1B. The endorsement process will also include an endorsement for state Senator for Senate District 1 that includes the counties of Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington and Polk this year because of redistricting.

The convention business will also include election of officers for the Senate district.

Invitations have been sent to Congressman Collin Peterson, State Senator Roger Moe, candidate for Governor.

All delegates and alternates who were elected at the precinct caucuses in March are encouraged to attend and vote at the convention. Anyone interested in the political process is welcome to attend.

If you have any questions you may call Norma Hanson, senate district chair at 218-378-4380, or John Johnson, district treasurer

It wasn't a pretty slide, but Tiffany Luukkonen of Hibbing made it to third base on a wild pitch before Kylie Rogalla of Northland could apply the tag during the third inning of Wednesday's Minnesota Community College Conference state softball tournament opening round game. The Pioneers won 3-2.

■ TRF boys set relay mark at Fergus Falls Invitational

School record turned in by the boys 4x200 relay team highlighted Thief River Falls performances Tuesday at the Otters Invitational high school track meet in Fergus Falls.

While they finished second in the race, Jon Swanson, Jon Walrath, Nathan Browning, and Danny Almquist formed the Prowlers' record-breaking foursome that beat a 1:37.39 school-best figure set in 1999 by running a 1:36.44.

Trent Christensen gave the Thief River Falls boys first place points in the shot put with a throw of 50-feet, 4-inches.

Four Prowlers were winners in the girls' portion of the meet as Erin Steva ran a 61.37 in the 400 meters, Stacia Kalinoski went 5:28.87 in the 1600 meters, Krista Brenna reached 35-2 in the shot put, and Shara Guidry hit 115-2 in the discus.

Guidry, Brenda Kopari (107-10) and Brenna (102-1) gave the Prowlers a 1-2-3 sweep in the girls discus.

The five-school meet produced team titles for Moorhead and Fergus Falls.

Moorhead boys collected 243 points, followed by Fergus Falls with 168, Thief River Falls 68, Hillcrest Lutheran Academy 6, and A-B-E 4.

Fergus Falls girls finished with 180 points, followed by Moorhead with 178, Thief River Falls 117, A-B-E 20, and Hillcrest Lutheran Academy 1.

Prowlers' Joseph Haj is medalist

Shorthanded Thief River Falls didn't figure into the team scoring, but that didn't stop the Prowlers' Joseph Haj from individual honors at the Fertile-Beltrami/Red Lake Falls Invitational boys high school golf tournament Wednesday.

Haj, a senior, turned in a three-over-par 75, to win the event.

"Because of illness and tests, we fielded an incomplete team," explained Thief River Falls coach Dick Tyler. "They (Prowlers) knew they would be playing for individual medals. Joseph Haj responded by shooting a 75. He was proud because it was his first varsity medal."

An 84 by Jay Tuthill and an 88 by Brian Jung were the only other scores turned in by the Prowlers.

Lake of the Woods won the 19-team event with a 319, three shots

MCCC state softball tournament at Multi-Events Center...

NCTC eliminated on Day 1

A one-run opening round win was followed by a pair of early-ending mercy-rule losses as host Northland made a first-day exit from the 2002 Minnesota Community College Conference state softball tournament.

The Pioneers got by Hibbing 3-2, but fell to Riverland 10-1 and Ridgewater 10-2 in the 10-team, double-elimination tournament at the Multi-Events Center.

Mesabi Range, Hibbing and Minnesota West also had their seasons end with two Wednesday setbacks. Central Lakes and Riverland were Day 1 unbeatens. Vermilion, Ridgewater, Itasca, and Fergus Falls carried a loss into Thursday's second and final day of the tournament being played in Thief River Falls for the first time.

The Pioneers' season ended at 7-14.

MCCC State Tournament - Day 1

■ 10 a.m. - Minnesota West 3, Mesabi Range 2; Northland 3, Hibbing 2; Itasca 2, Ridgewater 6

■ Noon - Riverland 10, Northland 1; Central Lakes 3, Fergus Falls 2; Vermilion 32, Minnesota West 7

■ 2 p.m. - Riverland 7, Itasca 6; Ridgewater 3, Mesabi Range 6 (Mesabi Range eliminated); Fergus Falls 15, Hibbing 3 (Hibbing eliminated)

■ 4 p.m. - Central Lakes 7, Vermilion 4; Ridgewater 10, Northland 2 (Northland eliminated); Fergus Falls 5, Minnesota West 4 (Minnesota West eliminated).

Hibbing 2

Offense was hard to come by, but Northland had enough pitching and defense to beat Hibbing 3-2 in Round 1.

The Pioneers were limited to just four hits, but one of them was a fourth inning solo home run over the left field fence by Kylie Rogalla.

A pair of walks and a two-run single to right field by Heather Hongo put Hibbing on top in the fifth inning.

Northland matched that in the bottom of the frame when Sara Jensen doubled to left field and Tiffany Holmes drew a walk. They advanced a base on a ground-out. Jensen scored on a sacrifice fly by Jenny Weiss, and Holmes trotted across the plate with the tie-breaking run on a two-out infield error.

"Thank goodness for defense," said Northland co-head coach Kathy Huschle. "Offensively I think the girls were sleeping."

Northland pitcher Tiffany Holmes was at the top of her game, and the Pioneers' defense was solid, as usual, according to Huschle, who said, "Tiffany probably did as good a job as she's done all year. She walked a couple, but she threw strikes when she needed to, and our defense, especially in the infield, is tough."

Riverland 10
Northland 1

Northland was involved in another fast-moving, well played game in Round 2 until the bottom of the fifth inning when Riverland shattered a 1-1 tie with a nine-run frame that put an abrupt end to things on the eight-run difference rule. It actually went into the books as a nine-run spread when Missy Avery's two-run single produced a 10-1 final.

Lead-off batter Jenny Weiss singled to left to start the game, went from first to third on a sacrifice bunt by Brenda Fritz, then scored when a throw back to the pitcher got away for a quick 1-0 Northland lead.

An error, sacrifice, ground-out and wild pitch added up to a game-tying Riverland run in the second inning.

The Pioneers' hopes of staying close and pulling off an upset of the No. 1 seed from the Southern Division went up in smoke when Riverland sent 13 batters to the plate in the fifth. The nine runs came on six hits, an error, four walks, and two wild pitches.

Two walks and a single by Jenna Cummins loaded the bases with nobody out to set the table. A wild pitch that broke the tie was followed by an RBI single by Tammy May; a two-run single up the middle by Jessica Peck; a bloop single into short right field for a run by Marissa Kelsey; bases-loaded walks issued to Katie Berg and Melanie Gabrielson; then Avery's game-ending hit to left.

Northland used Kylie Rogalla as the Game 2 starting pitcher. She exited in the midst of the Riverland outburst, but Tiffany Holmes, the Game 1 starter, didn't have any better luck in relief.

"We just ran out of pitchers," offered Northland co-head coach Dan Zubich. "Tiffany's our No. 1 pitcher. Kylie will throw when we need her, but she doesn't like to pitch."

Using Rogalla as a pitcher instead of a third baseman also affects the Pioneers' defense, noted Zubich. "We're a better defensive team when Holmes pitches," he said.

Ridgewater 10
Northland 2

Another big inning did in Northland as the Pioneers fell to Ridgewater 10-2 in the loser-out bracket.

This time it was a six-run fourth inning, highlighted by Sarah Kavanagh's grand slam home run, that crushed Northland.

Wendy Mock walked to lead of the Ridgewater third inning, moved up on a wild pitch and scored on a double to center by Kavanagh for a 1-0 game.

The Pioneers used a single up the middle by Kylie Rogalla, a stolen base, passed ball and a safety squeeze laid down by Natalie Sirjord for a top of the fourth tie.

It was a short-lived deadlock. Three walks filled the bases with Ridgewater runners in the bottom of the inning. A wild pitch scored the go-ahead run, and Mock singled in another. A single by Vicki Buseman reloaded the bases, but Kavanagh's shot over the center field fence cleared the sacks, making it 7-1.

A one-out walk for Tiffany Holmes and back-to-back singles by Jenny Weiss and Brenda Fritz netted a fifth inning Northland run.

Lindsey Beckstrand and Kim Miller drew walks and scored in the Ridgewater fifth for a 9-2 spread.

Megan Neperman and Kristi Rausch singles, plus an error, loaded the bases again in the Ridgewater sixth for Beckstrand, who ended it with a base hit.

"The grand slam broke our backs," said Northland co-head coach Kathy Huschle. "I thought Tiffany was pitching well, but they just got to her."

Central Lakes wins title

Central Lakes beat Itasca 12-1 Thursday in the finals of the 2002 Minnesota Community College Conference state softball tournament at the Multi-Events Center.

The Raiders went through the two-day, 10-team, double-elimination event without a loss. Wednesday they beat Fergus Falls

Prowlers cap 2002 home schedule by winning 6-3 game

It wasn't a great offensive show, but Thief River Falls didn't need much of an attack Tuesday since the Prowlers limited visiting Ada-Borup/Norman County West to just a pair of hits en route to a 6-3 high school softball win at the Multi-Events Center.

Thief River Falls coach Matt Okeson gave seven seniors starting assignments in the Prowlers' final regular season home game of the 2002 season, and they responded by scoring six times in the first two innings as they won their fifth straight game and improved to 10-6.

It was a familiar script, according to Okeson. "We have been getting a few runs early to set the tone, then we play defense," he explained.

Becky Solem led off the game by beating out an infield hit and Loretta Hruby walked. Four wild pitches later it was 2-0.

Rest of the Prowlers' scoring came in the second inning when Steph Hoard drew a one-out walk. AshLeigh Anderson singled to left and Meagan Lunke walked to load the bases. Solem picked up an RBI on a fielder's choice out; Megan Bettin sent a double over the left-fielder's head for a pair of runs, and Hruby drove in the final run with a single to left.

Thief River Falls pitcher Megan Berg issued a walk and hit a pair of batters to load the bases in the fifth, and two of those runners wound up scoring. A seventh inning error plated the final run for the visitors.

"It was great to see the seniors get a win in their last regular season game at home," said Okeson. "We played an excellent game. Berg did not not have her control today, but the team really picked it up behind her with a couple of great plays."

TRF Sports Boosters title won by Prowlers

Weather not only forced officials to reschedule the annual Thief River Falls Sports Boosters Invitational, it also prompted a change in format. The revisions, it turned out, suited the host Prowlers, who beat Moorhead and East Grand Forks to win the boys high school tennis tournament Wednesday.

The tournament, which has featured individual-style singles and doubles competition in the past, was originally planned May 9.

Just 2-9 in dual meet decisions to start the day, the Prowlers beat the Spuds 5-2 in the semifinals and surprised the Green Wave 4-3 in the title match.

"I am very proud of how hard our kids competed today, and how well we stayed focused," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestud. "We had some kids pull off some big wins in close matches because they were mentally tougher than their opponents."

Against Moorhead, Thief River Falls' Josh Anderson, Jason Swenson and Russ Anderson won at second, third and fourth singles, respectively, while Matt Wilson-Chris Mickelson (No. 1) and Jon Kays-Justin Pyle (No. 3) picked up victories in doubles.

Mickelson and Russ Anderson were also singles winners in the East Grand Forks match, where the Prowlers added doubles wins by Ryan LaCousiere-Joe Ihle at No. 2 and Kays-Pyle at No. 3.

"We are playing our best tennis at the right time of the year, and today was a great start to a busy week," noted Hanestad. "Both Moorhead and East Grand Forks are teams that we have lost to twice this season. I think today it was really apparent to our kids how much we have improved, and that we are a serious contender for the section title."

TRF girls golf at Detroit Lakes

First place Roseau beat runner-up Moorhead by 17 strokes Tuesday at the Detroit Lakes Invitational girls high school golf tournament.

The Rams turned in a 341. The Spuds had a 358. Thief River Falls finished 14th in the 17-team event with a 425.

Kelly Roysland of Fosston and Maureen Hardwick of Warroad turned in the top scores with 78s.

The Prowlers were led by Ruchi Patel with a 102, Eryn Clow 103 and Katie Schommer 105.

"Ruchi and Katie are starting to play very well," reported Thief River Falls coach Bruce Jean. "Katie won a 'closest to the pin' award on a 150-yard par-3 hole – a very nice award."

TRF girls finish regular season golfing pair of Blueberry Pines meets

Wednesday-Thursday meets at Blueberry Pines completed the regular season for the Thief River Falls girls high school golf team, and also gave the Prowlers a chance to familiarize themselves with the Park Rapids area course that host the 2002 Section 8AA tournament Wednesday.

The Wednesday meet was the rescheduled Pre-Section 8AA Invitational. The Thursday event was the Menahga Invitational.

"The girls are starting to realize if they omit some bad holes, they can be scoring with the other teams," said Thief River Falls coach Bruce Jean. "When we score nines and tens on holes, it really hurts our team totals."

Pre-Section 8AA Invitational

■ Team totals - Alexandria 329, Rocori 339, Moorhead 354, Little Falls 382, St. Cloud Tech 387, Brainerd 389, Thief River Falls 416, Sartell-St. Stephen 424, St. Cloud Apollo Inc

Lumberjacks beat Prowlers

Bemidji was a 6-1 winner over Thief River Falls Tuesday in boys high school tennis on the Prowlers' courts.

"You really have to take your hat off to Bemidji," said Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "They played some great tennis. They are better at the one-through-four singles positions than any other team we play. On a given day, I think we could beat all three of their doubles teams, but I do not know if we have a line-up that could beat one of their four singles players."

Thief River Falls' lone win came from sophomore Ryan LaCousiere and freshman Joe Ihle at No. 2 doubles.

"I was happy with the effort that all of our kids put in," noted Hanestad. "Unfortunately, sometimes you have to get beat by better players to improve and learn."

Bemidji 6, TRF 1

TRF 3-0 at tournament

Going 3-0 still wasn't enough to net Thief River Falls the title at the May 10-11 Roseau Invitational girls high school softball tournament.

The Prowlers and host Rams both finished 3-0 in the four-team, round-robin event. They did not face each other, so a tie-breaker – the number of runs allowed – was used to determine the champion. Roseau gave up seven runs; Thief River Falls 11, although only three of those were earned.

Thief River Falls posted tournament wins over Herman-Norcross 6-4, Hill City 3-0 and Winkler, Man. 10-7.

Despite seeing the title slip away, Thief River Falls coach Matt Okeson was pleased with the Prowlers' outing. "It was great to go 3-0," he said. "It was a great tournament. This is a big accomplishment for the athletes on this team. We are making the plays and are learning how to win."

The Prowlers combined nine hits with six walks to beat Herman-Norcross. Megan Berg was 3-for-4 at the plate and gave up only three hits in a route-going pitching performance. Katie Walseth added to the attack with a 2-for-3 game.

Berg recorded a three-hit shutout against Hill City for her team record-tying seventh win of the year. Megan Bettin was 3-for-3 with a double and an RBI to lead the Prowlers' five-hit attack. A two-out Laura Anderson RBI single in the fourth broke up a scoreless tie.

Seven of the Prowlers' 10 runs in the second-day win over Winkler were unearned. Loretta Hruby and Becky Lehrer were both 2-for-3 with an RBI, but Thief River Falls' penchant for making hard work out of easy games surfaced again when the Prowlers gave up five runs over the final two innings.

Winger to host motorcycle rally and swap meet

The sleepy little town of Winger, Minnesota population 205, will wake up to the sound of Thundering Harleys June 8 and 9, 2002. That is when 'V-Twin Choppers' will host a Motorcycle Rally, Swap Meet & Bike Show. The event runs Saturday and Sunday and includes Food Vendors, a Beer Garden and live music at Spanky's Saloon Saturday Night. Campsites are available and the event promises to bring in motorcycle enthusiasts from miles around.

'V-Twin Choppers' has been selling motorcycle accessories and leather apparel on the internet for over three years. Now they are opening a motorcycle shop on Highway 59 in Winger, 15 miles north of the Shooting Star Casino. "Our online internet business has been good," say's DW Mahuri, owner of V-Twin Choppers. "Now we want to bring quality sales, service, motorcycle painting and customizing to the region.

VTC also coordinates the 'Mid West Ink Fest' Tattoo and Piercing Convention to be held at the Shooting Star Casino Event Center in Mahnomen, Minnesota August 16, 17 & 18, 2002.

Discount hotel rooms and gaming packages are available for both events at the Shooting Star Casino. For hotel reservations call 1-800-453-STAR. Exhibitor and vendor space is available for all types of businesses. For more information, call V-Twin Choppers at 218-938-4688 or visit their website at www.vtwinchoppers.com

LHS teams to participate in State Envirothon

Three teams from Lincoln High School will participate in the 2002 State Envirothon Tuesday, May 21, at YMCA Camp Miller in Sturgeon Lake. They will be among 135 students from across Minnesota testing their knowledge of environmental issues.

The State Envirothon is the culminating event of regional Envirothons, which are organized by the state's soil and water conservation districts. The top three teams from regional Envirothons are invited to attend the state event.

At the state event, teams of four or five students visit five learning stations, each of which focus on one environmental topic. Stations cover soils, aquatics, wildlife, forestry, and current events. Students participate in environmental activities and answer questions at each station, earning points for correct answers. Teams have 30 minutes at each station. Teams are also required to make a brief oral presentation to a panel of judges. This year's presentation topic is biodiversity.

Sponsors for the State Envirothon include the Minnesota Board of Water and Soil Resources, the Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, the Auxiliary of the Minnesota Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts, University of Minnesota Regional Sustainable Development Partnerships, Minnesota Power and Canon U.S.A.

The state winner competes in the Canon National Envirothon, which will be held July 29 through August 4 at Hampshire College, Amherst, Mass.

A rose is not a rose is not a rose.

No sir, most roses aren't hardy enough to live through our winters. But thanks to our friends north of the border, there are many Canadian roses available that need no winter cover.

The Morden Roses from Manitoba have made a big splash. The Morden Blush features light pink, tea rose-like blooms on an attractive two-foot bush. The Morden Centennial grows to three feet and is covered with deep pink blooms for most of the summer.

The William Baffin grows to nearly eight feet, and blooms four times per summer. It can be used as a climber, or it can stand alone. It features a deep maroon fall leaf color. The William Baffin makes for a great hedge.

The Cuthbert Grant is a deep red hardy rose which has the best scent of any of the roses which are winter hardy.

The Harison's Yellow rose grows to be a large shrub, and is covered with yellow roses in June.

The old time Hansa and Grootendorst roses are so hardy you can't kill them with an axe. They feature the old-time frilly foliage and deep pink blooms of the roses which lasted fifty years in Grandma's farm yard.

Hardy roses are best planted in a hot location. The south side of the house is ideal. In moist summers, hardy roses can benefit from a spray of fungicide to keep the leaves free of disease. Otherwise, they are virtually care-free.

Hybrid tea roses are beautiful, and we sell them, but they are not hardy and require more love and care than most people have to give. We prefer the hardy roses. They thrive on neglect.

Thank You

We would like to thank the Oakland Park Nursing Home staff for the care and comfort provided for Lucille during her stay there. Thank you to First Care Hospice staff and volunteers for their visits, compassion and support; to Hospice Chaplain Mary Frann Zeller, Pastor Arlen Henriksen and Pastor Mary Ronning for their visits, calls and comforting words; to Deland Elseth and Lois Peterson for the special music and to the women of First Lutheran Church for providing and serving the meal. Thank you to Green Funeral Home for their professionalism and courtesy shown to our family at this difficult time. A special thank you to everyone for the prayers, cards, flowers, memorials, food brought to our homes, kind expressions of sympathy, and contributions given in Lucille's name.

God Bless each of you.

Thief River Falls "laborshed." Respondents ranked health insurance as the most required benefit, followed by paid vacations/time off, retirements or pensions, life insurance, and child care. Twenty-seven percent of the respondents did not receive any of the benefits listed, and 12 percent did not require any of those benefits.

There was some evidence presented at the Jobs Inc annual meeting that indicated the individuals are also looking at quality of life issues – access to stores and restaurants, schools, and the availability of public services, such as parks, and availability of other recreational activities and facilities.

Hours. Full-time employment is generally defined as 35-hours or more per week, and part-time less than 35-hours per week. The study showed that a high percentage of available workers are available for full-time employment. Interestingly, a high percentage of available workers need flexible hours or scheduling (42 percent), a fact which employers could easily incorporate in order to attract more employees.

Commute. The majority of available workers are willing to commute for 15 to 30 minutes, whereas, the vast majority of workers currently commute less than 15 minutes. In addition, the interest in commuting increases with wage increases. Nearly 40 percent, for example, of the available workers would commute for 15 minutes or longer for less than $2 more per hour. An estimated 68 percent of the available workforce, would commute 15 minutes longer for less than $3 per hour more.

Skills. Analysis of the data, reported in the assessment, showed no appreciable difference between the skills of all workers and available workers. In other words, the skills in the present workforce, and the skills in the available workforce match up fairly evenly.

Computer skills. It wasn't so long ago that many people had little or no experience with computers. The analysis of the survey results indicates that 76 percent of the available workforce can use computers, while only 24 percent cannot. The analysis also shows the computer skills of the current workforce and available workforce match fairly evenly.

Education. The lack of an educated workforce in northwestern Minnesota has been a concern over the years. The study showed that over 40 percent of the available workforce have a degree, which translates to over 3,000 workers. Also, even though more than half of the available workforce do not have a degree, many have formal training. In fact, over 55 percent of the available workforce have at least some post-secondary education.

The very last paragraph in the concluding statement in the report adds the following: "Regarding experience, skills, and training, the results show an available labor force with marketable skills and experience. A large number of available workers have an occupation in the services and retail category. The healthcare category also encompasses a large number of available workers. Furthermore, the computer, business or professional sales, and administrative support skills identified by this assessment match the needs of many businesses. A notable characteristic of the Thief River Falls area labor force is the prevalence and availability of workers desired in manufacturing and processing industries. Furthermore, the production and operation and engineering and other technical skills and experience detailed in the report would be valuable to a variety of industrial, processing, or production employers."

More information about the report is available online at http://www.nthl.org/labor_force.

employees of Marvin Windows and Doors, and that's when Peggy Ann Anderholm, manager of training and development at Marvin, began to search for solutions to bring an accredited four-year degree program to Warroad. That way, employees could work full-time, provide for their families, and achieve their dreams of receiving a true college education.

Weekly, professors and faculty from UMC or Northwest Technical College travel up to 120 miles one-way to teach classes at Marvin Windows and Doors or at the local high school. Courses are rigorous, accelerated, and delivered at a pace that compares to that of a full-time student residing on a college campus working toward a four-year degree.

In addition to the benefit of education brought to their doorsteps, Marvin employees who achieve a C or above receive tuition reimbursement benefits to cover the annual expenses, translating into a free college education.

Marvin officials believe that the pursuit of offering high quality degree programs for employees is a win-win for business, education, and the students. Employees expand and apply their knowledge immediately: education has found a way to increase enrollment without adding bricks and mortar; and together, the employees and education bring new perspectives, ideas, and insights into both worlds.

Wednesday's graduation ceremony was proof that with a little innovation, hard work, commitment, and dedication, dreams can come true.

Marvin Windows and Doors is the world's leading manufacturer of made-to-order wood and clad wood windows and doors. The privately owned company has more than 4,500 employees nationwide and operates manufacturing facilities in Warroad, Ripley, Tenn., Baker City, Ore., Fargo, N.D., and Grafton, N.D.

Cross the stage, accept your diploma, step off the stage, pause for photos and then proceed back to your chair. Like many students, Chencey Halvorsan of Goodridge went through the motions of accepting his diploma from Northland Community and Technical College on Thursday, May 16. The ceremony was anything but mundane or boring, the ceremony moved along at a quick pace and featured music by the Northland Community Band, Northland Chamber Choir, and two short speeches by honored students.

Senate District 2 DFL endorsing convention set

The Senate District 2 DFL Endorsing Convention is scheduled for Saturday, May 18, 2002 at the Mahnomen Elementary School cafeteria and auditorium. All delegates and alternates to County Conventions from the eight counties comprising the new Senate District 2, who live in that portion of the county that is in Senate District 2, are eligible to attend (only seated delegates can vote). Guests are welcome.

Candidates for State Senator in Senate District 2, and State Representative candidates in House Districts 2A and 2B are endorsed by the Democratic Farmer Labor Party at this convention. Delegates will also be electing officers and directors for the new Senate District 2 DFL Unit.

The convention kicks off with a lunch at noon, followed by a meet-the-candidates forum. The convention to endorse a senate candidate will convene at 2 p.m. The convention will then break up into 2A and 2B side delegates to endorse the house candidates. All three of the seats are currently held by DFL legislators, but Senator Roger Moe and 2A Representative Bernie Lieder no longer live in the district. Representative Rod Skoe (2B) is running for Moe's old Senate seat, leaving both the 2A and 2B house seats open.

The new Senate District 2 stretches across a big slice of northwest Minnesota from the Red River on the west side, south to include most of Becker County (Detroit Lakes City is not in the district), clear over east to half of Hubbard County and north and east to all of Beltrami County (except Bemidji). It includes the White Earth and Red Lake Reservations, miles and miles of agricultural land, and miles and miles of forests, lakes and rivers. Senate District 2 also crosses two Congressional Districts. It includes all or portions of Pennington, Polk, Hubbard, Clearwater, Becker, Beltrami, Mahnomen, and Norman counties.

"I've heard of one senate candidate – that would be Rep. Rod Skoe. Rod tells me there are five people interested in his 2B house seat. Three people have contacted me on the 2A side," said Ted Fiskevold, Acting co-Chair of the new Senate District 2. "We're excited that so many candidates have come forward for the two house seats, and we're positive that we will field great DFL candidates for all three of these legislative seats. And, anyone can have their name placed in nomination right up until the nominations close on Saturday, May 18."

Fiskevold reminds DFL party members that volunteers are needed to bring lunch items for sale at the Mahnomen Elementary School cafeteria and that members are also needed for credentials and rules committees. To volunteer, call Fiskevold at 218-847-7617.

Tri-County names EMTs of the Year

Middle River - With more than 58 years of combined experience, Eunice Waterworth of Newfolden, Darcy Hasson of Greenbush, and Judy Bloomquist of Lake Bronson were named Tri-County EMTs of the Year.

The EMTs were recognized at the annual Tri-County Ambulance Appreciation Night held May 17 at the American Legion Clubrooms in Middle River. EMTs and first responders from Badger, Middle River, Greenbush, Karlstad, and Newfolden were in attendance. The Tribune

RLC Relay for Life includes 18 teams

Oklee - Red Lake County's Relay for Life American Cancer Society fund-raiser is scheduled to begin at 6 p.m. on Friday, May 31, at the football field in Oklee.

Eighteen teams have signed up for the 12-hour event which will include walking around the field, food, games and the candle-lighting ceremony that is open to the public. Red Lake Falls Gazette

Warroad pursues plans for arena

Warroad - A lack of available ice time propelled Warroad's arena board to approach the city council recently and ask its permission to put up another building just west of the Olympic arena.

The focus of the proposed arena will be on younger children and open hockey. Of Warroad's 18 competing teams, 15 are youth teams. The new building will feature natural ice on a dirt floor, which will allow the facility to be used for other purposes after the hockey season.

Warroad's city council gave the arena board the go-ahead providing all requirements are met. Warroad Pioneer

Powwow, Memorial Walk Monday

Rice Lake - An annual Memorial Day Powwow and Memorial Walk will be held Monday, May 27, in Rice Lake.

The memorial walk was established four years ago to help members of the Rice Lake community heal from the many alcohol-related car accidents and violence. As many as 60 people have participate in the walk in past years.

The powwow is in its second year. Grand entries will take place at 1 and 7 p.m. and dancing will continue until dark. The memorial feast is slated for 5 p.m. Farmers Independent

Kleinwachter new Mr. Tri-County

Karlstad - After the five contestants delighted the audience in the 2nd annual Mr. Tri-County Pageant, Brian Kleinwachter was crowned Mr. Tri-County 2002.

Judging for the contest was based on talent and interview. Proceeds from the pageant will be donated to the Kittson County Cancer Society. North Star News

Sailor shares remembrances from Sept. 11

■ Jeremy Houske serves his country as he fulfills dreams

Jeremy Houske

by Kathi Carlson
Reporter

With a yen to see the world, young Jeremy Houske left home four years ago before the ink on his high school diploma had a chance to dry.

A 1998 graduate of Lincoln High School in Thief River Falls, Jeremy had enlisted in the U.S. Navy during his senior year and left for basic training in Chicago only three days after graduation. "I wanted to be the best I could be – a part of things," Jeremy said when he was home on leave in April. "And I wanted to make my family proud." Jeremy is the oldest of Tammy and John Houske's three children. His brother, David, is a student at Northland Community and Technical College, and Amy, his sister, graduated from Lincoln High School Friday.

Today, Jeremy is among the 6,000 sailors, Marines, and soldiers participating in the 14th annual Fleet Week in New York. The week-long celebration of the naval services began on Wednesday and will conclude Thursday. It was a much anticipated event for Petty Officer Jeremy Houske, as he will be among those receiving special recognition for having been one of the first sailors to arrive in New York on September 11 as well as among the first to go to war.

Like the rest of us, Jeremy was going about his regular business on September 11 when sirens indicating a national disaster blared in Norfolk, Va. where he was stationed. Within a short while, he was aboard the U.S.S. Leyte Gulf CG-55 as it made its 90-minute journey to New York where the sailors aided in rescue efforts. Jeremy has a difficult time describing all that he saw that day. The scene was one of mass confusion, he said. The air was thick with black smoke. People were everywhere, as were signs of unspeakable tragedy and grief.

After spending the day in New York, the ship returned to Norfolk where the sailors heard their commanding officer deliver a firm speech and ask, "Are you ready to fight for your country?"

Less than two weeks later, the U.S.S. Leyte Gulf CG-55 was on its way to the Mediterranean Sea where, armed with 122 guided missiles, the cruiser joined an international battle group. Jeremy and 420 shipmates were on board, fighting in the war that would come to be known as Enduring Freedom. So busy was he before shipping out, Jeremy barely had time to call his family to say good-bye and tell them he didn't know when he

Petty Officer Jeremy Houske of Thief River was among the 420 sailors aboard the USS Leyte CG-55, a missile cruiser, when it sailed to the Mediterranean Sea in September to take its place in an international battle group that fought in Enduring Freedom. Houske returned to Norfolk, Va. on March 28. This week, he is one the 6,000 sailors, Marines, and soldiers participating in the 14th annual Fleet Week celebration in New York. During the event, Jeremy will be among a group of sailors honored for having been the first to arrive in New York to aid in rescue efforts on September 11 as well as one of the first to go war. Long session provides good and bad news

by David Hill
Editor

It got to be a longer session than anyone anticipated, said Senator LeRoy Stumpf (DFL-Thief River Falls) during a visit Tuesday with media in Thief River Falls. Stumpf explained that while the Governor had proposed a budget solution, the Senate and House and their own ideas about how to settle the budget deficit.

Stumpf and Representative Rod Skoe (DFL-Clearbrook), held meetings in Thief River Falls, Crookston and East Grand Forks on Tuesday to summarize the 2002 Legislative session. (As a result of the final redistricting solution, Pennington County is included in part of District 2B, which Skoe represents. Skoe recently received the DFL endorsement to run for Senate District 2.)

Both Stumpf and Skoe expressed disappointment with the final budget solution. Stumpf also voted against the Budget Reconciliation Act.

Sen. Stumpf listed a number of positives and negatives, but one of the biggest reasons he said he voted against the bill was because he believes it puts school district in very risky situations. In the past, projects were funded with a 90-10 formula split, and school districts make budget projections based on that formula. This bill changes the formula to 83-17, and it also eliminates the built-in inflation increase.

Stumpf said the budget solution bill delays dealing with difficult issues. "It relies mainly on accounting shifts, delayed payments to schools, and accelerated tax collections, and postpones the difficult decisions on spending cuts and tax increases until next session." There was some good news. He said the bill does fix some inequities in last year's tax bill. The bread and prepared meat taxes were eliminated, and it addressed some problems with taxes on farmland, and split classifications on businesses operated from homes. The biggest disappointment for Stumpf and Skoe is the fact that an agreement and bill for transportation could not be reached.

Skoe said the Governor's proposal was a much different response to the budget problem. Skoe said he could not agree with the proposal because he believed that under the proposal the State of Minnesota would not fulfill its obligations and responsibilities to citizens. A great deal of these burdens would have been put on the shoulders of local government.

Though a representative in the State House, Skoe said he thought the Senate's proposal to solve the budget problem was a much more

Warroad hosts Powwow on June 8 and 9

Kah-Bay-Kah-Nong, Inc. has announced that the 9th Warroad Traditional Powwow will be held June 8 and 9 at the Warroad City Park.

As many as 2,000 dancers, singers and visitors will attend the event each day. The powwow is free and open to the public. Bleachers are set up for participants and visitors. There will be various food and craft concessions for your convenience. Bathrooms are available, camping and parking will be on the west side of the powwow grounds off Taylor Road.

This event is free and open to the public. Everyone is encouraged to come and enjoy the culture and traditions.

On Thursday, June 6, a ground blessing will take place at 6 p.m. A feast will follow.

On Friday, June 7, the Indian Education Department will hold its annual awards, recognition and feast at 6 p.m. Afterwards, students who made their own regalia will have their outfits blessed. Following that, students will participate in a Princess and Brave Pageant. One couple will represent the Warroad Public Schools as Princess, and Brave. Another couple will represent the Warroad area for one year. Last year's winners for Warroad Public Schools were Ronnie Crandall and Melissa Crandall. The Warroad area winners were Rosie Boucha and Jeremiah Sargent.

On Saturday, June 8, the Grand Entry will be held at 1 p.m., the feast at 5 p.m., and a Grand Entry at 7 p.m.

On Sunday, June 9, a Grand Entry will be held at 1 p.m., a feast at 5 p.m., and Grand Entry at 7 p.m.

The Warroad Traditional powwow is funded by donations through Kah-Bay-Kah-Nong, Inc., a registered 501c 3 tax-exempt, nonprofit corporation. The purpose of the organization is to promote and maintain the Anishinaabe culture and traditions, as it was intended by the Great Spirit, and to assist and enable our youth in the areas of education, recreation and sport.

May 31 is deadline for FSA Marketing Assistance Loans

Pennington County Farm Service Agency (FSA) office wants to remind producers that May 31, 2002, is the deadline to apply for FSA Marketing Assistance Loans or Loan Deficiency Payments (LDP's) on corn, soybeans, and sunflowers.

FSA Marketing Assistance Loans and LDP's are available to eligible producers who have produced eligible commodities on a farm, which has an acreage report on file in the county office for 2001, is enrolled in the AMTA program (applies only to corn), are in compliance with the Highly Erodible and Wetland Conservation provisions and the producer still has beneficial interest in the commodity.

FSA Marketing Assistance loans are nine month loans that can be repaid on or before the loan maturity date at the lessor of principal plus interest or the posted county price. As settlement of their loan, producers have the option to deliver the loan quantity to an approved warehouse after the loan matures.

LDP's are one-time payments made to producers, who, although eligible to obtain a Marketing Assistance Loan, agree to forego the loan in return for a payment on the eligible commodity. The LDP rate is the difference between county loan rate for the commodity and posted county price.

Producers with questions concerning FSA Marketing Assistance Loans or LDP's should contact the county office at 681-1612 before May 31.

Today we have some recipes for your holiday get-together this weekend.

Make a batch of two of this chicken for the Memorial Day picnic – It'll be a big hit:

CRISPY HERB CHICKEN
2 cups mashed potato flakes
2/3 cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons parsley flakes
1 teaspoon onion powder
1/2 teaspoon garlic salt
1/4 teaspoon paprika
1/8 to 1/4 teaspoon pepper
3 whole chickens, quartered, skinned, rinsed and patted dry
1 cup butter or margarine, melted

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Grease 2 large jelly roll (15x10 inch) pans or 2 (9x13 inch) pans.

In medium bowl, combine potato flakes, cheese, parsley flakes, onion powder, garlic salt, paprika and pepper. Stir until well mixed.

Dip chicken pieces in melted margarine. Roll in potato flake mixture to coat. Place in prepared pans. Bake at 375 degrees for 60 to 75 minutes or until chicken is tender and golden brown. For even browning, reverse pan positions halfway through baking. Serve warm or at room temperature.

Recipe serves 12.

This potato salad that will go great with that chicken:

LEAH'S POTATO SALAD
Potatoes as desired, cooked in jackets, cooled, peeled and sliced or diced 12 hard cooked eggs, separated into yolks and whites
1 cup sweet cream
3 tablespoons mustard
3/4 cup mayonnaise-type salad dressing
Salt and pepper to taste
Sweet pickle relish, onion and paprika

Cook potatoes and eggs. Place potatoes in large bowl.

Chop egg whites and place yolks in blender. Add cream, mustard and salad dressing to yolks and blend.

Pour dressing over potatoes and egg whites and add sweet pickle relish, onion and paprika. Chill.

Here's another salad that goes well with any kind of picnic main dish, and it's easy to make the night before your party:

CREAMY CAULIFLOWER AND CABBAGE SALAD
3 cups cabbage, coarsely shredded
1 head cauliflower (2 cups), cut up
1/2 cup diced green pepper
1/2 cup sliced radishes
1/2 cup sliced black olives
1/4 cup chopped onion
Dressing:
1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/2 cup sour cream
3 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
8 ounces bacon, cooked crisp and crumbled

In large bowl layer cabbage, cauliflower, green pepper, radishes, olives and onion.

In small bowl blend dressing ingredients except bacon. Spoon over vegetables, covering completely. Cover and refrigerate at least 4 hours.

To serve, toss together lightly and sprinkle with bacon.

Make a tasty dessert for this weekend's festivities with those lovely strawberries in the store right now:

FRESH STRAWBERRY PIE
1 quart fresh strawberries
1 cup sugar
Water
1/4 cup cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 baked pie shell

Wash strawberries. Add sugar and let stand overnight at room temperature, covered.

Next day, drain juice and add enough water to make 1-3/4 cups liquid. Blend cornstarch to a paste with 1/4 cup of the liquid in top of double boiler. Add remainder of liquid and cook over direct heat with constant stirring until sauce boils and is clear. Place over boiling water, cover and cook 15 minutes longer.

Remove from heat and add lemon juice. Fold in strawberries. Cool to lukewarm before pouring into shell.

Chill several hours before serving. Garnish with whipped cream or as desired.

Or you could go all out with this rich, gooey dessert:

BANANA SPLIT DESSERT
1-1/4 cups crushed graham crackers
1/2 cup chopped nuts
5 tablespoons butter, melted
5 tablespoons sugar
3 or 4 bananas
1/2 gallon softened Neapolitan ice cream
1 (6 ounce) jar strawberry ice cream topping
1/2 cup or more chocolate syrup
Thawed frozen whipped topping
Maraschino cherries

Mix crackers, nuts, butter and sugar and make a crust in a 9x13 inch pan.

Slice the bananas over the crust and then spread ice cream over bananas.

Spoon strawberry ice cream topping over ice cream and drizzle with the chocolate syrup. To serve, top with whipped topping and cherries.

A big pan of these hearty bars will make for quick pick-me-up snacking:

OATMEAL BARS
1-1/2 cups boiling water
1 cup quick-cooking oatmeal
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
1/2 cup oil
2 eggs
1-1/2 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup chopped dates

Add boiling water to oats. Let cool.

After cool, add all other ingredients and mix well. Place in greased 10x15 inch pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or longer, until toothpick comes out clean.

Frosting:
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup margarine or butter
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
1 cup chocolate chips

Mix milk butter and both sugars and bring to a rolling boil. Boil 3 minutes. Remove from heat and add chocolate chips. Beat by hand until of spreading consistency (about 15 minutes) Spread on bars.

One more snack recipe – these favorite brownies will serve a bunch:

YUM YUM BROWNIES
2 cups white sugar
2 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 stick (1/2 cup) butter
1 cup water
1/4 cup cocoa
1/2 cup oil
2 eggs
1/2 cup sour milk
1 teaspoon soda

Put sugar, flour and salt in mixing bowl.

Boil butter, water, cocoa and oil until melted. Pour over dry ingredients. Beat in eggs, sour milk and soda.

Bake in 10x15 inch pan at 375 degrees for 20 minutes.

Frosting:
1 cup white sugar
1/3 cup milk
1/3 cup butter
1 cup chocolate chips

Bring to a boil and stir in chocolate chips. Remove from heat and stir until melted. Frost brownies.

Lieder to run for Dist. 1B reelection

State Representative Bernie Lieder of Crookston has announced that he would seek reelection to the Minnesota House of Representatives in the new District 1B.

Lieder, who was first elected to the House in1984, is recognized as one of the leading experts on transportation at the Capitol. He is currently the DFL lead on the Transportation Finance Committee and also serves on the Transportation Policy and Regulated Industries committees.

He has also been a passionate advocate for rural schools and has worked to increase access to affordable health care.

Lieder said he expects education, the rural economy, health care and transportation to be the key issues in the upcoming election.

"My main focus will continue to be protecting and enhancing the quality of life here in northwest Minnesota," he said. "That means addressing the growing financial strain at rural schools, nursing homes and hospitals, encouraging economic development in our area of the state and addressing the needs of our transportation system."

Because of redistricting, Lieder will now represent the western half of Marshall County, most of Pennington and Polk counties and all of Red Lake County.

"This is an important campaign for rural Minnesota," Lieder said. "We need strong and effective leadership to make sure that the needs of rural Minnesota are heard in St. Paul and reelecting rural incumbents will be extremely important.

"I've been honored to serve the citizens of the area at the legislature, and I've valued the support and input I've received from constituents over the years. I'm also looking forward to visiting the new areas in our district and meeting my new constituents face-to-face."

May is Teen Pregnancy Prevention Month

Teen pregnancy is a critical issue facing our state. Twenty-one Minnesota teens become pregnant each day.

Although teen pregnancy and birth rates in the United States are decreasing, there are still nearly 900,000 teen pregnancies each year. Four in 10 girls will get pregnant at least once before the age of 20.

More than 70 percent of all teens who become parents drop out of high school, failing to achieve the education and skills they need to become self-sufficient.

Teen Pregnancy Prevention Month is a national, statewide, and local effort to bring attention to the issue of teen pregnancy and its consequences on individuals, families, and communities and to highlight the need for comprehensive, effective teen pregnancy prevention programs.

Jill Johnson, Family Advocate, Connie Hagen, Inter-County Nursing, and Margo Peterson, Planned Parenthood, ask so what can the community of Thief River Falls do about this serious issue? We can support local teen pregnancy prevention efforts by:

• Opening a dialogue with your child regarding sexuality.
• Donating items or time to the Family Advocacy Program.
• Bringing topics regarding teen issues and teen parenting to your community and church organizations.
• Contributing money or volunteer hours to Planned Parenthood.
• Inviting the "Teens Reaching Out," a teen pregnancy prevention panel, to your community, church or professional organization.

We can work together. All members of the community can provide the information and support necessary to affirm the choices our young people make to avoid early pregnancy, finish high school, and enjoy happy fulfilling lives.

New law extends unemployment benefits to many Minnesotans

Governor Jesse Ventura has announced that approximately 6,000 Minnesotans will be eligible for extended unemployment benefits as the result of a bill signed into law recently. The Minnesota Department of Economic Security (MDES) will begin sending letters late this week and early next week with instructions to those potentially eligible for the extension.

There are two groups of claimants who may potentially be eligible for these benefits.

• Those individuals who suffered permanent loss of employment from Farmland Foods on or after July 8, 2001; or Northwest Airlines, Sun Country Airlines, Mesaba Airlines, United Airlines, LSG Sky Chefs, Air Wisconsin, American Airlines, American TransAir, Champion Air, Chautauqua Airlines, Continental Airlines, Emery Worldwide Air, Great Lakes Airlines, PanAm International, Skyway Airlines, or U.S. Airways on or after September 11, 2001; or Fingerhut Companies Inc. on or after January 1, 2002 if they were employed at locations in St. Cloud, Eveleth or Mora. These individuals must also be in training sponsored by the Dislocated Worker Program.

• Those individuals who did not meet the eligibility criteria for the recent federal extension of unemployment benefits.

Payments may be retroactive for some of these individuals. All persons who believe they may be eligible are asked to wait for a letter with the explanation of the steps needed to process their application for Extra Unemployment Benefits. For further information, go to www.mnworkforcecenter.org or call the Unemployment Information line at 651-284-3033 or toll free at 1-877-504-5050. The TTY numbers are 651-634-5062 or toll free at 1-877-360-1919.

Construction on 200 in Clearwater started May 23

Minnesota Department of Transportation (Mn/DOT) is alerting the public to a project that is starting Thursday, May 23, on Trunk Highway 200 from the east side of Clearwater County Park to the east junction of Clearwater County Highway 2.

According to Larry Randall, Mn/DOT Project Supervisor, "the work is a grading and bituminous surfacing project which requires a detour." The detour route is approximately 21 miles with eastbound traffic routed onto T.H. 92, east on Clearwater County 36 to Clearwater County 2, then south on Clearwater County 2 to T.H. 200. The route for westbound traffic would be reversed.

Randall said, "The road will be completely torn up and motorists should not attempt to drive around the barricades." The project is expected to be completed in late September.

What, Me Worry?

As with any new job, guiding includes an initiation period, a time in which the gap between self-confidence and an employer's expectations appears unbridgeable. The inability to locate fish can carry overwhelming psychological repercussions, often permanently debilitating. I once witnessed just such a tragedy. A fellow guide, four days into an apparently promising career, was so devastated by a poor catch, that he stooped to taking a position, with a large, urban brokerage firm. He now spends millions each day on personal luxuries in an attempt to drown out the bitter memory of his fishing past. Occasionally, overcome with a sense of professional camaraderie, I visit this poor soul and try to relieve him of some of his accumulated grief.

Fortunately, not all early guide tales are so heartbreaking. I, for one, was lucky enough to survive those first few days of professional angling, suffering relatively little ego damage. Admittedly, the catch rate on those initial outings was not cause for popping any magnums of champagne (in retrospect, a recapped bottle of flat beer may have been more appropriate), yet a seemingly innate ability to take small successes and failures in stride, an unusually complete knowledge of guiding tradition, and an uncanny sense of humor all combined to make my clients' outing an unforgettable one. Perhaps a description will better illustrate the methods at work.

On that first morning I drown what few jittery nerves I may have had with a quick 8 or 9 cups of black coffee and swaggered my way towards the dock. Halfway there, the coffee hit me and I swaggered (albeit hastily) back to the men's room. On my third attempt I made it to within handshaking distance of the couple I was to escort that day.

"Good morning, Mr. and Mrs. Carbunkle. I'm your guide today."

"Good morning," Mr. Carbunkle countered, "Your underwear is outside your pants."

Immediately sensing I'd drawn a tough customer, I evenly explained to him that this was traditional guide attire, signaling uncommon experience and ability to passing boaters, but that if reversing the order would enable his obviously awe-struck wife to regain her breath, I would do so.

As an aside, I'd like to point out here that this particular event led me to believe that most average fishermen are unaware of such elite customs and I took to wearing my pants on the outside from then on.

Once on the lake, I assumed my position of authority at the helm, (which on this particular day meant that I grabbed the rubber-coated throttle handle of the 3 year old 9.9 horsepower Spirit outboard and twisted), pointing to and explaining about the significant flora and fauna. Years later, having learned that outboard noise renders any vocal communication a physical impossibility, I realized that nods and smiles from my guests were little more than an acknowledgement that they could still be counted among the living. Rather than waste valuable anecdotes, I abandoned attempts at humor or intrigue and simply took to reciting the few lines I knew from the Gettysburg address.

On this, the first day of a promising career, the warm sun and fresh breeze overwhelmed me with confidence, blocking out any of the insecurities that I'd so often heard afflicted rookies. I spouted forth with uncommon wit and charisma. Mrs. Carbunkle interrupted a scintillating description of the bonding properties between hydrogen and oxygen –

"What are we going to fish for first, walleye?"

"Listen lady, I'm perfectly comfortable with my appearance. You and that bovine scowl would have trouble holding your own in a stock yard, so before you start any name calling..."

The look on her husband's face cut me short. I had a difficult time convincing the pair that my "ice-breaking" intentions with traditional guide humor had obviously missed the mark and I'd hold back from now on (I've since done all my testing with jokes at dockside where fellow employees can rescue me from the grasp of the uninformed).

The action on spinners and crankbaits was slow that morning. However, I didn't let the sluggish fishing impose on my sense of self-worth. I continued to fill the boat with light drollery and clever accounts, keeping spirits high.

"Now, having finished with the nun, the motorcycle gang turned their attention to the bishop and..."

"These lures are worthless," Mr. Carbunkle interjected, "what should we go to next, lead-head?"

"Hey, pea brain, if you have any better suggestions, go ahead and make 'em. But this name calling thing isn't going to put lunch on the table!"

The error of his ways so succinctly explained, Carbunkle simply stared, slack jawed, at first me and then his wife. I've since acquired less brutal methods of rescuing a guest from the precipice of an icy panic, but even then, the harshness of my message didn't seem to block out any of the awe and respect that seemed to have routed itself in the Carbunkles's eyes.

The perch we divided three ways at lunch helped to settle the Carbunkles, their morning nervousness apparently the result of an unexpected day with so professional and seasoned a fishing guide. After lunch, Mr. Carbunkle sifted through his tackle box looking for that magic combination that would start the afternoon bite. Holding up a rubber-bodied, chartreuse Mister Twister, he asked,

"How about this, grub?"

As Mrs. Carbunkle pulled me off her husband and struggled to free his nose from the suction of three inches of mud, I quickly explained that wrestling was a traditional method of working off the heaviness of shore lunch. Had I known, I continued, that Mr. Carbunkle's left ear was so tender I would never have used my teeth on it in trying to gain an advantage.

Attempting to salve the hostilities that a morning of frustrating fishing had surely caused, I proposed the afternoon be spent throwing for smallmouth bass. Mr. Carbunkle reluctantly agreed, still apparently unsure of his footing in this new world of fishing adventure. I had to pity the man, I thought, as he yanked plugs of wet sod from his nostrils; so overwhelmed by the monotony of civilization he wouldn't know fun if it jumped up and bit him.

The smallmouth were hitting aggressively. The fact that the husband-wife team was doing all the catching didn't offend me in the least. My ego was imminently comfortable with bringing up the rear. I did not need to catch fish to validate my ability. Eventually the numbers would turn in my favor. Simple math would prevail.

A disgraceful display of beginner's luck continued, however, and while releasing her forty sixth fish to my none, Mrs. Carbunkle noticed a small pile of dun-colored substance on the seat next to her. Her curiosity overcame the couple's childish lunchtime vow to ignore their guide the rest of the day and she turned to me and asked,

"What's that, bass turd?"

The invectives with which I responded would have warmed the heart of any true fisherman. (Mr. and Mrs. Carbunkle later reported to my boss that their ears were well warmed, anyway). Although I'd be hard pressed to repeat my diatribe word for word, suffice it to say that very few of the Carbunkle's relatives were excluded. I threw in numerous references to animals and even used a few of the Greek and Latin phrases that my father used when the dog chewed up his Sunday shoes. In short, I spouted out with every expletive that I felt would allay any suspicion the couple might have about my authenticity as a guide.

Apparently convinced that they were in the company of a fishing aficionado, the Carbunkles suggested we hurry back to camp. No doubt they felt an urgent need to write postcards to all the abovementioned relatives, communicating their good fortune. I turned the boat homeward, reveling in the glory of a successful first day.

Keep in mind that not all initial guiding experiences are this successful. Many first-timers stress too much the catching of fish and ignore the more important aspects of guiding. The inevitable result is an increased sensitivity where every word seems to become a bitter attack on the beginner's character and ability. The good guide doesn't allow anything to invade him personally, he merely relies on a use of knowledge and tradition to get through the tough times. Someone who takes himself too seriously will always overreact.

And yes, in case you're wondering, my success continued. The second day, for instance, was better than the first. My new client was seeking big northern pike. Confidence oozed from every pore as I shook hands with him on the dock.

"Understand you like to use live bait for those big northerns," I drawled.

"Yep," he replied, "What should we try first, sucker?"

Long session provides good and bad news

balanced approach.

The legislative agreement includes no general tax increases and sets aside more than $1.4 billion to cushion against further budget problems if the state economy does not fully recover. In addition, it dips in the tobacco endowments by making $1.1 billion temporarily available for cash-flow purposes, and sets aside an additional $300 million aside in a reserve for a rainy day.

In a news release, Skoe said, "The agreement did not provide the long-term budget solutions I would like, but the compromise is much better than the painful alternatives Minnesota could be facing."

Rep. Skoe was also critical of the bill's impact on higher education. Skoe said there will be a significant tuition increase. Skoe feels this increase affects middle class families disproportionately because it is this economic class that does not benefit as much from aid to education.

Local Impact

The bills approved by the Legislature will have an impact locally. Among the more direct impacts, Stumpf announced that despite his efforts to keep funding in for the Ag Information Center, funding was cut for the program. He said he's still trying to find funds for the organization, which he believes has provided a valuable service to farmers in the area.

Stumpf also announced that Thief River Falls will get its tax exemption for the new Ralph Engelstad Arena. The exemption will only take place if the project is run through a non-profit corporation yet to be created. That non-profit corporation must consist of three city council representatives and two appointed representatives. The exemption will mean a savings to the project of around $325,000.

The tax bill also includes aid to counties affected by last year's tax bill that reduced tax income from pipelines. This is for counties with more than 40 percent of tax capacity in utility property (Clearwater, Kittson and Red Lake counties).

The bonding bill also includes some provisions that will impact the region. Currently in the bonding bill (subject to Governor Ventura's vetos) are: $7.7 million for the U of M Crookston Bede Hall replacement project; $2.43 million for statewide research and outreach center at Crookston; $300,000 to East Grand Forks Northwest Technical College asset preservation and replacement; $1.5 million for a DNR and Pennington County Joint Vehicle Facility; $1.05 million for Phases 2 and 3 of the Red Lake River restoration and habitat improvements; and $30 million for flood hazard mitigation grants that would include improvements to prevent and alleviate flood damage in Warren, East Grand Forks, Agassiz and Crookston.

Both legislators agreed that the next session will likely force more difficult legislative decisions.

Not much to cheer about in budget bill

The budget agreement passed because it had to be passed. That assessment from Rep. Tom Pugh, House DFL leader, seems to sum up the sentiment of many of our legislators – no one seemed satisfied, nor should taxpayers.

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf, and Rep. Rod Skoe, who stopped in Thief River Falls last week, summed up their response with a series of "good news" and "bad news" reports. Neither were satisfied with the outcome of a protracted session. Both believe legislators only provided a temporary fix, and that next year's session will be more difficult because the legislature failed to resolve difficult issues. When it comes right down to it, the news releases from Sen. Stumpf, Rep. Skoe, Rep. Maxine Penas, Rep. Pugh and Rep. Tim Finseth all agree that numerous shifts and accounting gimmicks were used to make this plan work. So what is there to cheer about?

It was interesting last year to see the reaction of legislators when confronted by property owners who saw their property taxes increase when they had been promised their property taxes would decline. Legislators set about correcting or modifying some of the changes that created some interesting inequities. To their credit, legislators were able to correct some of the problems. Sen. Stumpf said the property tax corrections were particularly helpful to owners of farmland and land owners in several northwest Minnesota counties, including Clearwater, Red Lake and Kittson. Local legislators were also able to help Thief River Falls avoid sales tax on materials and equipment for construction of the Ralph Engelstad Arena. I can't say I understand why the state feels a need to tax materials and equipment for construction of public buildings anyway. It makes no sense, and in the wake of so many exceptions being granted, it makes even less sense. The "bread tax," another tax that made no sense, was also successfully repealed by legislators this year.

Perhaps the largest failure of this legislative session was the inability of the legislature to come to an agreement on, and pass, a transportation bill. I suppose legislators feel that a certain amount of finger-pointing is necessary. Sen. Stumpf, for example, said House Republican transportation conferees were insincere in their effort to strike a compromise.

House Republicans seem quiet in their response to criticism about the transportation bill. Apparently, many Republicans took seriously their pledge to not raise taxes because they note that no new or additional taxes were approved. They add that there were no cuts to local government aid or any further cuts to education.

This year's budget bill offers very little to cheer taxpayers because the most difficult problems were not addressed. Next year, maybe. I do, however, have to agree with Rep. Maxine Penas, who stated: "Many people put in long hours of work or contributed ideas for how to get this (budget deficit solution) accomplished." But really, the budget agreement passed because it had to be passed.

LETTERS

To the Editor:

May is "Teen Pregnancy Prevention Month," a nationwide community campaign that supports teen pregnancy prevention. May, "Teen Pregnancy Prevention Month," emphasizes that importance of a strong partnership between the community and the family in helping young people develop responsible and positive attitudes about sexuality.

As advocates for teens, we understand that parents need to be the primary sexuality educator of their children. However, we also understand that talking to children about sexuality issues is one of the most difficult things facing parents.

Studies show that when children and their parents talk about sex they are more likely to postpone sex until a later age, limit the number of sexual partners, and protect themselves if they are already sexually active.

We encourage parents to talk with their children. They are listening!

So many changes in just a year: A Memorial Day Reflection

by Richard J. Santos
National Commander
The American Legion

One year ago, we were a nation at peace, but not now. A short year ago, Blue Star Service banners were lost in the memories of a half-century ago, but not now.

On Memorial Day 2002, I see more and more Blue Star Service banners in front windows of homes and businesses across America. A banner reminds us that a loved one from that family is serving in the U.S. Armed Forces, fighting terrorism in Operation Enduring Freedom and providing homeland defense. Unfortunately, Gold Star Banners are replacing some of the blue.

Today's men and women sent into harm's way differ little from the doughboys who fought in the trenches of France, the GI's who stormed the beaches at Normandy, or the troops who bought inches of land with blood at Korea's Chosin Reservoir.

Indeed, they are no different than the millions of men and women who have answered the clarion call throughout American history. As did those before them, today's men and women that we honor did their duty. Regrettably, we must now add 3,000 more names to the list of our honored dead.

Some of the honored dead were in the Armed Forces, but some were not. Each was on the frontlines of the terrorist assault on America. All lost their lives on September 11 or the days following. It is fitting that, as we remember the military men and women who died in service to America, we also – just this once – remember as well the first casualties of the War on Terrorism. They are also American heroes who died in the line of duty. They gave their all in service to their country as surely as if they had been on the frontlines of Afghanistan.

Again, young Americans, wearing the uniforms of our armed forces, are fighting in a war without borders and without clearly identified combatants. Some of them have given the supreme sacrifice for our nation. We are thankful that we are a nation that does not forget...that we are a people who remember and honor the memory of those who died fighting the enemies of the United States – wherever and whenever they threaten.

On this Memorial Day I ask all citizens of this great land to remember the sacrifice of more than one million Americans whose memory we honor today.

Educational opportunities increased while you were in school

(Editor's note: Dear readers, several residents have asked that I print Elvera Cullen's address to honor students. Elvera kindly submitted her comments for re-print. Elvera is a current city council representative and educator in Thief River Falls.)

Educational Opportunities
by Elvera Cullen

Students, parents, Mr. Peterson, Mr. Hunt, school board members, and faculty, I would like to congratulate the students on their academic success and also the parents for their support. After deliberating on a topic, I decided to focus on additions and improvements made to the facilities and curriculum during the 13 years these students have been in school.

The first and most obvious addition is in the facilities area. In the late 1980's I worked in real estate at Flynn Realty. When clients were thinking about moving to Thief River Falls, one of their main concerns was about the schools, and we received negative comments about our school buildings. Leaders in the community, including Bob Flynn and the school board, came up with a plan for a new single elementary school and additions to Lincoln and Franklin. They worked very hard to convince the voters to vote for the bond issue.

This class was the first fifth grade class to be in Challenger. The addition at Lincoln included the music rooms, new gym, media center, and science rooms. Ask Mr. Felt what it was like having band in what is now study hall. Ask Mrs. Reese about having choir in what was an old shop room. These facilities we have now are second to none.

Many additions also have been made in the academic area. In 1990, according to Laiell Dyrud, Advanced Placement English was added, followed by AP Psych, AP Science, and most recently calculus. In 1992 the National Honor Society was reinstated to recognize students excelling in academics, leadership and service.

Also in 1992 Thief River Falls was selected to be a Magnet Arts School. One school was chosen in each of the eight congressional districts in Minnesota, and Lincoln was the lucky one. At a presentation by Magnet Arts students for Delta Kappa Gamma, Mrs. Regina Olson referred to our program as the premiere program because Lincoln has adhered to the original plan most closely. Magnet Arts has afforded students many wonderful opportunities to concentrate on areas of their interest such as music, vocal and instrumental, literary arts, visual arts, dramatic arts and dance. This evening we will have the opportunity to view some of the results of this program. Also in this era, the administration and school board decided to emphasize writing and agreed to limit the size of these classes so students could do more writing.

Other notable additions were also made. A second language, Spanish, was added to the curriculum. The Science Fair and Envirothon teams came into existence; these programs and their instructor are a great asset to the science program. The DECA club has become stronger with students going on to national competition as well as students participating nationally in the Science Fair. Agriculture and related areas have been the most recent change in the curriculum. Our Ag instructor, Adawn Melby was recently honored as Minnesota Agriculture Teacher of the Year. Last fall Connie Stock, drama instructor, was a finalist for Minnesota Teacher of the Year.

Again, all these offerings and challenges have been added since you students, the class of 2002, started school. I hope you appreciate what the school board, administration, and these dedicated teachers have given you. You have been given many wonderful opportunities to gain knowledge and work in the area of your expertise. Put it to good use. Congratulations and good luck.

FSA works on Farm Bill

Marshall County Executive Director JoDell Poolman echoed the remarks of Secretary of Agriculture Ann M. Veneman in an address to USDA employees on May 15, 2002. "Marshall County Farm Service Agency (FSA) employees are committed to a timely and efficient farm bill implementation process."

"Marshall County employees have been working for many months in anticipation of the new farm bill. We have a lot to do. Our biggest challenge, before meeting with producers, will be the complete understanding of regulations, procedure, training materials, and software when received." FSA will begin operating under the new legislation for the Marketing Loan Program as early as July for wheat crops and in August and September for our other crops. Then in early fall, once updated bases and yields have been determined, we will be able to begin making advance 2002 counter-cyclical payments. "We will also begin making final 2002 crop year direct payments in early fall and advance 2003 direct payments in December. In the meantime, we will continue to complete final Program Flexibility Contract payments under the FAIR Act between now and September, using existing formulas and rates."

JoDell assured farmers that the FSA team is working hard to implement the new programs and outlined several measures already underway, including: the creation of a FSA farm bill Web site which can be found at either (http://www.fsa.usda.gov) or at (http://www.usda.gov/farmbill); implementing eGovernment, which will soon allow producers to complete and submit some forms on-line.

JoDell said the new farm bill:

- Provides certainty and a strong safety net for farmers over the next six years;
- Provides record-level support for conservation programs to preserve wetlands and improve soil and water quality on working farms;
- Demonstrates compassion through new support for food stamp and nutrition programs;
- Helps expand trade for U.S. food and agriculture products overseas;
- Contains an energy title to help examine new uses for agriculture as an energy source;
- Invests more in research, value-added programs, animal and plant disease protections, food safety and rural development.

"While it's not a perfect bill, the new measure provides certainty, a strong safety net for farmers and complies with our international trade obligations," said JoDell. "It also provides investments in important areas such as conservation, trade, nutrition, research, rural development and energy."

On other farm bill issues, JoDell noted that FSA has been administering the last year of the FAIR Act while the new farm bill was being developed, which provided over $1.3 billion in direct payments to producers to Minnesota producers in fiscal year 2001.

The marketing loan program continues to operate largely as before, but with readjusted loan rates for most crops. The new loan rates are applicable immediately to the 2002 harvested crops.

Minnesota targets the unbuckled

The Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) has announced the largest statewide synchronized law enforcement wave targeting seat belt use.

The enforcement wave, dubbed May Mobilization, runs May 24 through June 2, and is part of the Department of Public Safety's (DPS) Safe and Sober education and enforcement campaign. Nearly 370 law enforcement agencies will participate, including the Minnesota State Patrol, as well as scores of local police departments and county sheriff offices.

The mobilization period, which includes Memorial Day weekend, is historically one of the deadliest driving periods of the year, due in part to the dramatic increase in road traffic with the approach of summer. During this same period last year in Minnesota, 15 people were killed and 1,212 people sustained injuries in crashes.

Minnesota's effort mirrors a nationwide program led by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) in which every state is simultaneously enforcing seat belt laws. NHTSA will use the data compiled from the mobilization to gain support from Congress in order to aid future traffic safety initiatives.

Seat belt use in Minnesota currently stands at 74 percent. Although this number has increased for the last three consecutive years, the rates of increase have been minimal. Nearly two-thirds of the 460 motor vehicle occupants who died in 2001 were not using seat belts. Traffic deaths and injuries cost Minnesotans approximately $1.2 billion in 2000.

Minnesota's current seat belt law is a secondary enforcement law, meaning law enforcement must stop drivers for another traffic violation fore issuing a seat belt citation.

In addition to the statewide enforcement effort, DPS has launched a media campaign encouraging seat belt use. "Buckle Up Or Pay the Price," is the tagline of the campaign which includes television, radio and print components.

Prowlers beat Pirates in 8A tennis match

■ TRF boys end string of losses to Crookston

Crookston has made a habit of beating Thief River Falls in tennis in recent years. Tuesday, Prowlers fourth-year head coach Troy Hanestad had the pleasure of experiencing his first dual victory over the Pirates when his squad prevailed 4-3 in North Section 8A team tournament play.

East Grand Forks shut out Mahnomen 7-0 in Tuesday's other first round match to join the Prowlers as a Section 8A semifinalist May 28 in East Grand Forks.

Hanestad was ecstatic with the results. "This was the biggest win for our team in the four years I have been here," he said. "We have not beaten Crookston in at least eight years. I have a lot of respect for Crookston's program and their players. I think they have gone to the state tournament eight of the last nine years."

Thief River Falls lost to Crookston 4-3 earlier this spring, but this time the Prowlers combined three singles wins with a doubles victory to reverse the the score.

Seniors Mike Kimball, Jason Swenson and Russ Anderson were Thief River Falls winners at No. 1, 3 and 4 singles, respectively.

"Tuesday's match was quite possibly the best match that I have been involved in, either as a coach or a player," said Hanestad. "Most of the matches could have gone either way, and the outcome was decided by the last match on the court. I could not be happier with the way our kids are playing right now. We feel if we can continue to play with the same level of intensity, focus, energy, and emotion, that good things will happen."

Section 8AA tournament...

Alexandria girls win title; Rocori golfer medalist

Section 8AA girls high school golf tournament titles went to Alexandria and Amy Schmucker of Rocori during Wednesday competition at Blueberry Pines near Menahga.

The Cardinals finished with a 348-352 winning margin over second place Rocori in the team standings.

Schmucker shot a 73 for medal honors. Second place went to teammate Dana Moening with a 79. The two seniors will be playing college golf next year at Michigan and Northern Iowa, respectively.

Thief River Falls turned in a 12th place 432 in the 16-team field. The Prowlers' top finish was a 102 turned in by junior Eryn Clow that placed her 41st in a tournament that drew 87 golfers.

Bruce Jeon-coached Prowlers featured a line-up with all underclassmen – juniors Katie Schommer, Ruchi Patel, Maggie Stock, Andrea Stenson, and Clow, along with seventh grader Mandy Thompson.

Team champion and individual qualifiers move on to the Class AA state meet.

Bemidji team wins title at TRF softball tourney

Daryl's Auto Glass of Bemidji won the May 19 Thief River Falls Early Bird Invitational men's slow pitch softball tournament.

Second place Budweiser-Pizza Hut, third place Black Cat Sports Bar & Grill and consolation winner Digi-Key II were all Thief River Falls entries.

The tournament drew 11 teams.

Two northern Minnesota high school girls were named all-state this year by the Minnesota Swim Coaches Association. The duo included Anneliesse Nelson (left), a sophomore from Roseau, and Chelsea Haviland (right), a senior from Thief River Falls.

TRF senior heading to West Point...

Chelsea Haviland to leave area spotlight to Roseau swimmer

by Mike Lundgren, sports editor

Chelsea Haviland has been the dominant figure in northwestern Minnesota girls swimming while winning four straight Class A state diving championships. But when the Thief River Falls senior takes her talents to West Point later this month to become a cadet and an NCAA Division I athlete, the area high school spotlight will shine on Anneliesse Nelson, who is finishing her sophomore year at Roseau.

Haviland was recently informed that she had been offered a prestigious appointment to the U.S. Military Academy in New York. She reports June 29.

There were other opportunities the multi-talented Haviland could have pursued both academically and athletically, but she welcomed the challenge of a disciplined, structured atmosphere featured at the Academy.

And it will give her the chance to compete in the pool at the major college level. Few, if any, can excel as both a swimmer and a diver against the best in the nation. However, Haviland is more than willing to try. She is best known for her diving exploits, but she was also a state qualifier and school record-setter as a swimmer.

Haviland was a state swim meet qualifier for six straight years and only the second four-time state diving champion in Minnesota girls swimming history. Her point total as a junior set a Class A state meet diving record.

As a high school swimmer/diver, Haviland earned All-America status four times, gained academic All-America recognition; earned spots on four all-state teams; was twice selected state Diver of the Year; was a two-time regional Athlete of the Year, and was given academic all-state honors.

A diving career that began when she was 13 also gained Haviland national recognition at various age-group competitions throughout the country. She capped off that part of her resume with wins on the one and three-meter boards at regional competition in Nebraska this spring that were followed by an 11th and 12th place finish, respectively, in the 16-18-year-old division at the national level in Louisiana.

Nelson is ready to succeed Haviland as the top name in high school swimming in these parts.

She joined Haviland as a member of the Minnesota Swim Coaches Association all-state team this year after a second place finish in the 100-yard breaststroke at the 2001 Class A state meet.

Her 1:07.58 in the event was All-America consideration time.

Like Haviland, Nelson is becoming a state meet fixture. She first qualified as a seventh grader, and will have the opportunity make six trips to the University of Minnesota Aquatic Center in Minneapolis before completing her career with the Rams.

Brainerd 2-1 softball winner vs. TRF club

■ North Sub-Section 8AAA tourney opener

Tie-breaking run crossed the plate in the bottom of the seventh inning Tuesday as third-seeded Brainerd shaded sixth-seeded Thief River Falls 2-1 in the opening round of the 2002 North Sub-Section 8AAA high school softball tournament.

It was a pitcher's duel between Erin Donnelly of Brainerd, who gave up five hits while striking out one, and Megan Berg of Thief River Falls, who limited the winners to four base hits and struck out five.

There was no scoring until the fourth when Megan Arns of Brainerd reached base on a fielder's choice, then advanced to third on a wild pitch and bloop single by Haley Bower.

Arns was caught between third and home on a ball hit back to Berg by Sacha Holbrook, but she beat the throw to the plate with a head-first slide that made it 1-0.

An RBI single by Katie Walseth tied it 1-1 in the top of the sixth.

But in the seventh, Holbrook drew a lead-off walk. Pinch-runner Kelsey Anderson advanced on a sacrifice bunt, and scored from second when Sarah Johnson ripped a single off the glove of the Thief River Falls second baseman that trickled into the outfield.

Brainerd took a 13-6 in the winner's bracket of the eight-team double-elimination tournament. Thief River Falls dropped into the loser's bracket with a 12-8 mark.

Scoring/Innings

Thief River Falls	000 001 0	-	1	5	1
Brainerd	000 100 1	-	2	4	2

Pitching - (TRF) Megan Berg 6 1/3-L, (Brainerd) Erin Donnelly 7-W.

Offensive highlights - (TRF) Loretta Hruby double, (Brainerd) Sarah Johnson drove in winning run in bottom of seventh.

NCTC volleyball, women's basketball...

Pioneers sign recruits

Three northwest Minnesota high school girls have signed letters of intent to continue their athletic careers at Northland Community and Technical College in 2002-03.

The trio includes Alicia Halvorson of Marshall County Central and Jacqie Knight of Tri-County, who will play volleyball for the Pioneers, and Kelsey Johnsrud of Goodridge/Grygla-Gatzke, who intends to play both volleyball and basketball at Northland.

Halvorson played point guard for the Nordics. As a senior she was named team MVP and earned all-conference honors while averaging 8.5 points, 3.5 rebounds and 4.6 assists per game. She finished her high school basketball career with 558 points, 236 rebounds, 314 assists, and 174 steals.

"Alicia is a very talented athlete, and a great leader on the court," said Mike Zachow, who coaches both volleyball and women's basketball at Northland.

Knight was a middle hitter for the Wildcats. Team MVP, she was on all-conference selection as a senior while setting team records for kills.

"Jacqie has shown consistent improvement throughout her time in high school, and should have an immediate impact for us," said Zachow.

Johnsrud was an All-North Border Conference pick in both sports, averaging 8.7 points and 1.23 kills per game in volleyball; 5.8 points, 4.1 assists and 2.5 rebounds per game in basketball.

"I am excited that Kelsey has chosen Northland," offered Zachow. "She is a talented athlete I believe she is going to make great contributions to both of our teams."

TRF players advance in 8A tennis matches

Three Thief River Falls entries will move on to the individual portion of the 2002 Section 8A boys high school tennis tournament based upon top-four finishes during Wednesday's North Sub-Section 8A competition at Crookston.

Prowlers advancing include Josh Anderson, who was a runner-up finisher in singles; Matt Dimich-Mike Kimball, third in doubles; and Chris Mickelson-Matt Wilson, fourth in doubles.

Section 8A individual tournament matches are scheduled Wednesday at East Grand Forks.

Josh Anderson beat Andrew LaVoy of Mahnomen and Jeremy Rodahl of East Grand Forks to reach the finals in singles, where he lost a three-set decision to Tim Anderson of Crookston.

"Josh had a great run," noted Thief River Falls coach Troy Hanestad. "The final was a great three-setter that Josh was capable of winning. He is playing better and better with each match he plays. He is playing with a lot more confidence – hitting shots to win points instead of just keeping the ball in the play – and the results have been great."

In doubles, Dimich-Kimball beat Sean Shelton-Chris Voit of Mahnomen while Mickelson-Wilson defeated Matt Proulx-Rob Hann of Crookston in quarterfinal matches. But both Thief River Falls teams lost semifinals decisions – with Tyler Derosier-Eric Buchmeier of Crookston knocking off Dimich-Kimball, while John Kuntz-Adam Altepeter stopped Mickelson-Wilson.

That set up an all-Thief River Falls third place match.

"Both of our doubles teams are capable of upsetting someone," pointed out Hanestad, "and I do not believe that any of the doubles teams from the South will be able to compete with the top four finishers from the North."

Jason Swenson, the Prowlers' fourth entry in the tournament, lost a first round match to Tim Anderson, the eventual singles champion.

Prowlers, Lakers split softball doubleheader

Megan Berg pitched a five-hit shutout as Thief River Falls beat Detroit Lakes 2-0 in the first half of a May 16 high school softball doubleheader, but the host Lakers used a tie-breaking Andrea Oraack RBI single in the bottom of the sixth to win the second half of the North Sub-Section 8AAA encounter 3-2.

"We saw two evenly matched teams," noted Thief River Falls coach Matt Okeson. "We made fewer mistakes in Game 1, and they made fewer mistakes in Game 2. That's why we split."

A sacrifice bunt by Katie Walseth scored a third inning Thief River Falls run in the opener. An error that was followed by Becky Solem and Megan Bettin singles produced a sixth inning run.

Berg allowed only seven first-game base runners. She struck out 10 and did not walk a batter.

Thief River Falls spotted Detroit Lakes a 1-0 lead in the nightcap before tying it on a fourth inning error after one-out hits by Loretta Hruby and Walseth.

The Prowlers went ahead 2-1 in the fifth when a one-out walk issued to Steph Haverland preceded singles by Solem and Steph Hoard.

TRF wraps up a 12-7 regular season with 4-1 victory at RLCC

Fourteen strike-outs by Thief River Falls pitcher Megan Berg carried Thief River Falls to a 4-1 regular season-ending May 17 high school softball win over Red Lake County Central.

Berg gave up just one hit – a fifth inning single by Kelsey Rewertz. She walked four. A first inning run scored by the host Mustangs was unearned.

The Prowlers took a 12-7 record into post-season play.

Prowlers golf Detroit Lakes meet to complete schedule

Final meet of the 2002 regular season for the Thief River Falls boys high school golf team took the Prowlers to the Detroit Lakes Invitational Tuesday.

Detroit Lakes White turned in a 327 for a one-shot victory over three teams who shared second place - Roseau, Fergus Falls and Perham. The Prowlers finished ninth in a field of 11 with a 346.

A one-shot difference also separated the top two golfers as Jared Stay of Bemidji edged Paul Sjoberg of Thief River Falls 76-77 for medalist honors on the par 71 layout.

"We were not pleased with our team total," said Thief River Falls coach Dick Tyler. "The strong wind played havoc with the scores. Team scores were a lot higher than usual. Only five players were able to keep their scores in the 70's.

Sailor shares remembrances from September 11

would be able to communicate with them again. In wartime, confidentiality is the order of the day, and security is tightly enforced.

With training in special warfare, Jeremy was prepared for the work ahead of him. Aboard the ship, he was in charge of all of the fire fighting and ship fitting activities that included training his crew for damage control. He was also a member of the flight and air rescue team.

In the seven months he was at sea, Jeremy planted his feet on solid soil only twice and only had two opportunities to call home, on Thanksgiving and again on Christmas. The holiday season, he said, was difficult, but not as hard for him as for the sailors who had wives and children at home.

Jeremy's ship was part of a fleet of five that arrived back in Norfolk on March 28. The homecoming was quite an event as a crowd of 15,000 people lined the pier and were on hand to greet them and extend them a hero's welcome. Huge cannons were shot off, and fireworks lit the skies. Many of the sailors greeted their wives, and some met the sons and daughters who had been born during their deployment.

In less than four years' time, Jeremy had spent an unprecedented 18 months at sea and fulfilled his desire to see the world by spending time in about 20 different countries. Prior to fighting in Enduring Freedom, he had also done battle time in Kosovo and the Persian Gulf.

Although he'd had to remain tight-lipped about his activities and whereabouts during his time at sea, Jeremy was free to discuss his experiences and express his opinions about the events of September 11 and what has since taken place when he was home last month. America's military, he says, was prepared for such an attack, but it was a "wake up" call for the civilian world where security measures were lax. With regard to the on-going war to fight terrorism, Jeremy says, he believes President Bush and our nation's allies are moving in the right direction.

For his service to his country, Jeremy has been rewarded in a variety of ways. So far, he has several medals, including Navy Unit Commendation, Navy Sea Service Ribbon, both NATO ribbons, two Battle Es, expert marksmanship in pistol and rifle, and most recently, an enlisted warfare specialist pin and the Navy Achievement Medal for having saved the life of a shipmate while aboard the U.S.S. Leyte. The latter award was bittersweet, however, as the incident for which he was awarded the lifesaving medal also claimed the life of a friend.

He considers his participation in Enduring Freedom a privilege and says, "I love my country and would do it all again." He may get the chance. Like many other sailors, Jeremy has reenlisted and will spend another six years in the Navy. He anticipates that with having already spent so much time at sea, at least four of those years will be spent in shore duty.

Currently, he continues his service aboard the U.S.S. Leyte. With the extensive training and testing he's already had, he is among a select few who have been chosen to work alongside the Navy Seals while receiving additional training in the small craft warfare community.

The future, Jeremy says, holds many opportunities, and he will have his pick of areas in which to specialize. Interested in so many different things, however, he has yet to decide what that area would be. After having spent so many months at sea, though, he does say he will now seek balance between his the Navy and his personal life.

Although he is only 21 and currently marriedred, he says he looks forward to starting the life that will include a wife and children and eventually produce the grandchildren to which he says he will have hundreds of stories to tell. He also speaks of eventually moving closer to his roots even though he says he has developed a love for the sea and enjoys surfing.

In April, he shared many of his stories with family and friends during the two weeks he spent in Thief River Falls. For John and Tammy Houske, just seeing their son again was enough.

Tammy tells of the quick telephone call she received from Jeremy before he was deployed in September. In the same breath he told her he was leaving and didn't know when he would speak to her again, he gave her the life insurance information that the sailors had been instructed to leave with their families. "It was scary," she said.

Tammy was at work at Digi-Key when she received her first e-mail message from him from aboard the ship, and she recalls her elation and relief at that moment. She also noted that few others realized the enormity of the situation or realized that Jeremy was among the first of America's sailors to take part in Enduring Freedom.

In four years, Jeremy has fulfilled many the goals he had when he left Thief River Falls. He's seen much the world, been a part of things he and the rest of the world never dreamt of, and definitely made his family proud. "We are most certainly proud," Tammy Houske said of her son.

That pride extends, too, to every man, woman, and child in America. As a member of the United States military, fighting to end the terrorism that threatens us all, Jeremy Houske has become one of America's sons and has earned the gratitude and respect of us all.

Ornquist herd tops DHIA Top 15 list

The Dairy Herd Improvement Association (DHIA) has announced that the Morlyn and Debbie Ornquist dairy herd led the list for the Top 15 in the Association during the month of April, 2002.

Randy and Margaret Rasmussen, supervisors of the Red Lake-Pennington DHIA, put the following herds at Top 15 in the Association for the month: 1. Morlyn and Debbie Ornquist, 38 cows, 97 percent in milk, producing an average of 79 pounds of milk, 3.0 pounds of fat, 1.7 pounds of protein, and 104 percent of DHIA test day milk was sold; 2. Gary and Polly Bakken, 29 cows, 100 percent in milk, producing an average of 77 pounds of milk, 2.6 pounds of fat and 2.4 pounds of protein, 101 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 3. Mark and Darla Lehmann, 33 cows, 100 percent in milk, producing an average of 76 pounds of milk, 3.0 pounds of fat and 2.4 pounds of protein, 103 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 4. Northwest Ag. Experiment Station (small), 66 cows, with 92 percent in milk, producing an average of 76 pounds of milk, 2.8 pounds of fat, and 2.4 pounds of protein, with 104 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 5. Todd and Kathy Johnston, 56 cows, 93 percent in milk, producing an average of 73 pounds of milk, 2.4 pounds of fat and 2.2 pounds of protein, with 103 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 6. Northwest Ag Experiment Station (large), 43 cows, 88 percent in milk, producing an average of 72 pounds of milk, 2.7 pounds of fat and 2.2 pounds of protein, with 104 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 7. Walter Brothers Farm, 272 cows, 86 percent in milk, producing an average of 69 pounds of milk, 2.2 pounds of fat and 2.1 pounds of protein, with 101 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 8. Wayra Dairy - 3X, 175 cows, with 86 percent in milk, producing an average of 64 pounds of milk, 2.1 pounds of fat and 1.9 pounds of protein, with 102 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 9. Gary and Grant Gullekson, 54 cows, with 89 percent in milk, producing an average of 64 pounds of milk, 2.3 pounds of fat and 1.8 pounds of protein, with 104 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 10. Beyer Brothers Farm, 64 cows, 84 percent in milk, producing an average of 60 pounds of milk, 1.9 pounds of fat and 1.8 pounds of protein, with 101 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 11. Wayne Nelson, 40 cows, with 93 percent in milk, producing an average of 59 pounds of milk, 2.1 pounds of fat, and 1.9 pounds of protein, with 103 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 12. Tom and Diane Kolstoe, 42 cows, with 100 percent in milk, producing an average of 57 pounds of milk, 2.1 pounds of fat, and 1.7 pounds of protein, with 103 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 13. Lowell Smeby, 39 cows, 85 percent in milk, producing an average of 57 pounds of milk, 2.0 pounds of fat and 1.6 pounds of protein, with 106 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 14. David Oslund, 217 cows, with 91 percent in milk, producing an average of 55 pounds of milk, 1.9 pounds of fat and 1.7 pounds of protein, with 105 percent of DHIA test day milk sold; 15. Bruce Jallo, 32 cows, 100 percent in milk, producing an average of 54 pounds of milk, producing 2.2 pounds of fat and 1.6 pounds of protein, with 101 percent of DHIA test day milk sold.

The herd averages are affected by the number of dry cows in the herd. The amount of milk or butterfat is averaged out over all the cows. This gives the farmer a record of the earning power of the herd for the month. If too many cows are included in the herd, then the average for the month may be low, even though the cow that is milking produces a lot of milk.

Border security focus of meeting

Warroad - Border issues, including security, were the focus of a public meeting in Warroad May 2.

Jim Gelbmann, state director for Senator Mark Dayton, has held a number of meetings in towns along the northern border to discuss the impact that federal border and homeland security initiatives will have on northern Minnesota communities. Border security has been heightened since September 11, aided by federal dollars.

Among the interested parties attending the meeting were business owners who discussed how changes in border security would impact their businesses.

Also in attendance were representatives from the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), U.S. Customs, U.S. Border Patrol, and the Minnesota Department of Public Safety. Warroad Pioneer

School board hears site concerns

Greenbush - A group of parents attended the May 20 meeting of the Greenbush-Middle River school board to express their concerns about the current practice of placing all fifth grade students at Greenbush.

The board decided last year to place both sections of fifth grade students at Greenbush to avoid staff cuts and reduce problems faced by the music department. Among the parental concerns were long bus rides and the fact that some children are afraid to go to school in Greenbush.

A special meeting to further discuss the issue will be held at the Middle River site on June 10 at 8 p.m. Red Lake Falls Gazette

June 1 designated Wes Westrum Day

Clearbrook - Saturday, June 1, has been designated Wes Westrum Day in Clearbrook, as proclaimed May 29 by Mayor Ted Olson.

Westrum, once a professional baseball player, died Tuesday.

Olson said, "This is a day to remember and celebrate the life and accomplishments of Wes. By his dedication to his chosen profession and his many achievements, he leaves a legacy one can only remember with pride. Farmers Independent

95-year-old takes part in Relay for Life in Oklee

Red Lake Falls - Ninety-five-year-old Esther Page of Red Lake Falls will be among those taking part in the Red Lake County American Cancer Society Relay for Life fundraiser in Oklee this weekend. As of May 22, Esther had raised about $400 in pledges.

Cancer has touched Esther's life in many ways. Her husband died of cancer 10 years ago; three of her siblings died of cancer, and she has lost a number of other extended family members as well.

When asked about participating in Relay for Life, Esther said, "If you think of loved ones who have died, you will do it; if you care, you will." Red Lake Falls Gazette

Education

Going to great lengths for education in TRF

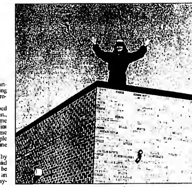
by David Hill
Editor

Reporters rarely reveal their sources, so when Challenger Elementary School Principal Patrick Marolt asked how we found out that he was "up on the rooftop," we had no comment. It wasn't exactly a secret, however. Everyone was talking about the elementary school principal who had slept on the roof of the school. But just to be sure, several students and adults went to check on Principal Marolt while he slept on the roof.

Marolt, who is just completing his second year as principal at the elementary school in Thief River Falls, is becoming well-known by the children as an individual who keeps his word even though he doesn't seem to have much luck when it comes to making a bet.

Each year Marolt makes a number of "bets" with children. The bet that landed him on the rooftop of the school on Thursday, May 16, involved what Marolt calls the Challenger Challenge. Last year he challenged students to bring in box tops from General Mills foods. It was successful, but not as successful as Marolt thought it could be. This year, he challenged the students to collect 15,000 box tops for education, and if they did, he would either shave his head or sleep on the roof of the school. The students collected 16,087 box tops and well, Marolt ended up sleeping overnight on the rooftop of the school.

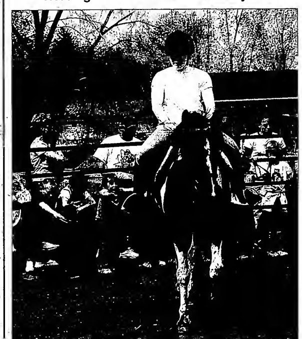
It was one of the coldest nights of the "spring" said Marolt.



Temperatures dipped down to 25-degrees Fahrenheit. At one time during the night, Marolt awoke and found his sleeping bag covered with frost.

But he'd do it again in a heartbeat. Marolt said he'd do anything to help students learn and to promote education, and, it was fun.

Between the time he climbed onto the roof at 7 p.m. and 11 p.m., he said he had many visitors. Some brought pizza. Some stared at him from their warm cars. Some brought him cookies, and a couple of students read him a bedtime story.



While Marolt is well-known by students for keeping his word and making school fun, he should be well-known among parents as an individual who is willing to do anything for students and education.

Each boxtop is worth 10 cents. This money is used to purchase playground equipment and supplies.

It's nat a piene or e bird, It's the principal af Challongor Elementary School, Patrick Maralt. Lasing e bet thot students couldn't collect 15,000 box taps rosulted In Moralt having to spend the night on the raof af the eiomantery school an May 16.

Spraying for caterpillars begins soon

Spraying of a microbial insecticide to control Forest Tent Caterpillars in Thief River Falls is expected to take place next week.

The product that will be used to control the caterpillars will be a microbial insecticide caused Bacillus Thuringiensis, kurstaki, which is composed of naturally occurring bacteria. This product is non-toxic to humans, animals, fish and plants. It does not contaminate water sources. It is toxic only to caterpillars.

That being said, City Forester John Johnson said, however, that if residents want to take precautions by staying inside, they may. In addition, as a matter of public relations, Johnson said the city is aware of activities that take place in the city during the mornings, and is taking steps to avoid spraying those areas. Specifically, Johnson mentioned that while there is no danger to humans, they will not be flying over and spraying the areas where Latch Key and Safety Camp activities will be taking place at the time those events will be taking place.

The key to when spraying will take place depends on weather conditions, but also whether there are leaves on oak trees.

The product does not kill the caterpillar instantly. Johnson said residents won't see caterpillars die from it immediately. The caterpillar ingests the product during feeding on leaves, and its digestive system is disrupted causing it to stop feeding. Johnson said effective control should be noticeable within five to seven days after spraying.

The city has hired Airborne

Tim Finseth decides not to seek re-election

Rep. Tim Finseth (R-Angus) has announced that he will not run for re-election to the Minnesota House of Representatives. Finseth said he is retiring from his elected office to spend more time with his family.

"When you represent a district in this part of the state, you have to spend a lot of time in St. Paul, away from your family," Finseth said. "I have enjoyed my nine years of serving in the House, but it's time for me to move on."

Since he was elected in 1993, Rep. Finseth has been instrumental in some significant legislation for his district. After the Red River floods of 1997, Finseth became a key advocate for relief funding at the state level. He has continued to promote flood mitigation efforts, securing state funding for construction of dikes and other flood relief projects. He also worked to provide funding for the redevelopment of the East Grand Forks flood plain area into a greenway park and recreation area.

Finseth has also been a key promoter of agriculture in Minnesota and in 1998 was named chairman of the Agriculture Policy Committee. He played a key role in the success of biodiesel legislation this year and

Laurimar Goldesberry brings ballet to TRF

Ballet orientation program slated for June 10-13

Laurimar Goldesberry

by [illegible]
Reporter

When the youngest of her three children enters the first grade this fall, Laurimar Goldesberry will reclaim a very important part of her life and share her love of dance at the Laurimar Goldesberry School of Ballet.

As enthusiastic as she is about ballet, she is equally so when it comes to her daughter and sons and her husband with whom she will celebrate their first wedding anniversary in August.

Laurimar and Jared Goldesberry met in her native Puerto Rico after he and a friend, burned out from the corporate world, traveled there in search of a combination of peace and fun. What Jared found was Laurimar, a ball of fire who, after an unsuccessful marriage, thought she would be perfectly content to remain permanently unattached and raise her three young children. Much to Jared's friend's dismay, the fun he thought they were going to have ended when Jared met Laurimar, and for her, the idea of marriage became more and more appealing as they got to know one another. An important chapter in their love story was written last August when, after coming to Thief River Falls in July and planning their wedding, they were married in front of about 60 family members and friends at Zion Lutheran Church.

The new Goldesberry family includes eight-year-old Laura, [illegible] and six-year-old Emanuel. Jared is the executive director of the Northland Community and Technical College Foundation. Since coming to Thief River Falls, Laurimar has become acquainted with a number of people through the social functions associated with her husband's job and volunteer activities at Challenger Elementary School. One of the six children of Jim and Olive Goldesberry, Jared has also provided his new wife with a host of family members.

Laurimar's ballet training began at an early age when, beginning in the third grade, she attended Escuela de Ballet Clasico Julian Blanco, a public school in San Juan that taught academics in the morning and classical ballet in the afternoons. Acceptance into the school, she said, was based on one's grades and an audition during which instructors looked at the applicant's flexibility and shape to determine whether she or he had potential as a dancer. She appeared in such ballets as The Nutcracker and Swan Lake at the Centro de Bellas Artes (Fine Arts Center) of Puerto Rico.

When you dance every day, Laurimar says dance becomes part of who you are. "It's in me!" she says, and sharing what she knows and loves will be a natural extension of her many years of training and experience.

Orientation sessions are scheduled as follows: June 10, seven-year-olds and older; June 11,

Mark Borsheim to run for House District 1A seat

Mark Borsheim of Thief River Falls has announced his candidacy for the Minnesota House of Representatives District 1A seat. He is seeking the DFL endorsement to challenge incumbent Republican Maxine Penas.

Borsheim, 32, is a technician at Pathfinders Children's Center in Thief River Falls, and a lifelong resident and the mayor of Thief River Falls. He resides with his wife Sherry, son Gavin, and foster daughter Ashley, in Thief River Falls.

"I have deep concerns about the impact of recent property tax changes on rural Minnesota," said Borsheim. "It really wasn't aimed at helping areas with little commercial or industrial property like northwestern Minnesota."

For example, Borsheim explained, "The average home in Thief River Falls is valued at about $55,000. But few people around here saw any property tax reductions. The taxes on my parents' house went up over 15 percent. And nearly every city in our area lost on local government aid. That's not fair. We need to get some equity back into our property tax system."

Borsheim was disappointed that the legislature failed to pass a transportation bill this session. House Republican leadership refused to go along with any increase in the gas tax to pay for roads and bridges, despite support for one from virtually every business group and chamber of commerce in the state.

"In the far northwestern corner of the state, transportation is critical to getting products in and out of our region. We need good roads, and maintenance costs here are extraordinarily high due to our severe weather conditions. Yet the House majority stood in the way of any transportation bill. Investments in our transportation system are long overdue. I will fight vigorously for funding for rural Minnesota roads," Borsheim promised.

Borsheim said he also would continue to work closely with Minnesota's congressional delegation to try to return the regional mail sorting facility to Thief River Falls.

Borsheim is an avid hunter and fisherman. He regularly wets a line at his dad's house on Lake of the Woods at Springsteel. He is a member of the Thief River Falls Kiwanis, and serves on the Chamber of Commerce, Minnesota State Aid Variance Committee and the Thief River Falls Community Development Advisory board.

TRF Safety Camp held June 5-6

Some people think accidents are inevitable, but they're not. Most can be prevented with education and caution. Organizers of the Eighth Annual Thief River Falls and Pennington County Safety Camp are hoping to stop such mishaps before they happen.

Designed for youth in second and third grade in Pennington County, the camp utilizes volunteers from several area organizations and businesses to teach kids about safety. The approach has been very successful, and this year, 120 children will attend this year's camp, which is scheduled for June 5 and 6.

"Kids are even more at risk than adults, because they tend to think they're invincible," says Madelyn Vigen, Thief River Falls Park and Recreation Director. "Unfortunately, nothing could be further from the truth. We are committed to teaching kids about all areas of safety."

Safety topics covered this year include fire, construction, motor sports, law mowers, electrical safety, choking, poison, fitness, camping and animal safety. Once again, this year's camp will also provide campers with an opportunity to ride a historic train coach and learn about Operation Lifesaver, which is a program of CP Rail.

"Our camp may only last two days," said Vigen, "but it will be remembered for a lifetime."

Most of today's recipes are from a Germans from Russia cookbook called, "Schmeck's Gut" from Ashley, North Dakota. They are good cooks there, you bet.

Use this recipe on some of that fish you're busy catching this summer:

BAKED FISH

Cleaned fish, cut into serving-sized pieces
1 cup crushed potato chips
1/4 cup Parmesan cheese
1 teaspoon thyme
Milk
Melted butter as desired

Mix potato chips, Parmesan and thyme. Dip fish in milk and then in crumb mixture. Pour melted butter over fish.

Bake in 450 degree oven for about 15 minutes.

If you like cabbage rolls but hate the fuss and bother of pre-cooking cabbage leaves and rice, try this – no precooking:

EASY PIGS IN A BLANKET (HALUPSY)

1 pound lean hamburger
1/2 cup uncooked rice
Onion
Celery
Salt and pepper
8 medium to large washed cabbage leaves
1 can tomato soup
1-1/2 cups cream or evaporated milk

Mix hamburger, rice and onion, celery, salt and pepper as desired. Divide into 8 portions and place 1 portion on a cabbage leaf. Roll and close and/or fold to seal.

Bake at 350 degrees for about 1 hour until rice is soft. Add water while cooking to prevent sticking or burning.

When rice is soft, add tomato soup and cream and heat through.

Here's a really simple recipe for home-baked beans, made with kidney beans:

GRAMMA'S BROWN SUGAR BEANS

1-1/2 pounds dry kidney beans, soaked overnight
1 pound bacon, diced
1 cup brown sugar
1 small onion, chopped
Salt and pepper to taste
2 cups water or more as needed

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Place beans in casserole, Dutch oven or large bean pot. Mix in remaining ingredients, adding just enough water to barely cover the beans.

Cover and bake six to eight hours. Add more water as needed.

To make in slow cooker, cook on high for six to eight hours or until beans are tender.

Try this recipe for something really different – top with cream cheese frosting for a special treat:

BEET CAKE

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup oil or butter
1/4 cup cocoa
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup nuts
1 cup flour
3/4 cup mashed beets
1 teaspoon soda

Mix sugar and oil or butter. Add eggs, beets and cocoa.

Mix flour, salt and soda. Add to above ingredients. Add nuts, if desired.

Place in greased and floured 9x13 inch pan and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until done. Top with thawed whipped topping or cream cheese frosting.

Cream Cheese Frosting:
1 cup confectioner's sugar
1 (8 ounce) package softened cream cheese
6 tablespoons butter, softened
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat together until smooth and creamy.

This is a very old recipe from the state of Nebraska. It makes 4 dozen bars and would be great to have for your next cookout or picnic:

NEBRASKA RAISIN BARS

1-3/4 cups flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 teaspoon cloves
1 cup apple juice
1/2 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup white sugar
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup raisins
4 tablespoons confectioner's sugar

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. Grease and flour 10x15 inch baking pan.

In medium bowl, sift flour, salt, soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, allspice and cloves. Combine raisins and apple juice (or water) in saucepan and bring to a boil. Remove pan from heat and stir in shortening.

When raisin mixture has cooled to lukewarm, beat in egg and vanilla. Mix in sugar and stir. Blend flour mixture in and then stir in nuts. Place in pan.

Bake about 12 minutes. To serve, sprinkle with confectioner's sugar, if desired.

NW Gateway Association picnic on June 10

Northwest Minnesota Gateway Association will be holding its annual Gateway Get Together Picnic on June 10, 2002 at 6 p.m. in the Argyle Island Park.

Everyone who is interested in learning about development of this region of Minnesota and networking with area leaders is encouraged to attend. Passes to get into the park will be paid by the Banker's Association. Area politicians have been invited also. There will be a door prize of a $50 savings bond to one lucky person, who will attend. The guest speaker will be Dave Bergman, tourism director for the Northwest Minnesota Department of Trade and Economic Development office in Thief River Falls. Musical entertainment will be provided by Ashlee and Katnee Hewitt of Lancaster.

The Northwest Gateway Association was started about 10 years ago to promote the economic well-being of communities in the northwest corner of Minnesota. Besides promoting events such as the annual Gateway Get Together Picnic, the Northwest Gateway Association has been involved in a number of other activities, which promote this region. Four years ago they sponsored a cooperative vision workshop for integrating telecommunication efforts in northwest Minnesota. For the last two years they have sponsored a Spring Birding Festival in the Lake Bronson State Park. The Association also is involved in various advertisement campaigns such as being part of a Web page on the internet; and the annual promotion brochure flyer, which is left at several tourist information centers in the region.

Please feel welcome to attend the Gateway Get Together Picnic at the Argyle Island Park on the evening of June 10th and learn more about and become a part of the Northwest Gateway Association. The menu will include bratwurst and buns, baked beans, potato salad, lemonade, coffee and desert, and will be provided by the Farmer Dell Restaurant. Last minute attendance is okay.

Our Seamless gutters are manufactured from .032 gauge pre painted aluminum, the heaviest gauge used in the industry. If your home is 20 feet or 200 feet in length our seamless gutter is made in one continuous length, eliminating any joints or seams in the middle. Inquire before you purchase "Seamless Gutter" about the thickness of the material used and be certain that it is made in one continuous length.

Seamless gutter is formed, cut and installed on site by a two man crew... saving on labor cost. Freight charges are eliminated. Waste is almost unheard of due to gutter being measured and cut on site to exact lengths. No need to store left over odds and ends that get damaged before they can be used. Most jobs can be completed the same day. Call us for complete information and free estimates of your job at no obligation to you.

EDITORIAL OPINIONS

Dave Hill, Editor

Editoral opinion published under this heading is intended to stimulate thinking and discussion among our readers. Unless specified otherwise, the editorials are written by Editor Dave Hill and do not represent opinion of other staff members. Opinions in items from other publications may not coincide with the editor's own views but are offered for their general interest.

MN state parks are a valuable resource

Our state parks are a valuable resource, not only for their recreational benefits and ability to attract tourists to the region, but because they often provide an opportunity to increase learning and understanding of our natural environment.

Indeed it is the mission of our state parks to work with the people of Minnesota to provide a state park system which preserves and manages Minnesota's natural, scenic and cultural resources for present and future generations while providing appropriate recreational and educational opportunities.

Historically, Minnesotans have appreciated the importance and need for state parks. Minnesota became the second oldest state park system in the country with the establishment of Itasca State Park on April 20, 1891.

Sunday, June 2, Minnesota state parks is hosting its annual Open House Day. Visitors to Minnesota's state parks and recreation areas on Sunday will get in free and will not be required to have a daily or annual vehicle permit. This day will provide many residents with an opportunity to explore the possibilities and learn more about our natural environment. This in turn will hopefully generate an appreciation of our park system that will ensure its success well into the future.

We're fortunate in northwest Minnesota. We don't have to travel very far to enjoy peace and quiet and solitude. Perhaps the peace and quiet so highly valued by residents of urban areas is not what you're seeking in a park. Again, we're lucky. How about educational opportunities? Our local park personnel are extremely dedicated. They maintain trails, campsites, beaches, and many other amenities, and then, quite frequently, provide us with numerous educational opportunities. Old Mill State Park, an excellent example, will host an artists' exhibit at the park this weekend. Lake Bronson State Park is, of course, another excellent example. During the summer and fall, both parks provide many interpretive programs.

Most of these programs and opportunities are inexpensive or free. If you're looking for something interesting to do this weekend, consider traveling to one of our state parks. Discover the value of our state parks.

Facts:

• According to the Department of Natural Resources, State parks' annual operating budget is about $23.6 million. About one-third of this annual budget comes from park user fees. The other two-thirds, and more, is returned to the state in the form of state taxes and revenue generated through purchases made in local communities by state park visitors.

• Did you know that Minnesota state parks hosted 8,513,404 visitors in 2000? Camping accounts for about 10 percent of park visits. About 20 percent of visitors come from out of state.

Other Parks:

I would be amiss if I didn't encourage residents to visit some of our other parks, especially since they recently sent news releases about activities taking place at their parks.

Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge recently hosted Migratory Bird Day, which included presentations by noted experts on birding. This weekend the Lost Bay Habitat Drive and visitor's center will be open.

Rydell National Wildlife Refuge recently announced that it will once again host the "learning at the Lakes" seminar series this summer.

POLICIES

Letters To The Editor: The staff of the Northern Watch encourages written responses to editorial comment or letters with original thoughts or ideas of general interest. Letters should be intended for publication in Northern Watch exclusively; letters sent to multiple publications will generally not be accepted. Right is reserved to edit letters for length and clarity and to reject letters deemed to be promotional in nature or in poor taste.

Letters Must Be Signed: All letters must be signed and contain an address or phone number of the writer so authenticity can be verified. Signatures must appear on letters published. The staff believes that there is greater credibility in letters signed in print and will not withhold names of writers from publication.

Responses Invited: Letters critical of individuals or other entities may be shown to those individuals or representatives of those entities in advance of publication with an invitation by newspaper staff for response in the same issue as the original letter.

Corrections: If an error is made in news or advertising publication, the staff encourages readers to call it to our immediate attention by calling 681-4450. We will attempt to correct the error or clarify the misunderstanding in the next issue.

Agassiz office open Sunday afternoons

Beginning Sunday, June 2, 2002 and ending Sunday, August 25, 2002, the office will be open from 1 to 5 p.m., allowing visitors to view wildlife displays, get information from refuge personnel and volunteers and purchase items from the Agassiz Bookshop. A sign will be placed along Marshall County Road 7 at the Headquarters entrance access to remind visitors that the office is open during Sunday afternoons. Visitors can pick up refuge and U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service brochures from the three kiosks along Marshall County Road 7 after regular office hours. One portable toilet has been placed beside the parking lot at Headquarters and will be available for use during the summer months.

Wildlife viewing opportunities abound at the refuge. One of the most frequently asked questions is "Where can I see a moose?" Marshall County Road 7 is a good road to travel but moose can be observed anywhere on the refuge. The winter moose and deer aerial survey showed that the moose population increased to 75 animals and the deer population increased to 1,600. Moose numbers are still below average but at least it looks like their numbers will continue to increase. Many goose broods have hatched and are visible throughout the refuge. Duck species can be observed throughout the refuge. A pair of bald eagles are nesting in Parker Pool which can be observed from Marshall County Road 7. Four pairs of bald eagles are back nesting on the refuge. Several Western grebes have been observed in Headquarter's and Parker Pools. Red-necked grebes are very abundant this year and can be observed on most pools. Some rare or unusual bird species have been observed on the refuge with some of them observed in Headquarters Pool along County Road 7. A drive to Farmes Pool may allow you to view some species of birds that you may not observe on other parts of the refuge. Don't forget to take a walk on the all-accessible Headquarters Hiking Trail or the Maakstad Hiking Trail and listen for those species that do not readily show themselves. Many warbler species are still present along the trail but soon will be migrating north. Lost Bay Habitat Drive has interpretation signs along the trail remaining open through October. Peace and quiet can be enjoyed when you visit the refuge.

One hundred and seventy-five people attended the International Migratory Bird Day celebration on Sunday, May 19 enjoying the sunny weather. Greg Brook's live bird presentation on the bald eagle and great horned owl were enjoyed by all. Greg gave a very interesting presentation providing many facts on both bird species. Thanks to the Thief River Falls Cub Scout Pack 59 for serving grilled hot dogs, cookies, doughnuts, popcorn and refreshments. Appreciation of thanks is extended to the Agassiz Bookshop for helping sponsor this event and to all volunteers who helped put on the celebration.

National Wildlife Refuge Week will be Agassiz's next big celebration, which will be held sometime from mid-September to mid-October. All people are encouraged to attend these events. In 2003 the National Wildlife Refuge System will be celebrating their centennial. By the end of 2003, all citizens of the United States shall know that there is a National Wildlife Refuge System. This is the only diverse national network of public lands set aside for the conservation of wildlife, plants and fish.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is the principal Federal agency responsible for conserving, protecting and enhancing fish, wildlife and plants and their habitats for the continuing benefit of the American people. The Service manages the 94-million-acre National Wildlife Refuge System which encompasses 535 national wildlife refuges, thousands of small wetlands and other special management areas. It also operates 66 national fish hatcheries, 64 fishery resource offices and 78 ecological services field stations. The agency enforces Federal wildlife laws, administers the Endangered Species Act, manages migratory bird populations, restores nationally significant fisheries, conserves and restores wildlife habitat such as wetlands, and helps foreign governments with their conservation efforts. It also oversees the Federal Aid program that distributes hundreds of millions of dollars in excise taxes on fishing and hunting equipment to state fish and wildlife agencies.

Maxine Penas seeks endorsement for second term

Rep. Maxine Penas has announced that she will be seeking the Republican endorsement for a second term in the Minnesota House of Representatives.

"I have enjoyed serving the people of this district over the past two years," Penas said, "and I would like to continue to represent the interests of northwest Minnesota at the Capitol."

Penas will run for re-election in District 1A, which has changed slightly due to state redistricting.

Every 10 years, after the federal census, the state must re-draw its political boundaries to reflect the change in population. District 1A was modified slightly and now includes Thief River Falls, Lake of the Woods County, including the Northwest Angle, was dropped from District 1A, and will now be part of District 3A.

Representative Penas said she will seek the endorsement for re-election from local Republican party members. She emphasized her philosophy of limited government, focusing on fundamental issues like health care, agriculture, education, and transportation. She says she has a very simple philosophy that guides her work as a legislator.

"I don't plan on being a politician all my life," Penas said, "and when I'm finished with my work in St. Paul, I'm going to have to come back here and live under the policies I helped create and the people who's lives I have impacted." She added, "so, I'd better make the right decisions while I'm here."

THE LYON'S SHARE

Tim Lyon

Has anybody ever figured out the driving rules for small towns? Are there any? Are they ever enforced?

As far as I can tell, it is each person for themselves. If you live in one place long enough, you begin to learn everybody's rules. When you see the Elmer's yellow Malibu coming down the road, you know just what to expect.

But if you are from out of town, look out. Drive into a small town at your own risk. Consider your life to be in peril.

Elmer doesn't cross intersections even if he has the right of way. He's retired. The young whippersnapper in the new pickup across the intersection looks like he's in a hurry. Probably has important business. So, it is Elmer's policy to just sit at the intersection until things settle down a bit, then he'll pull out.

Locals understand Elmer's driving behavior, but outsiders wait impatiently for him to take advantage of his right of way. They honk, gesture and yell – none of which does any good, since Elmer is hard of hearing and doesn't see real well either.

Mavis creeps along at a slow crawl in her 1973 Oldsmobile, but stops for nothing. She rolls through stop signs, onto the busy highway, back onto the back streets, all at an excruciatingly stately pace. When you see Mavis, get out of the way.

Mavis is a particular problem for semis which roar through town loaded with snowmobiles, grain, windows, whatever. She yields for nothing. You wonder if she knows how many times she has caused the abrupt hiss of air brakes, or inspired streams of profanity.

Oscar parks five feet from the curb, but Norbert parks with one or more wheels on the curb. Ophelia parks parallel in the diagonal, and Matilda uses the handicapped zone at the grocery store even though she doesn't have a sticker.

The use of turn signals in small towns is completely optional, mainly because most people don't decide until the last minute which way they are turning. That's what stop signs are for – to give you time to evaluate your turning options. Once you decide, it is too late to signal anyway.

One local legend used to work her way out of tight spots with her Impala by ramming the cars in front of her and behind her until she worked her way free. As far as anybody knows, nobody ever filed a claim against her. If you were stupid enough to park in front of Eleanora's green Impala, you deserved what you got.

Yes, it is dangerous to drive in a small town. It would be a lot safer if all of the drivers possessed all of their faculties.

But we all know each other's rules. We know what to expect. If outsiders can't handle a little variety in driving behavior, they should move away or take another route.

It is a sad day when I hear that another local driver has had their keys taken away. The local streets may be made safer, but the town loses a little flavor.

Rydell Refuge to host "Learning at the Lakes" program

Rydell National Wildlife Refuge will once again host the "Learning at the Lakes" seminar series. All programs will be held on Sundays at 2 p.m. in the Visitors Center. The June 2 program will feature Gretchen Mehmel from Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge and an update of the latest research from the Northwest Moose Project. Learn more about moose in northwest Minnesota and possible reasons for their declining population.

If you have any questions or ideas for future programs, please call us at 1-800-841-0172, or 218-687-2229, ext. 214. The following summer programs have been scheduled:

• June 2 - Where are the Moose by Gretchen Mehmel of Agassiz National Wildlife Refuge;

• June 9 - Forest Tent Caterpillars by Blanchard Krogstad, master gardener;

• June 19 - Nature Friendly Landscaping by Eric Bergeson of Bergeson Nursey;

• June 23 - Black Bears by Dick Anderson;

• June 30 - Riverwatch by Bob Nephew, science teacher;

• July 7 - No program

• July 14 - Raptors by Greg Brooks, wildlife rehabilitator and licensed falconer;

• July 21 - Nature photography by Bruce Flaig, nature photographer;

• July 28 - Tanzania by Ross Hier,

• August 4 - Monarch butterflies by Jerry Wenzel,

• August 11 - Rydell Refuge Open House;

• August 18 - Natural dyes by Cathy Forgit and Sherry O'Donnell;

• August 25 - Restoration of the Glacial Ridge Project area, formerly Tilden Farms, by Jason Ekstein of The Nature Conservancy.

Rydell National Wildlife Refuge is located three miles west of Erskine, and three miles south of U.S. Highway 2 on Polk County 210. Following Memorial Day (May 28) Rydell National Wildlife Visitor Center will be open 12 to 8 p.m. Thursdays through Sundays. The Refuge has over eight miles of trails winding through forests, prairie and wetlands that are open sunrise to sunset throughout the week (please pay close attention to times the gate is locked and use the parking area outside the gate if necessary). The trail system includes four miles of paved, wheelchair accessible trails. If you would like to become a volunteer or member of the Friends of Rydell Refuge Association, please call 1-800-841-0172 or 218-687-2229 ext. 214. Take some time this year to enjoy your National Wildlife Refuge System.
